AN INGENIOUS DEVICE BY A BUTCHER

How He Trapped the Woman Who Carried Away the Lard.

A Woodstock butcher who has been missing pails of lard from a stall in the market building adopted an ingenious method on Saturday of catching the thief. He placed a pail filled with sawdust on the counter, and through a hole in the bottom and through the counter the pail was connected by a long string with half a dozen bottles. In the middle of the morning the bottles suddenly tumbled to the floor, and there at the end of the string with the pail neatly tucked in a basket was one of the most embarrassed women ever seen. She hastily removed the pail from the basket and decamped. It was considered that her punishment had been sufficient and no prosecution will take place.

HONOUR FOR THE FIRM OF R. M. ROY

Saturday's edition of the New York Dramatic Mirror is of particular local interest from the fact that the cover picture is reproduced from a Roy photo. The public will remember the photographs of the distinguished Shakesperian actor, Henry Ludlowe, which were displayed in Roy's show windows. Ludlowe's picture was taken in his characterization of Shylock and the large frontal likeness which was reproduced from Mr. Roy's original lacks none of the qualities of a Sarony or White picture. Mr. Ludlowe opens a New York engagement, making his metropolitan debut in the role of Shylock at the Bijou Theatre to-night.

IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE CONSIDERED

Board of Managers and Ladies' Aid of Knox Church to Meet.

A special meeting of the Board of Managers of Knox Church is called for this evening to meet the Ladies' Aid Society regarding certain improvements to the interior of the church that have been under consideration for some time. Mural decorations are intended and several other changes which will add to the appearance of the church.

DEATH OF DR. FISHER IN TORONTO

Was Known to Many Residents Here—Born in Durham.

The death of Dr. J. H. Fisher in Toronto on Saturday will be learned with regret by his many Peterborough friends. Dr. Fisher has often visited here, although not in recent years, and he will be remembered by many. A despatch referring to his death says :

At his residence, 18 St. Patrick street, Dr. J. H. Fisher passed away suddenly on Saturday. The doctor had had a slight touch of influenza, but was sufficiently recovered to be able to attend to his practice on Thursday, making his usual visits. On Friday he was not so well, and on Saturday morning blood-poisoning developed, and with such rapidity that he died in the afternoon. The death of the doctor will be mourned by a large number of friends, and particularly by residents of the locality in which he for so many years lived and practised. Dr. Fisher came originally from the county of Durham, where the family is settled. He leaves a widow, one daughter and a son, Mr. Harold Fisher, of the law firm of Murphy and Fisher, Ottawa.

Mr. Walter Fisher, of Water street, Peterborough, is a brother of the deceased. Other brothers are James Fisher, of Fraserville, and Robert Fisher, of South Monaghan.

The Chest Pains of Bronchitis

If the cough is dry and hard, if there is pain, soreness and tightness in the chest, if you have difficulty in getting you breath, you have reason to suppose that you have bronchitis. Lest it should become chronic or lead to serious lung trouble, do not delay the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the most certain cure for bronchitis.

Russians Are Mobilizing Forces In The Caucasus

Czar Said To Be Authorizing Construction of Railway Connecting the Danube and Adriatic.

DESPATCH FROM ODESSA

Examiner Special.

London, Feb. 17. — Russian military forces in the Caucasus are being mobilized as quickly as possible at Batoum, according to an Odessa despatch to the Central News. The reported Russian military activity is interpreted in government circles here as meaning that "the Czar is preparing to exert pressure on the Sultan to authorize the construction of a railway connecting the Danube and the Adriatic as counter blast to the Austrian coup by which Turkey agrees to the linking of the Austrian railway system and the Macedonian line."

A Prominent Barrister In Financial Difficulties

Mr. A. E. Dixon Financially Embarassed — Endeavouring To Procure Money to Straighten Out His Affairs.

PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS

Rumours have been current on the streets for several days, regarding the unsatisfactory and complicated condition of the financial affairs of Mr. A. E. Dixon, of the legal firm of Edmison & Dixon, which, however, do not in any way obnoxiously involve Mr. Edmison. On the contrary, he is said to be adversely affected.

The difficulties are said to have arisen through investments of an unprofitable—Cobalt—character, besides other investments, which are presently non-productive.

Matters, it appears, came to a crisis a few days ago, and Mr. Dixon went to Toronto to see if some of his financial friends would not come to his assistance. Being unsuccessful in this quarter he went to Buffalo and New York with the hope of being able to secure the temporary monetary assistance required. He is expected home in Peterborough during the week, and is in daily communication with his friends here.

In an interview Mr. Edmison said that the firm is in no way affected by the difficulties of Mr. Dixon, who alone, besides the creditors affected, is personally interested. It is understood that the whole amount involved is under $15,000, and it is expected that Mr. Dixon will be in a position to arrange matters satisfactorily upon his return.

ST. KITTS FIRM HAVE THE CONTRACT FOR SECTION No. 1

The Nott English Firm Had Apparently Figured Wrong On Trent Canal Construction.

AN IMPORTANT PORTION

It will be remembered that some time ago the contract for section No. 1 of the Trent Canal was let to an English firm of the name of W. P. Nott & Company. That firm has since been considering matters and has apparently discovered that their price was too low. At any rate, it is learned that Mr. Nott will not fulfil his agreement, and the the Government has been obliged to give the contract to the next lowest tenderer, Larkin & Sangster, of St. Catharines.

The section known as No. 1 extends from the Bay of Quinte northward some distance, and is one of the most important on the route, involving the expenditure of a considerable sum.

Messrs. Larkin and Sangster were the contractors for section No. 2 on the Simcoe and Balsam Lakes, so that they are not unknown to the Government as contractors.

Another Scientist Gives Explanation Of Phenomenon

Different From the Lindsay Editor's, Who Knew All About It —Keene Station Incident.

WHAT THE SCIENTIST SAYS

Examiner Special.

Keene, Feb. 17.—A few weeks ago the Examiner made mention of a remarkable phenomenon of the telegraph instrument at Keene station, acting as a telephone receiver. The Lindsay Watchman-Warder reprinted the story in its funny columns with the following comment :

The Peterborough Examiner has the following, and in its heading over the article wants to know if the science of telepathy will explain the wonder. Stranger phenomena than this have been explained more simply. There is such a thing as fertile imagination and there are also people who hear things unheard by others. A lot depends on disposition and character, and on the disposition and character of what is taken in through the facial operatures, and gurgled down the alimentary canal. However, let the Examiner tell its own tale. It beats "telephoning through your chest" seventeen ways.

The Warder then gives the Examiner's account word for word, but makes no further attempt at explanation even if "stranger phenomena than this have been explained more simply."

The editor of the American Telephone Journal of New York, who should know quite as much about telephone matters as the Watchman-Warder funny man, has written the operator at Keene as follows :

"Dear Sir,—We have just seen a newspaper clipping of the Peterborough Examiner stating that the telegraph operator at Keene heard voices coming from the telegraph instruments.

"If this report was authentic, we should assume that the telegraph instruments acted like a receiver. We have heard of the reproduction of speech in this way in one or two instances, but it is very unusual. Would you not like to write and tell us the facts in the case ?"

The East Peterborough Deputation To Ottawa

Departs For The Capital This Week —What the Power Company Want.

A LARGE NUMBER GOING

Examiner Special

Havelock, Feb. 17. — A deputation composed of the municipal officers of eighteen municipalities in Midland Ontario and the leading manufacturers and business men of eight ridings will, on Friday, February 21, wait on the Dominion Government in behalf of the Northumberland-Durham Power Company to petition that body to give the company a lease of upper Healey Falls, which they need in order to develop Healey Falls. The company claims the falls will be of no use to any one but themselves, and it is expected the Dominion Government will grant its request.

Healey is a most wonderful fall of water and will likely in the course of a year or two become known to the whole country for the large amount of electric power developed there.

The Northumberland-Durham Power Company has been granted by the Ontario Government a lease of lower Healey Falls, both sides and lower adjoining rapids, and also a patent of 56 acres of land absolutely necessary for development of the works, and the company also owns, by deed, two portions of the upper Healey rapids and land adjoining as well as other necessary lands.

The company has agreed not to restrict the use of the power to the counties of Northumberland and Durham, as was first noted, but has agreed to construct an electric line to Havelock and Norwood in East Peterborough county, some 14 miles at the same time as the company constructs its main line to the lake front.

The head will be 73 feet if the Dominion Government grants its request, but if it does not it will be only 37 feet. One hundred thousand cubic feet of water flows over Healey Falls every minute, or enough to develop 14,000 horse-power at the driest time of the year. If the Dominion Government does not grant the request there will be only 7,000 horse-power developed. Behind Healey Falls is a reservoir of 14 miles of river from 100 yards to a quarter of a mile wide.

The company in return will give the Government land for locks and canal cuttings and also water for lockages.

The deputation will leave Havelock on the midnight express on the 20th inst., and interview the Minister of Railways and Canals at 10 a.m. on Friday, February 21.—Com.

Popular Cure for Croup

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as a cure for croup, will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success. It is wonderfully prompt in relieving the cough, clearing the air passages and soothing the excited nerves. Many mothers who realize the suddenness with which croup comes on keep this great medicine promptly on hand for use in case of emergency.

when letters blur, when lines run together, and reading becomes difficult, especially in the evening. This blurring is caused by the eyes not being able to focus at the normal reading distance—thirteen inches.

The vision in the distance is as clear as ever, and this fact leads many to believe that glasses are unnecessary, but this is just the time when the first pair of glasses is needed. A continuation without glasses causes an undue strain on the muscles of the eye, and a dull headache is the result, a person gains nothing by going without glasses when they are needed. In fact they gain much by having glasses fitted when the first blur indicates failing vision. ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

CANADAS RESOURCES AND FUTURE.

Canada's territorial development is far short of its Ultima Thule. There are regions and resources yet unexplored and undeveloped, as potentially rich, perhaps, as those now known and under exploitation. Those whose memories go back even half a century will recall the old school maps of North America, which showed the whole Northwest, now organized as the prosperous and progressive provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, labelled "The Great American Desert." That was the then opinion, and of how much at fault it was we have palpable evidence today. Fifty years ago he would have been declared a dreamer who would have foretold the conditions of the present. In view of the magnificent manner in which the possible dream of half a century ago has been vindicated, we have only to consider existing conditions. Since then three great provinces, with an organized responsible government and with tremendous actual resources, and a future which fancy cannot paint, have arisen on the site of the "Great American Desert." A hardy race of herdsmen and agriculturalists has succeeded the buffalo and the Indian, and more than a million of square miles of erstwhile "desert" are throbbing with potentialities of unsurpassed soil and mineral resources. Less than a score of years ago the riches of the Klondyke—under the shadow of the north pole—were made known, and since then one hundred and twenty millions of gold have been taken from the sands of the ice-bound streams, and the wealth of this bleak region is still untold.

North of the known and explored region now organized there are millions of acres of land with as great agricultural and other possibilities as the regions we know. When we consider the resources of Canada' — known and anticipated with the greatest of confidence—we cannot easily forecast her future.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Peterborough's over-draft seemed a big thing, but it's a mere trifle to that of Winnipeg, which is negotiating a loan of $2,250,000 to meet that city's over-draft and provide for current expenses.

Mr. Whitney declares he is bold enough to be honest. He will have a chance to put his courage and incidentally his honesty to the test in the provincial redistribution bill which will be introduced this session. In the past his party has not been able to resist the temptation to "hive the Grits" and concoct "safe" constituences. We shall now see what Premier Whitney will do.

In view of the fact of the arrangements in regard to increased postal rates on newspapers and periodicals sent to the United States, being prematurely put into force and thereby working some measure of injustice to publishers, the Deputy Postmaster-General has issued a circular announcing that a rebate will be given. This rebate which amounts to three cents a pound will apply to all subscriptions dating back to 8th May, last, and covers the period from May 8th to Dec. 31, 1907.

It will not be denied that the vast majority of boys who "scheme school" or leave school early—before the foundations of an education are laid, do not distinguish themselves in after life as model citizens. While the truancy laws are well looked after in Peterborough it is certain that they are rather generally ignored. Only seventy-five out of two hundred and fifty municipalities of the province have truancy officers appointed. It is therefore, no wonder that there is complaint that the truancy laws are laxly enforced, with the result that there are thousands of children who do not receive the benefits of a public school education. This the law provides for, or assumes to provide for, and for this thousands of dollars are expended every year.

The Toronto World argues that the railways in charging three cents per mile for passengers are charging an exorbitant and extortionate rate. Dividend day has come on the Grand Trunk Railway and it is stated that the holders of 100 millions of common stock will receive no dividends. They never have received any. Would their chances be improved by reducing the passenger revenue by one-third? Would it be wise in the interests of the development of the country to discourage the investment of British capital in Canadian Railways, while this country needs and will need for years to come railways to develop our undoubtedly existent, but at present dormant and inaccessible resources?

THE WHISTLING STATESMAN

The Montreal Herald has the following playful skit whose merit as most excellent fooling will be appreciated on perusal:

Those who may be solicitous about the increasing efficiency in the Opposition, and who have remarked with what satisfaction Mr. Bergeron's appearance last autumn as the official humorist of the party was hailed by the rank and file, will be delighted to learn that the versatile genius of Col. Sam Hughes has broken out in a new place, and that he is now in position to command recognition quite equal to that accorded Mr. Bergeron. We learn from the Orange Sentinel that Colonel Hughes, a few days ago, went to a patriotic meeting at Stafford, in Renfrew County. So determined was he to get there that the enormous snowdrifts encountered out of Pembroke did not in the least deter him. Once arrived the gallant Colonel proceeded to deliver an interesting address on 'Liberty.' The Colonel captivated the audience by the manner in which he treated his subject. The telling of the stories and the way in which he whistled those tunes so charming to the ears of Orangemen fairly brought down the audience. It was the Colonel's first visit to North Renfrew and "he will be a welcome visitor whenever he comes again." It was Mr. G. V. White, M.P., who discovered this ability in the gallant Colonel, and who determined to experiment with it upon an audience which he felt to be sufficiently remote from civilization by reason of the barrier of snowdrifts to be encountered. Unworthy fears of failure were promptly dissipated, as will be seen by the cordiality with which the whistling statesman was invited to return.

It is much to be wished that Mr. Borden, from whose keen eye the political utility of Mr. Bergeron's latent humour could not be wholly concealed, will recognize with reasonable celerity the strategic value of the Colonel's whistle. Fancy the hit that would be made if the history of the Arctic expedition could be illustrated on the stump with a few bars from Lillinulero; or Mr. Lake talking Cormorant Lake timber lands with a Boyne Water obligato; or the hopeless confusion that would fall upon Liberal speakers discussing the Foster - Fowler - Pope - Lefurgey - Bennet - McGillivray - Wilson - Robllin-Rogers syndicate if Colonel Sam were to interrupt with the stirring peals of The Protestant Boys! Imagine a general election campaign made up of one long, continuous Twelfth of July! Could Laurier's silver tongue withstand the blasts of Sam's mellifluous pipe? Think how many an audience, chilled to the bone by Borden's frosty logic, would feel the red blood course through its veins as the old familiar party tunes pealed forth in chesty strength. Why, their gifted leader would have only to sandwich himself between the fat and lusty humour of Mr. Bergeron and the battle pibroch of the hero Hughes, and he could turn this whole Dominion into a circuit of one night stands. Whether this late unburied talent could be employed in the House is not so certain. What was meant for Stafford of the snowdrifts might be poison for the House of Commons. And yet much of what is said by some of Colonel Sam's friends would be far better whistled. Sometimes, for instance, Mr. Foster gets so shrill that it would be worth many doctors' bills to the nerves of the members if a soulfully whistled accompaniment could be permitted. At all events, there he stands revealed, the whistling statesman, modest, but discovered, and none hath seen his like before.

BACON FOR BRITISH MARKET

Subject of Booklet Published by Live Stock Branch at Ottawa—Revival Of Swine Raising Industry.

WHERE TO SECURE COPIES

While the swine industry has been in some quarters resting on its oars and in others showing positive retrogression, the Live Stock branch at Ottawa has been getting out a revision of Bulletin No. 10, "The production of Bacon for the British Market." This booklet in its first edition received such a call that a very large edition became exhausted before the demand was satisfied. The call for copies during the late summer and autumn months fell away to some extent, but the renewal of interest and hope in the bacon industry is growing itself very strongly in a request from many quarters of the Dominion for more information upon the question of swine-raising. Fortunately the new edition is off the press and ready for distribution.

The bulletin in its revised form will scarcely be recognized. In addition to an almost complete new set of illustrations, which are much better arranged than in the former issue, much new matter has been added. Careful treatment has been given the vital question of housing, and in this connection a number of plans of modern, approved piggeries are illustrated and described. The economical utilization of dairy by-products — that margin upon which profit in the industry so much depends—is treated as new matter. The very strong revival of the swine-raising industry which must of necessity follow the sacrifice of breeding stock that took place during the past autumn has already commenced to show itself. It is safe to predict that with the return of spring with its pasturage and renewal of supply of dairy by-products, together with the shortage of market stock, a demand for swine, greater than has been for many years, will be experienced. To furnish information that will be desired at such a time, Bulletin No. 10, revised edition, has been prepared. Copies may be secured free by making application to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

Distribution Held On Saturday

Over Eighty People Were Benefitted—Many Thanks Expressed.

The usual weekly distribution of food and clothing took place on Saturday at Mr. Finch Millers store. The hour announced was five o'clock, but long before that time the relief officer was visited by many callers in search of charity. Many of them were poorly clad and the majority were people from the old land. The officer had to have the assistance of two other men to carry on the work. The potatoes were distributed from the rear door of the police station and the groceries, beef and clothing from the relief officer's store. There were over eighty people who called and among this number, 16 bags of potatoes, 1 bag of apples, 60 lbs. of tea, 60 lbs. of sugar, 100 loaves of bread and 100 lbs. of beef, were distributed. Since the relief fund was raised 66 bags of potatoes and 1,770 lbs. of beef have been given to the poor besides a large quantity of tea, sugar, flour, apples, bread and clothing.

Another distribution will take place next Saturday evening.

AFTER KLEPTOMANIACS.

Drygoods Merchants Will Prosecute Respectable Shoplifters.

New York, Feb. 17.—A number of large retail drygoods merchants have banded together to prevent prominent social connections from saving a woman detected in "shoplifting" from public prosecution.

"Store detectives generally spot professional shoplifters as soon as they enter the store," said a drygoods man Saturday. "But you can't do anything with a so-called respectable shoplifter unless you catch her with the goods. And then, as is usually the case, she has prominent relatives, or her father and mother are well-known socially, she sends for them, and the case is never heard of."

A number of large drygoods merchants met the other day and decided to engage Martin W. Littleton to prosecute all cases. All of these men agreed that as soon as a woman was arrested or detected shoplifting they would immediately have the case taken out of their hands, no matter how much they were appealed to by the woman's relatives and friends. District Attorney Jerome has been spoken to, and has expressed his readiness to do all he can to assist the merchants, it was said.

BOY HAD CLOSE CALL.

Fell Under Train and Eight Cars Passed Over Him.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—To lie beneath the rails near the Grand Trunk station here while eight cars thundered by was the unique experience of Eli Dion, a 14-year-old lad of Penetang, who has recently been released from St. John's Industrial School, Toronto. He had been under a three-year sentence, but was released after having served two years and sent to a farm near Seaforth.

Becoming tired of the dull monotony of rural life he filled his knapsack and decamped via a Grand Trunk freight train. Arriving at Stratford the boy attempted to leave the train while it was moving by the station and in so doing fell underneath the cars. Conductor Hayne, who stood on the platform of the caboose, is authority for the statement that at least eight cars passed over the boy. When the tail end of the freight disappeared from view the precocious Eli slowly rose from his crouching position and with merely a sprained ankle made a hasty retreat.

He was captured by the station officials and arraigned in the Police Court on a charge of vagrancy. He was remanded to jail.

GIRL BRUTALLY ASSAULTED.

Four Young Men Arrested at Kingston on a Serious Charge.

Kingston, Feb. 17.—On Saturday night a girl came to the police station and complained that four young men whose names she gave, assaulted her in or near Soward's coal yard. She alleged that she was seized by the throat and prevented making a noise. The marks on her body are evidence that she had been cruelly treated.

The police then went in pursuit of the accused quartette, arrested them and they are now held in the station pending developments in the Police Court to-day.

Their names are James Brickwood, "Reddy" Devine, Mozier and Crozier. Complaints have been made by girls lately that they have been followed in lonely places by young men and at times accosted by young men and few have been willing for some time to go out on the streets alone.

Kidney Troubles From the Liver

COMPLICATED CASES WHICH LED TO THE DISCOVERY OF THAT GREAT MEDICINE

In his study of kidney disease, Dr. Chase found that fully 90 per cent. of the cases arose as a direct result of liver and bowel disorders, and it was working on this idea that led to the discovery of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Through over-eating, irregular meals, or food that does not agree the liver is deranged, poisonous bile is left in the blood, and the digestive system is upset. Headaches, biliousness, pains in the back and limbs, ill-temper, and general out-of-sort feelings result.

These are among the symptoms of liver complaint, but during such attacks the kidneys are overworked and after a while there is pain and smarting when passing water, the urine is highly coloured and contains deposits, the pains in the back become more severe, you have rheumatic pains it may be, and are gradually falling a victim of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were prepared for the express purpose of effecting cure in every stage of such cases. They enliven the liver, regulate the action of the bowels, and invigorate the kidneys.

In this regard they are entirely different to any treatment you ever used, and are successful in complicated cases in which ordinary kidney medicines have little or no effect. There are people in every neighbourhood in Canada ready to certify to this statement.

Mrs. John Shanahan, 319 McDonel street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with pains in the back, and dropsy, and was subject to fluttering and palpitation of the heart. In order to set my kidneys right I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I also used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at the same time.

"The combined use of these two preparations has done me a world of good. I used to have rush of blood to the head, dizziness, and headache, but I am thankful to say that all these symptoms have disappeared, and I have been cured by Dr. Chase's remedies."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto.—5.

Almost Victims of Coal Gas.

Smith's Falls, Feb. 17.—The family of Rev. N. B. Topping of Perth had a very narrow escape from asphyxiation by coal gas a few nights ago. Mrs. Topping and one of her daughters awakened about the same time. Miss Topping could neither move nor speak, and it was with the greatest difficulty Mrs. Topping succeeded in reaching a window. Though in a half-dazed condition she managed to break a pane of glass and the sweep of fresh air partially revived her just as she felt consciousness leaving her. By almost a superhuman effort she aroused some of the other members of the family, and by their united efforts all were taken into the air and their lives were saved. Two of her sons were unconscious for some time, and all were very ill, but are gradually recovering. The dampers of a coal stove had been shut too closely and this accounted for the gas being in the house.

Family Nearly Wiped Out.

Hamilton, Feb. 17.—Another case of asphyxiation that nearly cost the lives of the three young children of S. Schreiber, 15 York street, was discovered yesterday.

Early in the morning Mr. Schreiber got up and lighted a gas stove in the room where his three children were sleeping. He then returned to his own room for a Sunday nap.

A short time after one of the children tottered into his parent's room complaining that he was very ill. Investigation revealed the fact that the other two children were lying unconscious in their room. An alarm was given, and by the prompt response of Constable Yanxley and others aid was obtained and the children were all brought around. The stove that caused the trouble did not have any chimney.

Seven Killed In Collision.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Seven people were killed and a dozen injured when a Big Four passenger train struck a Toledo and Western electric car at the Michigan Central crossing in West Toledo Saturday night.

The conductor stopped at the crossing to flag the car across. Seeing the train coming he motioned to the motorman to stop, but the signal was misunderstood, for the car came ahead and the collision followed.

One Auto Breaks Down.

Utica, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The French Moto Bloc, competing in the New York to Paris automobile contest, which left Albany early Saturday, was towed into this city last night with a smashed engine. The car must undergo extensive repairs before it can resume the journey.

It became disabled four miles east of this city.

Want Captain Released.

New York, Feb. 17.—More than one hundred and fifty members of the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots met in this city last night to start a widespread appeal to save Capt. W. H. Van Schaick from prison.

Petitions asking President Roosevelt for clemency will be sent throughout the country for signatures.

It will be urged that public sentiment does not demand the imprisonment of the captain of the General Slocum, by the burning of which more than a thousand persons met their death.

Capt. Van Schaick was sentenced to ten years in Sing Sing, but a stay of sentence was secured pending the result of an appeal to the higher court. Last week the sentence was upheld.

The captain is 76 years of age, and has been living on a farm.

Traffic at St. John.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 17.—Up to date 51 winter port steamers have filed their papers at the custom house.

The cargo valuation shows as follows: Value Canadian goods, $7,680,273; value foreign goods, $3,367,144; total value, $11,047,317.

The total value for first 11 winter port steamers for last season was $9,299,462, which shows an increase of $1,757,855. The amount of grain gone forward in 51 steamers is 2,318,871 bushels. For the year 1906-7, 6,764,600 bushels went forward.

The number of cattle gone forward up-to-date is 9,252; sheep, 2,366; horses, 10. Sixty-four steamships have arrived with a tonnage of 246,940.

Hit With Iron Pin.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—A serious accident befell Arthur Jones, day foreman at the G.T.R. roundhouse, Saturday evening. He was superintending a piece of work when a pin which a workman was driving flew up and struck him in the face. The pin became dislodged when the helper made an inaccurate drive. Mr. Jones' nose was broken and his face otherwise disfigured by the flying piece of iron.

Stratford School Crisis.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—The finance committee of the city council have decided not to issue debentures for the proposed new $60,000 school until the present financial conditions have changed. The school board, however, declare that something must be done to relieve overcrowding in schools, and may demand that a by-law be submitted to the people.

To Test Canadian Route.

Once more comes from Halifax the story that the British Government will test the Canadian route as a military one. The Halifax despatch says that unofficial information has reached there that the Cameron Highlanders will be sent from Hong Kong to England as a test.

Held Up Sunday Editions.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Some of the big United States papers this week ran against an unexpected snag in the amended postal regulations. The Sunday editions were not allowed to come into Canada as "dailies" and obtain the concessions as such. The original regulations were framed to exclude some of this very class of matter, and the postal authorities consider the big Sunday paper as a "weekly."

The Canadian Government officials hold that as separate subscription lists are made out for these and as they are not part of the regular daily editions they are not under the favored amendment and must be fully prepaid for entry.

New Hamburg, Feb. 17.—Burglars entered three places here the other night, but they did not succeed in finding much of value to them, as only small losses are reported.

At the postoffice letters were found opened and strewn about, but the safe was untouched and only about $1 worth of postage stamps taken. They then entered the office of the New Hamburg Manufacturing Co., and a couple of dollars worth of postage stamps were stolen. The Canadian Express office, at the Grand Trunk station was visited and several boxes and parcels opened up and goods taken, among them a waterproof coat for one of the local merchants.

Asylum For Druce Witness.

New York, N.Y., Feb. 17.—Albert Caldwell, the American witness, in the famous Druce case in London, Saturday will be taken to the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island.

Caldwell's lawyer stole a march on the British Government, which is endeavoring to have Caldwell extradited to answer to the charge of perjury.

The Spanish Royal Standard.

The Spanish royal standard is most complicated. The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1878 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that kingdom. Now to the royal standard: In the first quarter or upper left hand part of the flag are the arms of Leon and Castile, the lion and the castle. The second quarter is taken up one-half by the arms of Aragon, one-half by the arms of Sicily. The upper third of the third quarter—directly under the first—shows the Austrian colors. The lower two-thirds is divided between the flag of Burgundy and the black lion of Flanders. The upper third of the fourth quarter shows the checkers, another Burgundian device, while the lower two-thirds is shared by the red eagle of Antwerp and the golden lion of Brabant, and on the top of all this are two shields, one showing the Portuguese arms, the other the French fleur-de-lis. Considerable of a flag that.

Good Cause For Tears.

A certain mediaeval sultan had all the mirrors removed from his palace, so that he might avoid the pain of seeing his own face. This sultan called on his grand vizier one day and by accident happened to catch sight of his reflection. His hideousness overpowered him, and he broke into violent sobbing. In this outburst the vizier joined. Finally the sultan calmed down, wiped his eyes and got ready to smoke and talk. But not so the vizier. He sobbed on and on. His master, tapping his slipper impatiently on the cushions, waited for him to cease. At length the sultan got angry and exclaimed:

"Why do you weep longer than I, vizier?"

"Alas," the grand vizier replied, "you wept, O commander of the faithful, because you saw your face but for an instant, but I see it all day and every day."

THINGS THEATRICAL.

George Broadhurst, the author of "The Man of the Hour," is said to be ambitious to write a play on Washington political life.

Arrangements have been completed whereby Henry Miller will have a summer stock company in San Francisco, where he will try out several new plays.

Will A. Page, well known as the press representative of the New York Hippodrome, has left that position to become the business manager of Miss Julia Marlowe.

Julia Sanderson, the prima donna in Charles Frohman's company playing "The Dairymaids," is the daughter of Albert Sackett of the "Brewster's Millions" company.

Cyril Scott is to have a new play by the De Mille brothers called "The Trail." It is a story of the Canadian lumber camps, and Mr. Scott will have the role of a young Irishman.

A movement has been started by the Italians in New York to establish in that city an Italian theater with a stock company, one of the plans being to bring over the noted Italian dramatic stars.

WILL CONFER WITH THE BOARD OF TRADE

Regarding Visit of British Dairymen—Troubles With Buyers Discussed.

In addition to the election of officers and the reading of reports at the annual meeting of the Cheese Board on Saturday afternoon, the members present examined the rules and regulations governing and made some slight amendments which will be inserted in the new publication.

The trouble experienced last season between a couple of the buyers and some of the factories in regard to the former offering less money for cheese than they bid on the board was discussed at length. No action was taken, however, in this respect.

The Cheese Board are taking a deep interest in the proposed visit of the British Dairymen during the coming autumn and passed the following resolution on Saturday—:

"That the President, Mr. Riddell, and Vice-President, Mr. Switzer, be authorized to confer with the Board of Trade or other bodies who are preparing for the reception of the British Dairymen in their expected on a visit to this province."

R. W. Marks Dramatic Company Changes Hands On Wednesday

May A. Bell Marks Is In Poor Health and Will Go Back With Her Husband to Their Farm Near Perth.

WILL PLAY NEXT FALL

The R. W. Marks' No. 1, Dramatic Company, which has just completed a week's engagement in the Grand Opera House here, have gone to Havelock, where they will play for three nights. At the conclusion of the Wednesday evening performance the company will change hands and it will be managed in future by Mr. Jos. Mackam.

Mr. Marks, the present proprietor, was seen by an Examiner representative on Saturday night in regard to the change.

"Well," he said, "Mrs. Marks has not been feeling like herself for the past three weeks and she feels that she is not doing justice to her different roles. We have been considering the matter and have decided to go back to our farm outside of Perth, until her health is restored. All of the scenery will be placed in a storehouse until we go out again. I expect that Mrs. Marks will come on again in the fall and resume her work on the stage. In the meantime I expect to start the boys out with moving picture machines, as I believe it to be a paying business.

When we break up on Wednesday evening in Havelock the show will be taken over by Messrs. Jos. Mackam, Arnold C. Baldwin and two other members of the company. Mr. Mackam will be the manager and Arnold C. Baldwin will continue as leading man. Another actress has been added to the company, to take the place of May A. Bell Marks."

"The company is one of the best we have ever had and under the new management they should do well."

Prizes To Be Presented For Best Canadian Essays

Competition Announced By Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt—Open to Whole Of Canada.

DEVELOPMENT OF COUNTRY

Peterborough essayists have here an opportunity to become famous.

Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt, a well-known and prominent British Columbia business man, has undertaken a scheme which should give good results, and is offering valuable prizes for essays on what he considers is the most important subject that Canadians now have before them, namely, that of immigration.

Mr. Flumerfelt has always been greatly interested in the development of Canada, and of the Pacific Coast province in particular, and some time ago offered prizes for the best essays on specific subjects bearing on British Columbia, more particularly in reference to labour problems. The idea proved to be a good one, and a large number of papers were received, and many of these were afterwards published in various newspapers and pamphlet form.

In his latter announcing this new scheme, in which the whole of the Dominion will be more or less interested, Mr. Flumerfelt states that it was owing to the "recent deplorable disturbances" that his plan became enlarged, and it was for the purpose of attracting thoughtful people and eliciting the best ideas as to how to deal with this problem that he is offering the prizes.

The Prizes Offered

Mr. Flumerfelt explains his plan as follows:

"I will offer prizes to the value of $350 (three hundred and fifty dollars) divided as follows—

"For the best essay on the questions propounded below, viz.—A, B and C, relating to,

"The Province of British Columbia, $50.

"The Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, $50.

"The provinces of Ontario and Quebec, $50.

"The Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, $50.

"A—Enumerate the nationalities, and also give the number of languages spoken in the provinces written upon.

"B—Outline the requirements of such provinces to insure continuous, reasonably rapid development, and with harmony.

"C—State the countries from which immigration should be drawn and the best method of attracting and successfully inducing such immigration to the provinces in question, having due regard to existing trade conditions.

"For the most exhaustive, lucid essay on the questions as below, viz.—D, E and F, respecting Canada as a whole, I will offer a first prize of $100.

"Second prize, $50.

"D—Enumerate the nationalities now resident in Canada; also give number of languages spoken.

"E—Outline the requirements necessary to insure continuous, reasonably rapid development, and with industrial harmony.

"F — State from which countries should immigration be drawn, and the best method of attracting and successfully inducing such immigration to Canada, having due regard for existing trade conditions.

"The competition is to close on the 1st of May next, and letters should be addressed to Immigration, P. O. Drawer 690, Victoria, B. C., the same not to be opened except by committee; they are unlimited as to length, but must be signed or accompanied by the card of the writer, with memo. on the face of the envelope, indicating the contents of the enclosure."

IMMIGRANTS ARE STILL COMING

A Number Arrived in Peterborough This Morning on Early Train.

While people are returning home to the Old Country there are others coming out, although not in as large numbers as. This morning, among other passengers that arrived on the early train, were a few new arrivals who got off at Peterborough. Their baggage showed that they had just crossed the pond.

It seems rather strange that in spite of the reports that have been circulated, people are still coming to Canada at this time of the year.

A COBOURG PAPER OF THE YEAR 1835

Death of Mrs. Burnham Recorded—Newly Erected Distillery—Freights Between Cobourg and Peterborough.

PRICE OF LAND PER ACRE

The Toronto News of Saturday evening has an interesting reminiscent account of events of the year 1835, some of them referring to Peterborough people. They were published in the Cobourg Star of Feb. 18th of that year, and in referring to the publication of that date the News says:

The paper, in spite of over seventy years of handling, is still in a good state of preservation. The notices and advertisements give some very interesting information. Mr. Geo. S. Boulton, whose solicitors card appears, was a brother of Mr. A'Arey Boulton. Mrs. Burnham, whose death is recorded, was the mother of Hon. Asa Burnham, the ancestress of a large and talented family in Central Ontario. The proprietor of a newly-erected distillery was Mr. James Calcutt, whose sons and grandsons are now the owners of the steamers running from Rice Lake to Peterborough. Hon. Ebenezer Perry was also an advertiser in that issue. The freight rates of the day are indicated in an advertisement which bids for freight at one shilling and ninepence per hundredweight from Cobourg to Peterborough. Lands, apparently unimproved, are offered for sale at 20 shillings per acre. The price of the paper is fifteen shillings per year in advance, or one pound at the end of the year. Flour is quoted at 20 shillings a barrel, wheat at 3 shillings per bushel, potatoes at one shilling and six pence, beef at four pence, butter at nine pence, pork 20 shillings, per hundred, wood 7 shillings per cord, hay 35 shillings a ton, and Canada whiskey from two shillings and ten pence to three shillings per gallon. Though this was Feb. 18th, 1835, the report of the proceedings of the Provincial Parliament in Toronto was only brought down to Jan. 30th, but in the selection, editing and printing of the news, local and foreign, this old four-page paper puts to shame many a modern journal. Altogether it is a most interesting relic of pre-rebellion days in Ontario.

LIQUOR DETECTIVE WAS ACQUITTED

Was In Peterborough on Liquor Case Not Long Ago.

The following despatch from Whitby refers to a provincial liquor detective who was in Peterborough some time ago giving evidence in a liquor case—:

Christian Hansen, Provincial detective, was acquitted last evening by Judge McCrimmon on the charge of perjury, on which he has been on trial. The Crown produced evidence to sustain the claim of Christie, the Saintfield hotelkeeper, that he was in Sunderland on Oct. 29th, while an equal number of witnesses swore that they saw Christie in his own bar at 12.45 on the day in question. Hansen was formerly on the police force of Galt and Hamilton.

Many Have Promised to be Present For Organization.

The poultrymen are reminded that to-morrow night the meeting for the organization of a poultry association will be held. The promoters believe the meeting will be a success, as they have canvassed, as far as possible, all the fanciers in the city and vicinity, and have received assurance that many will be present.

There is a large number who, although they are not owners of fowl, have signified their intentions to be present and to assist with the organization. The meeting will be held in the Council Chambers at 8 o'clock.

A TRIBUTE TO THE REV. FATHER COLLINS

Has Been in Muskoka for 10 Years—Respected By His Parishioners.

It is ten years last Tuesday since the Rev. Father Collins came to Muskoka to assume spiritual oversight of the Roman Catholic congregations at Bracebridge and Gravenhurst, and the anniversary was spent in town calling on friends. Father Collins was for some years connected with St. Peter's Cathedral at Peterborough, where he was deservedly popular with all classes of the community. After leaving the cathedral staff he was stationed for two years at Brighton before coming north, where he has steadily grown in the esteem of his parishioners and the respect of his "separated brethren," whose ardent wish is that he will long be spared to fulfil his important duties amongst us.—Gravenhurst Banner.

THE COUNTRY ROADS IN POOR CONDITION

Pitch-Holes are Deep and Numerous—Progress is Slow.

The farmers coming into the city to-day report the roads to be in bad condition owing to the pitch-holes and ruts. Those bringing in loads of grain, wood and hay say, they have to proceed very slowly as the holes in the roads are frequent and there is considerable danger of upsetting or of damaging the sleighs.

Cutters are in the same predicament and one young farmer at the market to-day said that with the roads as they are it is almost a certainty that accidents would result if the driving were fast. The cutter would simply jump the gap and break the runners on the opposite side. Thus the country roads are as bad for driving as if they were covered with four or five feet of snow.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

SERMON IN MONTREAL STAR BY REV. MANNING

The Saturday issue of the Montreal Daily Star contains a sermon from the pen of Rev. H M Manning of the Charlotte street Methodist church. For his subject he took Ruth. 1, 16, 17: And Ruth said: "Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee, for whither thou goest, I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God; where thou diest will I die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me and more also it aught but death part thee and me."

THERE WERE NO LABELS ON THE WOOD

And Lindsay Baker Is Out a Dollar On The Deal, He Says.

Mr. Jones, who sells wood in town, went to his baker and asked for a loaf of bread, demanding that it be stamped for full weight. After Jones had gone the baker went out to inspect two cords of wood for which he had paid Jones $12; on looking for the stamp indicating full measure he found none. On measuring it he found the wood forty-four inches instead of forty-eight inches long—just one-twelfth short, or $1.00 worth. Should not the police see that Mr. Jones stamps his wood full measure? The above is a true local incident.—Lindsay Post.

DELICATE CHILDREN

All Persons Who Have Delicate Children in Peterborough Will Be Interested In This Article.

Rapidly growing children need a great deal of vitality. They grow fast, play hard and work too hard at school. Then the appetite becomes fitful, their nights are restless and they soon become weak, delicate and sickly.

We want to remind the parents of every such child in Peterborough that our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, will correct these troubles and make for each child new, vitality, sound flesh and muscle tissue, strong bone structure and pure rich red blood. It will build them up, fill out hollow cheeks and make them strong, robust and rosy.

Mrs. C Allen of New Bedford, Mass., writes: "With two puny, ailing children, I was very much worried. I had tried almost everything to build them up without success and, as a last resort tried Vinol. The benefit was great in a very short time, they gained flesh and strength rapidly." ly."

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil, emulsions and other tonics for children is because Vinol is a delicious modern cod liver preparation without oil made by a scientific extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil, and children love it. We ask parents of Peterborough who have delicate children to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. THE BIG SKATING RACES TO-MORROW

Fred. Robson and Con. Heffernan of Toronto Will Be Here.

The public of Peterborough does not often get a chance of seeing such world-famous athletes as Fred Robson and Con Heffernan, who will appear at the Brock street rink to-morrow night in a series of three races for the skating championship of Ontario. Robson is the Canadian skating champion, while Heffernan is the holder of the two mile record. The two have met several times and so far the fortunes of war have been even, so that to-morrow night's races will decide which is the better man. The speed artists will skate three events, the half mile, mile and two miles, and to win must take two out of three.

There will be in addition a race for boys under eighteen and a mile race open to the county of Peterborough, in which a great deal of interest is being shown.

The band will be in attendance and there will be skating after the races. There will, no doubt, be a big crowd on hand. It is one of the premier sporting events of the season.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries o replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—The present appears to be an opportune time to call the attention of the post office authorities here to a small but important item of neglect or oversight on the part of somebody. I refer to the cardless mailing boxes which prevent their use as intended, people frequently walking several blocks to the post office rather than risk the uncertainty of the mailing box at their door. Attention to this will be a public benefit.

Yours truly,
"Improvement."

GREEN'S MOVING PICTURES

Extracts from Kingston "News": "Prof. Green is one of the pioneers of the moving picture business in Canada, and has made his name a household property in many of the big centres of the Dominion. The pictures last night were photographically perfect and presented with an entire absence of the disagreeable flicker so common and pronounced in the average vitagraphic photograph. The light was powerful, and the operating, done by Prof. Green himself, was artistic perfection, without a blunder to jar the nerves of his large audience. The illustrated melodies were indeed fine, both singer and pictures being artistic in the highest sense."

"Mr. Barton V. Peters, in the illustrated songs, is conceded by the theatre-goers to be the best singer in his line that has ever appeared in our city. His voice is a pleasing high baritone, full of resonance of considerable range, and his enunciation perfect. Each song was beautifully illustrated."

Mr. Peters is a native of Peterborough, and his many friends in the city will be pleased to hear of his success during his engagement with Prof. Green.

Prof. Green opens a five nights' engagement at the Grand (to-morrow) Tuesday, February 18.

ADDRESS ON THE FOUR JOHNS

Interesting Lecture by Mr. McGillicuddy—Splendid Musical Programme.

The lecture and entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night was interesting and much enjoyed by a large number of people. Miss Julia Choate, Peterborough's talented and popular violinist, rendered a selection in her usual delightful manner and received a very hearty encore to which she responded. Mr. J. H. Scriver sang "Mary of Argyle," in good voice, and was heartily applauded. Mr. H. W. Cooke, the chairman, then introduced the lecturer, Mr. Thomas McGillicuddy, of Toronto. Mr. McGillicuddy's lecture was on "The Four Johns." The lecturer, in opening, said that the name John was used by him in a sincere sense, that John meant the average man. There was only one John in reality. Each man was a separate entity, an individual. No personality was repeated. Every man must bear his own burden.

Yet after all in each man there were two Johns. There was the spiritual John and the natural John. John at his best and John at his worst. But Dr. Wendell Holmes had claimed that there were three Johns in every John. There was the John that people thought John was, and and there was the John that John thought John was and there was the John that John really was. To these three Johns the lecturer added a fourth. The John that John might be. He then took each of these four Johns in detail and by argument and a number of apt illustrations which varied from the quaintly humourous to the pathetic and heroic, made a thorough dissection of human character.

The lecture was decidedly humourous and at the same time most interesting and uplifting.

Broken Rail Causes Bad Accident Near Ottawa.

TWO DEAD, SEVEN INJURED

Heroic Conduct of Engineer Saved Many Lives—Stuck to Brakes and Died at His Post — Heavy Gale Blowing at Time — Fire Broke Out But Was Promptly Extinguished—Crew Worked Well.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—By an unexplained breaking of an 80-pound rail on the Grand Trunk Railway at 10.15 Saturday night, the regular train, No. 27, from Montreal to Ottawa, was derailed five miles east of the capital.

Engineer Alfred Parks of Ottawa East and Fireman Wm. Robertson Martin of 236 Frank street, Ottawa, were killed. They were both scalded to death.

Rural Dean Taylor of Aylmer and Mrs. Taylor were badly shaken up, and are in the hospital. Conductor A. J. Leamy, Ottawa, sustained severe cuts about the head. Baggageman I. C. Moore, Ottawa, had his hands badly out. Expressman F. M. Griffiths, Ottawa, got his hand lacerated and leg bruised, while J. N. McIntosh, Ottawa, had a leg injured slightly. A. D. McBride was severely shaken up.

Died at His Post.

Engineer Parks stuck to his post heroically, and as the engine shot through the air shut off the steam and put on the brakes, thus saving the twenty-one pasengers most miraculously. Then he left his cab and crawled out fatally injured. He died at the Ottawa hospital at 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

The fireman's body was found lying in the snow with life extinct. He was 24 years of age and married but four months.

The rail which caused the accident is in Superintendent Donaldson's office. The break is a clear one, with no sign of any previous weakness whatever. The edges of the fracture are rounded where the wheels of the engine struck. The forward truck of the last coach, the parlor car, left the rails and made a temporary hospital for the wounded. The engine ad all the other cars were overturned. Fire broke out in the forward cars, but were extinguished with snow, of which a heavy gale was blowing. The crew did admirable work.

The train was running on time and had entered the one and one-half mile straight stretch of track east of the N. Y. & O. diamond. The banks on either side, where the derailment occurred, were level, and the engine and three coaches skidded fifty yards over the snow-covered ground. The tender of the engine jumped first.

G. W. Riley of Montreal, an old-time telegrapher and a passenger on the train, walked back to Carlsbad and telegraphed to Ottawa. A bevy of doctors and wrecking machinery was sent out immediately.

The damage to the rolling stock is but $1,000.

AFTER ILLEGAL COMBINES.

Plumbers Indicted by New Orleans Jury Under Anti-Trust Law.

New Orleans, Feb. 17.—Fifty-four master plumbers and three plumbing firms were indicted by a Federal grand jury, on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

The indictments make a total of over 125 indictments in two days, under the Sherman Act. Seventy-two labor union representatives, members of the dock and cotton council having been indicted.

The master plumbers are charged with conspiring to restrain a New Orleans plumbing manufactory from selling goods to a local hardware firm. All the plumbers indicted are members of the Master Plumbers' Association.

Street Car Crushed Man's Arm.

Chatham, Feb. 17.—The left arm of Thomas Boyle, a farmer, aged 64, was amputated yesterday, as the result of a street car accident in Dover Township Saturday night, when the man left a northbound car and walked in front of a southbound.

Verdict at Vaudreuil.

Vaudreuil, Que., Feb. 17.—The verdict reached in the explosion at the Standard Explosive Works, was that it was an accident, due to unknown causes and released the company from all blame in the matter.

To Suffer From Headaches Makes Life Miserable. . .

It takes a person that has had and is subject to headaches to describe the suffering which attends them.

The majority of cases are caused by constipation and dyspepsia. The dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, surely indicates that there is something the matter with the stomach or bowels. To the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches every part of the system is due its success in relieving and permanently curing headache. It has proven a specific for the malady in all its forms.

Mr. Wm. R. Gilchrist, New Mills, N.B., writes: "I was troubled for years with constipation and headaches, but after using four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I am completely cured."

Mr. John T. Kidner, Red Deer, Alta., writes: "I was troubled for several years with headache. I tried a number of remedies but they did me no good. I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and it cured me completely."

EPIDEMIC IN LONDON.

Several Ministers Ill—Judges Obliged to Close Their Courts.

London, Feb. 17.—Influenza is raging in London. The Prime Minister, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, has been confined to his bed for three days, and the Right Hon. Augustine Birrell, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, is also suffering from an attack. Several courts have been closed because the judges are down with the influenza, and many prominent people are included in the sick list.

The prevalence of the disease was the cause of the King's unexpected visit to Brighton, as great alarm was felt lest he should catch the malady. There are certain things that King Edward dreads, and he has an abnormal fear of influenza. He will avoid the slightest risk of infection, no matter at what inconvenience to himself.

It is a matter of court etiquette, as originally instituted by George III., that no one about the sovereign shall ever complain of illness or confess to it except when absolutely necessary. King Edward has kept this up strictly, but when anybody has the least symptom of influenza he has asked that immediate mention be made of the fact, and that the person so afflicted withdraw until absolutely well again.

FED BY HIS JAILERS.

Hartwick Will Be Carried Into Court If Necessary.

London, Feb. 17.—James Hartwick, the alleged wife murderer, will be brought into court this morning, if it is necessary to carry him. His preliminary hearing on the charge of having done his wife to death will commence at 11 o'clock.

So far as can be learned Hartwick will not be represented by counsel. He has not been visited recently by any relatives and he has no means at his disposal to secure legal representation. It is probable, however, that when he comes before a judge a counsel will be appointed.

Hartwick's mental condition has apparently changed but little. If anything he is less violent, and Saturday the "muffs," which were placed on his hands were taken off. He has not since evidenced a desire to tear off his clothing. Yesterday morning he took a drink of milk and some porridge when it was offered to him. He would not feed himself, however, and one of the turnkeys had to hold a spoon to his lips.

King Not Disqualified.

Montreal, Feb. 17—Dr. L. H. Davidson declares that the accusation to the effect that the King has forfeited the crown because he attended a Roman Catholic place of worship during the King Carlos obsequies is so much rubbish. He said:

"The act speaks of communion with the Church of Rome. There is no communion established by attending a Roman Catholic church in connection with a funeral. Many of our Roman Catholic fellow citizens of Montreal, for instance, attend Protestant funerals. Would anybody say that because of that they have had communion with the Protestant church? The thing is absurd. Communion means alliance; it means that one has joined the communion and participated in its life and work.

"I am sorry this matter was brought up at all. The King of England attended this Roman Catholic church as a matter of courtesy. Why should he be criticized for so doing?"

Foolhardy Sailor Killed.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 17.—In a spirit of bravado, a half-intoxicated sailor, at an early hour yesterday morning, undertook to walk the telephone wires between two of the 100 feet posts on Government street. When discovered in midair by the police, who were attracted by the man's singing, an alarm was turned in for the fire department, who spread nets in order to save the man's life should he fall. He however, made the trip all right and had descended to within 25 feet of the pavement, when he missed his footing and fell to the sidewalk, fracturing his skull and dying a few hours later at the hospital.

Hanged In His Cell.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 17.—After being pursued for more than ten years by detectives, the search taking them three times around the world, Karl Rapp, who was being held here to await a further hearing charged with setting fire to a factory and dwelling in Rosswig, Germany, in 1898, was found dead in his cell at Moyamensing Prison yesterday, having committed suicide by hanging with strips of bed clothing to the bars of the cell.

Love Race and Country.

Rome, Feb. 17.—(C.A.P.)—Rome Osservatore Romano interviewed Dr. Begin, whos aid: "We French-Canadians are still French. We love our native country. Although we have no reason to regret British rule, which grants us a broad regime of complete and absolute liberty, we are attracted towards those who are our brothers in language and origin, and so we have received many of our co-religionists expelled from France."

New Japanese Minister.

New York, Feb. 17.—Baron Takahira, the new Japanese ambassador, arrived yesterday on the Etruria and declared that war between the United States and Japan would be the most inhuman event in the history of the world and was too "hellish" to be brought off.

THEY WERE SILLY, NOT CRIMINAL

Sixty-Three Vote-Seekers Given Forty Days in Jail.

RAISE MONEY FOR CAMPAIGN

Suffragettes Have Self-Denial Week—Many Curious Expedients—Demonstrations Every Day—Ministers Live In Terror—Lady Recruiting Sergeant — Miss Pankhurst Says Will Not Be Subdued.

London, Feb. 17.—Whatever the result to their cause may be the suffragettes have captured the attention of the entire country. No day passes without a demonstration of some sort, usually having its sequel in the police courts. Sixty-three suffragettes have gone to jail this week for 40 days each.

All the Cabinet Ministers live in terror. Asquith, who is the special bete noir of the women, never ventures upon the street unless accompanied by two detectives. His colleagues seek to avoid recognition in public places, like undetected thieves.

The last batch of arrests was really rather outrageous. A band of 13 suffragettes started from Caxton Hall to take a petition to Westminster. They did not go in procession, but attempted to walk the sidewalks like ordinary pedestrians. A crowd who had been expecting some such movement followed and the police gobbled up the women before they had gone a hundred yards, and they were by no means gentle about it. These women had committed no offence, but the magistrate before whom they were taken ordered them to furnish recognizances to keep the peace or go to jail for six weeks. They all went to prison.

The suffragettes especially resent the insinuation that they are lacking in a sense of humor. This is a libel on some of the leaders. Chrystabel Parkhurst, who is the greatest individual inspiration in the crusade, says frankly: "Of course we are ridiculous. But what can we do? The movement would be ignored for another half century unless we compelled attention somehow. We must be either criminal or silly. Men under like circumstances would be criminal. We prefer to be silly."

The suffragettes have decreed a self-denial week, beginning yesterday, to raise funds for the campaign. They have adopted many curious expedients. One woman makes "Vote for Women" marmalade. Another takes a barrel organ about the streets. Others collect subscriptions at the railway stations. Others make five-minute speeches between the acts at the theatres and music halls and pass around collection boxes. Hundreds will bombard friends with subscription cards. Boarding-housekeepers will fine men boarders who mention the suffragettes at table. Dozens of girls will walk to work and send their omnibus fares to the fund. Well-to-do women are expected to contribute a week's income and abjure luxuries for the benefit of the crusade.

The woman question has broken out in one place where it was least expected. The Government is officially utilizing the services of a woman recruiting sergeant for the British army.

Smooth Progress a Surrender.

London, Feb. 17.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard refers lengthily to the announcement of progress of the United States-British arbitration treaty, which it says will be received with uncomfortable misgiving in Canada and Britain.

"From past experiences in dealings with Washington it is natural to infer that smooth progress means surrender," says The Standard. It points out that if we make a bad bargain for the colonies the precedent set Ottawa in the recent treaty with France may not receive a welcome. It sincerely hopes that Bryce, with whom Root played as a cat with a mouse on the Newfoundland question, will not be permitted by Sir Edward Grey to undo by superfluous concessions to the United States the good impression produced in the Dominion by the satisfactory solution to the Japanese immigration problem.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—Nicholas Ngerhard, the Governor-General of Finland, has been removed, and M. Von Boeckman, the Governor-General of Courland and commander of the twenty-second division has been appointed to that office. It is understood that M. Von Boeckman's duties will be chiefly military.

THE CITY LYING UNDER WATER

Widespread Damage Caused by Flood in Pittsburg.

DAYTON PARTLY SUBMERGED

Reservoir In Danger of Collapse—Banks Are Overflowing — Families Rescued by Boats — Many Cattle Washed Away—Loss Estimated at Millions of Dollars—Waters Are Now Slowing Receding.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—After reaching 30 7-10ths feet at noon yesterday and remaining at that stage for three hours, the high water in the rivers is now slowly receding.

The danger mark in this city is 22 feet.

The damage and suffering caused by the flood is widespread. A remarkable feature, however, is that as far as is known, there has been no sacrifice of human life.

Live stock has perished in considerable numbers. Miles of territory in Greater Pittsburg and vicinity are submerged and thousands of business houses in the downtown portion of Pittsburg are attempting to clear their cellars of water.

The actual monetary damage, it is believed, will amount to several million dollars.

The suffering caused by the high water is intense. Thousands of persons are living in the upper floors of their homes, the lower portions of which are filled with water.

Floods at Dayton.

Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Latest news from the north is to the effect that the Lewiston reservoir has not broken, although its banks are overflowing and there is danger of a collapse. Already thousands of dollars damage has been done in this city, several of the low-lying residence districts being under water. Rescue of a dozen families had to be made by boats yesterday, and a further rise will imperil scores more.

White City, a pleasure resort, is entirely under water, and its buildings may be carried down the river.

POWDER IGNITED GAS.

Empty Can Explains Cause of the Disaster at Port Hood.

Port Hood, C.B., Feb. 17.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the mine explosion of Feb. 7, which caused the death of ten men, was, in effect, that the disaster was caused by the explosion of some explosive mixture.

Since the close of the inquest another examination of the mine was made on Saturday, when Manager McLellan discovered an empty powder can completely shattered. Above the spot where the can was found there was a large hole in the roof, and timbers were blown away.

At this point the man who was most disfigured was found, and it is now believed that this discovery explains the cause of the explosion; first, powder, and then a small amount of gas along the level ignited.

Stewart, the fire boss has been dismissed, and it is said other heads will drop.

Cobalt Clerk Suicides.

Cobalt, Feb. 17.—Fred Anders, a clerk in the Cobalt freight office of the T. & N. O. Railway, shot and killed himself at 12.30 p. m. Saturday.

Anders sent a bullet from a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver into his head and died within half an hour. The remaining five chambers were loaded.

He was found about a quarter to one by W. H. Hickey, the local manager of the freight department, and Charles Reckin.

He left a note directing that his body be forwarded to E. B. White, Grand Rapids, Mich.

He was 33 years of age and a widower. No cause is known for his act.

Shot During Quarrel.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Feb. 17.—As a result of a quarrel over the payment of $8,500, J. F. Wider, a wealthy sawmill operator, president of the Mississippi Pine Association, and one of the leading lumbermen of the south, shot and killed W. L. Booth Saturday at Epp's Station on the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad.

Booth was a real estate dealer of Dallas, Texas. A special train with the sheriff and Wider's lawyer left for Epps Saturday evening.

Champion Quakers Invited To Play In Vancouver, B.C.

Games for the Peoples Shield to Take 'Place in April Next—Expenses Will Be Paid.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Football men will be interested in a communication received by the secretary of the Quaker Football Club from Vanvouver, B. C., in which district the games for the People's Shield, to be held next April, will be played. The champion Quakers of the Midland League have an invitation to go West to compete for the trophy. The letter which was received from Mr. Wm. Ellis, secretary of the People's Shield Committee, Vancouver, reads as follows:

Dear Sir,—I am enclosing you a copy of the rules governing the People's Shield Tournament, to be held here in April next.

It is proposed to have eight teams in the competition proper, the first round of which will be played on April 18 in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nanaimo. The reason for playing in these four cities is to make enough money to pay the expenses of the visiting teams. The semi-finals will be played in Vancouver on Tuesday, the 21st, and Thursday, the 23rd, and the final on Saturday, April 25.

As soon as the committee finds out the number of visiting teams it will include enough Coast teams to make up the required eight.

Kindly notify me before March 7 if your champion team wishes to compete.

The Governing Rules

1—The entire control and management of the competition 1907-8 shall be vested in the committee.

2—The competing teams must be composed of bona fide members of their respective clubs, and while the players of each team may be changed, no individual shall play for more than one club in the competition.

A bonafide member is one who has been a recognized playing member of his club not less than twenty-eight (28) days previous to the match, and shall not have played less than three competition matches for his club.

3—The games shall be governed by the laws of the E.F.A.

4—No professional will be allowed to compete.

5—The names of clubs entered for competition shall be placed by the committee in lots, and shall be drawn from such lots in couples at a time. Those couples shall compete with each other and the winner shall be again drawn as before, and so on, until the final tie is played.

The lots shall be drawn and the competitions played on grounds selected by the committee.

6—In case of a draw an extra half hour must be played. If the game remains drawn after the extra half hour, it shall be replayed as the committee may determine.

7—All question of eligibility, qualifications of competitors, interpretation of the rules or laws, as well as all other matters in dispute, shall be referred to the committee, whose decision shall be final.

8—The proceeds of matches will be pooled, and after paying for medals, advertising, grounds and other expenses of the matches, the balance to be divided among the teams compiling pro-ratio of their travelling expenses.

9—The committee shall have the power of choosing referees and linesmen.

10—In addition to the Shield, the committee will present medals to the winners (funds permitting.)

ROUGH RIDERS KALSOMINED KNOCKERS IN A GREAT GAME

One of the best junior games of the season was played at the Brock street rink Saturday night when the Rough Riders took the measure of the Knockers to the tune of 4 goals to 0 in a contest that, considering the condition of the ice, was decidedly fast and always interesting. At half-time neither team had scored but the R. R.'s came strong in the last half, having clearly the best of the argument, and rattled in four goals. True three of these were on long shots that should perhaps have been stopped, but the one was enough to win, anyway, and the Rough Riders were entitled to win on the play.

The handful of spectators found the game a decidedly interesting exhibition. The ice was heavy, and as a result the puck was often overskated and combination was an impossibility, but the teams went at each other hammer and tongs and the play never lagged, desperate individual rushes that were generally stopped short by the effective backchecking of both forward lines being the feature. In this particular the work of the Rough Riders' line was noticeably superior. They were back with the Knockers' line every time, helping out their defence immensely, and as a result the Knockers' shots were few and far between and when they did heave them at the nets Giroux weeded them out with accuracy and precision.

It was a hard fought battle all the way with the Rough Riders the better team, but finding in the Knockers no mean adversaries. Cleanness was by no means a feature, the teams showing no disinclination to mix it up, and as a result Referee Charlie Ray of the Strathconas kept the penalty seat warm throughout. Several embryo fights were included in the programme, but no one was hurt and the referee quickly restored law and order. The teams were as follows:

ROUGH RIDERS		KNOCKERS
	Goal
L. Giroux		Allen
	Point
Campbell		Theobald
	Cover Point
Cahill		Dorris
	Rover
Hayes		R. Hillier
	Centre
C. Giroux		D. Hillier
	Right Wing
Porter		Barclay
Waram		Holland

The play was very even in the first half with neither team having much on their opponents. The defences were playing great hockey and the close checking back of the forward line made goal getting almost an impossibility. Both had several opportunities, but the goal-keepers were on the alert and the umpires' hands remained down.

There was a difference in the second half when the Rough Riders, who seemed to be in the better shape, pretty dodging rush through the Knockers' defence, centred to Hayes, who banged in the first goal.

A few minutes afterward Cahill scored on a pretty waist high shot shot from centre, the puck passing through the whole Knocker team.

The Rough Riders were constantly on the aggressive and Waram made it three to nothing, scoring with a pretty shot on a pass from Giroux. Before time was up Porter added to the lead on a long shot from right centre, which should have been stopped, eluding Allen.

Len Giroux in goal for the winners took care of everything in faultless fashion. Campbell and Cahill made a strong defence, the latter's lifting being a very wise policy considering the ice, and saved his forwards considerably. Cyril Giroux was a shade the best of the forward quartette. He was at it all the time, playing great hockey throughout. The other three played hard, effective games, all checking back in grand style.

Dorris played an effective defence game for the Knockers, while Ralph Hillier was the best of the forward line, getting away for a number of rushes that would have resulted fatally if he had had any support.

It was a splendid game between two good junior teams and those who saw it have no doubt of the practicability of securing a splendid junior O. H. A. team for Peterborough. There is an ocean of material, and while next year may be premature, the year after should see a crackerjack seven representing this city.

The Summary—
First half, no score.
Second half—
1—Rough Riders, Hayes.
2—Rough Riders, Cahill.
3—Rough Riders, Waram.
4—Rough Riders, Porter.

STATHCONAS MAY PLAY GALT CITY LEAGUE CHAMPS.

It is possible that home and home games may be arranged between the Strathconas, city league champions, and the winners of the Galt city league. The secretary of the local city league has received the following letter from Galt, which is self-explanatory:

Secretary-Treasurer City League, Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—It has been reported that the executive of your city league are desirous of arranging home and home games with the winners of the Galt city league. The matter has been much talked of about town and a deep interest has been taken in the matter, so we are prepared to come to some agreement. We suggest that each team pay each other railroad expenses and the management to keep their own receipts. Trusting that you will look on this favourably and hoping that I may have an early reply, I am

Yours in anticipation,
P. F. FLEMING, Secy-Treas.

ALL STARS TO PLAY ON FRIDAY

Will Meet the Strathconas in What Should Be One of the Best Games Of The Season.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the game on Friday night of this week, between the Strathconas, champions of the city league, and an all star seven, picked from the other league teams. The task of selecting the all stars has been entrusted to President Fred. A. Clarke, of the city league, and the line-up which he picks may be depended upon to be there with the bells on. The personel of the team has not yet been definitely decided upon, but it will include Kempt, Doherty and Nichol of Norwood, Rose of the High Lifes, Quinn of Lakefield and Belleghem of the Bridgenorth seven. The Straths will put out their regular city league team and the public should see about the best game of the season when the two teams clash on Friday night. On paper the all stars look strong enough to win, but the high commissioners are confident that they can beat them off.

THE QUAKERS BEATEN AT LAST

The Auburns, the Terrors From the North, Took Them Into Camp.

The "unbeatable" Quakers met their match at last at the Brock street rink on Saturday night, when the Auburn seven put it over the smile men by a score of 3—2. It was the first defeat of the season

DOUBLE-HEADER TO BE PLAYED

The Quakers Will Play Bridgenorth on Friday Night.

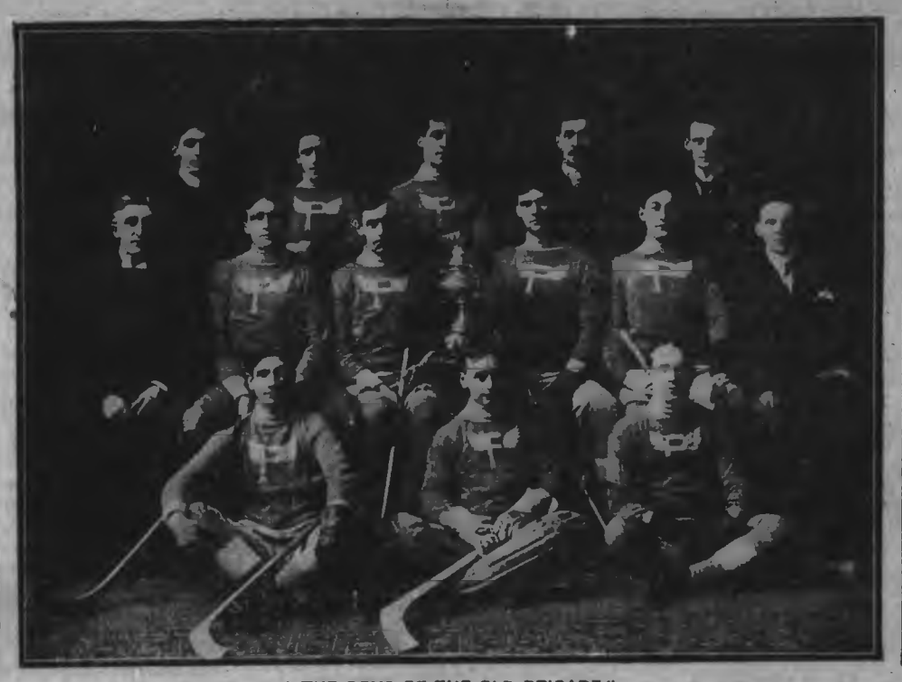
A great bill is promised for hockey lovers on Friday night when one of the best double-headers of the season will be pulled off. The Strathconas, champions of the City League, will play a game with a picked all-star team composed of players from the Norwood, Lakefield, High Lifes and Bridgenorth City League teams. This will be the game of the season and is attracting a great deal of attention.

The second game will be between Bridgenorth and the Quakers. The two are old rivals in other lines of sport and have been hurling challenges back and forward all through the hockey season. A game has finally been arranged, and a battle between the two teams should prove of more than usual interest.

ENTRIES FOR THE RACES TO-MORROW

Should Be Handed in Before Noon to Mr. Graham.

Great interest is being taken in the open skating events in connection with the appearance here to-morrow night of Robson and Hefferman the crack Canadian skaters. There will be a race for boys under eighteen and a mile event for the championship of the County of Peterborough. Entries for these events should be handed to Mr. C G Graham before noon to-morrow.



"THE BOYS OF THE OLD BRIGADE."

The above cut of the championship Peterborough hockey team of 1905 should prove of interest to hockey fans. Some of the group are far away from Peterborough now, but they are still winning fame in the hockey arena. Crowley and Whitcroft are the mainstays of the Edmonton professional team. Cavanah is in Richford, Vt., and Trainer Breen is in Toronto. The other members may be said to have retired from the game, although Watson, Glover, Moore and Morgan have been seen in action this year, coming out to help the Strathconas when called upon. It will be a long time before Peterborough will have such a clever team again.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE BIG GAME

Many Inquiries in Regard to the Press Melee—Review Team Hard Looking Bunch.

ONE TAKEN FOR HORSE THIEF

A little over one week from now and the Review and Examiner hockey teams will be launched at each other's throats in the annual press melee. Both teams are now in active training and by a week from Wednesday when the contest will be pulled off they will be hard as nails, although it may be said in justice to the Review that they are a pretty hard looking bunch at any time. The Review on Saturday night indulged in a column of musings over happenings in the early days of Rome. Their information on this line was peculiarly meagre when it is considered that one of their team, the famous Dinnie Dobbin played lacrosse in the colliseum about the time Nero played his fiddling violin solo. "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night."

It is pleasing to announce that a high class vaudeville performance will be included in the programme. D. U. B. MacRae, the man who received a vote of thanks for leaving Glengarry, will warble that plaintive number "I Can't Just Make My Feet Behave." Dinnie Tecumseh Dobbin will recitate "The Light of Other Days." Corned-beef Burns will do a monologue entitled "Corney at the Bat." The dramatic critic Chief Knocker Yokome will lecture at half time on "Some Plays I Should Have Made." "Back to the Dear Old Farm" will be the contribution of Lemon McGuire of Orangeville.

The Examiner office is being flooded with letters bearing inquiries as to the great game. It has not been found possible to announce them all out here are a few replies:—

Maud—"No; we can positively promise that Manager MacRae of the Review team will not wear kilts. He states that he is not in good enough shape for that.

Veteran—"You are quite right Dinnie Dobbin played goal for the Peterborough lacrosse team in 1842. He was born here some where around 1809.

Anxious—"We cannot guarantee that Knocker Yokome will play, but he will be on the ice that night with a hockey stick anyway."

Constant Reader—"We cannot tell you what Corney Burns. If he is like the rest of the Review team howevr, it is likely ozone.

Perplexed—"It is impossible to answer your question. We cannot see any difference between the Review team and a crate of lemons. If you find out kindly drop us a line.

Hockey Fan.—"Yes, its too true that Strathcona Wilson of the City League champions will play for the Review. We echo your thought "How Are the Mighty Fallen."

Our Leon Lake correspondent writes us that an envoy extraordinary of the Review team was scouring the north country last week in search of hockey players, but that his actions were so suspicious that he was taken for a horse thief and chased all the way to Buckhorn by a band of angry settlers. Our correspondent maintains that if the rest of the Review team exhibit so much speed that they will take a lot of beating.

"There's no one Like the Old Folks After All," sang Manager MacRae as he watched Dinnie Dobbin work out in the Review basement on Saturday night.

President Roosevelt wires that he would be "dee-lighted" to take in the game but for business reasons is unable to do so. He offers the Examiner the use of his Big Stick, but it will not be needed.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

For the third time this season the Otonabee hockey team play the Chieftains. The game is called for to-night between 6 and 7 o'clock. Jas. D. Clarke will referee.

• • • •

The Lakefield intermediates will be in the city to-night, to meet the Y. M. C. A. team in the return game at Brock street rink.

• • • •

With the factory league rather quiet at present it would be interesting to bring a few of the best teams together before the season is passed. A game that should be warmly contested would be a meeting of Crossman's and Ackerman's sevens. The leather-workers have been undefeated so far this season and Crossman's have also played good hockey. There has been no talk of a game between them, but a challenge from either would bring a ready response. The teams have apparently lost their enthusiasm, but the season should not be allowed to pass without a rather definite settlement as to which establishment in the city has the best team.

• • • •

The Knockers accept the challenge of the West End.

• • • •

The officials of the local city league and of the Strathconas are both favourable to the scheme and the series may be arranged. The visit of the Galt team to Peterborough would create a lot of interest here and no doubt a large crowd see the battle. The strength of the local city league, as compared to similar organizations in other cities, has often been discussed, but so far there has been no opportunity of settling this point. A series of games with Galt would afford a chance of deciding the question.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Insure Them Good Health.

Ninety per cent. of children, under twelve years of age, are being poisoned and parents don't realize it.

Irregular bowels are the chief cause. You parents know that your bowels should move every day. You know you must be as regular as clock-work, or the blood will become tainted.

Don't you realize that the children must be as orderly in getting rid of the waste matter of their system?

Then, if you find that any of the little ones go two or three days without action of the bowels, don't run to castor oil, senna tea, calomel, cascara or harsh "liver pills." Those simply purge the child—strain the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children. They are fruit juices and tonics in the form of a pleasant tasting tablet. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulate the liver, causing more bile to flow. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which moves the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" regulate the liver and bowels, and thus completely cure constipation. They sweeten the stomach, and are the finest tonic in the world to build up the system and make children plump and rosy. 50c a box—six for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

IS THERE ANYTHING IN A NAME?

Are Johns Strong, Mary Weak, Or is There Nothing in It?

What's in a name? Everything, says M. de Rochetal, who has invented onomatology. His peculiarity is that he pays no attention to the history or etymology of surnames, as any ordinary scholar without originality might do, but considers only Christian names. He has been at work on these for twenty years. The results of his researches are positive, though it does not explain by what scientific process he reached them. He merely lays down the law.

All Marys are weak, melancholy, and unlucky; Peters are strong and constant; Pauls are active, lively and eloquent, but impulsive; Georges, "like the dragon slayer," whom the onomatologist seems to have known well, are all big, fine men, and usually think a good deal of themselves. Louises are exceedingly sensitive and irritable, but active and intelligent; Leons are gentle and warm-hearted, and would be superior men if they had stronger characters; Henry is the ideal name, and Henrys have deep, passionate hearts, and wonderful energy, but are a trifle irritable; Johns are strong, full of go, and well armed for the battle of life, but they are not always easy to get along with. Is this a dig at John Bull?

Among women, other than Marys, Helens, as one can a rule, like Helen of Troy, pretty but fickle; Susans are not much more to be relied upon; Juliets are constant in love or hatred; while Louises are nice girls, but without force of character, and "want looking after." Elizabeths are dreamy and quiet natures, and are often unhappy; Martha's are good-hearted, but pugnacious as foes; and as for Alices, beware of them, for they "have a remarkable love of independence." They are also subject to fits of depression—perhaps when not allowed to have their own way.—London Mail.

A YEAR OF MINING HORRORS

Deaths in 1907 Will Approximate Three Thousand.

The Pennsylvania tragedy of a few days ago swells the appalling record of mining horrors during the present year. It is estimated that the mortality resulting from these disasters during 1907 will approximate three thousand, the greatest death list in the history of mining. Not a month but has seen its catastrophe either in the United States or Europe. Yesterday's calamity makes the sixteenth in the United States since the first of January. This record is particularly startling in view of the fact that much has been done to lessen the hazard of the miners' occupation. Many and explicit laws have been passed with that object in view. In every state where mining is carried special care has been taken for the protection of workers in the mines, but it would seem without avail.

GEORGE GREER DIES IN CHICAGO

William Greer, a Brother, Passed Away Last Week in Dunkirk.

Dr. Johnston, the local veterinary surgeon, received a telegram from Dunkirk, this morning, bearing the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. George Greer, of Chicago. The telegram was sent by Mr. James Green, who was in Peterborough on a visit a short time ago from Moosejaw, Sask. He went to Dundirk last week to bury his brother William, who had passed away. While there he received word from Chicago of the death of his other brother, George. He said in the telegram that he was leaving at 12 o'clock to-day for Peterborough with the remains of his deceased brother and asked Dr. Johnston to look after the funeral arrangements.

The deceased gentleman was the son of the late William Greer, of Halle's Bridge. He was well known throughout the township of Otonabee and also in Peterborough. He was unmarried and leaves behind him two brothers Joseph, of Otonabee and James, of Moosejaw, Sask.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Sofa Caught Fire In House

Fire Brigade Had a Run on Saturday Afternoon.

A sofa in the residence of Mr. Joseph Gray, near the corner of McDonel and Park streets, last night caught fire, causing considerable excitement and giving the fire brigade a Sunday night run. The adults of the family had gone to church, leaving the children alone in the house. It is supposed that they were playing with matches. At any rate the sofa became ignited and the children ran out and gave the alarm. A number of neighbours rushed into the house and carried the burning lounge outside, while someone turned in an alarm from box 41. There was nothing for the brigade to do when they got there. No damage was done, except to the sofa.

Velvet Skin, Soft and Clear

What one or two applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will do for rough, inflamed and irritated skin is almost as wonderful as is the complete cure of eczema by its persistent use. By its healing, soothing and antiseptic influence, Dr Chase's Ointment quickly cures chafing and skin diseases and eruptions and leaves the skin clear, soft and velvety.

MANY GATHER TO HEAR LT.-COL. GASKIN

Spoke at Three Services Yesterday—Commission Service Held on Saturday Night.

One of the largest gathering that have ever congregated in the local Salvation Army Barracks was that present yesterday at both morning and evening services to hear the popular Salvation Army General Secretary for Canada, Lt.-Col. Gaskin. Mr. and Mrs. Gaskin arrived in Peterborough on Saturday evening and upon their arrival at the barracks a reception service was held during which Mrs. Gaskin commissioned ten women into the League of Mercy. On Sunday morning Col. Gaskin delivered a masterly address on "The Birthplaces of Different Men," choosing for his text the 87 Psalm. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock he also spoke, and told some of his experiences as an army officer. At the 7 o'clock service he took for his subject, "A Study in Botany," and delivered an eloquent address. At all services he was assisted by Capt. Hurd who is in the city for a few days.

Capt. Hurd is well known in Peterborough and will give a farewell lecture in the Salvation Army hall to-night on the life in London, entitled "Paying the Fare." The lecture is a very interesting one, and is illustrated by 50 stereopticon views. The army band will be out in full strength and an excellent musical programme will be rendered by the members of the corps. The lecturer has been connected with this branch of work for two years and has met with success wherever he went. The headquarters of the Army are calling the captain to another field of labour and this will be the last chance the people of Peterborough will have of hearing Captain Hurd.

VAST AMOUNT OF PROGRESS ON CONSTRUCTION WORK ON TRENT CANAL DURING THE PAST YEAR

Contracts Amounting to Almost $3,000,000 Have Been Let—Seven Sections of the Work.

RAPID ADVANCEMENT MADE

That the Dominion Government is pushing forward to its completion, the Trent Canal, and fulfilling its promises may be seen from the facts presented in brief in this column. During the past year no less than six contracts have been let between Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario and these involve the total sum of $2,915,000. This amount of money is being expended on 7 different sections of the canal giving employment to an army of men. The contractors include three Peterborough men, Messrs. Aylmer, Conroy and Rogers.

Much of the work indicated below has been concluded, a couple of the sections will soon be started and another has been advertised which has not yet been let.

The following table shows the features of each contract that has been let during the past year:

Dam at Bobaygeon on the Little Bob Channel, which also develops power for the village of Bobaygeon, now under construction; Wiltrid & McCoy, Lindsay, contractors; contract price about $35,000.

Ontario-Rice Lake division, section No. 5, from Campbellford up to Crow Bay; 2 dams and 2 locks; half mile stretch of canal; Brown & Aylmer, of Toronto and Peterborough respectively, the contractors; construction work has progressed last summer and during the winter, dam No. 2 being almost completed. The dam provides power for the town of Campbellford; contract price $525,000.

Ontario-Rice Lake division Section No. 1 extending from Trenton to a point 3 miles north; includes 3 dams and 3 locks, a swing bridge at Glenmiller; Dam No. 1 to provide power for the town of Trenton and the Gilmour factory; Messrs. Larkin & Sangster, of St. Catharines, contractors; contract price $850,000.

Ontario-Rice Lake division, section No. 2, extending from the end of section No. 1 to a point 1 1-2 miles above Frankford, including 3 locks and 3 dams as well as 3 stretches of canal; Dennon, Weddell & Rogers, the contractors; contract price $600,000.

Rosedale section, between Cameron and Balsam Lakes; 1 lock, 1 dam, 1-2 mile stretch of canal. 1 mile dredging; contractor Randolph Macdonald, of Toronto; contract price about $250,000.

The Ontario-Rice Lake division, section No. 3 has recently been advertised, and in the near future the contract will be let for this.

A PROMINENT OTTAWA JUDGE DEAD

His Last Judgment Was Delivered From Death Bed Two Weeks Ago.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Feb. 18. —[Hon. Geo. Wheelock Burbidge, judge of the Exchequer Court, died this morning of cancer. He had been hopelessly ill for a long time, but the family had kept news of his real condition to themselves and little had leaked out since his last judgments which he delivered from his death bed, some two or three weeks ago.

THE WEATHER.

After the mild and rainy weather of the past few days, another change to colder has come. This morning at 7 o'clock the thermometer stood at zero, and showed that during the night the temperature had been down to 9 below. At noon it was 12 above.

There Comes a Time

when letters blur, when lines run together, and reading becomes difficult, especially in the evening. This blurring is caused by the eye not being able to focus at the normal reading distance—thirteen inches.

The vision in the distance is as clear as ever, and this fact leads many to believe that glasses are unnecessary, but this is just the time when the first pair of glasses is needed. A continuation without glasses causes an undue strain on the muscles of the eye, and a dull headache is the result, a person gains nothing by going without glasses when they are needed. In fact they gain much by having glasses fitted when the first blur indicates failing vision. ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

First White Child Born In Asphodel Has Passed Away

Peregrine Maitland Cameron Died at Age of 86 Years—Named After Lieutenant-Governor.

AN OLD SETTLER GONE

There passed away on the 13th inst., one of the oldest settlers of the township of Asphodel, in the person of Peregrine Maitland Cameron, at the ripe old age of eighty-six years and and four months. The late Mr. Cameron was born on the eleventh of October, eighteen hundred and twenty-one, and had the distinction of being the first white male child born in the township. The shanty in which he was born was situated near the shore of Rice Lake, on almost the same spot where the fine brick residence of Captain Birdsall now stands. His father, the late John Cameron, first settled there, but afterwards moved to the place, since known as Cameron's Point. Later on they moveda north about four miles, to where most of his descendants have since lived. The late Mr. Cameron had five brothers and four sisters, all but one sister having predeceased him. In politics he was a strong Liberal. He has witnessed many of the struggles and hardships of the early settlers, and could narrate many interesting events in connection with the early settlement of the township. He was named after the Lieutenant Governor, Peregrine Maitland.

Mr. Dumble Presents Plea For A Carnegie Library

Answers Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., On This Question—Makes Some Changes In The Figures.

A GIFT OR A MORTGAGE

To the Editor of The Examiner:

I have read with interest the letter of Mr. W. H. Moore, on the questions of the Public Library — Mr. Moore is one of the Town Commissioners, who knows all about our financial position, and is generally considered a clear-headed man. I am glad to read in his letter these words: "The city should, of course, have a good library, and a good and convenient building in which to house it," but Mr. Moore is in doubt whether it would not be wiser to borrow $30,000 and pay principal and interest on the debentures instead of accepting $30,000 as a free gift from Mr. Carnegie! Now, generally speaking, people think a gift is a more pleasant and profitable thing than a mortgage on one's home—Mr. Moore has doubts. If this were a personal matter Mr. Moore would cast his doubts to the winds and snatch at the $30,000. Mr. Moore's mode of putting his argument is not clear.

Assuming that we had to raise $3,000 a year, representing at 4 1-2 per cent., $66,000, why does he ignore the fact that the Nicholls estate gifts cover $25,000; and the annual Government grant, $150, at 4 1-2 per cent. equals a capital of $4,000; making a total of $29,000, leaving to be raised only $37,000, not $66,000. The cost of properly keeping up the library is the same whether the Carnegie money is used or not.

If $3,000 is too big a burden then why accept $30,000 from Carnegie, he does not insist on our taking that sum. A building costing $25,000 will be plenty large enough and good enough, and the annual requirement to run the library will be reduced to $2,500, of which we now have an assured income of $1,150 a year, leaving to be raised only $1,320 per annum. We raise to educate our children $46,787 per annum; this is all right, for it is the most that people can usually give their children—to fit them to make their own living is better than to pinch and slave to leave them money, which too often they dissipate before they have learned how to make and how to save money. If it is wise to do so much for our children, is it unwise to do something for the older children—the grown ups. We don't quit studying and reading when we leave school.

A free public library will give to every home all the books they need all the year round. There are 3,500 homes in Peterborough; forty cents a year will give every home a new book each week, forty books a year at a cent apiece. Surely we can stand that. Can any home make a better investment? We would like Mr. Moore to put down actual figures, proving mathematically that it is cheaper for Peterborough to raise $25,000 or $30,000 by a mortgage on the town than accepting $25,000 or $30,000 as a gift.

I am, sir
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

DESPICABLE JOURNALISM.

Our evening contemporary the Review, animated by an inexplicible spirit of personal hatred of Hon. Mr. Stratton, aided by the contemptible unfairness of its pro tem. editor, is amusing itself by publishing excerpts from the report of the Royal Insurance Commission, in regard to the Home Life Association, in which the object is to show that Mr. Stratton profited unduly through the transfer of the Peoples Life interests to the Home Life Association. This line of attack is doubly reprehensible—because its implication is untrue and without foundation in fact, and because it is a contemptible attack upon a citizen who is not in public life and is only accountable to the business interests with which he is associated. The policyholders and the shareholders of the Home Life Association are the only persons concerned in the transaction, which the Review, apropos of nothing, thrusts upon the public attention. The matter in question was settled at the annual meeting of the Association a year ago. Not only did the policyholders and shareholders find no fault with Mr. Stratton's action, but they actually voted him a handsome honorarium in recognition of his services in so satisfactorily effecting the transfer in the interests of all concerned, and more than that—at the annual meeting held a few days ago, another handsome honorarium was voted Mr. Stratton in recognition of his excellent services. So much under this head. The Examiner does not propose to discuss a matter of business, which neither the Review nor Examiner has any right to discuss. But the Examiner has this to add. Neither the Review nor its amateur editor dares put in the form of a specific charge the dastardly insinuation they desire to suggest under the cowardly cover of the unjustified report and assumption of the Commission.

In regard to the manner of selection of the West Peterborough Conservative candidate for the Commons, the Examiner said in effect and the Examiner repeats, that money was collected to pay the expenses of delegates from the country districts, some of them being even roused from their beds by the urgency of the summons, and the successful candidate for the nomination got the benefit of this enterprise. We repeat, on the authority of Mr. Phelan, in a charge publicly made at the convention, that that gentleman, in political parlance, was "knifed." That is Mr. Burnham personally and specifically asked and urged him to be a candidate and that at the last minute he permitted, if he did not procure, his own nomination as an opponent of Mr. Phelan, and in sporting language, he won out by means, which Mr. Garvin, another victim of the political confidence game, could and does graphically explain. These are not insinuations; they are statements, and if the Review or Mr. Burnham wishes to put them to the proof the machinery of a court of law is available.

Why is the Review and its bumptious edkor now reviving this irrelevelent matter of the insurance report, without any excuse except malevolence? Why this personal attack upon a private citizen, who is not in public life but industriously minding his own business? Has he ever failed in anything he has undertaken? Is he not a good citizen? Is he not as good a citizen as the amateur editor? God send that he be not a worse one! Has anybody ever lost a dollar by him? Dares the Review or its amateur edkor assert that the shareholders or the policyholders of the Home Life Association ever lost a cent through Mr. Stratton? If the editor of the Review wants to attack anybody on the head of the Insurance Commission, let him publish the portion of the report referring to Hon. Mr. Foster, (who is in public life), and the Union Trust Company. Mr. Burnham should be able to embellish the extract with some inside information from his recent connection with the Union Trust Company. His association with the brood-hen of the "nest of traitors" doubtless qualified him—or at least gives him some pointers—for repeating the role of political ripper, in Peterborough.

WHAT GOOD HAS COME?

What advantages have the temperance people derived from their combination to oust the Ross Government from power? This. They brought into power the Whitney Government, and the first act of that Government was to nullify toe local option law by tacking on it the three-fifths handicap. If the Ross Government had been in power, last January, between thirty and forty municipalities would have passed local option, that lost it after carrying it by good majorities, through the operation of the fatal three-fifths requirement. Still the Government sticks to it and intimates that the three-fifths handicap is to stay. The Manitoba Government has decided to carry out the policy which the Liberal opposition contended for at the last general election—and will abolish the three-fifths clause and return to the British principle of majority rule. Will Mr. Whitney continue his hostility to the interests of the temperance party which practically placed him in power? Will a large proportion of the temperance people continue to place politics before principle as they have done for years?

THE SCANDAL-HUNTERS

The Federal Opposition is acting on the assumption that the present session of Parliament is the last one before the general elections, hence its policy for the time being is, "Throw all the mud you can." The muck-rakers are said to be rooting among the files and archives for material with more industry than they usually devote to the public service. The so-called timber scandal, upon which they relied to make an impression upon the country, has flattened out. The only accusation was that men who had purchased a timber limit for a few thousand dollars were asking half a million for it. There is no record that anybody is willing to pay them that amount. Not a single limit has been sold by the Government without public competition, and without due advertisement of the sale. The public domain has not been given away to members of Parliament and party favourites, as was the case under the former regime, which alienated 20,000 square miles of timber land in a period of three years, and received not so much as a postage stamp for it. No wonder the Montreal Star, a candid friend of the Conservative party, tells the Opposition that it should have removed the "wounded soldiers" from its firing line before attacking the Government on this question. One after another, Conservative members—"wounded soldiers"—had to rise to explain their timber deals in the past.

There has been much reckless insinuation, and the Conservative press has bloomed with sensational headlines, but the only result has been to reopen a chapter of Conservative Government which contrasted most unfavourably with the present Government's record. Moreover, before this alleged scandal was exploited, the Minister of the Interior had decided to improve on the tender system, introduced by a Conservative Government, by requiring all timber limits to be sold at public auction.—London Advertiser.

Stop commission of agents in England and this slave trade would cease.

BLENDED FLOURS ARE BETTER

Farmers Advised to Drop Western Patent Flours—Means Better Demand For Ontario Wheat.

REGULATED BY DEMAND

Our farmers should back up the millers in their splendid efforts to widen the market for Ontario blended flours, and thus educate the whole Canadian people up to the merits of Ontario wheat. The farmer is the one most interested in this work, because he will be most benefitted by an increase in the price of his wheat. Yet he is the one who seems to be doing the least to bring about this desired end.

When the slump came in Ontario wheat our millers began to experiment with the various varieties of Canadian grains. They spent thousands of dollars trying to find some combination in which Ontario wheat would be the most important part. It took years of careful and costly research to perfect the blended flours. But the results justified the trouble and expense.

Blended flours, which contain Ontario wheat and a little Western wheat, are better for bread and better for pastry than any other. What our farmers should do—and must do if higher prices for wheat are to be obtained—is to drop the Western patent flours and use blended flours instead. If every farmer in Ontario would buy blended flours there would be an enormous demand for these blended flours and a corresponding demand for Ontario wheat. Then the price of Ontario wheat would go up to where it belongs and where it would pay a handsome profit to the farmer.

Prices are always regulated by demand. When we think of the thousands of farmers right here in our own province who should buy blended flours, and who are probably using Western patent flour instead, it does seem as if there is much missionary work to be done in educating the whole people up to the importance of this subject. Everyone who has the best interests of the province at heart should make this a personal matter, and see that every barrel and bag of flour that comes into the house should bear the trade mark of the Ontario Millers' Association, the band of men who are honestly and honourably trying to put Ontario flour on the high plane it once enjoyed.

What Joy to be Freed From Piles

THERE IS SCARCELY A SUFFERER IN THIS BROAD LAND BUT CAN BE CURED BY

The utter misery and despair of the sufferer from a severe case of piles, or hemorrhoids cannot be described in words.

It is not only the intense itching and stinging which in themselves are bad enough, not only the dread of a surgical operation, with its pain, expense and danger, but the whole system seems to be undermined, and as the ailment drags on from day to day, and year to year, one becomes discouraged, despondent, and in despair gives up all hope of cure.

The joy which cured ones experience on being cured from itching, bleeding and protruding piles, is told in the thousands of letters which we have received from time to time.

You need not tell the writers of these letters that there is a case of which Dr. Chase's Ointment will not cure, for they will not believe it. They alone know how they suffered, and also know that Dr. Chase's Ointment cured them. In many of the cures were almost like miracles, so little ointment was used. In other cases, while relief came quickly, cure was only affected by the persistent use of several boxes of the Ointment.

W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros., tobacco merchants, 322 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for itching piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease and though I tried many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise that is given to it is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured, and knowing the misery that this ailment produces, I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

It matters not how long you have suffered, if you have itching, bleeding or protruding piles Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve and cure you, and it is the only positive and guaranteed cure for every form of piles; 60 cts. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

STOCK EXCHANGE IN NEW YORK

The Panic, Says Henry Clews, is Becoming a Part of History—Relief in Money Market.

ACTIVITY IS PREVAILING

Examiner Special.

New York, Feb. 18.—On the Stock Exchange during the past week there was a number of important fluctuations which contributed more or less activity in special stocks, but a comparatively quiet market in others. The recent panic, however, is gradually becoming a matter of history, and its effects in the financial district are disappearing by degrees. Confidence has certainly recovered considerably, and the money market has settled down into more normal conditions. Loanable funds on good collateral are plentiful, and good borrowers find no difficulty in securing all the accommodation they need at comparatively low rates.

The relief developed in the money market has been the result of unimpeded workings of natural forces. It can safely be said that readjustment in the money market has been more complete, as well as more rapid, than in any other department of business. This is important because it paves the way for readjustment elsewhere. We are still descending from an abnormal level to the normal, and the process naturally goes on more smoothly in some divisions than in others. In the stock market, for instance, the readjustment has been much more emphasized than in the merchandise markets. There has been no organized or artificial resistance to a decline in the rates for money. There has been some concerted opposition to the decline in stocks, but beyond the effort to check the panic, there was nothing remarkable to interfere with the readjustment in securities. In the main the stock market has yielded to natural forces during the last three months. In the commodity markets, however, especially manufactured products, the situation is radically different; for in that quarter there are very few industries, which are not more or less under the domination of great combinations, whose policy has distinctly been to sustain values in spite of declining demand. This wholesale effort to check the operations of natural law marks a new and hazardous tendency in business affairs. In previous panics the trusts had not attained such power over the markets as they now possess, and prices were left to adjust themselves in accordance with the fluctuations of supply and demand. While this may have caused occasional dissatisfaction, it was in the main beneficial; because it was the true course for readjustment and afforded buyers at chance of exercising individual judgment. Now, conditions are completely changed, and prices of many commodities are held at or near the old figures regardless of ordinary market conditions and the necessity for commercial as well as financial liquidation. As a result of the panic there has been a sharp contraction in the demand for many articles. New enterprises have been checked; many hands are out of employment and consumption has consequently declined quite sharply. Under natural conditions prices would be reduced at such times in order to revive demand and encourage resumption of enterprise through diminished costs of production. To-day, however, the full resumption of business activity is positively retarded by the obstinate refusal of the trusts, whether of capital or labour, to adjust themselves to the changed conditions. For the first time in our history, we are seeing how the trust system works under adversity. Trust managers have acquired great power which, if used indiscreetly and to resist the natural action and reaction of economic forces, will be sure to invite further disaster sooner or later. If used discreetly, it would permit a gradual decline; and in industries where competitive conditions still remain, prices have already been lowered considerably. There are, however, other industries, notably steel, in which are held at old figures in spite of decreased costs of production. This means that many mills are idle and many labourers out of employment that otherwise would be actively engaged were prices reduced to a lower level; all because officials, for reasons best known to themselves, refuse to recognize the change in fundamental conditions.

In the stock market a fair degree of activity prevails. Transactions were somewhat limited by the holiday; also by the disposition to await results of the city bond sale. Conditions for the latter were more favourable than at the time of the previous issue in September; not only is money much easier and more plentiful, but confidence is stronger and for some weeks past there has been a good demand for high-class bonds. A good deal of criticism has been heard as to the enormous borrowings of New York city, for which there is more or less good reason; and while the rapidity with which this issue was taken is encouraging, the city government should take note of the fact that there is a limit to the strain which can be imposed upon the city's credit, and that there should be a policy of curtailment in the extravagant expenditures which have characterized New York's city government for several years past. Municipal extravagance is just as sure to exact its penalties as the extravagance of individuals and private corporations.

Stock Exchange operations have been more or less checked by political developments. We are now entering upon the disagreeable and really critical stage of the Presidential campaign. This is the time when all sorts of disturbing issues will be raised and discussed with more or less vehemence. The new politics recently advanced must now stand the test of the political furnace, and the development of public opinion will be watched with keen interest in order to ascertain the issues and the men that will succeed in the coming campaign. The crusade against corporations and great wealth makes this campaign one of supreme importance. The political atmosphere in this respect has fortunately already been much cleared. Public opinion has been thoroughly aroused, and the agitation in this respect has probably seen its worst phases. It is now settled that the great corporations must obey the law, and hereafter show a decent regard for public interest. The latter they are beginning to do, in many cases voluntarily; having recognized the necessity of palliating public opinion. As for the misdeeds of so-called "high finance," those are already meeting with deserved retribution; sometimes in the courts, but more frequently through financial collapse and public ostracism. We have had many striking examples lately that there are numerous evils difficult of suppression by law, which disappear quickly under the influence of an aroused and sound public opinion. The latter is a power of tremendous force when exerted, and it is safe to say that many of the deals and transactions which were passed over without challenge two or three years ago would not be repeated in the financial district today. Comparatively little reform has thus far been secured either through legislation or enforcing the law; yet everyone within the precincts of Wall Street knows that business standards are on a distinctly higher level than twelve months ago.

The future of the market is somewhat uncertain with prospects of no extreme fluctuations in either direction. Values have already undergone so severe a contraction that there is but little room for further decline, even should some of the unfavourable developments now expected materialize. Decreased railroad earnings and possibly decreased dividends have already been very largely discounted; so also, have many of the troubles appearing from day to day as the aftermath of the panic. This explains why the latest bank troubles had no effect upon the market. It is quite possible in view of the recent rally that prices may sag off for a period, especially should unfavourable news transpire. We look, however, for no decided reaction; but rather for frequent fluctuations to and fro and a good trading market. Much depends upon the outlook of the crops and the elections. As soon as the nominations are decided upon some opinion can be formed as to the latter. Meanwhile, it will be advisable to avoid heavy commitments on either side of the market, but to avail of the wide fluctuations hereafter which will be frequent for both buying and selling. Otherwise buy when down and sell when up.

PEDESTRIAN STUCK IN SNOWDRIFT

Explained That His Leg Was Broken—Got Off the Track.

Stuck fast in a snowdrift was the fate of a local man last night as he was wending his way up Water street to his home. An acquaintance overtook him on the way, and before the latter had time to make inquiries the man in the drift explained that "he was not drunk, but merely had his leg broken."

A consultation, however, disclosed the fact that no bones were broken, and some other cause had to be assigned for the mishap.

THE LIFE OF JOSEPH STUDIED LAST NIGHT

At the Meeting of the Young People of Knox Church.

The young people's meeting at Knox Church last night proved very interesting. Mr. Wallace Patton occupied the chair, and three of the members read papers on "Joseph." Miss Menzies took as her subject the "Life of Joseph," Miss L. Watt the "Administration of Joseph in Egypt," while "Joseph as a Type of Christ" was read by Mr. Duncan Campbell. A musical programme was also rendered.

Next Monday an evening with the "Merchant of Venice" will be held.

BUS LOAD UPSET ON THE LAKEFIELD ROAD

Bad Condition of the Roads Was the Cause—Nobody Was Hurt.

Few 'bus loads have left Peterborough during the past few weeks for Lakefield and other rural points that have not experienced some mishap on the road. Yesterday a 'bus load containing several men and women, who were on their way to Lakefield, had a spill about a mile and a half from the city. The roads are in bad condition, which was given as the cause of the accident. Fortunately no one was hurt, and the remainder of the journey to Lakefield was thoroughly enjoyed.

INTERESTING FIGURES ON COW TESTING

Comparisons That Are Worth While Considering.

The records of the dairy and cold storage cow testing associations in the Province of Quebec are full of interest.

In one association the highest yield of any cow in a certain herd during six months, from June to November, was 132 lbs. fat. In a neighbouring herd the best yield was 200 lbs. fat, or a difference of 68 lbs. fat. This is a difference in the earning power of these two cows of at least $17 in six months. This is not a contrast between a good and a poor cow, but between the best cows in each herd. In this case 20 cows of the one kind equal 44 of the other as regards value of product. Why should not the returns from scores, yes hundreds of our dairy cows be increased by $17? They could be very easily if farmers were fully alive to the possibilities of systematic improvement. We must aim higher.

In another association a more startling difference is discernible. In one herd the best cow yielded 450 lbs. fat during the full period of lactation, while the best cow in another herd gave only 141 lbs.. With butter-fat at 25 cents per lb. the one cow is credited with $112.70 and the other with only $35.32. This is a difference of $87.38 between these two cows. Assuming that the cost of feed is the same in both cases, and is $30, it is found that 12 cows in the one case would equal 188 of the other.

Popular Cure for Croup

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as a cure for croup, will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success. It is wonderfully prompt in relieving the cough, clearing the air passages and soothing the excited nerves. Many mothers who realise the suddenness with which croup comes on keep this great medicine promptly on hand for use in case of emergency.

MR. M'GILLICUDDY SPOKE AT THE BOYS' MEETING

The Boys' meeting held at the Y. M.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was very largely attended. Mr. McGillicuddy, of Toronto, spoke very effectively on the Way of Salvation, and at the close of the meeting quite a number of the boys signified their desire to begin to lead the Christian life. A quartette under the direction of Mr. J. H Scriver, sang with good expression, "Where Will You Spend Eternity."

Dr. R. Lionel King May Locate In Medicine Hat

Spending Few Days There and Likes the Situation, Says Despatch.

AN ATHLETIC TRIBUTE

There will be many in Peterborough interested in the following despatch from Medicine Hat, referring to Dr. Lionel King, formerly of Peterborough:—

R. L. King, M.D.C.M., of Carp, Michigan, has been spending several days in the city, and as the result of his visit will probably open up an office here for the practice of medicine. Dr King is a graduate of Trinity University, Toronto, and after putting in a year as interne at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Pittsburg, has been practising in Michigan since 1900. He is a son of the late Dr. Richard King of Peterborough, and a brother of Dr. D. C. King of the same city.

Another brother, Dr. Henry King, is also a medical practitioner.

For several years prior to his graduation Lionel King was probably the best known athlete in Ontario. He was the star player of the Peterborough hockey, lacrosse, rugby football and baseball teams and acquired such popularity as a hockey and lacrosse referee that he probably officiated in that capacity in every town in the Province. The value placed upon his counsel in matters athletic was such that he was continuously re-elected to the executives of the Ontario Hockey Association and Canadian Lacrosse Association, and at the time he entered upon the practice of his profession in Michigan he was first vice-president of both these great governing bodies in the East. During the years he was on the staff of the Western Pennsylvania Hospital he was a member of the all-conquering Pittsburg hockey team, and up to last summer figured in all the important matches played by the Detroit Lacrosse Club. Should Dr. King decide upon taking up residence here his presence would prove a great impetus to sports in the Hat. He will spend the next ten days in Calgary and Edmonton.

More Tips From Englishmen Than From Any Other Class

Wood Deliverer Says They Are Generous With Their Money and There Is No Difficulty In Obtaining Payment.

HARDWOOD IS VERY SCARCE

From the statements of some of the men connected with local woodyards there is only a limited supply of hard wood in the city and some of the dealers are without it. They have, however, mixed wood which they are selling rapidly and especially during the colder weather.

When the mercury drops the orders come in so rapidly that all the teams are rushed but with the return of fine weather business noticeably diminishes. This has been apparent throughout the winter, business varying inversely with the rise and fall of the mercury.

One of the men working for a local company said that this winter he has not found many defaults in the payments for wood. As is generally known the wood payments are C.O.D. and when a customer who may be trusted fails to make good with the money the employee who delivered is the one who suffers. However, those who deliver the wood learn to read human nature and when once caught by a customer he knows what to do in a similar case and is seldom stung twice.

Speaking of the class of people which are the best payers this young man says that the English people are the most generous with their money. Those who order the wood have the money which they pay without hedging and a little tip is always forthcoming. While he looks upon this as rather a sign of extravagance he prefers a trip to an English family for that reason.

Progress On Construction Of The Grand Trunk Pacific

Officials Think Edmonton Will Be Reached This Year—Four Miles Of Track Per Day.

WORK ALONG THE LINE

Winnipeg, Feb. 18.W(Special)—It is stated that the contract for the construction of the first hundred miles of the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Prince Rupert east will be let by the officials of that company in Montreal this week. All tenders were opened on the 5th of the month and since that time the engineers have been constantly engaged in the examination and comparison of the figures submitted by the various contractors. Of these there were several from the east, and several others from the Canadian west and the Pacific coast in the United States. It is understood that the firm of Foley, Walsh and Stewart, to whom the contract for the construction of one hundred and twenty-six miles west from Edmonton was awarded, have tendered on the new contract east from the terminus on the Pacific.

The contract which is to be awarded at the present time is an interesting one to contractors, owing to the fact that the larger portion of it is along the shore of the ocean and the shore of the Skeena river. Sixty miles of the line is of this nature and vessels with supplies can reach the point of operation at any time. Much of the work done is heavy rock cutting along the shore of the ocean and the river, but it is expected that the work involved could be completed in a comparatively short time.

Of the one hundred and twenty-six miles included in the contract of the Foley, Walsh & Stewart in the proximity of Edmonton, six miles is to the east of that city, extending to the big bridge of the company at Clover Bar, the balance being to the west of the city. Operations in connection with track-laying have now been suspended on the main line running west owing to the fact that the cuts had become filled with snow. The company considered the question of removing snow and continuing operations, but the plan did not appear feasible. The work was therefore closed down, but it is the hope of the company that it will be possible to resume shortly after March 1. When this can be done, both the track-laying machines will be used and operations will go on westward from the Touchwood Hills, and eastward from the present terminus, east of Saskatoon. The gap to be filled in with steel has been reduced to 65 miles, which could be readily covered in a fortnight, with both machines working.

Into Edmonton This Year

Officials of the company state that there is no reason to doubt that the line will be completed into Edmonton during the current year. The great impediment in the way of its completion is the construction of the Battle river bridge. Were it not for this bridge, there could be no doubt regarding the construction of the completed line, since one hundred and fifty days will lay all the track. Work on the Battle river bridge cannot, however, be well begun until the line of rail has reached that point from Saskatoon, a distance of two hundred and four miles. Three to four months will be required to complete the permanent bridge over the river. Should it appear that in view of the length of time required for the construction of the bridge there is danger that the line will not be completed into Edmonton this year, the track laying machines will begin work from the Edmonton end and will push on the track laying from the Clover Bar bridge eastward.

Rushing Track Laying

In order that the track laying may be hastened this year, the G.T.P. have strengthened their track laying machine, so that instead of laying three miles per day, four or more miles may be layed. The difficulty with the machine in use last year was that the shafting was not of sufficient strength to work well on a train of more than one-half a day's work, it is necessary to carry six cars of steel and an equal number of cars of ties. This is sufficient for one and one-half miles of track which the company expect to lay in the half day. When the attempt is made to lay more than one and one-half miles in the half day, it is found that the shafting is not of sufficient strength to work the rollers on the additional cars. This is the defect in the machinery, which has been remedied for the operations of this current year, the additional strength being given so that more cars can be operated on a single train of track laying equipment.

A World's Record

It is also proposed by the company to work three shifts during the long days of the coming summer instead of two. By this means it is expected that when the weather is at the best, four and one-half miles of track may be laid per day by one machine. During last season, it is stated that a world's record was made on the construction line of the Grand Trunk Pacific. For one month it was estimated that there had been constructed three miles of track on each working day. Work at this rate was actually done on each working day of the month. Nine sidings were, however, built as the line advanced, and a certain amount of time was lost in connection with the completion of these sidings. Making allowance for these sidings, a rate of three miles per day was made for the month, a record which it is said has never been equalled in the history of railway construction. This season the company expect to do still better.

Winnipeg to Portage

The bridge over the Assiniboine at Portage will be completed about the middle of the month of March and the forty-five miles to Winnipeg will be put in operation in the summer. From six to eight steam shovels will be used throughout the season in connection with ballasting operations and large forces of men will be employed in this work. The ballasting of the entire line will be completed this year and the line operated. The bridge at Saskatoon will be completed about April 15.

MATHEMATICS FOR WOMEN

Not As Good As Domestic Science, According to Outcome of Debate By Institute Pupils.

REGULAR MEETING HELD

The regular meeting of the Collegiate Philomathean Society was held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday, Feb. 17th at 4.15 p.m. The programme was as follows:—

Reading of minutes.
Piano solo—Mr. Harold Brown.
Reading—Miss Halpin.
Piano solo.—Miss M Mann.
Debate—"Resolved that Mathematics is better for a woman in after life than domestic science. The affirmative was taken by Miss Katie Leary and Miss Frances Stone, and the negative by Miss R Fitzgerald and Miss May Nesbit. The judges were Messrs. H Brown, A Primeau and G Rankin.
Vocal solo—Miss Grace Todd.
Piano solo—Miss Grady.

The judges gave their decision in favour of the negative.

Criticism—Mr. Harvey.
—The Philomathean Scribe.

During the meeting five or six promising youths of the Collegiate took advantage of the fact that they were seated amongst girls and began to "show off" their ability to make a noise before the fair sex that surrounded them. In consequence Messrs. Bruce Walton, good looker; Stewart Anderson, French expert; Clarke Ackerman, specialist in English literature; "Hec" Cameron, hockeyist; Bruce Clegg, surnamed "Red," under the able leadership of Max Dobbin, had to be forcibly ejected by the presiding constable, Herbert Conroy.

PORTRAIT OF LATE MR. WM. PRINGLE

Has Been Completed by Mr. R. M. Roy for King Edward School.

The portrait of the late Mr. William Pringle which the Board of Education decided to place in the King Edward School in recognition of his valuable services in the construction of that institution has been completed by Mr. R M Roy and is an excellent production of the photographer's art. It is a sepia portrait 24 by 28 inches and is conceded to be the best work that the Roy Studio has turned out. It is the actual life size and is considered by friends of the late Mr. Pringle to be an excellent likeness.

There was no single picture of Mr. Pringle which was considered suitable and Mr. Roy had to use several photographs that were submitted. The combination resulted most successful as the portrait is true in even the slightest detail.

The frame has been chosen with good taste and is in harmony with the picture, which will be be placed in the King Edward School suitably inscribed.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair and, of course, finally, baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

Captain Hurd Greeted By A Large Audience Last Night

Gave An Interesting Discourse on Life in London, Entitled "Paying The Fare."—Salvation Army Band in Attendance.

WAS A FAREWELL LECTURE

The Salvation Army Barracks was crowded last night to hear Captain Hurd give his farewell lecture. The subject was taken from the life of London, entitled "Paying the Fare," and the lecture was supported by fifty stereopticon views which illustrated the different phases of the story. The captain is an able speaker and holds his audience from the beginning until the end of his address. He has visited this city on several occasions and has always been warmly welcomed.

The story deals with the life of a young man who, after completing his university course, comes home to find he is the possessor of a fabulous sum of money which has been left him by a rich uncle. During his college terms he has heard of the great things to be seen in the world, and his desire now is to leave home and travel abroad. His father pleads with him, but the young man is headstrong and refuses to listen to the kind advice offered by his father.

When he leaves home he goes to one of Alfred Page's missions upon the invitation of a friend, but vows he will have nothing to do with religion. From that time on his career is marked by continual degradation. He becomes a frequenter of saloons and houses of ill-repute. His mind becomes demoralized, and he no longer holds his head up with the rest of the men of his former rank. His money gradually disappears over the bar into the coffers of a low down saloon-keeper, and when his money has all been extracted the bar-tender throws him into the street, a ragged, impoverished outcast.

During this time Alfred Page came in contact with a lady's maid in a saloon and paid her many visits and tried to get her to come to the mission. On one occasion he called and found that she had been thrown out because she had taken ill, and they did not want to have her around.

One day while Mr. Page was on his rounds he visited a house he had not entered before. He found the girl in a small, dingy, ill-smelling room, with a Bible clasped to her breast. He went nearer to her and found she had passed into the great beyond. He had the young girl buried, and on his way home from the funeral came upon a drunken sot lying in a ditch by the roadway. He picked him up and they soon recognized each other. The unfortunate fellow told Mr. Page of his visit to the mission when he was rich, and related the story of his sad career. After the story was completed the man took convulsions and fell back, dying from a broken heart.

Captain Hurd told his story in a very pathetic manner and drove it home to the hearts of all those who were in the hall.

The Salvation Army Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Greene, played several selections during the evening and the music was greatly enjoyed. Captain Hurd also showed the financial condition of the local corps, which stood well up in the list.

At the close of the evening Captain Hurd bid farewell to the audience and said he would take away with him kindest memories of Peterborough.

Two Sections Involve An Outlay Of Million And A Half

Mr. R. B. Rogers Member of Firm Having Contract of Section No. 2, Ontario Rice Lake Division.

HOUSES TO BE REMOVED

The first two sections on the Trent Canal which have recently been let involve an expenditure of a million and a half. These two sections belong to an important stretch of the canal. Section number one as mentioned yesterday has been let to Larkins and Sumpter, of St. Catharines. It extends about 5 miles above Trenton and includes 3 locks and 3 dams and a swing bridge at Glenmiller. The first dam will also provide power for the municipality of Trenton and for the Gilmour factory. The contract price approximately is $950,000.

Section No. 2, also of the Ontario-Rice Lake division has been let to Dennon Weddell & Rogers, the latter being Mr. R B Rogers, of East City. The section extends about 5 miles farther north from the end of section number one, to a point a mile and a half above Frankford. It includes three locks and three dams as well as three stretches of canal totalling a mile in length.

A canal will be constructed through Frankford necessitating the removal of several houses and a cheesefactory. It takes the land on the east side of the river, runs through the village and enters the river at the dam opposite the Frankford Paper Mills.

William Dennett, a member of the firm, was associated with the late Andrew Onderdonk when section No. 1 of the Simcoe-Balsam Lake division was being built. He has also undertaken large contracts in the United States, having built the famous Thebes Bridge over the Mississippi. Mr. Weddell another member of the firm, is head of the Weddell contracting firm in Trenton. The contract price is about $600,000.

POST AND CUTTER COLLIDE WITH THE USUAL RESULT

An Early Morning on George Street—No One Hurt.

A horse, a street car and a post tells the story in brief. It was a runaway which occurred this morning near the George street Methodist church when a horse belonging to John Carlisle and driven by his son Murray frightened at a street car and made a dash for liberty. The cutter was overturned and about Brock street it was thrown against a post resulting in a couple of bad smashes to the back and a runner. The horse was cut in a couple of places but the driver was unhurt.

The animal was captured about Hunter street.

Martin-Orme Pianos

There are many new features in the Martin-Orme Piano worth knowing about.

One, for instance — the "Violoform" sounding board increases the tone of the instrument and makes it sweeter as the piano grows older.

There are various styles and prices of the Martin-Orme, but only one quality — and that the best.

MORE MEN ENTOMBED IN A MINE

Accident at Midvale Colliery, Near Mount Carmel.

MUD BLOCKS THE GANGWAY

Breaking of Dam of Water Caused Sudden Rush—Twenty-Eight Miners Cut Off From Escape—Band of Rescuers at Work—Sounds of Life Heard After Several Hours of Hard Digging.

Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 18.—Twenty-eight miners were imprisoned in the Midvale Colliery, near Mount Carmel yesterday by the breaking of a dam of water which had formed in a drift which caused a rush of mud into the gangway where the men were at work. All day long a party of rescuers endeavored to reach the entombed men, and about 6 p.m. they were given encouragement by sounds of digging from the inside. Later a shot was also heard, indicating that the men were at work to effect their own rescue and also giving assurance that the air is good.

Among the men entombed are a number of experienced miners, and it is believed that it will be possible to effect the rescue of all the men unless some of them should have met death by being smothered in the rush of mud when the dam broke through the gangway. Seven of the number are Americans.

HON. JAMES BRYCE ARRIVES.

Will Stay at Ottawa a Week and Discuss Various Questions.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—His Excellency Right Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, arrived in Ottawa yesterday on the second of his annual visits to the Canadian capital. He was met at the Central station by Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Col. Hanbury Williams and Lord Lascelles, A.D.C., and will be the guest of Their Excellencies Earl and Countess Grey at Government House for a week. On Tuesday of next week Mr. Bryce will be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Canadian Club of Montreal.

During his stay in Ottawa Mr. Bryce will discuss with Sir Wilfrid Laurier the proposals which have already been made by the American authorities for an agreement with Canada with regard to the control of international waters, and possibly some of the other questions outstanding between the two countries. The terms are also to be settled under which Canada and Newfoundland will join with the United States in the reference to The Hague Tribunal concerning the rights of United States fishermen in the waters of British North America, under the treaty of 1818.

Car of Whisky Broken Open.

London, Feb. 18.—The police are working on what is expected to be the greatest round-up of car thieves in the history of the G.T.R.

Recently a car of whisky was broken into and from arrests which followed information was obtained that will probably implicate a number of G.T.R. men.

Perry Sinclair and Joseph Lanahan have been arrested and other arrests will follow shortly. Lanahan was released on $2,000 bail at the Police Court yesterday morning and Sinclair was committed to jail.

Discrediting Sunday Law.

Winnipeg, Feb. 18.—The Lord's Day Alliance have disavowed responsibility for the house-to-house crusade to enforce the Sabbath Day Act, and the police commissioners decided not to attempt further petty prosecutions. This decision was the climax of action brought by 600 people into the Police Court last week and stirred the whole city to resentment. The Day Alliance claim the police were unnecessarily severe in order to render the law ridiculous in Winnipeg.

Killed at Saskatoon.

Saskatoon, Feb. 18.—W. R. Adams, a C.N.R. conductor, was killed here yesterday morning at 2 o'clock in the railway yards. He was on the front of the engine and gave a signal to go ahead. He had on ordinary boots and slipped, going under the wheels. He was horribly mangled, and died a few minutes later.

The victim was 33 years of age, and resided at Winnipeg, where he has a wife and four children. Adams was a native of St. Thomas.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as set on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Doure, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

Price 50c. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MAKES PLEA TO HELP THE STUDENTS

Mr. F. D. Monk Urges Their Claims in House of Commons.

EMPLOY ON PUBLIC WORKS

Would Encourage Techinacl Education —Selection Should Be Free From Political Bias — House Discusses Immigration Problem — More Careful Selection Needed— Abolish Bonus System.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—When the bill of the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Co. was called in the House yesterday the Minister of Railways asked that it stand.

"This is an important bill," he said, "and there are certain points in connection with it that are now under consideration."

Mr. Lennox (Simcoe) objected to the report of the railway committee, which had not stated the grounds upon which the preamble was amended. He moved that the bill be referred back.

Mr. Graham thought his suggestion would answer and the bill stood over.

Active Partisans.

Mr. Foster read a telegram he had just received from New Brunswick, complaining of further interference by the Government officials in elections in that province. The message stated that A. E. Leblanc, traveling passenger agent of the I.C.R., was actively canvassing for the Liberal candidates and had announced that he would open a committee room for one of them and keep it open day and night until the election.

Another I.C.R. employe, Henry Leblanc, was also actively canvassing in the Liberal interests and denouncing Conservatives. Mr. Foster asked that the Minister of Railways and Canals look into the matter.

"I shall certainly cause enquiries to be made," Mr. Graham replied.

Mr. Brodeur informed Mr. Lefurgey that an agent (Mr. Bastedo) has been appointed by the Government with power to discuss with representatives of the various local Governments affected, the question of relative rights and jurisdiction with respect to fisheries.

Ross Rifle Figures.

A question by Col. Worthington elicited from the Minister of Militia the information that 32,500 Ross rifles manufactured to date, 23,091 are "on store charge" and 9,409 have been issued as follows: To permanent force 3,015, to the militia 4,635, and to rifle associations 1,757. Of the rifles in store 16,017 are in Quebec, 1,532 in Halifax, 1,009 in Winnipeg, 1,120 in Toronto, 1,004 in other military headquarters.

"Give the student a chance to earn a dollar by employing him on public works," was the burden of F. D. Monk's plea in the House last night. He moved that "in the execution of public works requiring technical knowledge the Government should, as far as possible, utilize the services of young men engaged in the pursuit of technical studies in our Canadian institutions so as to permit of their applying with profit during their vacations, the knowledge acquired by them during the period of tuition."

The member for Jacques Cartier argued that this would be a profitable way of encouraging technical education, but there was the danger that the selection would be made on political lines.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) asserted that for positions requiring technical knowledge men were chosen who were not qualified, but were simply loaded on the country because of their political activities.

Mr. Brodeur said the Government had encouraged technical education by the employment of students, while Andrew Broder (Dundas) would not put a student in charge of a public work. The superintendent should be a man of thorough, practical knowledge, while students might be employed under him.

Mr. Monk would, however, prefer a student to a political heeler, who did nothing but smoke a cigar and draw his pay.

Mr. Templeman said the resolution was acceptable, but the application was not happy. He claimed that students were given positions whenever vacancies occurred. Thirty were employed on the geological survey last vacation. The motion was adopted.

The debate on Mr. Cockshutt's resolution to discontinue the policy of assisted immigration was taken up by Uriah Wilson (Lennox and Addington). No special privileges for any class of immigrants was the sum of Mr. Wilson's idea of the question, and he strongly condemned the bringing in of illiterate Russians.

Mr. Johnstone's amendment having declared that the present regulations were a sufficient protection, Mr. Wilson moved in amendment to the amendment "That Canada's policy should include a more careful selection of the sources from which immigration shall be sought, a more rigid inspection of immigrants and the abolition of the bonus system, except under very exceptional circumstances, and for the purpose of obtaining particularly desirable classes of settlers."

Dr. Cash adjourned the debate and the House rose at 11 o'clock.

MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT ON THE FARM

Richard McBay Found Dead With Bullet Through Breast.

THREE LADS LIVED ALONE

Deceased Used to Cook For His Brothers—Boys Declare They Had Not Quarrelled—Revolver Laid on the Floor Six Feet Away From the Body—Had Been Fired at a Very Close Range.

Dunnville, Feb. 18.—A mysterious shooting affair occurred in South Cayuga Township about six miles from here about noon yesterday, resulting in the death of Richard McBay, aged 9 years.

The farm where the tragedy occurred is owned by George McBay, a carpenter, who lives with his wife in Buffalo, leaving his three sons, aged about 17, 14 and 9, to take care of the stock and shift for themselves.

The story told by the eldest boy is that Richard was the cook and was left at the house to get dinner, while he and his brother went out to work. He says he gave the little fellow a shake by the shoulder, telling him to do his work better and left him. When the two boys returned, at nine, they found dinner partly ready, but Richard was nowhere to be seen. In searching they found his body still warm in the bedroom where all three boys slept, the two eldest boys on the bed, the youngest in a shakedown on the floor. A small revolver, which was kept under the pillow, lay on the bed some six feet away.

Dr. Door, coroner of Dunnville, was called by telephone and visited the home. He said there was no trace of blood anywhere, but a small bullet hole in the centre of the breast, through the breast bone, showed the cause of the boy's death. The clothing was burnt and the flesh about the wound showing the fatal shot had been fired at close range. How it all happened no one can tell.

The boys say they had not quarreled and think he was handling the revolver and shot himself by accident. It is probable an inquest will be held.

USED THE WHIP FREELY.

Night Riders Flog Police Judge, City Marshal and Others.

Eddysville, Ky., Feb. 18.—Three hundred night riders galloped into Eddysville at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, aroused inhabitants by firing hundreds of rifle shots, took the men from their homes and whipped them severely, and then dashed away before daylight, threatening to return later. Those whipped were: Police Judge C. W. Rucker, Leslie Woods, former city marshal; Bress Fralick, deputy city marshal; Grace Robertson, a saloon porter, and six negroes. The riders were well drilled and well armed. The home of Judge Rucker was riddled with bullets.

North Carolina's Speed.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The official report of the trial of the new armored cruiser North Carolina, off the Virginia Capes, Saturday night, confirms the statement in the press despatches that she averaged approximately 22.48 knots in her four-hour speed trial.

The acceptance of the cruiser by the Government is now guaranteed.

Although the speed made by the North Carolina is the best ever made by an American armored cruiser, English-built vessels of the same class have made much better records, running up to 24 knots an hour, and one of them, the Duke of Edinburgh, it was estimated, would make 27.75 knots.

Morse Case Next Monday.

New York, Feb. 18.—Charles W. Morse, the former banker, organizer of the American Ice Co., and the $120,000,000 Consolidated Steamship Co., pleaded not guilty before Justice Dowling yesterday to two charges of grand larceny. A hearing of the case was set for next Monday.

Black Hand Roundup.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 18.—With 270 men captured in 32 raids conducted by the state police department in its war against Black Hand bands that have been terrorizing the foreign population in various sections of the Commonwealth, the authorities count on crushing them out.

WILL HEFFERNAN BEAT FRED ROBSON IN TO-NIGHT'S RACES

The ice is in great shape for the big programme of skating races at the Brock street rink to-night, and it would not cause much surprise to see Robson and Heffernan fracture some of the Canadian records, when they clash. The two cracks will meet each other in a series of three events, the half mile, mile and two miles. Robson is champion of Canada, while his opponent has skated two miles faster than any man in Canada. It will be a battle royal between the two knights of the blade and it is certain that neither will make a clean sweep of the three.

The open mile race for the championship of the County of Peterborough is bound to be an interesting event, and a big entry list is promised. Among those who have entered are Ben Dusty, A. Allen, and W. O'Rourke. There will also be a race for boys under 18 years of age, which will be warmly contested.

The rink should be crowded to see this great bill. The band will be in attendance and there will be an hour's skating after the races.

ALL STARS VS. STATHCONAS; FRIDAY'S BIG ATTRACTION

The game between the Strathconas and the city league all stars on Friday night promises to be the hockey event of the season, and is attracting a great deal of interest among the hockey fans. President Fred A. Clarke, of the city league, is picking the all stars, while the Strathconas will have their regular city league team in action, and the result should be a battle royal. The all stars may prove faster individually than the Straths, but the latter have developed far better team work in the practices of the last few weeks than at any time this season, and will open the eyes of the fans when they line up on Friday. A thorough representative line-up, with Norwood, Bridgenorth, Lakefield and High Life men on the team.

The Quakers and Bridgenorth will clash in the second game, and a lively affray should be the result. To the Bridgenorth men the name Quaker is like a red flag to a bull, and there will be doings for the whole sixty minutes. Bridgenorth will have their strongest city league team on, while the Quakers, who have only lost one game this season, will play their usual seven.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Some Interesting Poetical Snapshots of The Review Team and Their Characteristics.

BASEMENT PRACTICE DAILY

A week from to-morrow night will see the greatest struggle in the history of hockey under way when the unbeaten Examiner seven will tie another knot in the Review. Within the memory of the present generation the Review has never won a game, and it doesn't take an Irl Hicks to see they haven't much chance of winning this one.

One of our readers writes quoting from Dickens' Pickwick papers to know which of the Review players is the "strange specimen of the human race who looks as if he is catalogued in some collection of rarities." From the description he must have meant Manager MacRae.

With an expression of the most abject and hopeless misery that the human mind can imagine, portrayed in every lineament of his expressive face, Yokome of the Review team was seen emerging from the basement yesterday afternoon. Manager MacRae had had his squad cornered for an hour while he explained just how much he didn't know about the game. The experience was too much for the rest of the misfits, and the chalk talk will be eliminated in the future.

The press game will be a trial of skill that will arouse all Peterborough from its torpor and inoculate it with a fervour of excitement.

Inquirer want to know what we would do if we had feet like Manager of the Review team. We cannot say definitely, but we presume that if we had we would make the best of a bad job and try to walk on them, the same as the ex-Glengarrian does.

There is a young printer named Burns,
Whose hockey the Examiner spurns;
He can perhaps throw a ball,
But he can't skate at all.
And on ice does some remarkable turns.

A cute city editor styled MacRae,
Who comes from down Glengarry way;
On skates is a sight
That gives babes a fright—
Cold feet give him trouble, they say.

A young dramatic critic named Tim,
Whose boosts barnstormers oft skim,
Will at least for one night
'Scape the luring footlight
In a vain effort the Examiner to trim.

There is a nice young reporter, "Miss" Crane,
Who finds it too much of trouble to train;
When asked "Why so?"
She replies, "Don't you know,
"Ordering my trousseau is too big a strain."

The Review have an import, one McGuire,
Who will never set the Otonabee on fire;
From Orangeville he came—
He's a lemon, just the same;
"Get the hook" will be the song of the choir.

From the Straths the Review have a find,
Clarence Wilson, whom perhaps you will mind.
The pace that we set
When close on the net
Will make him want to go back to his kind.

One of the Review players named Dobbin,
When the Ark on the flood was bobbin',
Was with Noah on board,
As the plank was lower'd,
"I'm in time for the game," said he sobbin'.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

is rich in the lung-healing virtues of the Norway Pine Tree, skilfully combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing and expectorant properties of other pectoral herbs and barks. It is a pleasant, safe and effectual medicine for Coughs and Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all troubles of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose will convince you that it will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and start you on the road to recovery.

Be sure and do not accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

Miss C. M. Woodcock, Kinmount, Ont., writes: "For some time I suffred from a lingering cough. I was afraid it would turn to consumption, and, as I had tried many remedies and found no cure I asked my father to get me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. When I had taken that bottle I was so much better I got three more, and I am now completely cured."

DAVE BELLAND BEAT THE ROLLER

Won Out in Quebec Against Fast Man On Rollers.

The following despatches from the Daily Telegraph of Quebec referring to the achievement of Dave Beland, the well-known runner, and formerly of Peterborough, will be read with interest:

D. Beland, the champion runner, is putting in good work training every day at the Hollaway, getting in shape for the big Olympic sports to be held in England next summer, and appreciates the opportunity that Mr. McKinney has given him to keep up his training. He will endeavour to defeat Chris McDermott in a one-mile race on Friday night. McDermott is well-known as a speedy roller skater and for a mile can show the way to anything in Quebec. Beland feels, however, that he can run the mile faster than McDermott can skate, and is confident of winning. The runner will have the advantage on the turns, but on the straightaway the skater should forge ahead. The time for a mile on rollers at the Academy is about the same as the running record so that this novel race should prove a very strong attraction and will give the spectators a very exciting contest to witness.

The following day's Telegraph states:

There was a somewhat novel contest at the Academy Hollaway last night when Dave Beland, the well-known runner, ran a half mile against Mr. McDermott, the speedy roller skater. A big crowd witnessed the contest, which was a well-contested and fast one all the way. By the terms of the agreement McDermott allowed Beland two laps. At the start both contestants started off with a burst of speed, with Beland slightly to the good. The latter held his advantage for about three laps, but there the skater pulled to the front. He could not, however, pull up the handicap, and Beland won by a good margin. The time announced was 2.12.

There was the usual skating before and after the race, and there was a great gathering of skaters as well as spectators.

GILLETT'S PERFUMED LYE

CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's."

Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Lye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist On Getting Gillett's Lye

and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

TO CONSIDER THE GALT GAMES

Important Meeting of the Strathconas City League Team To-night.

There will be an important meeting of the members of the Strathcona city league team at the Examiner office to-night at 7.15 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the proposed trip to Galt to play the winners of the Galt city league. Every member of the team is expected to be on hand, as the matter will be settled one way or another at to-night's meeting.

STRATHCONAS PLAY IN MADOC

Will Leave To-morrow Morning on The C. P. R.

The Strathconas will play in Madoc to-morrow night against the Madoc seven, winners of No. 1 section of the Trent Valley League, and who will meet Norwood in the finals for the championship. The local city league winners leave on the 11.16 C. P. R. train to-morrow, and while they will not have their strongest team will present a line-up that should be good enough to win. A Madoc man, who was in the city yesterday, says that there is great excitement over the game.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Edmonton seniors turned out to a full practice last night at seven o'clock. Every member of the team was out and worked hard for an hour. Whitcroft was playing his usual old style and Boulton, Deeton and Miller were with him all the time. Miller, the speedy right wing, has shown more improvement since he started, than any other man on the team. His stickhandling is fine, and he uses his body very effectively at times. Shorty Campbell, who at one time played left wing for the team, has taken to the pads and the enthusiasts will see him in goal tonight when the team cross sticks with Strathcona in Strathcona. Shorty at one time had quite a reputation in Toronto as a goal tender and from his practice last night his hand and eye have lost none of their cunning. —Bulletin.

The Manitoba Free Press says:—The Lindsay, Ontario, Post, gives up four columns of space to a report telling how Skips O'Connor and Little, supported by Messrs. Flavelle, Reesor, Simons, McLennan and others, won the Ontario tankard finals. The rink of Lindsay curlers attending the Winnipeg bonspiel is composed of the same men who met the Rennie rink in the final draw.

A letter received by a friend from Dave Belland, of Quebec, states that the runner is going down to Boston next Saturday to compete in a big meet. He says he may call in Peterborough on his way home from Boston. "Dave" is this year coach for the Quebec hockey team.

Chieftain hockey team has a great bunch of young players. Last night between six and seven o'clock they trimmed the Otonabees by the big margin of eight goals, the score at the end being 11 to 3. It was the third time this season that they did the trick on the Otonabees, and besides have never lost a game on their home ice yet. From the midget in goal to the forward men the team is well balanced, playing fine combination.

For the Otonabees Gus Rose starred, scoring all three goals. He was probably the best individual player on the ice, but was too closely watched. D. Rose and Close also put up good games. Both teams tried to rough it and frequent penalties were handed out.

The line-ups were:

Chieftains.		Otonabees.

Edmonton won another game from Strathcona on Tuesday last, winning by 11—5. There were twenty penalties and Whitcroft was on the fence six times, while his check was there for four siestas.

The Y. M. C. A. team trimmed the Lakefield intermediates in a hard-fought and interesting game at the Brock street rink last night, to the tune of 6—5. The game was a good exhibition of hockey, and there was little to choose between the two teams. The locals all showed up well, Munro, Wade and Geale predominating. Leo Quinn, of the Lakefield seniors, refereed satisfactorily. The teams were:

BREAD AND SOUP ARE DISTRIBUTED

Six Families Still Receive Food From The Relief Restaurant.

BE CONTINUED IN MARCH

Thirty-seven pints of soup and ten large loaves of bread is the daily distribution of food at the relief restaurant. The bread has been added since the first few days when the soup alone was handed out. The location has been changed from Stewart street to 466 Albert street. At the former residence the daily allowance averaged 32 pints which shows that an increase of only 5 points have been made during the past few weeks.

For more detailed information it may be said that the 37 pints comprise only 6 families and it is not known by the authorities what the reasons are for a larger number not being present as it was fully expected that more than 6 families would apply for help. Either the people do not need help, are too lazy to call for it or will not stoop to asking for it. Some of the families receive two large loaves of bread every day besides their soup which should keep them in fair condition. It is expected that as long as the number keeps up the relief will be dispensed and at any rate until the end of March.

DIED SUDDENLY LAST NIGHT

Mr. Henry Riches Overpowered With Paralysis and Lived Only One Hour and a Half.

A LONG RESIDENT IN CITY

After returning home last night in usual good health from this day's labour, Mr. Harry Riches, 276 Romaine street, was suddenly stricken with paralysis at 10.30 o'clock and passed away at midnight. He had spent the evening as customary with his family and had shown no signs of the approaching illness. Mr. Riches had returned home from the Matthews packing establishment, where he was employed, but had not mentioned any illness during the day. He did not recover from unconsciousness which was due to the paralysis, and the medical aid summoned was unavailing.

The late Mr. Riches was 58 years of age and was born at Three Rivers, Quebec. He had resided in Peterborough during the past 35 years and was married to Miss Delmia Baretre during his first year in this city. Mr. Riches was widely known in Peterborough and was highly respected by those who had made his acquaintance. For fifteen years he worked in the C. G. E. works, afterwards following up the bricklaying trade.

The late Mr. Riches is mourned by his wife and family as follows: Mrs. A. H. Jones and Mrs. Jos. Ranger of this city, and Messrs. Harry, Amos and Frederick Riches, his sons. His surviving brothers are Michael of Peterborough, Louis of Bracebridge and Oliver of Parry Sound. Mr Riches was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 276 Romaine street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

THE POULTRY MEETING TO-NIGHT

A Large Crowd Expected to be Present At Council Chamber.

The meeting for the organization of the poultry association in Peterborough will be held this evening in the Council Chambers at 8 o'clock sharp. The promoters are desirous that as many as possible attend in view of the election of officers, provided it is decided to form the association.

Representatives of the Industrial Fair will be present and the question of jointly purchasing collapsable coops by the Fair directors and the association will be discussed among other things.

There will also be representatives from the City Council on hand.

TO IMPROVE LAKEVIEW HOUSE AT THE POINT

Mrs. Kearney is Making Addition to the Island—The Ice Harvest.

Many improvements will be made this spring to the Lakeview House at Young's Point, Mrs Kearney will have this popular summer home renovated and painted before the resort season begins. Some additions will also be made to the island.

At the present time the ice harvest is being garnered from Reid's Bay, and the quality was never better.

PLEASANT AT HOME TO SOME OF THEIR FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jayes entertained a number of their friends to a euchre party last night, when an enjoyable time was spent in cards, music and dancing. Refreshments were served. Everybody enjoyed themselves until the dawn of morn, when all adjourned with good wishes to the host and hostess.

CAMP MEETINGS WILL BE HELD AGAIN

Between the 11th and 21st of June On The Exhibition Grounds.

MANY PEOPLE COMING

The Free Methodists will hold another camp meeting in this city next summer. Rev. F B. Luke returned from the quarterly conference at Toronto, this morning and in a conversation with the Examiner stated that a camp meeting would be held at the Exhibition Grounds this summer. The dates arranged for the camp was from the 11th to the 21st day of June. There will be representatives here from Toronto, Armadale, Uxbridge, Bellehaven and many other outside points. There will also be several ministers from the United States present, who will assist the ministers of this district. Last year there were eighteen small family tents on the ground and about 25 people attended the camp but this year there will be upwards of 100 people.

The camp meeting last year was held in Jackson Park and it proved a great success. Every meeting was attended by large crowds of Peterborough people and in all probability the coming meetings will meet with the same success.

EXPORTS ARE ON THE INCREASE

Change in the Trend of Trade During January—The Total Trade For 10 Months.

RETURNS FOR JANUARY

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—(Special.) — Canada's trade returns for January show a marked reversal of the trend of trade for the past year or so in respect to the steady and rapid growth of imports, with exports showing little or no increase. Last month, for the first time in many months, the conditions are reversed, and the imports show a considerable decrease, while the exports show a substantial increase. Total imports for the month amounted to $23,084,563, a decrease of $3,356,684, as compared with January, 1907. Exports totalled $21,676,782, an increase of $4,034,317. Exports of agricultural products last month increased by over five millions, exports of the mine decreased about half a million, and exports of the forest decreased about one million.

The total amount of duty collected during the month was $3,930,941, a decrease of $195,847. For the first ten months of the present fiscal year the total duty collected has been $49,251,155, an increase of $6,451,816.

For the ten months the total imports, exclusive of coin and bullion, have amounted to $301,251,524, an increase of $31,568,595, as compared with the corresponding ten months of 1906-7. Total exports, exclusive of coin and bullion, have been $229,804,374, an increase of $3,909,790.

The total trade of Canada for the ten months, including coin and bullion, was $558,281,946, an increase of $32,776,890.

BOWLING ALLEYS ARE UNDER WAY

Floors Will be Installed by an American Firm.

Satisfactory progress is being made in the conversion of the old opera house into a bowling alley for Mr. J. B. Hay, late of Toronto. The painting and decorating, which was done by Messrs. Duncan and Doupe, was finished last week, and the transformation made in the interior appearance of the hall is remarkable. The woodwork has been re-painted in attractive colours, while the walls have been tinted and calsomined. The work is a credit to the firm.

The floor of the hall is being covered with felt paper, and the floor of the alleys will be raised 15 inches so that the sound will be thoroughly deadened and will not interfere with the occupants of the rooms below. The alleys will be installed by a Philadelphia firm and will be among the most complete and handsome in Canada.

TWO OF THE CREW LOST THEIR LIVES IN A WRECK

Blinding Blizzard Raged in Chicago—Fishing Boat Wrecked

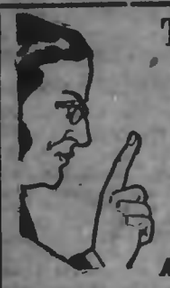
Chicago, Feb. 19. — The blizzard which raged yesterday and caused so much damage subsided somewhat toward midnight. The fishing boat Aanspach was wrecked in the harbour of Waukegan. Two of her crew lost their lives and six others had narrow escapes from death.

WIND AND SNOW GIVE THE RAILWAYS TROUBLE

Drifts are Forming in the Cuts and Delays May Result.

The trains on the various lines were up against the weather again to-day. The early G.T.R. trains were a little late and all appeared as if they had buffeted many drifts. The noon train from Lindsay was nearly two hours late and the report was received that the snow was drifting east of Havelock. The C.P.R. train from Toronto was delayed and in the country districts the wind is blowing hard. The light snow will readily pack into the cuts and if the wind continues further trouble may be expected.

There Comes a Time



when letters blur, when lines run together, and reading becomes difficult, especially in the evening. This blurring is caused by the eye not being able to focus at the normal reading distance—thirteen inches.

The vision in the distance is as clear as ever, and this fact leads many to believe that glasses are unnecessary, but this is just the time when the first pair of glasses is needed. A continuation without glasses causes an undue strain on the muscles of the eye, and a dull headache is the result, a person gains nothing by going without glasses when they are needed. In fact they gain much by having glasses fitted when the first blur indicates failing vision. ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

"PETERBOROUGH RED" KILLED IN TRAIN ACCIDENT IN IDAHO; INQUIRY ABOUT HIS FRIENDS

William Edwards Dies Apart From All His Relatives In Western States—Letter From Coroner.

BURIED IN WESTERN GRAVE

Killed while riding on the brake-beam of a car in far off Idaho is apparently the fate of a Peterborough man by the name of William Edwards, known to his companions of the lumber camps of that state as "Peterborough Red."

This information was received this morning from Moscow, Idaho, through a letter written by Dr. L B McCarter, the coroner of that place, which has reached the Examiner. "Peterborough Red" met his death by riding on the train. An inquest was held over the body and the jury brought in a verdict that the cause was carelessness on his part.

Little was known by his companions of the lumber camps of his former history and the coroner desires to know if he has any relatives residing in this community.

The coroner's letter dated Feb. 14, reads in full as follows:—

"On yesterday I held a coroner's inquest at Potlatch, Idaho, on the body of one William Edwards known in the lumber camps as "Peterborough Red" the testimony showing that he claimed Peterborough as his former home. He met his death in an accident on the railway in consequence of his own carelessness by riding on the brake-beam of a car, as set forth in the verdict of the jury of inquest.

I found no assets on the body or belonging to him. Therefore as the law requires, gave him a decent burial at the expense of Latah County, Idaho. He was about 40 years old medium height and sandy complexion with prominent front teeth. His burial place is in a cemetery adjacent to the town of Potlatch, Idaho.

I write this in the interest of any relatives he may have in your town. If you know of any such, you will please hand this to them."

Ex-Reeve Lowes Of Emily Injured In Collision With Car

Drove Across in Front of No. 13 Going at Full Speed at Corner of Dublin and George Streets—Escaped With Slight Injuries.

THE SHOCK WAS TERRIFIC

With an impact that could be heard for blocks, a north bound George street car No. 13, going at full speed crashed into a sleigh laden with coal at the corner of Dublin and George streets, last evening throwing the owner of the outfit, Mr. Wm. Lowes, ex-Reeve, a farmer residing in Emily, five feet away and painfully but not seriously injuring him. It was thought for a moment that the unfortunate man had been instantly killed as he was hurled through the air and struck heavily on the side of the road.

The coal was scattered over the street for many yards, the sleigh over-turning in the collision and spilling the contents.

Mr. Lowes had purchased a sleigh load of coal from J. E. A. Fitzgerald and was on his way home at 6.30 o'clock when the accident happened. He was driving east on Dublin street and apparently did not see, or at least pay any attention to the oncoming car when he reached George street. A number of persons were on the sleigh, among them Mr. J. Cooks, proprietor of the grocery at the corner of George and Dublin streets, who sat on the front seat with Mr. Lowes. A number of boys were riding on the back of the sleigh and all with the exception of the driver saw the car. Mr. Cooks warned him to be careful but the horses bolted across in front of the rapidly moving car.

As they did so Mr. Cooks rolled off the seat and escaped, although he narrowly missed going under the wheels. The other occupants of the sleigh also jumped before the track was reached, but the driver remained on the sleigh. The team had cleared the tracks when the crash came but the car struck the front part of the sleigh and overturned the outfit while Mr. Lowes was flung headlong to the side of the road. The horses were uninjured and bolted after the accident, running to Water street, and down that thoroughfare to McDonel street where they were stopped.

In the meantime the unfortunate farmer had been picked up by Mr. E. H. Mann and others and carried into Cooks' grocery store. Dr. Morgan was called and attended to his injuries after which he was taken to Nicholls Hospital in the Dan Spence Ambulance.

Mr. Lowes was unconscious for several hours after reaching the hospital but his injuries were not as serious as was thought at first. He was stunned by the shock and received a bad shaking up, but was not otherwise injured. No bones were broken and it is not thought that he was injured internally. He so far recovered this morning that he was enabled to leave for his home.

The accident was clearly not due to any carelessness on the part of the crew of the street car. Mr. Lowes either drove across or else the horses bolted in front of the car. There was no time to avert the collision which was not looked for by the motorman.

The popular idea that "13" is an unlucky number is peculiarly demonstrated in the case of car No. 13, which has been involved in almost every accident in connection with the street railway. It was No. 13 which collided with a cutter in which was Mrs. Monoriet of Otonabee who died as the result of injuries received, No. 13 collided with the steam roller and had to have her sides patched up as a result and the car which several times smashed the railway gates on Charlotte street, was No. 13.

The Annual Meeting Of The Police Commissioners

Report of the Chief of Police Was Received—The Force Has Been Doing Excellent Work During The Year.

TWO MORE MEN WANTED

At the meeting of the Police Commissioners, which was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the committee room, the Chief of Police presented his annual report, which showed the excellent manner in which the city was being looked after. The report that this city was free from low down resorts was well received and it is through the good work of the local force that so much of the stolen property has been recovered.

During the year there was one appointment on the force, that of P. C. McDonald, whose place has not been filled.

All secondhand merchants and junk dealers have complied with the by-law.

Seventeen persons wre summoned for breach of the liquor license act during the year and ten of these were convicted and fined. The pool rooms have been well conducted, and as far as the police were aware, no illicit sale of liquor has been going on, and the city was free from houses of ill-fame and gambling resorts.

The chief also stated that the Chief Constables' Association for Canada, which was formed three years ago, has been a great success and has been the means of organizing team work against crime. The association would meet in Quebec in 1908, and he would like to have them meet in Peterborough in 1909. He also brought before the notice of the Property Committee the inadequate size of the police office. There being only one small room in which to do the police business.

The chief also recommended that two more men be added to the police force. The Peterborough force was smaller than any other force for the size of the city in the Dominion. The local force has only one more member than they had twenty years ago, when Peterborough had only half the number of its present population.

During the summer several houses were left in the care of the police and were well looked after.

Number of persons arrested during the year and their offences:

Abandoning child, 1 female.

MUD-SLINGING CAMPAIGN.

Frost-bound earth, covered yard-deep with snow, does not obstruct the mud-slinging enterprise of our local contemporary, and the strange allies it welcomes. "East End Liberal" comes to the support of the Review's campaign of scandal and defamation and also insinuates what he dares not assert. In a letter published in last night's issue of our evening contemporary it is insinuated that Mr. Stratton received a "rake-off" in connection with a Government transaction. This is absolutely and entirely untrue, and neither the Review nor East End cut-throat Liberal can establish one iota of its insinuation. Mr. Stratton has been attacked anonymously from this one source for years. But he is not afraid of either anonymous or open attacks. Nor is he afraid to discuss with anybody his relations with West Peterborough, either public or personal, during the past twenty years. He can truthfully assert that during all that time he has not personally profited to the extent of a penny at the expense of his official or representative position. Why a man in private life should be subjected to attacks such as might, from custom, with some excuse, be directed against a public man, is something which the mud-slingers might explain. Mr. Stratton has proved himself equal to his traducers before, and he neither fears nor cares for them.

AMATEUR STATESMANSHIP.

Our guileless evening contemporary, in the course of a half column of watery appeal to the favour of the farmers, champions the claims of the latter to rural mail delivery and incidentally condemns the Liberal Government for not immediately hypothecating half of the national revenue to provide this boon. No one would more gladly give rural mail delivery than the Examiner, if it were within the range of practicability to do so. In the interest of transportation every one would be glad to see the Georgian Bay Canal constructed at once, but as enterprising as Canada is and as liberally as she has spent money to improve and extend our canal system, the off-hand expenditure of one hundred and thirty millions of dollars for the canal does not seem to be within our capabilities.

There is no doubt that this would be more in the interest of the farming country, especially that of the West, than rural mail delivery, as great as that convenience would be. The saving of several cents a bushel on the carriage price of grain would benefit the farmer very greatly. We all want and need a great many things which we must wait for, because we have not the means to procure them. It would seem that among these things are the Georgian Bay Canal and rural mail delivery. Amateur statesmen, especially those in the primordial embryonic stage, seem to illustrate the saying that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The money stringency and the conditions arising from it may have touched other interests to the quick, but the honest farmer seems to rise superior to the storms that buffet these other interests. An increase of nearly four millions of dollars in the export of farm products last January over the same month of last year, does not spell anything like agricultureal stagnation.

The Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, is in no danger of suffering from moderate indulgence in the spirit of reform. At a coming convention it will demand not only abolition of the bar but will demand that treating be made a crime and that the three-fifths handicap clause be removed. It would seem that if the bar is banished, the treating evil, which is the greatest source and fountain of drunkenness, would of necessity also go.

NATIONAL TRANSPORTATION

The question of transportation, involves as no other question can do, the interests of national development and progress, and especially the interests of the farming community. Under these conditions the progress of the Transcontinental Railway is a matter of perpetually vital moment. The rate of progress of construction, as well as the promise of effective service, are most encouraging. It is expected with confidence that the western section, from Edmonton to Winnipeg, will be completed and ready in time to be available for the transportation of this year's wheat crop. Substantial progress is also being made on the more difficult section, from Winnipeg east and also on the connecting division from the main line to Lake Superior. Rapid progress is also being made on the eastern division, from Winnipeg to Moncton, which construction falls to the Dominion Government, as the western division falls to the Company. It is expected that the line from the far west to Quebec will be completed before the Quebec bridge is finished, but that will not prevent the use of the line. The Railway Commission is preparing to handle traffic, with Quebec as a temporary terminus. No time will be lost in providing the wharves and a branch railway to accommodate the export trade from Canada to Europe. While the national Transcontinental line is progressing rapidly in the matter of construction its effectiveness as a railway will be unrivalled. On the western section there are two forty mile stretches of straightaway rails without a curve, and throughout the whole line there have been made and are being made, successful efforts to provide lines and grades of an ease unsurpassed by any railway on the continent. This is a most important, and represents a great saving, not only in operating expenses but also when we bear in mind what fabulous expense the old Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railways are incurring in the easing of grades and the lessening of curves on their completed lines.

The Liberal Government is making a great success of its policy of improving the transportation facilities of the country. It has spent millions in deepening the St. Lawrence and Welland Canals, and it is making liberal contributions to the completion of the Trent Canal, another important link in the transportation chain from west and east to the seaboard. The activity and interest of the Government in the completion of this waterway are represented by no fewer than seven sections under contract, not including another for which tenders are called, involving an expenditure of more than three millions of dollars.

The Chest Pains of Bronchitis

If the cough is dry and hard, if there is pain, soreness and tightness in the chest, if you have difficulty in getting you breath, you have reason to suppose that you have bronchitis. Lest it should become chronic or lead to serious lung trouble, do not delay the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the most certain cure for bronchitis.

CURE FOR BLINDNESS FOR INFANT CHILDREN

Indiana Doctor Says Silver Nitrate Should Be Used After Birth.

Dr. B. C. Parker, of the Indiana University School of Medicine, says that half the blindness might have been prevented if a few drops of one per cent solution of silver nitrate had been dropped into the eyes of those now suffering from it, soon after birth. He says that a large part of blindness is the result of the severe inflammatory condition seen in some infants' eyes a few days after birth. It does not become apparent in the child's eyes until after a lapse of from one to twelve days, and shows at first generally in one eye. Dr. Parker advocates the installation of a one per cent. solution of silver into the eyes of every infant at birth regardless of social standing. He asserts that it could do no harm, and it might do an infinite amount of good. The treatment should only be done by a skilled physician. The State of Massachusetts has given the suggestion a practical turn by enacting a law requiring physicians to use this method, and has appropriated $25,000 to the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, in Boston, for experimental work. A Boston philanthropist has provided a ward in the hospital for the treatment of this specific form of disease. — Hamilton Spectator.

A GOOD WEDNESDAY MARKET

Butter, Eggs and Meat for Sale at Ordinary Prices.

To-day's market was exceptionally good and although the weather was unfavourable, the farmers attended in fairly large numbers. The fault lies with the townspeople, who do not take advantage of the mid-week market. There was plenty of butter and eggs to be had to-day at 32 cents each way. There was also some poultry. Potatoes sold at 80 cents and a good supply of beef and pork as usual prices were offered. The pork was disposed of at 9 and 10 cents and the beef at 5 1-2 and 6 1-2 cents.

If the people do not wish to buy from the merchants, after they have bought from the farmers, the people should themselves turn out to the market and encourage the farmers and by large markets easier prices may be secured.

EAST CITY GIRL WOULD LIKE STREET CARS

Makes a Plea on Behalf of the Feminine Sex in Fifth Ward.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Having seen in your columns several letters regarding street railway for the Fifth Ward, I take courage to put in a plea for the girls' side of the question. Fifth Ward girls would appreciate the street car as much as anyone I know. Many a time we have to stay at home, when we might spend a pleasant evening at the toboggan slide or the Jackson Park rink. And in the good old summer time we like to go to Jackson Park. By the time we walk to work and return home for dinner and tea we haven't ambition nor strength left to walk all the way to George street before we can take a car to go anywhere. If there were a branch line run through Ashburnham we might rest while we ride, and enjoy the pleasures that other young people of the city can reach so conveniently.

We hope the company may see fit to accommodate us with a car line. It would save us many a disagreeable walk in cold and stormy weather and add to our pleasure when the weather is favourable for an outing.

Thanking you in advance for space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours,
FIFTH WARD GIRL.

Mr. John Perrault, 325 Davidson street, Boulevard St. Paul, near Montreal, Canada, writes:

"I have been a bicyclist for over five years, and last spring I caught cold and did not take anything for it, for I thought it was not bad enough, but it came to catarrh. I was so discouraged that I didn't know what to do. I could not sleep; I always felt tired and troubled.

"Finally I began to take Peruna. After I had taken one bottle I felt better. I took another one, and now I am well. I would like to always feel as I do to-day. I often recommend Peruna to my friends."

Close Confinement.

Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basket Ball Team, writes:

"There are times in the life of every student when excessive study and too close confinement and attention to the object in view will tell on your health.

"I have found that when body and mind alike are weary and refuse to work, a few doses of Peruna restores lost strength and invigorates one quicker and more permanently than anything I know.

"It gives one nerves of iron and muscles of steel, and assists the mental activities together with the physical to a wonderful degree."

INSURANCE APPRAISER IN THE CITY

Adjusting The Dickson Company's Losses in the Lakefield Fire of Jan. 28th.

The insurance appraiser, Mr. Donald C. Edwards, Toronto, was in the city yesterday adjusting the loss sustained by the Dickson Company, Limited, in the big fire at Lakefield on the evening of January 22. The loss is supposed to have amounted to $20,000. A grist mill and planing mill and a considerable amount of lumber were burned in the conflagration.

It is likely a settlement will be made within a few days.

Are You Bankrupt In Nerve Force

THERE IS A RICH FRIEND TO RESCUE YOU—LEARN MORE ABOUT

If you spend three dollars a day and earn two you are sure to come to bankruptcy, unless, perchance, some rich friend comes to your assistance.

And yet this is just what thousands of us are doing in regard to our health. By worry, overwork, anxiety or the disobedience of the laws of nature, the energy and vigour of the body is wasted more rapidly than it is built up, and the result is the bankruptcy of the health and the decay of the body.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may be likened to the rich friend, for it supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the very ingredients from which nature constructs nervous energy and builds up the human system.

Mrs. F. Turner, 336 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed at the Hamilton foundry, states: "For some months past I found myself growing nervous and gradually becoming a victim of sleeplessness, and subject to frequent attacks of nervous headache. About six weeks ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and cannot speak too highly of this medicine. I can sleep well now, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that my system generally has been improved greatly by the use of this treatment."

Sleeplessness, headaches, indigestion, loss of appetite, worn-out feelings, spells of weakness and despondency are some of the symptoms of exhaustion which point to the approach of nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

No one would think of neglecting such ailments if they realized their condition, but they do not, so gradual and insidious is their approach.

If you are persistently subject to these symptoms you are in danger. Your blood must be enriched. Your nerves must be invigorated. Your system must be built up. And there is no means whereby this can be so certainly accomplished as by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food; 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—Z.

THE DEPORTING OFFICER HERE

Was Unable to Secure W. R. Turner's Release From Jail.

Mr. P. Devlin, the Government deporting officer, was in the city yesterday looking after the interests of Turner, who was arrested some time ago as a vagrant. It was decided to deport him, and at the expiration of his first term he was sent down again for a month, in the hope that at the end of that period the deporting officer would arrive. Mr. Devlin came to the city this morning, but the jailer would not allow Turner to go until the end of the month. The officer applied to the Magistrate this morning, but he was powerless to pardon any one. He said the sheriff could do so on an order from the Minister of Justice.

It appears that Turner's brother, who lives in England, sent him out to this country, and upon hearing of his troubles signed the necessary papers and will take charge of him on his arrival in England. The railway and steamship companies which brought Turner to this country will have to take him back gratis, and Mr. Devlin will deliver his man to the Government officer at St. John's, N. B.

Mr. Develin called on the Sheriff but was unable to secure Turner's release and will have to wait until his term expires on the 26th of this month.

The officer left on the G.T.R. train this afternoon for Sault Ste. Marie, where he has another deportation case to look after.

OUR READERS ARE APPRECIATIVE

The "Vegetable Prescription" for Kidney Trouble Filled Many Times

DID YOU MIX SOME OF IT?

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folks naturally brought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and, particularly, rheumatism.

Another well known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continued, that it would be a crime not to do so. It cannot be repeated too often, and he further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle: Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful, to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There is enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses. 11

WAS FINED FOR BEING DRUNK LAST NIGHT

A young man was fined two dollars and costs, amounting to $6.50, this morning in the police court on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The fine was ordered to be paid forthwith, and in default of payment ten days in jail. The fine was paid.

THE LAND OF NOD

By Fredk. M. Dela Fosse, Lakefield.

The land of Nod is a wonderful land
Far off in the darkness hid,
Life's stormy deeps as they strike its steeps,
Are to solace and silence chid;
And never a Zephyr is heard to play,
Nor the flutter of passing wings;
Tumultuous day keeps ever away,
From that realm of forgotten things.
The waters that flow, so soft and slow,
Through that unknown land of mist,
Glide on, unseen, through a broad ravine,
By the rays of the sun unkissed.
From heartstrings wrung of the old and young
They traverse the Land of Nod,
Swept surely on to Oblivion
By the bountiful breath of God.

BEGINS THURSDAY AT 9 IN THE MORNING

Out they must flutter—clouds of Dainty Undermuslins, White Fabrics, Laces, and Embroideries, and Waists—and marked at Enticing Prices. Now comes a long anticipated event—our Annual White Sale. Ready for a period of underpricing of Lingerie, Waists, Fabrics, in fact everything White is involved in this sale. Now the bargain winds will blow in departments where White Goods are sold. How the snowy clouds of white merchandise will disappear—melting like the snow (which they outrival in whiteness) under a July sun. We bought widely for this event—and well. Elaborate, Frenchy Under-Muslins, whose prices have usually been almost prohibitive—were offered us by panic-stricken manufacturers at half prices, and in other lines of goods—Fabrics, Garments, Laces, etc.—bought at even greater price-concessions. Put two and two together and the importance of this sale is evident. Beautiful Undermuslins and other Whitewear—which ordinarily, few can afford, are on sale here at prices to accommodate every purse. The sale begins Thursday. While our stocks are the largest we ever assembled for a White Sale—so unusual are the values that many of the choicest may not last the event through. For that reason—come early.

Enthusiastic Meeting Of Peterborough Poultrymen

Many Attend Last Night to Form An Association---Officers Elected, With Mr. Jas. Baptie, President, and Mr. Geo. Paxman, Vice-President---An Exhibition in January.

The enthusiasm displayed at the meeting in the Council Chamber last night was much beyond the anticipations of the most ardent workers for the formation of a poultry association in Peterborough. The hall contained more than 60 interested poultrymen who all desired to see the proposed movement crystallized into an association—and such was the case.

The association was formed which will be known as the "Peterborough Poultry Association" officers were elected with Mr. Jas. Baptie, of Springville, the President, and before the conclusion of the meeting no less than thirty became members and paid over their membership fee of fifty cents.

During the meeting several of those present gave addresses and expressed themselves as being surprised at the large number in attendance. The greater portion of those present were poultry breeders and included representatives from the rural districts as well as a number of boys who are just beginners.

Although it was not definitely decided, it was understood that a poultry exhibition would be held next January. This question, however, will be discussed later.

Meetings will be held each month at which instructions will be given to all members free of charge.

The chair was occupied by Mr. R. H. Leary, while B. T. Huston acted as secretary pro-tem.

The Speakers

Mr. R H Leary complimented Mr. Geo. Paxman upon his success in getting so many poultrymen together. He then referred to the great benefits to to be derived from the raising of poultry as the bigger the supply the bigger the demand. When an association was organized some time ago there were not nearly as many fanciers as at the present time. The show held at that time was a success but the movement did not get the support from the citizens that it deserved and gradually the directors discovered that the financial end of the work was not a success.

But now, the scene had changed. Everybody was talking poultry and he was sure that the movement reorganized meant a success. At that time there was no Government grant but at the present time there was.

Mr. Leary then explained that the object of the meeting was to consider the advisability of forming a poultry association and of holding an annual exhibition each year.

Easy For Peterborough

Mr. Geo. Paxman when called upon thought that if smaller places than Peterborough could make a success of their shows, Peterborough could also.

Mr. Jas. Baptie, of Springville, the well known poultry man said that Peterborough should be able to form an association and hold monthly meeting to learn something about the fine points of the fowl. These meetings keep up the interest in poultry and each year an exhibition might be held.

Mr. Wm. Collins referred to the past shows which as far as merit was concerned they were of a superior quality, but on account of the financial conditions the prospects then were not nearly so bright as at the present. The shows promoted an interest in the manner in which fowl were dressed for sale, and a great impetus was given the raising of poultry at that time. He was delighted to see so many at the meeting.

Mr. Callander thought if all present were poultrymen he could see no difficulty in the formation of an organization, not merely for the purpose of holding a show, but for the study of poultry during the year. He endorsed Mr. Baptie's suggestion about holding monthly meetings and at each studying a few varieties. At Woodstock there were usually papers read at the meetings, and a great deal of interest was taken.

Association Needed

Ald. Geo. A. Gillespie said that although he had not much knowledge of poultry, he was desirous of seeing a poultry show here. In view of the new publication—The Canadian Dairyman—in Peterborough, he thought considerable assistance could be obtained as there was always a corner taken up on poultry matters.

Mr. Jas. Head and Mr. Bennett of North Monaghan were also desirous of having an association.

Mr. John McClelland referred to the successful poultry association here a few years ago. He had always taken a delight in poultry from the first time—51 years ago—that he captured the red ticket.

He advised the formation of an association and of holding monthly meetings in order that the members might get an insight into the raising of fowl. He believed a small fee should be charged to keep up the running expenses, but didn't think an exhibition could well be held before next January. He advised young breeders not to attempt to breed any more than two varieties at once and gave some hints on the structure of a poultry house.

Abundant Material

Mr. J. J. Hartley said there should be abundant material in Peterborough for an association, and all that was needed was unity in the work.

Messrs. Geo. Pratley and R. J. Kidd expressed themselves in sympathy with the formation of an association. The latter said he was desirous of learning how to raise poultry, and ended by moving that a poultry association be formed in Peterborough.

Mr. Harry Lush thought that with the representation present an association should be organized to beat even Guelph. A club should be formed and a Peterborough winter fair should be held that would attract fanciers from all over the Province.

A show of hands indicated that all were in favour of the forming of the association.

Officers Elected

The next business taken up was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Pres.—Jas. Baptie.
Vice-Pres.—Geo. Paxman.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Harry Lush.
Sec.—B. T. Huston.
Treas.—Jos. Kelly.

Thirty Members

Before the Council Chamber was cleared thirty of those present became members and paid their admission fee of 50 cents, entitling them to membership until the end of the present year. The fee will likely be $1 afterwards. The members are: R H Leary, R J Kidd, J H Garbutt, E H Watts, J Bickell, J O'Shea, S Bickell, J P Pentland, E C Brigley, D R Gardiner, Wm. Smith, T E Chapman, Ald. Geo Gillespie, Geo. Buller, R D Robson, R L Westcott, Jas. Baptie, H. Lush, J T C Laing, Leslie Stephens, Jack Eastwood, Fred Dunnett, D Yarnold, Geo. Paxman, Kenneth McNern, Robt. Dutton, Wm. Cowie, John Matheson, Wilbert Bennett.

HAS DISPOSED OF HIS FARM

Mr. Jos. Green of North Monaghan Will Move Into the City.

A LONG RESIDENT THERE

Still another farmer has disposed of his patrimonial acres and intends to reside in the city in future. Mr. Joseph Green of North Monaghan, one of the township's longest residents, has recently sold his farm to Mr. R. Shearer of this city, and will move into Peterborough about the first of April. The money involved in the transaction was $10,000, of which it understood a part was received by Mr. Green in desirable real estate on Rubidge street.

Mr. Green has lived for sixty years in the house which is located on his property, about three miles west of the city on the Gravel road. While there are farmers in North Monaghan who have lived in the township longer than Mr. Green, they have moved from one farm to another. The only exception is Mr. Richard Lillico, who has a longer record than Mr. Green.

The latter is widely known in Monaghan, and in fact throughout the county. He has been successful in his agricultural work and has adopted the improved methods of farming. Mr. Green expects to move to Peterborough about the first of April, when he will retire from active work.

WILL PROBABLY LOCATE IN RENFREW

Mr. John Finlay, M. P., May Open Factory There.

The Town of Renfrew has been considering the matter of obtaining an industry to occupy its factory property which for some time was made use of by P. R. Cumming Co. The town council has passed a bylaw authorizing an overdraft with the Bank of Ottawa for $10,000, and now there is a promising outlook for occupancy of the property, negotiations being brought about by Mr. A. A. Wright, M.P., between Mr. John Finlay, M.P., for East Peterborough, and the town council. Mr. Finlay has been here inspecting the property, and propositions to and fro are taking place, which will be considered at the adjourned meeting.

GREEN'S FAMOUS MOVING PICTURES

Prof. Green, the moving picture man, opened a five-nights' engagement at the Grand last night, and on his initial appearance attracted a large audience, which was highly pleased with the entertainment. The pictures were easily the best that have ever been shown in Peterborough, and a happy selection was made by Mr. Green, interspersing humourous scenes with those of descriptive and pageant character. The pictures were presented in a faultless manner, and Mr. Green's running description of the scenes was one of the best features of the evening. The performance was over two hours of educative and amusing pictures, besides three new songs beautifully illustrated with slides. Mr. Bert Peters surprised his friends by his singing. The three songs were sung in a very pleasing manner. The company has thirty-eight illustrated songs and three new ones are given every night. One of the best numbers last evening was the new Havilland song "Two Blue Eyes," in which everyone had the opportunity of singing the chorus. For those who wish an evening's enjoyable portion they should not neglect a visit to Green to see a revelation in moving pictures.

CARUSO'S MONEY

For a few panic-stricken moments Enrico Caruso, thought he had lost $40,000. It was at the Metropolitan Opera House on Wednesday night, between the acts, when Enrico was playing the back-boneless Des Grieux. But, when he heard that the New Amsterdam National Bank had suspended, Caruso forgot all about his assumed bad character and his somewhat mud-bespattered real one, and, falling on a settee, wiled. It was as funny as Shylock and his ducats. Caruso saw some $40,000 of his cherished gold gone into the Ewigkeit, irrecoverable as the spaghetti of yesterday. Hence his tears! People rushed into the dressing room to offer consolation; the call boy charged about, yelling "Second Act." But it was in vain. "Oh my money! My money," wailed the tenor and people hurried in search of sal volatile and eau de Cologne. "Second Act" cried the call boy in a sharper staccato. But what mattered that to a man who had lost $40,000? The populace was seated patiently awaiting the continuation of the woes of Manon and her lover; but the mimic Des Grieux was having troubles of his own and cred not at all for the mimic grief of opera. Finally it occurred to someone that perhaps Caruso did not quite appreciate the situation and it was whispered to him that the $40,000 was not lost, but merely, as it were, in suspense. The change was instantaneous; the Caruson smile found its wonted place and the singer resigned himself with joyous abandon to the woes of Des Grieux. Now they are looking for the man who broke the dismal tidings about the New Amsterdam bank.

MISS VALENTYNE,
Who appears with the Royal Alexandra Players in Victorien Sardou's Masterpiece, "Diplomacy," Grand Next Week.

When the Royal Alexandra Players, direct from the magnificent Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, appear in Peterborough next Tuesday at the Grand Opera House, the theatrical event of the season will take place. It was not without a great deal of trouble that Manager Turner was successful in securing this celebrated company of actors, who are known to be the highest salaried dramatic organization on the continent. It is not probable that the company will again be seen outside of Toronto, and those who can avail themselves of attending this performance of Sardou's great play "Diplomacy," which will be presented with the same completeness as given at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, the home of the company.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

WAS SEIZED WITH PARALYSIS

Mr. William Trennum, Caretaker of Locks Bridge, Dangerously Ill—Was Cutting Wood in Otonabee.

IS LYING UNCONSCIOUS

The many friends of Mr. William Trennum, caretaker of the Locks bridge, will regret to learn that he is incapacitated from work and is seriously ill, suffering from a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Trennum, at the time of going to press, was lying unconscious, and grave fears are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Trennum for many years was a farmer in the township of Smith and sold his farm to the late John Bertram to enable him to qualify as member for West Peterborough. Subsequently he moved to the township of Harvey, where he resided until his removal to Peterborough a few years ago. Mrs. Trennum predeceased Mr. Trennum a few years ago. Mr. Trennum erected the brick block opposite the old post-office on Water street some years ago, which is at present the property of Mr. Richard Hall. He has been caretaker of the Locks bridge for the past two years, and during the past summer erected a neat little cottage on the place where he has since resided.

Mr. Trennum was cutting wood in Otonabee when first attacked, and was removed to his home by Mr. Lawrence Michaels, who was associated with him for the time.

THE FORCE IS TO BE INCREASED

Police Commissioners Decide to Appoint New Policeman.

RAINCOATS FOR POLICE

According to the recommendation of the Police Commissioners if adopted, the police force of the city will be increased by the addition of another constable. The commissioners held their first meeting of the year yesterday afternoon, when there were present his Honour Judge Weller, his Worship Mayor Rush and Police Magistrate Dumble.

Judge Weller was re-elected chairman of the Commissioners for the year.

Letters were read from Constables Nowhall and Meharry for an increase in salary, but no action was taken.

A resolution was passed recommending the appointment of another policeman and advertisements will be inserted in the newspapers asking for applications.

The council will be asked this year for an additional $750 for salaries, uniforms, etc. This will, of course, include the salary of the new policeman.

The application of the police for new rain coats was granted. The issue of waterproofs to the police took place in 1897, so that the new raiment is badly needed.

COL. YOUNG COMING HERE

Will Inspect the Clothing and Equipments of the Local Battery on the 7th of March.

MUST RETURN CLOTHING

Major Young of the 24th Field Battery announced to-day that all the battery must hand in their clothing and equipment at the Armouries at once. Col. Young of Kingston is coming here on March 7 to inspect the Armouries, clothing and equipment, and it is the desire of the officers of the battery to have everything in first-class order. It is not necessary to mention that all who retain their clothing or equipment are liable to severe punishment.

Eczema, Salt Rheum.

Eczema or Salt Rheum, as it is often called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases. It manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat, are almost unbearable.

The pre-eminent success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in permanently curing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.

No other remedy has done, or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture, as our thousands of signed testimonials can testify to.

Mrs. Jno. B. Keady, Linton, N.B., writes: "I was so troubled with Salt Rheum for eight years, that I could not work my hands were so sore. By using Burdock Blood Bitters my hands were eventually cured."

Mrs. Ira C. Buskaw, Eden, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with Eczema for a long time. It came out on my face and between my shoulders. A friend told me about Burdock Blood Bitters. I took two bottles and it helped me so much I cannot recommend it too highly."

RELIC OF EGYPTIAN BATTLE IS DISPLAYED

Interesting Novelty is Shown by Messrs. F. Clarke & Son To-day.

A very interesting relic of the Egyptian war, as well as a very clever example of the jeweller's art, is being shown in the George street window of F. Clarke and Son's jewellery establishment. The novelty is a claret jug made from a Lyddite shell used in the Egyptian war, which is embellished with the coat-of-arms of five famous British regiments, and also the British coat-of-arms, all raised in solid gold. Several Egyptian war medals are also used in decorating the jug, which is lined with solid silver, while the handle is made from an elephant's tusk. The jug, which is held for sale by Mr. Clarke, is attracting a great deal of attention and admiration.

WOULD LIKE A FAIR DEAL

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I saw in your paper last week when the butchers were making complaints against farmers for selling meat on the market for any price that suits them. I wonder what about the butchers coming to the country and offering the farmers just what price suits them. Think of farmers fattening their cattle and pigs at the price grain is and the butchers will come out and offer three and a half and four cents a pound for beef, dressed and fit for market, and six cents for hogs dressed! I wonder how they would like it if the farmers would ask the council to put a license on them for this sort of business. If they would deal fair with the farmers the latter would not take their meat to the market. Do they think for a moment that if they stop the farmers selling meat on the market that they would be bothered taking the rest of their stuff to market? I don't think there is any council that would try to hurt the farmers by giving the butchers a license. If the rest of the farmers were of my opinion they would form a union like the rest of the business people and thus could make the butchers give what was right for their stock. Hoping that the council will give this matter careful consideration before giving them a license, I remain

Yours,
A FARMER.

LITTLE SERMONS BY THE BIGGEST OF MEN

Lord Strathcona: Nothing is so necessary to success as a knowledge of human nature.

Sir William McDonald: Without a good physical basis skill and will are no good.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward: The acid of envy eats out all happiness from the heart.

Agnes Deans Cameron: A home that has cost nothing in the way of sacrifice is usually only a mere stopping place.

John Kenrick Banks: I do not like a man who gives his hand in a half hearted way. I never know what to do with it.

Mark Twain: Lawyers never quarrel over the estate of a man who leaves nothing but a good name.

Lord Grey: I think everything in this world would be better if the right sort of women had a share in its management.

Sir Conan Doyle: The lower the intellectual capacity, the higher the development of that lowest and strongest of human passion—gambling.

Rev. Dr. Sparling, Winnipeg: Just because they cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear a lot of men never try to make anything.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: The human mind is tenacious of its opinions, whether they are founded on fact or fiction. Indeed, it often clings most tenaciously to the least defensible.

President Roosevelt: There is in most men that instinct which is one of the best heritages from boyhood—the instinct for fair play and for giving everybody "a chance."

Thompson Seton: I am going to write a scathing article about the outlandish shapes of women's hats just as soon as we learn why a man buys a high crowned soft hat and then punches it full of dents.

Dr. Osler: There is a great deal of ill-health which deserves not sympathy or pity, but criticism and condemnation, and a worship of good health, including works as well as faith, might with advantage be made a feature of the national religion.

SPENT AN ENJOYABLE EVENING

The young men of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild listened with pleasure last night to the address by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt on "The Evolution of a Boy." The attendance was good and the young men greatly appreciated the treat by the speaker. During the evening Rev. Mr. Potter sang a solo.

Mr. Ernest Reid, the president of the Guild, occupied the chair.

ONCE MORE WELL

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" ALONE CURED HIM

Clarence J. Placey is a farmer of Ulverton, Que., known as a man of integrity and good judgment. He writes in no uncertain terms of the great benefit he derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a long standing kidney trouble.

Ulverton, Que.

I suffered for many years with kidney trouble, with bad pain in the back and all symptoms of disease of the kidneys. I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill but nothing gave me relief and I was getting discouraged. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so—and this medicine cured me when every other remedy failed. I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and from the outset they give me relief and I am now practically well again, no pain in the back, no distress, and all the symptoms of severe kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I suffered and to them I say "Try "Fruit-a-tives." 151

ROBSON TOOK TWO OUT OF THREE RACES FROM CON. HEFFERNAN

Only a handful of spectators turned out to see the skating races between Fred Robson, the Canadian champion, and Con. Heffernan, the holder of the Canadian two-mile record, at Brock-street rink last night, but those who were there saw a clever exhibition of skating between two of the neatest and speediest performers in Canada. Robson won the half-mile and two-mile, while Heffernan cleaned up the mile. All the events were close, and in the mile and two-mile there were two great finishes in which the winner won by a nose. The ice was in great shape and fast, time was made considering that the skaters had to travel 14 laps to the mile. Two races for local skaters were on the programme and the result was a decidedly interesting bill. Ben Dusty cleaned up the mile event open to the county and Charlie Kingdon won the event for boys under 18 years.

The half-mile race was the first event on the programme and Robson and Heffernan got away to a good start, Robson leading. Both are decidedly pretty skaters with an easy style that carries them over the ice with a speed that is very deceptive. Robson led all the way, and although Heffernan pressed him hard for the entire distance, the little speeder held his lead and won by five feet. The time was 1.36.

There was a change in the next event, the one-mile, which was captured by Heffernan in a sensational finish. The men skated practically together for nearly the whole distance. At the 12th lap, however, Heffernan sprang into the lead, getting three feet ahead of Robson. As they turned into the stretch at the finish Robson sprinted and almost caught the leader. As he drew up on even terms almost at the line, Robson fell and his opponent won by a foot in 3.22.

The two-mile was almost similar. The men took turns in pacing and clung together all the way until the last few laps when Robson went in front and stayed there with Heffernan at his heels. The latter sprinted in the stretch and came near nipping the race from Robson, but the champion had enough left in him to win out. The time for the two miles was 7 minutes.

The mile open race for the championship of Peterborough county was easy for Ben Dusty of the Strathcona Hockey Club. His opponents were W. O'Rourke, A. Allen and C. Cox, and although the latter made it interesting for the first few laps, Dusty soon opened a lead that left no doubt as to the result. O'Rourke was lapped twice and Allen once, and Cox was nearly a lap behind at the finish. The latter was second, with Allen third and O'Rourke fourth. The time was 3.26 1-2.

Charlie Kingdon had an even easier clean-up in the mile race for boys under 18 and won by over two laps. Two other contestants started — S. Holland and C. Walsh. Both fell several times, and the latter dropped out after a bad spill on a corner. The time for the mile was 3.52.

The officials, Messrs. J. B. Hay, as starter, and Alex. Gibson as timer gave every satisfaction. The band was in attendance and there was an hour's skating after the races.

What the Review Players Are Doing From Day to Day—"Back-up" Dobbin in Toronto for Players.

THE TRAGEDY COMPLETED

Manager MacRae, of the Review team, was at the rink last night getting some pointers from Robson and Heffernan, the crack skaters. Judging from the last time we saw him on skates he needs all the knowledge of the art he can pick up.

Knocker Yokome has come to the conclusion that the only way to make the Review team fast is to tie them up with a rope.

The Review last night had something to say about "A slow train through Arkansaw." If the train mentioned in that interesting contribution to American literature is any slower than the Review hockey team, it would never travel fast enough to keep the weeds off the track.

Of all the sad words of tongue and pen,
The saddest are these, "We're stung again."—MacRae.

The Examiner management has received some interesting telegrams from outside points, of which the following are samples:

Toronto, Feb. 19th.

Hear big game is over. I am betting all I own on the Examiner.
R. N. JOLLIFFE.
Toronto, Feb. 19th.

"Sorry can't be with you. Get MacRae for me once or twice."
M. J. HUTCHINSON.
Toronto, Feb. 19th.

The price of lemons has gone up. Kindly ship Review team at once.
S. S. MOORE.
Toronto, Feb. 19th.

"Now that I am out of it I want to see the Review trimmed. Get it through."
G. D. VAN BLARICOM.
Preston, Feb. 19th.

What will you take to sell game? My reputation here will suffer if Review loses.
CHAS. H. SAWLE.

The Examiner has seven good reasons why the Review will not win. They will be seen in the game a week from to-night.

That talented young play writer, Mr. A. C. Yokome, at the Review, is completing a remarkably clever tragedy entitled "A Good Thing Gone Wrong." It will be produced with proper scenic investiture by the Review stock yards company at the Brock street rink on Wednesday night of next week. Henry Ludlowe MacRae, who will appear in the title role, has made a series of hits during the rehearsals. Mr. MacRae, who is a mimic of no mean ability, will give his famous imitation of a lemon which is said to be almost life-like in its accuracy.

The only member of the Review septette who the Examiner has any reason to fear is a certain member of the reportorial staff who is so wideawake that he never goes to bed till next day.

The office boy hands in the following musical contribution. It is to be sung to the air of "John Dough."

Dub MacRae, Dub MacRae,
Your feet seem always in the way,
You lift them high, you lift them low,
But you never can tell which way they'll go,
Dub MacRae, Dub MacRae,
The spectators will rudely say,
If you'd walk on your hands you'd have some chance,
The unfortunate Dub MacRae.

"When I was sweet sixteen," by Dinnie Dobbin, of the Review team, is said to be an interesting reminiscence of the early days of the past century.

Mr. McGuire, of Orangeville, now a member of the Review team will, by special request, sing the following parody on "In Dear Old Georgia," at half time:

From dear old Orangeville
I've come at last
On the village ice pond
They called me fast,
But this is different
From what I thought,
So I'll soon go back
To that dear spot.

A Seaforth laddie named Scott
With the Review has cast in his lot
Like the rest of the bunch
It's a pretty sure bunch
He'll find the pace rather too hot.

The Review's latest find is one Scott, a braw Highlander from Seaforth. He and Manager MacRae will do the Highland fling as an added feature of the Vaudeville programme.

My team said Manager MacRae,
Will put the Examiner away,
It's them to the woods
For we have the goods—
Now, isn't he the comical jay?

A Review man collapsed on the street. The doctor advised plenty of heat;
It was certain Doc knew
He played with the Review
The trouble was a case of cold feet.

"Miss Crane who is an innocent young thing,
Said when asked by "Abe" to take a "wing—"
"It its the same to the rest,
I'll have a piece of the breast—

Now "she" is hourly wishing for spring.

"My gracious" said Rink Manager Junk,
As the ice began to shiver and crack:
"If Mac falls once more,
He'll go through the floor,
And the rink'll be down on his back."

HOW YOU GET CONSUMPTION.

Most "lungers" allowed their power of resistance to fall very low. Favorable conditions were provided for the development of the bacilli. Consumption was the result.

But in a healthy body Consumption can't take root. The most potent health-maker is Ferrozone. Take it regularly and you needn't fear tuberculosis.

FERROZONE

Supplies exactly what the man verging on Consumption needs. It forms rich, nutritious blood, strengthens the nerves, puts vim and endurance into every organ of the body.

For the tired, weak—anyone in poor health—Ferrozone is worth its weight in gold. Avoid substitutes!

Price 50c per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Football Team Will Meet To-night

To Consider the Proposal to Play at Pacific Coast.

The Quaker Association Football Club will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock at the Examiner office to consider the proposal to go to the coast to play for the People's Shield, in April. Most of the senior champion team are desirous of going west to take part in the competition.

THE ALL STAR GAME IS CANCELLED

Norwood Players Cannot Take Part and Project is Dropped.

The much talked of game between the Strathconas and the City League All Stars called for Friday night has fallen through owing to the fact that the majority of the players slated to meet the Straths either were unable or refused to play. Rose of the High Lites it is expected will be out of the city on Friday and last night President Fred A Clarke who was arranging the game received word from Norwood that none of their players would be able to play. The team would not be complete without Rose, Doherty, Kempt and Nichols, so that the arrangements for the game have been cancelled.

TWO FORMS PLAYED THE GAME

Forms II. and III. Each Scored Two Goals Last Night.

Forms II. and III. of the Collegiate Institute had a lively battle at Brock street rink yesterday afternoon. The score at the end of the hour was two all. The two stacked up against each other last week and Form II. won by a small margin. Yesterday's game was even more exciting, both teams being evenly matched. Form II. led at half-time by 1-0, but their upper grade school-mates came back with 2-1 in the second half, and the final ball found them on even footing. Allan Campbell was a very satisfactory referee.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Nothing definite was decided upon at the meeting of the Strathconas in reference to the proposed series of games with the winners of the Gait City League. The matter was talked over, but no action was taken.

The Strathconas were to have played in Madoc to-night with the leaders of No. 1 section of the Trent Valley League, but received word this morning to cancel the trip as Madoc is to-day in the grasp of a fierce blizzard. The only rink is an open-air one, so that it would have been impossible to play the game under such conditions. The Straths had the following line-up ready for the game:

Goal—Wilson.
Point—Wade.
Cover—Dusty.
Rover—Clarke.
Centre—Dobson.
R. Wing—McMillan.
L. Wing—Weatherstone.

YOUNG STAGE HAND WAS ASSAULTED

By the Property Man for "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

WAS KNOCKED SENSELESS

Casey, the property man for the theatrical company, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," struck a young Peter Grant, an employee of the local opera house, three severe blows on the face and knocked him senseless on the floor. The young lad was helping him to change the scenes between the third and fourth acts when a little controversy began which greatly irritated Casey, who is a big man. He dropped one of the props he was carrying and struck the boy three blows over the eye. The lad fell senseless on the floor and remained there for five or six minutes. The stage hands all witnessed the affair but none of them interfered. As soon as young Grant came around he made off for the police station and laid the matter before the authorities. The police are going to look into the matter.

A special train carrying the Masonic Delegation to Lindsay will leave the Grand Trunk Station on Friday, 21st inst., at 7 p. m. sharp. All masons are invited. 2d-42

There Will Be No More 25c. Packages Of Salada Tea

Company Has Raised Prices To Peterborough Wholesale Men—Tobacco Gone Up.

FINNAN HADDIE IS SCARCE

The housewives and others who attend to the provisions of the culinary department of the household, will be interested to learn that the price of the 25c. pound package of Salada tea has, or will be in the near future, increased to 30c. by the retail merchants of the city, or at least by the greater number of them. The cause of this is on account of the recent notification received by the wholesale grocerymen of the city from the Salada Tea Company of Toronto that no more Salada tea in the 25c. pound packages will be shipped at the same price as in the past.

The wholesale men have therefore raised their price to the retailer and the retailer has had to add on an extra 5c. per package in order to make his profits.

It is stated that the primary cause is due to the fact that tea is scarce and that the manufacturer has raised his price. The limited supply, in brief, makes the higher price.

The Quality Maintained

The wholesale merchants state that they had either to reduce the quality of the tea or raise the price, and they have chosen the latter. In order to still maintain the quality, the prices took a jump and 25c. packages will sell at 30c.; 30c. packages will sell at 35c., but the 40 and 50 cent packages will remain the same as before.

In fact nearly all the firms have cut out the packages of any brand that sell for 25 cents for the above reasons.

Chewing Tobacco Too

Troubles seem never to come alone. The McDonald chewing tobacco has also been raised in price, but fortunately for the pocket of the consumer the retail merchant has to pay the shot. The advance is two cents per plug. There is no advance on the "Brier" smoking tobacco.

Finnan Haddie Scarce

There is at the present time a great scarcity of finnan haddie. A wholesale merchant states that it is almost impossible to secure them now. They are shipped from Nova Scotia, but the supply seems to have run out.

EASTERN DISTRICTS WANT A THROUGH GRAND TRUNK TRAIN

Examiner Special.

Keene, Feb. 19.—A petition is being circulated in this vicinity requesting the Grand Trunk to run the train which now leaves Peterborough at 7 a.m., and arrives in Toronto at 10 a.m., and leaves Toronto at 7 p.m., arriving in Peterborough at 10 p.m., from and to Campbellford instead of Peterborough. The petition is also being largely signed in Hastings and Campbellford. At present one cannot go to Toronto from anywhere on the Peterborough and Belleville line and return the same day, but is obliged to stay in Toronto over night and return next morning.

SERVANT GIRL AND WATCH WERE FOUND

Examiner Want Ads. Always Produce Required Results.

Servant girls are hard to locate in Peterborough just now as the proverbial hen's teeth, but they are to be found and anything that it is possible to find can be done by means of an Examiner want ad. On Monday a gentleman advertised for a servant, paying for three insertions of the advertisement, and succeeded in securing one that same night, whereupon he was refunded half the cost of the advertisement.

A lady lost a gold watch on the street. Being an intelligent young lady she did just what you would expect under the circumstances and advertised in the Examiner—result the watch is back with its rightful owner.

These are but two examples. Get the habit and use the Examiner want ads.

BIG DEMAND FOR HOUSES IN CITY OF WINNIPEG

The Winnipeg Free Press says: Oldfield & Gardner report a wonderful demand for houses for this season of the year and that they have received a large number of enquiries from genuine applicants. Through S. W. Abbot the firm has disposed of the Jackman residence on Roslyn road to H. T Cherry for about $13,000.

There Comes a Time
when letters blur, when lines run together, and reading becomes difficult, especially in the evening. This blurring is caused by the eye not being able to focus at the normal reading distance—thirteen inches.
The vision in the distance is as clear as ever, and this fact leads many to believe that glasses are unnecessary, but this is just the time when the first pair of glasses is needed. A continuation without glasses causes an undue strain on the muscles of the eye, and a dull headache is the result, a person gains nothing by going without glasses when they are needed. In fact they gain much by having glasses fitted when the first blur indicates failing vision. ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

DYING MAN TRIES TO WRITE NAME

But His Name Remains Unknown—Stricken With Paralysis and Was Arrested as a Drunk.

CAME FROM THE EAST

Montreal, Feb. 20.—(Special.) — The unidentified body of a man, about 45 years of age, lies at the morgue. The body will not be disposed of by the Coroner until to-morrow, so as to allow more time for identification.

The deceased was yesterday morning conveyed in an unconscious condition from No. 3 police station, 626 East Ontario street, to the Notre Dame Hospital, after he had been found staggering in the neighbourhood at 1 o'clock in the morning.

The man was thought to be intoxicated at first, but when removed to the station it was found out that he was paralyzed and unable to speak. He could not use his right hand, but he tried to write his name for the police with his left hand, but it was shaking so much that nothing could be made of what he had written.

Shortly afterwards he took a series of epileptic fits and then lapsed into unconsciousness. He was then removed to the Notre Dame Hospital, where he died early this morning without regaining his senses.

The man is about 45 years old, with fair hair and moustache. He wore a dark overcoat, a good suit of clothes and a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles. He had no money, a nickel watch and pair of scissors being the articles in his pockets.

It is thought that the name he tried to write at the station is Gravel Fauvel, and it is supposed he hailed from the east.

SUDDEN DEATH OF NORWOOD MAN

Mr. George Kempt, Brother of Well Known Norwood Hockey Player, Passed Away Last Night From Heart Failure.

WAS HERE SHORT TIME AGO

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Feb. 20. — The sudden death last night at seven o'clock of Mr. George Kempt of this village has cast a gloom over the whole community. Mr. Kempt is a merchant tailor here where he has lived all his life and general regret is expressed at his unexpected demise.

The deceased was in Peterborough only about two weeks ago on the occasion of the last visit of the Norwood hockey team and at that time was in excellent health. He has been however, confined to his bed for the past few days but his illness was not considered serious until he passed away last evening from heart failure.

Mr. Kempt was only 37 years of age and just in the prime of life. He leaves a widow and a widowed mother and is survived by three brothers and two sisters. The brothers are Kenneth and Alex., of Norwood, and John in British Columbia, and the sisters are Mrs. Archie Richardson, of Tilsonburg, and Mrs. Brightwell, of Mooretown. His wife is a daughter of the late William Bill, of Norwood. Mr. Alex Kempt, his brother, is the well known Norwood hockey player.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Norwood Cemetery.

BIG CAR FERRY HAD TO CUT THE ICE

Across Lake Ontario in Less Than Four Hours—Officials on Board.

Cobourg, Feb. 20—(Special).—A demonstration was made of the speed of the new G. T. R. ferry, Ontario No. 1, in crossing from Charlotte a few days ago. On board were the president and secretary of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railway, and Mr. W. R. Smith, manager of the ferry. The run was made to Cobourg in three hours and forty minutes. For fully twenty-five miles on this side of the lake the ferry was obliged to cut her way through an immense sheet of ice. This she was able to do without apparently lessening the speed of the boat. It is said that just after the recent severe cold weather Lake Ontario was frozen from shore to shore.

Does Mr. Carnegie's Gift Look Waspish In Character?

Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., Adds To Library Question—The Gift Is Not Free, He Claims.

IS HIS OWN SUGGESTION

To the Editor of the Examiner:

My letter in relation to the public library was intended to bring about discussion of the wisdom, or otherwise, of accepting the standing offer of Mr. Carnegie, the philanthropist of library buildings; and I am well pleased to note that it attracted the attention of one so gifted in ready debate as Mr. Dumble. I do not insist I am wholly right in my views, and he wholly wrong in his. Perhaps some one may find a middle course more reasonable than either of ours, but until that happens I am unable to recant from my already expressed opinions.

In more than one place in his letter Mr. Dumble asserts that the $30,000 will be a "free gift" from Mr. Carnegie, and adds that "people generally think a gift is a more pleasant and profitable thing than a mortgage on one's house." Granted, in the terms of his proposition; granted also that benevolence is a highly commendable quality to possess; it is admirable, but it must be just what it pretends to be and not a delusion or a snare, or it will quickly pall on the palate of our thankfulness. But let us see how the matter works out by illustration. If the would-be giver of ten dollars, horses or pen knives as the case may be which he offers to present to me, adds a condition that I am to return to him or to some one whom he may name, one of the kind, in each year forever, and secured on my whole estate, is that in a true or in any sense, a free gift, or a gift at all? In my judgment this is the very head and front of Mr. Carnegie's tender, but it nevertheless it can be shown that his offer is a "gift" without condition, then I admit being bowled out on the argument. I have frequently read in the press, and been directly advised from cities which have Carnegie library buildings, that these cities must agree to raise by taxation yearly for all time, at least ten per cent. of his giving, and unless some one can show that these are not the facts I am going to accept the statement.

Mr. Dumble says I would snatch at a $30,000 gift; I guess I would, quick, unless it looked waspish, with the usual sting in the tail. But I would surely be a simple Samson to take part of any man's superfluity and bind myself and property, to pay in return, in perpetuity, one-tenth of that received per annum and then try to look cheerful. Fishing in a tub for Friday's dinner would, I believe, be more profitable, for my friend's security would be worth just double his present. To put it in another way; if it should happen that future times that some financial cause should compel the City to lift the $3,000 annuity, it would be found that at least $70,000 would be required for the purpose, and it goes without saying that neither the Nicholls Estate endowment, nor the Government grant could be applied to the extent of one dollar for the purpose.

In substitution I suggest that the City float $30,000, thirty years debentures, or whatever it may be thought needful, which could be done at a cost of from seven to seven and one-half per cent. raised during the term, and at the end of it we would be free again; and I press this upon the consideration of all who are taking an interest in the subject.

I intended, at length, but find I have not time, to refer to the fact that Detroit and many other cities in the United States and the Old Country have refused the Carnegie offer, while in other places the buildings after erection have remained vacant; that several cities defaulted in payment of the annuity, or wholly repudiated the foolish bargain, but more of this anon.

Your obedient servant,
W. H. MOORE.

COMMISSIONING OF SALVATION ARMY BAND AND SONGSTERS

A novel ceremony for Peterborough will be held this evening at the Salvation Army Barracks, when on the occasion of a special meeting the commissioning of the band and songsters will take place. The commissioning of the band is, of course, a renewal, but it will be the first occasion for the songsters, as this is the first commission brigade for Peterborough. There will be sixty members in both organizations.

Staff Captain Goodwin will perform the ceremony, and accompanying the commissioning ceremony a new and interesting programme will be presented. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

OPEN MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

Important Business Discussed—Mission To Be Held in March—Fellowship Tea Sunday Week.

An open meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's Church was held last night, in the Sunday school. There was a large number of the members of the chapter and their friends present. Mr. Samuel Jay, the director of the Brotherhood, occupied the chair, and after the general business was transacted, Rev. Canon Davidson, took the chair and important congregational matters were discussed, in which many of the members of the church joined in. The question of the Parochial Mission services, which will be held between the 8th and the 18th day of March, was discussed, and much enthusiasm was shown. The mission services on Sunday evening at eight o'clock were heartily endorsed by those present, and the rector pointed out that the attendance was rapidly increasing. The matter of speakers for the parochial mission services was also brought up for discussion and arrangements are being made.

Another "Fellowship tea" will be held on Sunday week, to which the congregation are specially invited. Outsiders will also be warmly welcomed and invitations are being sent out. The tea has been very kindly donated by two of the prominent young men of the church, Mr. Frank Linton and Mr. Fred L. Roy.

A committee has the affair in charge and is making preparations for a delightful programme. The members of the brigade will be pleased to welcome all those who were with them on the occasion of the formal opening of the hall on January 1.

ONE MAN BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Snow Plow Collided With Freight—Rigby May Not Recover.

Agincourt, Feb. 20.—(Special.) — A C.P.R. snowplough driven by two engines collided with a westbound C.P.R. freight train at Agincourt yesterday morning. Section Foreman Rigby, in charge of the plow, had his arm broken, and was severely crushed. He was removed to his home at Leaside Junction.

The freight train was standing on a siding when the collision occurred and the responsibility for the accident has not yet been settled. The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped, thus escaping injury. It is not known whether Rigby will recover.

CONVICTED PASTOR TO PREACH

Congregation Believes In His "Moral Innocence."

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(Special.)—At the First Congregational Church of Wheaton, Rev. James R. Kaye, who recently was found guilty of counterfeiting in the United States District Court at Springfield, Ill., to-morrow will preach both morning and evening, as well as direct the affairs of the Sunday school.

The congregation is declared to be a unit in believing in the "moral innocence" of Kaye. The officials and members see no reason why their pastor should not lead them in services until he goes to begin his sentence of two years in the Government penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., or else goes free.

JOURNALISTIC INDECENCY.

From a business point of view, the Examiner is not anxious to give the Review the advertising it and its new editor need, to remind the public of their exatence, but the continuous attacks upon Mr. Stratton, as a private citizen, compel reference to some of our contemporary's statements. In an article in last night's issue, the Review defends its action in quoting from the report of a commission. This action, in its if, needs no defence, were it not done with the palpable desire to convey a false impression and to injuriously reflect upon Mr. Stratton in regard to a course which those to whom Mr. Stratton is responsible entirely endorse and approve, and, even more, command. The Review's conclusion that it has, in this connection, "brought the Examiner to its knees," and that Mr. Stratton "requests mercy because he is no longer in public life," is mere assumption. Mr Stratton does not ask for mercy. When he was in public life he "took his medicine" like any other public man. He is not afraid to discuss anything he has done in public or private life; but he reasonably does object to the discussion—especially the unfair discussion—of his private business affairs in a newspaper. He will deal with these himself, and hold himself accountable only to those whose interests are involved: so long as they are satisfied, and there is no indication to the contrary, the outside public have no interest in the matter. The political subjects of the day and the relations to them of men in public life, or aspiring to public life, are legitimate subjects for discussion. Mr. Stratton has his business interests to look after, and does so, not always unsuccessfully, and, without "requesting mercy," naturally objects to having his business affairs mixed up with political matters, with which he has no concern. He says what he has to say on political matters, and assumes whatever responsibility attaches thereto.

The commonest canons of journalistic decency demand that the business affairs of a private citizen should not be gratuitously paraded from no other motive than malvolence.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is not remarkable, the London Adviser thinks, that a proposal to discourage immigration should emanate from a political party which couldn't induce immigration into Canada when it had the reins of power.

The Railway Commission has been overworked. It was disorganized by Mr. Blair's resignation. It is still a young tribunal, and has only begun to complete its organization and establish permanent precedents and regulations. Notwithstanding these disadvantages, says the Toronto News, it has performed a great deal of public service, and under Judge Killam may be trusted to meet the reasonable expectations of the country.

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and re-act. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and pald. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomach disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE PULP PROBLEM.

In another place in this issue there will be found an article in relation to pulp-wood and the pulp and paper-making industry. Whatever may be the merit of the article in other ways, even if they be small a great merit consists in the fact of its drawing attention to a matter of the most vital national moment. The demand for printing papers is growing immensely, while the supply of raw material, in the form of pulp-wood is growing less through the tremendous demands made upon it, conjoined with reckless and improvident cutting. There is no doubt that the end of the supply of United States pulp-wood is in sight. In view of this fact, Canada's resources in this regard, great as they are, acquire a peculiar significance, and the matter of their wise exploitation, with a need of conservation and perpetuation, becomes a matter of grave national concern. From a limited point of view, the economical treatment of our pulp-wood is a matter of importance. When we take into account the very greatly added value, about six-fold, of profit caused by the manufacture of pulp-wood into its ultimate condition — paper — the export of pulp-wood in a raw state is not for a moment to be regarded as a wise course to pursue or permit. The action of the Ross Government in providing that no Ontario pulp-wood should be permitted to leave the Province in an unmanufactured condition was wise and prudent. But there is reason to feel that this does not go far enough. Further action is indicated. The division of responsibility and function as between the Federal and the Provincial Governments, indicates action for both, and the immense national importance of the pulp problem calls for the greatest degree of co-operation. While to the Dominion Government fall the regulation of the traffic and the conditions of export, to the provinces falls the duty of the preservation and perpetuation of our pulp-wood supplies. When it is recalled that pulp-wood is merely a crop to be reaped, and capable of reproduction within a brief period—in the life of a country — the application of forestric operations is urgently indicated. Stringent conditions of cutting should be adopted, as well as energetic measures for planting. With these properly combined, and with reasonable conditions of domestic manufacture imposed, Canada would stand to reap an abundant harvest of profit from her pulp-wood resources, and at the same time conserve the supply and maintain the position of natural supremacy she now enjoys. There must be action and general co-operation between Federal and Provincial Governments to secure the best results. The matter, in its vast importance, rises far above party considerations, and becomes one calling for the display of a large patriotism.

OUR TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

An increase of $45,895,877 in the foreign trade of Canada for the calendar year 1907 is cause for congratulation. The total for the period was $645,340,681, the best showing in every way in the history of the country. The imports for consumption amounted to $362,515,267 and the exports to $273,325,414—increases of $42,048,067, and $3,847,810, respectively.

Particularly gratifying is the evidence furnished of the growth of our trade with the mother country, which has been steadily expanding ever since the adoption of the preferntial tariff. The returns also indicate that British exporters are more than ever determined to take every advantage of the trade opportunities offered by the Dominion. During the year Canada imported from Britain goods to the value of $95,094,914—a gain of $17,448,914 over 1906. Notwithstanding the geographical advantages of the United States, British trade with the Dominion is now growing at a relatively more rapid rate than the import trade from the republic, or, for that matter, any other country. Our imports from the neighbouring country last year showed an increase over 1906 of $19,121,993, but a large proportion of this was made up of coal and raw material which we cannot secure so advantageously from any other source. As a matter of fact, the comparison between British and United States trade in Canada is by no means as unfavourable to Britain as one would be led from a superficial reading of the returns to suppose. During the past ten years the sales of British goods and products in Canada increased from $29,412,188 to $95,094,193. This is in large measure due to the fact that British exporters are devoting greater attention to Canada as a market for their goods, as a result of the substantial tariff preference which Canada gives to goods of British manufacture.—London Advertiser.

A NEW CURE FOR RUPTURE

New Scientific Appliance Always a Perfect fit-Adjustable to any Size Person-Easy, Comfortable Never Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads-Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses-Made For men, Women or Children

I Send it on Approval-you Wear it-if you are not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order, send it to you, you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible person in Marshall will tell you that it is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethlehem, Pa. writes.

"C. E. Brooks Esq., Dear Sir,— I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and it is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of my body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance. Jas. Britton."

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me to-day and I will send you my book on Rupture and its cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no flies. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price.

A SUGGESTION TO THE POLICE FORCE

Citizens Think That a Plain-Clothes Officer is Needed in the City.

The plea for a more adequate police protection for this city has been raised by several of the citizens, and it has been suggested that an officer on the force be put into plain clothes and do detective work. The opinion is held that the policeman, when following up a man, is greatly handicapped by his uniform. The man suggested to take up this work is the popular police officer, Mr. S. Newhall, who has shown much detective ability since he has connected himself with the local force. It is thought that if this officer were allowed to travel in civilian clothing, many crimes that yet remain unearthed would be brought to light, and the city would be kept clean from all infamous resorts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Provide a Pleasant Evening.

A very pleasant evening was spent last night at the residence of Mr. John Martin, 10 Lafayette avenue, when, with Mrs. Martin, he was "at home" to about fifty of his friends. One of the enjoyable events of the evening was a dance, which everybody delighted in. Games formed a part of the evening's entertainment. Refreshments were served at midnight and the party broke up at an early hour this morning.

TEMPERANCE ADDRESS WAS GIVEN LAST NIGHT

At the Weekly Prayer Meeting at Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church was held last night and there was a large number present. The pastor, Rev. H. M. Manning, occupied the pulpit and chose for his subject, "Temperance." In his discourse he thoughtfully explained what he considered to be the evil results derived from the sale of liquor, and was very strongly in favour of prohibition.

PICTURE OF FIREMEN IS FINISHED

On Exhibition in Roy's Studio—Admired By Those Who Have Seen It.

Another interesting picture has just been completed by Mr. R. M. Roy, and is on exhibition at the studio. It is a large picture of the fire brigade. The firemen, twenty-one in number, were taken individually and with Chief Rutherford are arranged in the picture with care and a pleasing effect. There are besides five pictures of the rigs. In the centre is one of the fire hall with all the teams and waggons in front. In each corner is the picture of the four waggons, taken separately. The steam engine, hose waggon, chemical engine and extension ladders, with the horses and drivers, are represented.

The picture is one which the firemen may be proud of and is another example of the splendid work that the Roy studio is accomplishing.

CARDINAL GIBBONS ON PROHIBITION

An Impossibility in a Large Community, He Says.

New Orleans, Feb. 20.—(Special.)—Cardinal Gibbons is quoted in an interview on prohibition in this city as saying: "I am persuaded that it is practically impossible to put prohibition into effect in any large community. The best means, therefore, to promote temperance, is to limit the number of saloons by high license.

"I would be in favour of inflicting severe punishment on the proprietors of saloons who violated the law, in the first instance, and in the second instance of violation I would withdraw the license altogether.

"In the country places I would suggest local option as an excellent means for the repression of intemperance, if, in the judgment of the majority of the voters, the sale of liquor should not be entirely eliminated.

"Laws like prohibition that are certain to be violated had best not be made, for incessant violation draws down on them disrespect."

MANY ATTENDED THE PILL POUNDERS AT-HOME

And Enjoyed the Light Fantastic For Several Hours.

The popularity of the Pill Pounders, particularly in their ability to provide a pleasant pastime, was in evidence last evening at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, when a record gathering was in attendance. The function was a delightful one from beginning to end and certainly reflected credit upon the young members of the Pill Pounders' Club, who arranged it. The dance began about 9.30 and lasted until after three in the morning. At midnight dainty refreshments were served and during the whole evening the wants and comforts of the guests were admirably attended to by the druggists,

ADVENTURE OF A $1000 DIAMOND

Lodges in a Girl's Hair in Manhattan And Falls Out in Jamaica.

GEM FELL ON THE FLOOR

New York, Feb. 20.—(Special).—A diamond said to be worth $1,000 fell to the floor in the house of Mrs. Ida Rowan, at 61 Pinetine street, Jamaica, L.I., while Mrs. Rowan was brushing her daughter's hair the other day. The girl's name is Lady Ida Rowan. She is eighteen years old and works in a diamond polishing house in Manhattan. Who the diamond polisher neither Lady Ida nor her mother would say, it being against the rules of the house. But they just couldn't keep from telling about the remarkable adventure of the diamond.

The girl was at work in the polishing room of her employer's place, as she tells it, when she felt something hit her head. She thought somebody had thrown a paper wad at her and paid no attention. That evening Mrs. Rowan was brushing her daughter's hair, which is so long and heavy that the girl can't do it herself, when the gem fell to the floor and sparkled in the lamplight.

Mrs. Rowan says Lady Ida's consternation was so clear that she just put the diamond in a drawer and went on to the party which she was preparing for when the discovery was made, and had just as good a time as if nothing so extraordinary had happened. Next morning they wrapped the $1,000 sparkler in tissue paper and a cloth and sewed it on the inside of the girl's dress. Then with her heart in her mouth Lad Ida started on the precarious rush hour journey to Manhattan.

When she got to the office she saw signs posted up telling that the diamond was missing and urging everybody to make a careful search. Lady Ida went right to the manager, who was pretty much upset by the loss, and handed the gem to him. No doubt of the truth of her story was expressed. Subsequently the girl learned that the diamond had flown from beneath a setter's mallet as she was passing his bench. She didn't know then that the stone had disappeared.

She says she doesn't want to think what might have happened to her if somebody in the store had seen the diamond in her hair.

SNOW PLOW OUT WEST OF THE CITY

C. P. R. Making Strenuous Efforts to Keep Open the Line.

The C.P.R. had snow-plows out all day yesterday and early this morning working in the deep cuts between Myrtle and Peterborough, where it has been snowing pretty heavily. It is a bad piece of line when the snow comes, and the company is determined if possible to prevent any repetition of the bad tie-up of ten days ago.

Snow fences have been erected along stretches of the various line where there are also many deep cuttings.

The trains, while running fairly well on time, had quite a coating of snow upon them when they pulled into Peterborough last night.

The Poisons Must Be Removed

FROM THE SYSTEM—BOTH KIDNEYS AND BOWELS ARE RESTORED TO ACTION BY

There three ways, and three only, by which the system can be rid of poisonous waste matter, the bowels, the kidneys and the skin.

The bowels are named first, because on them falls the greater part of this work, and so long as they do do their duty there is seldom trouble with the kidneys, or skin, as excretory organs.

When the bowels fail, however, and become sluggish and constipated there is work thrown on the kidneys which they have no business to do, and which they cannot do for any length of time without becoming deranged.

Now, there is only one medical treatment which recognizes this condition of affairs, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This is, so far as we know, the only kidney medicine that regulates the bowels as well as the kidneys, and thereby removes the cause of trouble, and cures the most complicated cases.

You can scarcely find a case of kidney disease that did not begin with liver and bowel troubles and which could not therefore have been prevented by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont. states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were very sharp, like a stab with a knife, and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Thousands of people are ready to testify to the superiority of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, as a cure for kidney troubles. The reason of their efficiency is found in their action on the Liver and Bowels, as well as the Kidneys.

BIG THEFT OF DIAMONDS.

During Robbery From Jewelers' Store In Crowded Thoroughfare.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 20.—A $15,000 diamond robbery in broad daylight, in the heart of New Orleans, with hundreds of persons passing at the time, was perpetrated here yesterday afternoon at the jewelry establishment of M. Waldhorn & Co., Conti and Royal streets. Two men drove up in front of the store in a buggy. One of them alighted and smashed one of the large plate glass windows in the front of the store.

He quickly seized two trays filled with diamonds and, jumping back into the buggy, was driven off. A large crowd started in pursuit, but the men, buggy and horse were soon lost to sight in a cloud of dust in the old French quarter.

The proprietors of the jewelry store say the trays contained 112 diamond rings.

SALVATIONISTS ARRESTED.

Infant Found With Throat Cut—Mother's Curious Dream.

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 20.—Ensign and Mrs. Robert Booth, in charge of the Salvation Army post here, were held by the coroner yesterday, accused of murdering their 2-weeks-old son, who was found dead in their bedroom with a fearful gash in his neck.

Booth contends that the child was murdered by an unknown person, who left the door open and a bloody razor on a table. The wife tells of a dream during the night, that she was attacked by a snake, which she killed with a knife. The police have a theory that the woman killed the child in a fit of puerperal insanity. The mother is 18 years old.

ELEVEN MEN INJURED.

Explosion of Economizer Attached to Boiler in Power House.

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 20.—Eleven men were injured, one probably fatally, by the explosion of the economizer attached to one of the boilers in the new power house of the Hamilton corporation, a cotton manufacturing establishment in this city yesterday. Another man, Thomas Kenelly, a rag collector, was run over by a fire engine that was responding to the alarm, and was badly injured. The explosion caused an extensive property damage and throws out of employment more than 600 operatives.

Is British Fleet Coming?

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 20.—Halifax is much interested in a report current here that a large British fleet will spend some time in this station during the summer, and while the Marine and Fisheries Department here know nothing of the matter, the British Admiralty is steadily increasing its reserve supply of coal and coke at the dockyards.

There is now over 7,000 tons of Welsh coal and coke belonging to the Admiralty at the dockyards, and an Admiralty collier, the Camperdown, is due here next month with a large cargo of Welsh steam coal.

Anglo-American Treaty.

Washington, Feb. 20.—A treaty providing for a joint commission to adjudicate what are termed minor claims between the American and English Governments, as well as between citizens of each Government has been drafted, passed upon by the State Department, and delivered to Ambassador Bryce for the consideration of his Government. It was explained yesterday that it was the intention to provide for the disposal only of existing claims, and not such as may arise in the future.

Won Race For Son's Life.

Charlottetown, Feb. 20.—Fraser Macdonald of Hampton was attending a temperance meeting on Monday night when he received word that his house was on fire. He ran a mile to the burning building, and entered just in time to save his adopted son, a nine-year-old boy, who was asleep alone in the house. He had just snatched him from the bed when it was buried under bricks from a falling chimney.

The dwelling was totally destroyed, with a loss of $1,500.

Verville Must Pay.

Montreal, Feb. 20.—Mr. Alphonse Verville, M.P., must pay Mr. Mederic Martin, M.P., $900 damages, besides costs of a suit in the Superior Court and court of King's Bench, according to a decision handed down by the latter court. The suit was entered by Ald. Martin shortly after his election to the House of Commons, in reply to remarks anent his candidacy by Mr. Verville, who was supporting the labor candidate.

Rescued by Firemen.

Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N.Y., Feb. 20.—The old colonial mansion in which the family of Admiral Farragut lived during the years of the civil war, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Of late the house has been occupied by Charles Gruen and family. Mrs. Gruen and her two children were rescued from an upper window by firemen after escape by the stairways had been cut off. The loss was about $10,000.

MAY PURCHASE THE OIL TRUST

Germany Anxious to Start Government Monopoly.

WOULD COST $18,000,000

But Profit Would Be Over $10,000,000 Annually — Imperial Treasury Department Is Considering Possibilities—May Take Over Standard Oil Co.'s Business—Monopoly In Alcohol to Be Included.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—The Imperial Treasury Department is considering the possibility of a Government petroleum monopoly. No decision has yet been reached, but experts continue to study plans for the taking over of the Standard Oil Co.'s business in Germany as well as that of its Russian and Roumanian competitors.

Baron Von Zedlitz, leader of the Free Conservatives in the Prussian Diet, who has made a special study of the subject, says the empire would have to make an initial outlay of $18,000,000 for oil plants, tanks, tank steamers and cars, but that yearly profits of from $10,000,000 to $12,500,000 could be expected. The baron is of the opinion that the Government could deal successfully with the probable refusal of the Standard Oil Co. to supply crude petroleum at a reasonable rate, and he thinks the requirements of the Government in American oil would be supplied by the Texas rivals of the Standard Co.

Experts have found that the oils of Roumania, Galicia and Russia cannot be used successfully with the burners generally employed in Germany without a considerable mixture of American petroleum; consequently the projected monopoly must include the buying of over 200,000 tons of American oil a year.

A state monopoly in alcohol is also under consideration.

Scalded to Death.

Soo, Ont., Feb. 20.—William Goddard, an employe of the Veneer Mill of the Lake Superior Corporation, was so severely scalded that he died from his injuries in the hospital.

Goddard worked at the mill but ten days, and, according to officials there, was running a machine within the mill. For some reason he went out into the yard where vats containing scalding steam and wood alcohol vapor heated to great intensity are located. In some manner unknown he slipped into the entrance to one of the vats, through a hole 24 by 36 inches. He was in the vat 30 seconds. his screams bringing assistance from the mill, and he was taken out at once. It was found that he had been fearfully scalded to the waist, and the seriousness of the accident was at once realised. He was removed to the hospital with all speed.

Deciding Stoessel's Fate.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—The court which has been trying Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel for the surrender of Port Arthur to the Japanese, retired for deliberation at noon yesterday, ordering Gen. Stoessel and the defendants in the court-martial proceedings to appear Feb. 20 at 11 a. m., when sentence is expected to be pronounced.

Sentries have been stationed at the doors leading to the judges' room, which has been provided with beds, etc., indicating that the judges anticipate a considerable struggle in reaching a verdict.

Determined to Break Law.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—A new phase has developed in connection with those charged with the breaking of the Lord's Day Act, which, it appears, may cause even greater trouble than before.

The declaration of the defendants is that every case convicted will be appealed to a higher court, and if nothing can be done there, the defendants will go on as before and settle themselves by paying a weekly.

Another Drowning Mystery.

Patchogue, L.I., Feb. 20.—A mystery which may never be solved was disclosed yesterday, when the body of a young woman was found floating on Long Island Sound at Mattituck. From the fact that the body was clad in garments of light texture, it is believed that it had been in the water for several months. It is believed that the woman committed suicide by jumping from the pier steamers which ply the sound.

Deakin on the Empire.

Melbourne, Feb. 20.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Deakin, presiding at the Imperial Federation League, said a closer yet freer relationship of the Empire was desired. It was necessary to be ready for any great emergency. An analysis of the respective tariffs showed the Australian preference to Britain equaled the Canadian. Moreover, other countries shaped the advantages of Canadian intermediate tariff.

Postal Savings Banks.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Senator Knox introduced a bill in the Senate yesterday to establish a system of postal savings banks.

The bill embodies the plan outlined by the Postmaster-General in his annual report and authorises the Postmaster-General to establish a system of postal savings banks composed of such money order offices as he may designate for that purpose.

The money was spent by the mayor when attending the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities at Winnipeg in 1905.

Fair Play For the Jap.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 20.—The Seattle Chamber of Commerce yesterday addressed a memorial to President and Secretary Root to the effect that its members believe that a majority of the people of the Pacific coast are not in favor of any immigration law that will treat differently the people of Japan from the way the inhabitants of any European country are treated.

Grandmother Was Sued By Her Elderly Lover

Remarkable Breach of Promise Case in London Court---"Cupid and Common Sense," Said The Judge---Aged Woman Changed Her Mind About Matrimony.

Examiner Special

London, Feb. 20.—The unusual spectacle of a man of 60 suing a grandmother for alleged breach of promise to marry was seen in the King's Bench Division in London this week, the plaintiff being Mr. Walter Lazarus Phillips, a surgical operator, of Brondesbury Villas, Kilburn, and the defendant, Mrs. Flora Goodman, a 58-year-old widow of Sutherland avenue.

The jury, after an absence of twenty minutes, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, damages £50.

The lady having paid 100 guineas into court, judgment was entered for her, with an order for the payment out of the £50, and it was directed that she should have the costs after payment in court.

The case came before Mr. Justice Darling, and Mr. Vachell, K. C., in opening for the plaintiff, admitted that there was not much sentiment in it. It was purely a business matter.

Mrs. Goodman's first husband had been a costumier, and left her a furnished house and £1,000 a year for life. She had also a private income of £400 a year.

While staying at Bournemouth last year she met a Mr. Marks, who was an old friend of hers and also a friend of the plaintiff. She gave Marks to understand that if she could meet a man of deeply religious disposition, she might be disposed to try marriage once more.

Didn't Take Long

Mr. Marks, counsel said, ran over the names of the persons with whom he was acquainted, and who were deeply religious.

It did not take him long, counsel added, amid laughter, and the name of the plaintiff was mentioned. Marks afterwards introduced him to Mrs. Goodman. They subsequently met at Mr. Marks' house and had an earnest conversation, and then, counsel declared, the defendant took Mr. Marks aside and said "He will do." In the course of conversation with Mr. Marks she told him she would settle her house on the plaintiff and make him an allowance.

When he next met Mrs. Goodman a pretty touching scene took place in the words of Mr. Vachell:

"The lady took him by the hand and said, 'I know what you have come for.' She then kissed him and said, 'Now we are engaged.'" (Loud laughter.)

Message on Matchbox

After this, counsel's statement went on, there was the usual round of delirious joy. The plaintiff made some valuable presents to the defendant.

She, on her side, although much richer, was not equally generous. All she gave him was a match-box bearing the legend, "In me (then a representation of a match) you'll always find."

A letter from plaintiff to "My darling Florrie" was read:

"I have been very miserable not seeing you. I trust to the good Lord you are well. My darling, don't make any schmacks with me. Can I be of any assistance?—Your ever affectionate and faithful Walter."

"Schmacks," explained counsel, meant "Don't stand on ceremony with me."

The letter was followed by hieroglyphics, which counsel said might be Hebrew characters, and might be kisses.

Notice of the marriage was given to the registrar, and defendant prepared her trousseau.

She went away with her granddaughter to Herne Bay and as she did not write in English her granddaughter wrote:

"Dear Mr. Phillips — Grandma and myself arrived here safely. The weather is glorious down here.

"With fondest love and kisses from dear grandma and self, yours very sincerely.—Josephine Goodman."

The fact that the kisses came from Josephine as well as grandma—remarked Mr. Vachell—somewhat took the edge off the charm of them. Another letter was more satisfactory. The "fondest love and kisses" came from grandma only.

Arranged For Wedding

On May 16, counsel added, the couple attended at Paddington Registry Office and made arrangements for the marriage on May 28 at St. John's Wood Synagogue. A wedding ring was bought, but while she was fitting it on Mrs. Goodman said she had seen a physician, who had felt her pulse and said she must not get married. She told plaintiff that she should go to the seaside, and on her return would marry him privately at her own house.

A few days later he received a letter from Dr. Jones stating that Mrs. Goodman's illness had been caused by the excitement and worry of the marriage, and that the subject should at once be dropped.

On the day after the date for which the marriage was fixed, the plaintiff called at the defendant's house, and the only explanation she would give was that she was very much worried by her relatives and could not marry. She then handed him a cheque for £25, apparently with which to pay him off. He said this was an insult, and the present action was brought.

Mr. Phillips confirmed his counsel's story of the affair, and was then cross-examined by Mr. Shearman, K.C.

Were you in love with this lady, or was it only a matter of money?—No, it was not.

But which was the main object—love or the money?—It was that I would have a comfortable home and a good wife for the rest of my life.

Did you bring actions against a man named Joseph and a man called Davis for commission for introducing marriages?—One.

Do you carry on the business of introducing people?—No; but when I am out professionally I may ask about marriages.

I see that in your list of the expenses to which you say you were put is the purchase of "one dozen underwaists and pants." She did not wear them?—No; but I would not have wanted them but for the coming marriage.

Monstrous and Ridiculous

Mr. Shearman for the defence said the action was a monstrous and ridiculous one, and called Mrs. Goodman, who said that Mr. Marks mentioned the plaintiff as a respectable man and a religious one. She explained that she could not entertain expectations from her, as she had children and grandchildren to keep.

She denied taking the plaintiff by the hand and kissing him, saying "We are engaged." She admitted the engagement, but said she never did anything more than ask him to wait owing to her illness.

In cross-examination, Mrs. Goodman said that she did not ask Mr. Marks to invite the plaintiff to her house, because he came himself.

I suppose he came, and was there only "on appro"? Did you love him?—Yes. Ladies love not like a man: they love truly.

Mrs. Goodman denied that she told the plaintiff she was "worried by her family." The cheque for £25 was drawn out by her grand-daughter, and was meant for him to get fresh air with.

Dr. Jones gave evidence as to defendant's illness at the time of the engagement. He advised her against marriage in May, 1904.

Mr. Lyttelton, addressing the jury, said he thought they could hardly have sat there so long without thinking they were at a theatre listening to the production of "Cupid and Common Sense." Counsel might distribute the parts between them as to which was Cupid and which Common Sense.

The above verdict was then returned.

PROSPEROUS PAPER TOWN

The Paper Mill Has Built Up The Community—United States Timberlands Not Inexhaustible.

THE WORK IN GRAND MERE

Grand Mere is one of the most flourishing little towns in the Province of Quebec, with a population of about 5,500 people, and a business activity far greater than that of many towns of much larger size. This prosperity is due almost entirely to the operation of the big paper mill which is the centre of the town's industry. It may at first sight seem incredible that one paper mill should be able to establish and build up such a community; but those who understand how many men are employed about a large paper mill, how much is spent in wages, and how much it costs in general to make a ton of paper, will not be astonished. The Laurentide Paper Company which operates the mill at Grand Mere employed last year during the summer months, 1,075 men. During the winter it employs 975 men. Much of their work is skilled labour, and the total sum paid in wages and salaries last year amounted to about $620,000. Account must also be taken of the number of men employed indirectly by the Company as contractors, jobbers, and workmen. These would average about 1,800 a year.

Now, one can see why Grand Mere should be such a flourishing little community. The big mill goes on steadily day in and day out. The men can always depend on having plenty of work, for the demand for paper goes on ever increasing and the output of the mill is always raised. A paper town is always a prosperous one, and Grand Mere is certainly no exception to the rule. The activity at the mill means great activity everywhere, amongst store-keepers and hotel-keepers and all business men of the town. Even in religious matters the general prosperity shows itself, and the people of the town are now bringing to completion a $120,000 Catholic church.

And what is the real foundation of all this prosperity? Just 100,000 cords of pulpwood a year, only a small part of all the wood that goes down the St. Maurice in the season. But this wood is manufactured here in Canada, while all the rest goes to bring prosperity to American mills and cities, leaving little or nothing where the wood was grown.

American Forests

The timberlands of the United States are far from being inexhaustible, as is sometimes supposed; and in fact those who are familiar with forest condition there express grave fears early exhaustion. A striking instance of this is given in a recent report on the timber supply of the United States by R S Kellogg, forest inspector, who calls out in warnings to Americans that the end of their timber resources are in sight. He says: "No one who is at all familiar with the situation doubts for an instant that we are rapidly using up our forest capital. In fact, it is unquestionably safe to say that our present annual consumption of wood in all forms is from three to four times as great as the annual increment of our forests. Even by accepting the highest estimate of the amount of timber standing we postpone for only a few years the time when there must be a great curtailment in the use of wood if the present methods of forest exploitation are continued." He goes on to point out a mirral for Canadians when he says of outside sources of supply: "With the exception of importations of small quantities of high-class woods like mahogany, the only promising source is Canada; but most of the timber there will be required at home."

Easily Undersood

In spite of the immense extent of the American forests, there exhaustion is not at all hardt to understand when one considers the great demands made upon them. Rapidly as the population of the United States has increased the lumber consumption has increased still more rapidly. The above mentioned report states: "In round numbers, and allowing for incomplete reports, the lumber cut in 1880 was 18 billion feet; in 1899, 29 billion feet; and in 1906, 35 billion feet. The increase in population from 1880 to 1900 was 52 per cent., but in lumber cut 94 per cent." At this rate it is no wonder that even new American forests are unable to meet the demand on them, and that Americans should be turning to Canada for their supply. But Canadians should consider that if Americans have lost their forests they have at least used the wood to develop splendid industries, and that this country has now the opportunity of doing likewise if it takes the proper advantage of its chances. There is no time to be lost for even now large sections of timberland in the Eastern townships have been stripped without any adequate return.

"TRIAL BY JURY"

After the pepper-and-salt frivolity and tinsel-and-sawdust tameness of much of modern comic opera music, the melodious prettiness of the rollicking music of Sullivan comes like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land, and if only produced by amateur performers, it cannot lose its unique character and robust texture of humourous and vivid musical and harmonic colouring. The dramatic cantata, "Trial by Jury," of Sir Arthur Sullivan, sparkles and flashes in both score and libretto from beginning to end. Its musical and dramatic capacity was very creditably demonstrated at its presentation last night in the hall of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music by a remarkably efficient cast and chorus, under the direction of Mr. Gliddon. He made capital use of the material at his disposal, which responded most creditably to his training. The soloists were all good singers, with intelligent musical and dramatic appreciation of their parts. Miss Carrie Reesor, soprano, as plaintiff, and Mr. J. Harry Scriver, defendant, in the delightfully ridiculous breach of promise suit, which forms the motif of the cantata, acquitted themselves with especial vocal credit. Mr. W. Mellroy, as judge, sang and acted his part capitally, and Mr. Vernon Morphet, as counsel for the plaintiff; Mr. Mortimer Johnson, as usher, and Mr. W. Allan, as foreman of the jury, distinguished themselves by a very creditable rendering of the work assigned them. Miss Reesor's evenly sweet and tuneful soprano was heard with delightful effect in her solos, especially "I Love Him." Mr. Scriver sang with judicious dramatic intensity, "I Smoke Like a Furnace." The chorus was well balanced and sung with good tone and excellent attack. The concerted gem of the evening was the sextette and chorus—"A Nice Dilemma We Have Here."—the climaxes being well worked up, the ensemble robust, without harshness, and the singing, as a whole, of admirable spirit and intelligence. While Mr. Gliddon's conducting was most creditable, the response of the chorus was also admirable, and both leader and chorus deserve great praise for the really good work done throughout the evening, which made the cantata, as a whole, worthy of the hearty reception and unstinted applause it received during its presentation, from the large and, with good reason, delighted audience. The costumes and "make-ups" and the stage settings were excellent and appropriate, the chorus—in the female line—pretty and picturesque, the hall was tastefully decorated, and the whole affair was a pronounced success. The accompaniments to the cantata were furnished with praiseworthy correctness and sympathy by the Conservatory orchestra, consisting of—violins, Miss Julia Choate, premiere; Miss Irwin, Miss Sanderson, Miss Wallis, Miss McCarthy and Miss Doris; Miss Grace Taft, pianiste; Mr. Louis Mendel, flautist, and Mr. Wood, cornet.

Preliminary to the cantata a very pleasing musical programme was presented. The orchestra opened with an excellently performed selection. Miss Pearl Lundy sang with fine finish and expression "The Slave Song," Teresa del Riego. Mr. J. Harry Scriver's robust tenor was used to excellent advantage in "A Dream." Both singers were heard with great pleasure, and compelled to respond to recalls. Miss Julia Choate, violiniste, with an established reputation as an artist, gave with great success an Allegro by Ten Have, not a heavy composition, but one requiring, for the satisfactory performance it received, a large command of agile technique of virtuoso quality. The double stopped passages in the second movement were beautifully played. For the inevitable encore, Miss Choate gave a fine interpretation of a Perceuse by Joeslyn. Miss Grace Taft deserves especial mention for her splendid work as accompanist.

Taken as a whole, "Trial by Jury" resulted in everybody concerned, individually and ensemble, "acquitting" themselves in a most meritorious manner. The crowded and delighted house present last night should be duplicated to-night, when the entire programme will be repeated, with the added advantage of last night's performance equivalent to half a dozen ordinary rehearsals. "Trial by Jury" certainly made good last night, and another crowded house should reward the enterprise of All Saints' choir, under whose auspices the entertainment was given.

WEATHER TOO COLD FOR CATTLE

This morning a local cattle buyer stated that owing to the cold weather he could not bring a car of cattle from Lakefield to the city over the G. T. R. ENNISMORE ROAD WAS VERY HEAVY

T. A. S. Club Had an Enjoyable Time as Guests of St. Martin's.

The T.A.S. Social Club had a hard road to travel in going to Ennismore. Two bus loads left the city after half past six o'clock and Ennismore was not reached until after nine. However, St. Martin's T.A.S. with Rev. Father Fitzpatrick as supervisor, provided a most enjoyable time which compensated for the difficulties of the drifts on the highway. A pleasant social time was spent with luncheon afterwards and an impromptu entertainment.

The return trip was begun at two o'clock and at five o'clock the party arrived in the city. The roads were reported in bad condition the drifts being frequent and deep.

One of the features of the evening was a step dance by Mr. Daniel Cushing of St. Peter's and Mr. Wm. Clough of St. Martin's, who danced to Mr. P. Kane's rendition of "Haste to the Wedding." It was the star event of the evening.

FAT FOLKS FAVOUR

Home Mixture That Takes off the Fat Rapidly—Causes No Wrinkles—No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Exercise

Too much fat is both uncomfortable and dangerous, but usually fleshy people prefer to put up with its inconvenience rather than punish themselves with the tiresome exercising usually prescribed, or endanger their health by taking the so-called "cures" and patent fat "reducers."

This self-sacrifice of comfort and health to overabundant fat is entirely unnecessary however, as Mrs. Luella Bigger tells us there is a home receipt that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week without even causing wrinkles. Moreover it does not disturb the stomach but is a good thing for the system, clearing away pimples, and, best of all, it does not interfere with the diet. You can use it and at the same time eat whatever you like. This receipt is as follows: 1-2 ounce Marmola; 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 4 3-4 ounces of Syrup Simplex. Get these ingredients at any drug store, mix them together at home and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Mrs. Bigger, as is well known, is a famous beauty expert, and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently satisfactory.

THE ROYAL ALEXANDRA PLAYERS

One of the most theatrical and social events of the season will occur when Royal Alexandra Players present Sardou's great play "Diplomacy" at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday, Feb. 25th. The company comes direct from the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, where it is recognized as one of the greatest dramatic companies ever organized. Of the production of "Diplomacy" the Toronto World says "The company that made its debut before a Toronto audience last night is one of exceptional ability and fully sustained the expectations with which it was received. It has been carefully selected and the result is shown in the artistic completeness without which such a play as "Diplomacy" would lose its chief charm. Miss Darragh, whose role of Contesse Zicka, the Russian spy, carefully afforded sufficient scope for her powers in an artist of remarkable delicacy and refinement and so managed her unpleasant part as to create sympathy and leave regret. Miss Jane Marbury, as Dora, upon which the contesse has cast the shadow of her crime, won a deserved success in her part, displaying emotional capacity of a high order. Miss Ida E. Valentine and Miss C. Tower, who sustained the minor roles, gave excellent support.

Mr. William Sauter who took the leading part of Captain Beauclerc, it once created a very favourable impression, which deepened steadily until the curtain fell. His art is natural and unaffected, and if full of intensity when the situation requires it. Mr. David Glassford played with distinction as Henry Beauclerc; Mr. Ivan Simpson, as Count Orloff, a Russian patriot; Mr. Ernest Stallard, as Baron Stein, and Mr. Graham, as Algie Fairfax, gave entirely satisfactory interpretations and the other roles were suitably filled.

LOCAL PEDESTRIANS HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY

Chief of Police Rossel desires to inform the city drivers, and emphatically too, that pedestrians have the right of way on the city streets. This morning a driver of a delivery sleigh at the corner of George and Hunter streets in drivin gat a too rapid rate around the corner almost ran over two men on the crossing. When his attention was called to the carelessness he inquired, "why they didn't get out of the road."

Now the Chief wants it thoroughly understood that pedestrians have the right of way in preference to drivers and that the latter must stop their horses when there is any danger in the way. This is issued as a warning to drivers and the Chief states that he intends to prosecute all who neglect their duty to pedestrians in this respect.

Kokomo Woman Gives Fortune

To Help Women Who Suffer.

In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women.

Some time ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.

More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world, who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for a while longer, at least.

This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their own homes after doctors and other remedies failed.

It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumors or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and pain from any cause, no matter of how long standing.

Every woman sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now, without delay, will receive by mail, free of charge, a 50-cent box of this simple home remedy, also a book with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer and how they can easily cure themselves at home without the aid of a physician.

Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B. Miller, 6012 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

MR. TULLY SHORT OF ADJECTIVES

When Describing the Rapid Growth of Medicine Hat,

Mr. J. A. Tully of Peterborough, Ont., representing the Oddfellows' Relief Association of Canada, was in the city last week and ran short of complimentary adjectives when attempting to express his wonder at the growth of Medicine Hat since the occasion of his last visit two years ago. He said that while he knew Medicine Hat was coming to Medicine Hat in the way of prosperity, yet he was totally unprepared to see such evidences of progress as were evidenced by the many new big business blocks, the Bank of Commerce, City Hall, postoffice, club houses, car barns, sewers, etc. The ugly fly in the ointment of Mr. Tully's delight was occasioned by the fact that such a story of growth could not be realized when related by him down east. The society which he represents benefitted materially by his presence in the city, the number of new members secured being gratifyingly large. —Medicine Hat News.

WHO WAS THE HASTY SCRIBE?

Ex-Pupil of the Collegiate Wants To Know—Was It Insulting?

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I noticed in a late issue of your widely-read paper an account of a recent meeting of the Philomathian Society. Now, who was responsible for the write-up. I am unable to say positively, but I would wager it was someone who occupied a high position in the said society. If so, it was a hasty and altogether unreasonable action on his part and should call for a goody vengeance from his comrades. The report of the conduct of some of the students is very insulting, not only to the students themselves, but also to the entire school. And moreover, it could not have been correct as the critic (a teacher) paid the school a hearty compliment on the manner in which the members aided and supported the programme.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space and hoping this epistle will strike home.

I remain,
EX-PUPIL.

MOTION FOR THE PAPERS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Makes Explanation—Government Willing to Receive Overtures — Changes in Suburban Postal Service—Montreal Turnpike Trust—Increase in Bonus For Immigrants.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Most of the afternoon yesterday in the House of Commons was taken up with the resolution of F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) suggesting entering into negotiations with the Province of Quebec for the abolition of toll roads on the Island of Montreal, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier skillfully amended it by declaring the duty lay in "receiving overtures," and the House divided on straight party lines. Nearly all the speakers addressed the House in French.

Mr. Ames was told that the Government, by order-in-council passed Jan. 6 last, had increased the bonus to continental booking agents of immigrants from Europe. The bonus is £1 per adult and 10s. per child. The rate has been 10s. per adult and 5s. per child.

Mr. Monk offered a resolution "that it is the duty of the Government to enter into negotiations with the Government of the Province of Quebec with a view to removing all obstacles to the abolition of tollgates on the roads of the Island of Montreal."

The discussion then went on in French, Messrs. Monk, Brodeur, Ethier, Boyer and Rivet taking up time till the division, which resulted in the adoption of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment by 108 to 53.

Sir Wilfrid accepted the second resolution calling for an enquiry.

Col. H. A. Ward (Durham) moved for copies of papers in relation to the conviction of Frederick Blunden for cattle-stealing at Macleod, Alberta, in 1904. This, said Col. Ward, was a gross miscarriage of justice, evidence having come to the North-west Mounted Police that Blunden was innocent. What was asked was not a pardon, but, in view of new evidence, a new trial, which the people of the district were confident would result in his acquittal.

Mr. Aylesworth said the case of Blunden was one of many in which interference with the action of the courts was asked. He reviewed the circumstances of the trial and renewed his objections to the proposal to bring down papers which ought to be held to be confidential. The Minister added that if the motion was so amended as not to include documents of the confidential character, he would have no objection to its adoption.

R. L. Borden asked if reports of judges were considered confidential to the extent that they couldn't be brought down to the House, because he recalled the case in which the judge's report was made public. The case was that of a boy in Colchester County, N. S., who shot a pedlar, was given a fair trial and convicted. On an affidavit prepared for him by his counsel, setting forth that the shooting had been accidental, the lad was released without further enquiry.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that in capital cases the judge was obliged by law to make a report, while in minor cases, such as that under discussion, the judge made his report by request. The Prime Minister pointed out that in the Shelburne case the utter absence of motive gave irresistible force to his affidavit.

Mr. Herron of Alberta put in a strong plea for a new trial, and the motion for the papers carried as amended.

Mr. Reche, on adjournment, gave notice that at the first opportunity in the House he will offer a resolution condemning the appointment of "Thin Red Line" Leach as distributor of seed grain.

In the House of Commons last evening Mr. F. D. Monk moved the following, supporting it with a speech dealing with suburban postal delivery about Montreal:

That in the case of cities where a free mail delivery is established, such free mail delivery should be extended to all contiguous districts, which though situate outside the municipal limits proper, are immediately adjacent thereto, so as to render such delivery easy of execution; and that it is particularly desirable to apply such a system in the vicinity of Montreal, where a dense population and large industrial interests, situate outside the municipal limits, but in reality forming part of the city for all practical purposes, are entitled to such free delivery.

Mr. W. F. Maclean (South York) hoped with the hon. member for Jacques Cartier (Mr. Monk) that the Postmaster-General would take up this matter of extending the rural mail delivery around the cities of Toronto and Montreal at least, and if there are any other cities similarly situated, that they will be treated in the same way, because municipal bounds do not necessarily limit the business that is concentrated at our cities. The city is always larger than its municipal bounds, especially now that factories requiring large areas for their works, and that large bodies of workingmen are gathered around these factories. These districts ought to be provided with the same postal facilities that are enjoyed by the people of the city proper.

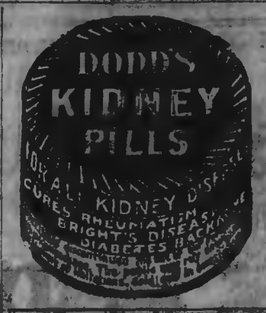
Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier: Mr. Speaker, I have to express my regret that my hon. friend the Postmaster-General (Mr. Lemieux) is not in his seat to give my hon. friend (Mr. Monk) the answer to which he is entitled. I know that the question of improvements in the distribution of mail matter is in the hands of the Postmaster-General and that he has contemplated some changes in that direction. If he were here I do not know how far he would take exception to or agree with the resolution of my hon. friend, but I think that he would not be disposed to take any very serious objection to it because, I think, the resolution of my friend from Jacques Cartier expresses what is already the practice of the Postoffice Department. However, before the session is over, the Postmaster-General will, I think, submit a new policy to the attention of Parliament, and by means of which he intends to improve the postal facilities which now exist.

Motion agreed to and debate adjourned.

Seed Situation In the West.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—G. H. Clarke, Dominion seed commissioner, told the agricultural committee yesterday ing that the losses in the west through the bad season last year were practically confined to 12 per cent. of the farmers between Port Arthur and the Rocky Mountains. The majority of that per cent. had put all their eggs into one basket; in other words, had followed the idea of grain-growing, to the exclusion of everything else. There was enough seed wheat in the west to enable the purchasing there of all that was required for the sections in need of it. Seed oats would have to be imported in considerable quantities, and he mentioned Britain and Prince Edward Island as the places whence the most of it would come. He predicted that it would be found to be of excellent quality. Mr. Clarke, however, suggested the advisability of every farmer in the west testing barley and oat seed before planting.

An interesting result of the investigation into the needs of sections of the west respecting grain was an educative propaganda through the press and the Department, which had tried to reach every farmer in this way, and which could not fail to have a beneficial effect on future farming.



ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Short Session Yesterday — Petitions Against Three-Fifths Clause.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Many of the members having gone to Guelph to visit the Ontario Agricultural College, only 22 were in their seats when the Legislature opened yesterday afternoon. All the Ministers were present, excepting Hon. Mr. Monteith and Hon. Dr. Reaume. The Opposition consisted of two, led for the time by Richard Harcourt.

Hon. Mr. Crawford opened the House in due form, but the business consisted of the reading of a half dozen petitions against the three-fifths clause in the local option law. Hon. Mr. Foy presented one such petition from the Metropolitan Methodist Church. Hon. Dr. Pyne presented two petitions, one from the Simpson avenue Methodist Church and the other from the Royal Templars of Temperance.

W. K. McNaught gave notice of a bill to amend the Assessment Act.

Extend Local Option.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—Further extension of local option and the abolition of the bar were the chief features of demands made upon the Government yesterday morning by a large deputation, comprising many representatives of churches and public bodies in Winnipeg and throughout the province.

When Premier Roblin forecasted vigorous measures to anticipate the sentiment of the province on bar regulations, he was cheered vociferously by those present. Crowded galleries and hundreds of citizens packed into them bore testimony to the deep interest with which the subject is regarded by the general public. The great majority, not only of the Government, but also of the Legislature, were present.

Government Will Give $300,000.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given notice that to-morrow he will move the following resolution: "That it is expedient to provide that the sum of $300,000 be expended for the preservation, in a suitable manner, of the historic battlefields of Quebec, in connection with the tercentenary of the said City of Quebec."

This practically assures a contribution of $400,000 towards the scheme, as the Provincial Government has promised a grant of $100,000.

MAN LAY DOWN IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Let Train Run Over Him Rather Than Be Deported.

HAD BOTH LEGS CUT OFF

Died of His Injuries In Half an Hour —Irish Immigrant Wanted to Stay in Canada—Escaped From Train But Was Pursued—Tragic Occurrence on the Canadian Pacific at Sharbot Lake.

Smith's Falls, Feb. 20.—The body of a stranger, an Irish immigrant from Toronto, it is said, lies in the public ward of the hospital here as the result of a tragic occurrence on the C. P. R. at Sharbot Lake yesterday morning at 4 o'clock.

The man was one of a dozen immigrants being deported, and was in a tourist car along with the others in charge of a guard. It seems he was opposed to going back to the old land and had resisted deportation in every possible way. At Sharbot Lake station he walked out of the car and made an attempt to escape by walking up the track. Some of the men about the platform had noticed him going off, and when an enquiry was made for him, they made known the fact. Immediately the train was backed up the line in pursuit and soon came within sight of him. When he saw the train bearing down on him he lay down on the rails evidently being more willing to die than to continue his journey back to the place from which he had come. Before the train could be stopped the wheels of the last truck of the big Pullman car had passed over him completely severing both his legs close to the body.

The poor fellow was picked up and brought to the Smith's Falls hospital, but died in half an hour after reaching here. He regained consciousness for a few minutes just before he died, but refused to talk.

The man was about 38 or 40 years of age, and on some of his clothing there was the name McCartin.

Motorists In a Snow Storm.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—A despatch to The Tribune from Michigan City, Ind., says: Paul Picard, in the pilot car sent out by the Chicago Motor Club to meet the New York to Paris racers reached Michigan City Tuesday afternoon after two days and a night spent in fighting the terrible roadways of Northern Indiana. The last seven miles were made through drifts in the face of a blizzard which almost shut from view the trees and fences along the roadside. Mr. Picard returned to Chicago, convinced that further travel was impossible until the storm has passed.

John Banta, driving the Chicago Automobile Club pilot car is still fighting on. He is less than five miles from where he was Monday night.

Japan Is In Earnest.

Tokio, Feb. 20.—(C.A.P.)—All evidence goes to prove the Japanese Government has been unsparing in its efforts to avoid further complications on the emigration question, but has to face a powerful opposition from the emigration companies, who are now behind a proposal to move a resolution in the Diet censuring Hayashi's policy towards China, United States and Canada. Should the resolution be introduced it would probably be defeated by a narrow majority. Its passage would entail the resignation of the Cabinet.

Are You a Member of a Union?

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 20.—Liberals, Socialists and two Government supporters, one the Minister of Education, voted in favor of a bill to make it illegal for an employer to ask the question: "Are you a member of a union?" The bill was defeated by a majority of nine. It was aimed to prevent the introduction into the province of western American methods. The Government regarded it as unwise and ineffective.

In Conference With Bryce.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Lord Grey, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Ambassador Bryce and C. C. Gibbons, chairman of the International Waterways Commission, had an interview yesterday at the Governor-General's office, when some of the important features of the commission were discussed.

The report of the Canadian section for the past year is ready for presentation to the Minister of Public Works.

ONLY A Common Cold,

but it becomes a serious matter if neglected. Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh or Consumption is the result. Get rid of it at once by taking Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep and often effecting a permanent cure."

Mrs. C. Townsend, Lockport, N.S., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of my experience with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I was troubled with a cold and severe cough all the time, and very severe spells of Asthma. The doctors did all they could for me, but could only give me relief for a short time. I happened to see your medicine advertised and purchased three bottles, and it gave me great relief, and I do not cough at all. I do not know how to express my gratitude for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for me."

Will The Football Team Go To British Columbia?

Trip Will Be Undertaken If They Receive Financial Assistance—Should Make a Good Showing.

ADVERTISE PETERBOROUGH

The Quaker football team held a meeting last night at which all of last year's senior team was present, and all expressed their desire to travel westward in search of the People's Shield. The Quakers, however, have one drawback—that of obtaining the necessary finances.

The People's Shield as was explained by the letter appearing in Monday's daily will be competed for in the month of April and all teams—eight in number—must play in British Columbia. The regulations governing the contests explains that after expenses for the grounds, medals, etc., are deducted from the gate receipts the remainder will be divided among the various teams competing pro-rata to their travelling expenses.

The Quakers have therefore not much opportunity to break even on the trip by accepting alone their share of the net proceeds and unless some financial assistance is received from Peterborough it is not probable that the westward journey will be taken.

Have a Good Name

As far as their ability as footballers is concerned there is no doubt. The team has won for the past two years the championship of the Midland League by their superior skill over competing teams. Winners, therefore of the Midland League trophy for two years in succession without the loss of a single game deserve, with good cause, the support of the citizens. The team is picked from all Peterborough and this year will be even stronger than ever on account of the return of old players and the coming to the city of new.

There is little doubt that should the Peterborough team undertake the journey they would bring fame to their native city and would aid in the advertisement of Peterborough to a material extent.

The conclusion the team reached last night at their meeting was that if the desirable financial support could be obtained, Peterborough would be represented in the games for the People's Shield in April. Without that assistance the proposed jaunt across the continent would be impossible.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

At the Request of the Review Their Defeat is Deferred One Day More.

GAME A WEEK FROM TO-DAV

We have horrible news to break to an alarmed and startled world to-day, nothing less than the announcement that the Review-Examiner game has been postponed. However, there is no necessity for heart failure, inasmuch as it means only twenty-four hours more of suspense, and the game will be played on Thursday, instead of on Wednesday, of next week. The game has been postponed for one day at the urgent request of the Review, who earnestly pleaded for one more day of grace. It is suspected, however, that the real reason is that the Tory management is endeavouring to have the game postponed in order to afford a chance for "Miss" Crane to get her new gown over from Paris

The great press game will be played on Thursday night of next week between 8 and 9 o'clock under the auspices and for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society. The admission fee will be only ten cents, and there will be an hour's skating after the game. The small sum of one dime will give you the opportunity of seeing the classic hockey event of the season.

You don't have to go to the locks for them, either. A few people in the city read the Review.

The Review intimates in its delicate way in connection with our Limericks that our muse limps, and our meters is sadly out of gear," in both of which particulars they resemble both the Review hockey team and its manager.

Last night's Review contained a thrilling tale of adventure, in which a horse laid down on the street for ten minutes. We have known the Review hockey team to "lay down" for much longer than that.

The Review is taking a strong stand against professionalism. They even have an amateur editor.

There is a rumour that "Dinnie" Dobbin of the Review team is in Toronto for the purpose of securing players for the press game.

The latest MacRae parody is to the air of "Honey Boy." It runs something like this:

Dub MacRae, you know your feet are freezing,
Dub MacRae, you hear the people teasing,
When you go skating, skating at the rink, Dub MacRae, Dub MacRae.
And if ever you should take the notion
To try to handle the puck in motion,
Never fear, somewhere near, There'll be a casket waiting, waiting for you, Dub MacRae.

The writer of the "Rosebud" items in the Review should try to add to the reputation of the advertising department of that paper in marrying the girl himself.

The temperance tendencies of the Review will be severely strained with two hot Scotch-men on the line-up.

Highlander Scott, the Review's latest recruit, has already developed a bad attack of cold feet. If the Review management does not establish an isolation hospital at once and get what's left of the team away from infection they will have to default. The disease is spreading rapidly in the Review camp.

CHIEFTAINS ALWAYS ON THE VAN

Defeated South End Colts in Easy Fashion Last Night.

All teams look alike to Manager Jack Thirlbeck's Chieftains. Last night at the Brock street rink they took the South End Colts into camp by a score of 11—2 in easy fashion. The score at half time was 8—0 in favour of the Chieftains, while in the second half they scored three to their opponent's two. The red and black team let up in the last half and took things easy. Their combination and speed was too much for the losers, who, however, stuck to their task gamely. Charlie Ray refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows:

BELL MEN TIED THE SMILES

Quakers and Bell Telephone Played a Draw Game Last Night.

In one of the roughest and hardest fought games of the season the Bell Telephone Company and Quakers played to a draw at the Brock street rink last night. The hello team claimed another goal just before time was called but Referee S. W. Rose refused to allow it, and the official score was therefore two all. There was nothing to choose between the teams, and it was anybody's game at any stage. The Quakers were a trifle faster, but this was counterbalanced by the weight and hard checking of the Bell men. The players handled each other without gloves, and slashing, cross checking and tripping were frequent features. Rightmeyer was easily the best performer for the Quakers, showing lots of speed and stick handling well, while Wade was the best of the Telephone team, getting both their goals. Referee Rose was entirely satisfactory.

Following were the teams:

Quakers	Bell Telephone
Goal.
Smeaton (Callaghan)	Bruce

Callaghan (Smeaton)	H. Leitch

Heaslip	Burridge
Rover.
Rightmeyer	Wade

Summary:
1—Bell Telephone Wade,
2—Quakers, Hayes.
3—Bell Telephone, Wade.

4—Quakers, Rightmeyer.

CURLERS LOOKED GOOD IN BEGINNING

Lost Towards the End in Peterborough —Lindsay Cup Games.

The Lindsay Post says: According to announcement, four rinks of Peterborough curlers arrived last evening to play the opening game of the series enjoyed every season to decide the year's ownership of the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup. In the early part of the contest the visitors looked like winners, but the Lindsay men, true to their reputation as grand finishers, pulled ahead gradually and finished 17 up, thanks to the clever work of Skips Cuthbert and W. McLennan, the former finishing 14 up, and the latter 8 up. Skip Cuthbert had the rare satisfaction of pulling out an 8 end as the finishing touch to a well played game, but received the congratulations showered upon him with the modesty becoming an old curler who realizes that the element of chance is of great aid to a skip—occasionally.

On Ice No. 5, Skips J. C. Harstone and C. Frost had a stiff battle for the big end of the score. Mr. Harstone was playing a pair of strange stones, and this constituted a serious drawback at times, while his opponent was in fine fettle. Mr. Frost finished four shots up.

The game between Skips D. Davidson and Dr. Walters on Ice No. 3 was a well fought struggle from start to finish. The visitors stonned the ice at every end, and in the early stages ran up a good lead. To the reduction of this the Dr. and his men applied themselves with zeal. When the 20th and last end came to be played the Dr. was 4 shots down and managed to pick up 3. Score, 19-20.

Below are the players and scores:

Ten Years of Rheumatic Torture Had Sapped all Joy from Life, but South American Rheumatic Cure Proved the Life Nectar.

"For over ten years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism. I tried many remedies and was under treatment of best medical men, but nothing gave me any hope of a cure. I procured a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure; its effects on me were truly wonderful, for when I had taken but one bottle every pain and symptom of rheumatism had left me. I heartily recommend it." — W. H. Sherman, Morrisburg, Ont. (32)

ROUGH RIDERS TO PLAY KEENE

Good Junior Game at Brock Street Rink On Monday Next.

The Rough Riders have arranged a game with the Keene Trent Valley team here on Monday night next, commencing at 8.30 o'clock and the fans will see a great game. The R. R's are about the best junior bunch in the city, playing surprisingly good hockey. They held Keene down to a one goal victory sometime ago in the village ice box and on the big rink are confident of running away from the speedy Trent Valley seven. At any rate a good game will be the result and the fans who have not been following the juniors will be given a big surprise when they see the style of hockey dished up.

NORWOOD TO PLAY THE STRATHCONAS

The long looked for and much talked of game between the Strathconas and Norwood will take place at the Brook street rink on Wednesday night of next week, the arrangements having been completed last night. Ever since Norwood and the Strathconas met in the city league, resulting in a victory for the locals, there has been an argument over the respective merits of the two teams, many people think Norwood, who were the runners up for the championship the better team and next week's game will settle the vexed question. Norwood will have their strongest line-up on and are confident of defeating the Strathconas. They have cinched No. 1 Division of the Trent Valley League and are playing better hockey than ever. It will be the game of the season.

THE UNION OF NEWFOUNDLAND TO THE DOMINION STRONGLY URGED BY HON. A. B. MORINE AT CANADIAN CLUB

Magnificent Address Was Given Last Night by the Ex-Attorney-General of Britain's Most Ancient Colony Last Night.

ONE HUNDRED PRESENT

Strong Reasons Why the "Land of Cod and Dog and Fog" Should Be Taken Into Confederation—Address Was Most Entertaining

A most forcible and eloquent plea for the union of Newfoundland and her dependencies with the Dominion of Canada was made last night by the Hon. A. B. Morine, late Attorney-General of Newfoundland, in his address before the Canadian Club on "The Ancient Colony." Mr. Morine consumed exactly seventy-five minutes in discussing the subject, and a more interesting and profitable address has rarely been listened to by a Peterborough audience. Beginning with the history of Britain's most ancient colony, the speaker dealt in turn with its people, its resources, its climate and its scenery, and then in closing strongly urged confederation with the Dominion, discussing the proposal from the viewpoint of the Dominion. His entire address was a master-piece of eloquence, and the fact that Hon. Mr. Morine fairly bubbles over with patriotism and loyalty to the British Empire added to the pleasant effect on the members of the club, who had their eyes opened as perhaps never before to the extent and importance of the island that almost bottles up the St. Lawrence, as the speaker so aptly expressed it in the course of his remarks.

The occasion was the second meeting of the Canadian Club and was held at the National Hotel. About one hundred members of the club were present and the gathering was thoroughly representative of the professional, mercantile and manufacturing interests of the city. President F. D. Kerr presided very acceptably. As usual, dinner, served in excellent fashion, preceded the address of the evening.

Hon. Mr. Morine was received with hearty applause when introduced by President Kerr to the gathering.

He thanked the Canadian Club for the opportunity of meeting the representative people of Peterborough. Now that he had made his home in the Province he wished to cultivate a friendly spirit with its people. In order not to give a false impression the speaker stated that he was not a Newfoundlander, having been born in Nova Scotia, and was therefore able to speak of the ancient colony without prejudice.

The people of Newfoundland took pride in calling their country England's most ancient colony, while others styled it a land of "cold and fog and dog."

The Oldest Colony

Newfoundland was in reality the oldest colony of the Empire, having been settled before Canada was inhabited by the Europeans. On St. John's Day, 1497, John Cabot discovered the island, landing at Cape Bona Vista, and was rewarded with a gift of £10 from the King, which was afterwards increased to a pension of £20 per year.

The navy of England became powerful by the discovery of the incredibly rich fishing grounds of Newfoundland, according to an historian, and there was a well-established business in Newfoundland before the eastern part of the mainland was, in fact, discovered.

The population was about 250,000 the stocks from which they sprang being the English, the Scotch, and the Irish. The latter were the first to settle largely in the island. The English people came chiefly from Devon and Cornwall, whose inhabitants were the first sea rovers and the first pirates. The business was carried on principally by the Scotch people.

The Roman Catholic Church was the strongest numerically, with the Anglicans and the Methodists next. The educational system was principally on a sectarian basis which had some dis-

NOTORIOUS CRIMINAL WHO ATTENDED SCHOOL HERE NOW LODGED IN HAVANA PRISON

Edward Gahan Came Out From England to Attend Agricultural School—One of the Greatest Criminals of the Present Day.

HALF HIS LIFE IN PRISON

Edward Gahan, one of the most notorious criminals of the day, and a one-time resident of Peterborough, has been captured in Havana. Gahan was a student at the agricultural school in Douro, about the year 1867. The school was run by the late Mr. Dudman, who is remembered by some of the oldest residents of the city and community. A Toronto despatch referring to the renowned criminal says:

Served 33 years in prison — more than one-half his life—in England and Canada.

Sentenced to six terms, varying in length from 18 months to life.

Released from Canadian prisons three times before sentences were completed.

Pardoned after serving only ten years of a life sentence in Kingston Penitentiary for vitriol throwing.

The above are the outstanding features in the career of Edward Gahan, alias Graham, alias George Wilfrid, alias Rev. Herbert Preston, who is at present under arrest in Havana, Cuba and who is wanted by the Provincial Department of Criminal Justice, for forgery at Welland. Gahan is the same man who was convicted in Toronto away back in 1867 of throwing vitriol at Louis Sievert, a tobacconist, and disfiguring him for life. Since then he has been convicted twice, and has served nearly twenty years in prison. Upon his release from the Kingston Penitentiary last year he immediately started in crime afresh and he is now wanted in many cities in Canada and several of the Eastern States.

He is now 61 years of age and the charge upon which he is wanted is that of cashing a forged letter of credit at the Bank of Toronto in Welland, Ont., purporting to have been issued by the Citizens' National Bank, Baltimore, upon the London City and Midland Bank, London, in favour of Rev. Herbert Preston, and accompanied by the usual letter of identification. This happened in December last.

Operations in Toronto

The following shows Gahan's prison record as it is on file in the Detective Department in this city—

July 20, 1872—Convicted of forgery at Kent, Eng., sentenced to prison for 18 months.

Aug. 17, 1874—Convicted of forgery in Criminal Court, London, England. Sentenced to prison for 7 years.

June 28, 1880—Convicted of larceny From dwelling house in Chester, Eng. Sentenced to prison for 7 years.

Oct. 10, 1887—Convicted of throwing vitriol on Louis Sievert at the corner of King and Yonge streets, Toronto. Sentenced to Kingston for life.

May, 1897—Pardoned from Kingston penitentiary.

June 2, 1897—Convicted before Chas. Jones of forging the name of Hon. H. R. Doboll to a cheque for $150 at Quebec. Sentenced to St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for 10 years.

April 16, 1905—Convicted for forgery at Kingston, Ont. Sentenced to the Kingston Penitentiary for three years.

Vile Type of Criminal

Twenty years ago Gahan figured in one of the most sensational cases with which the Toronto police department has ever had to deal. At the corner of King and Yonge streets in the autumn of that year, Louis Sievert, who kept a cigar store, was attacked by a man, who threw a canister of vitriol over his face. Gahan was arrested and sent to Kingston Penitentiary for life by Magistrate Denison. The police were never able to find any motive for Gahan's act. As far as could be ascertained, he had never seen Sievert before, and Gahan himself was altogether unknown to Sievert. The police found out that he had prepared for the crime with deliberate intent and had the canister made to order, saying he was a painter and wanted it to hold colours. It is one of the strangest cases on record in the history of the department.

Air of Injured Innocence

In speaking of Gahan yesterday, Deputy Chief Stark said it was difficult to believe he had been successful in obtaining his releases from Canadian prisons. He was a very taciturn reserved type of man and looked upon sympathy or efforts to reform him as personal affronts. He wore a continual air of injured innocence and he preserved it under the most trying circumstances. He talked very little and was dignified in manner.

After he reached Cuba it was only a short time before he was taken into custody on the complaint of employees of the firm of Lawton Child and the Havana Bank in connection with swindles perpetrated by a man using then name of A. Cleveland Coxe. He gave his name as Geo. Wilfrid, of New York, agent.

Arrested For Swearing Outside The Police Station

Was Fined $2 Or Ten Days—Brings Assault Charge Against a Well Known Man—Says He Was Struck For Asking The Time.

WILL APPEAR TO-MORROW

As the Chief was sitting in his office this morning he was astounded to hear a violent torrent of profanity going on outside the police station. He went out and found Thomas Mahoney disturbing the peace in that vicinity and pulled him in. He appeared in the police court this morning holding a summons in his hand which bore information against a young Peterborough man.

"Thos. Mahoney, you are charged with swearing in a public place; are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty, your Honour."

The Chief took the box, and after giving his evidence Mahoney apparently changed his mind. He had been the worse of liquor which gave rise to his vile conversation.

After the Chief had finished his evidence the Magistrate asked Mahoney had he anything to say.

"Well, I have no hard feelings against the chief, but it's no wonder a man would swear when he was assaulted the night before."

"I fine you $2.00, to be paid forthwith or ten days in jail," said His Worship.

He did not have any cash on him so he started to get through with the assault charge before he went up on the hill. He dived into the box and waving the summons in his hand, asked His Worship if he could read English.

"Yes, and Irish too."

His Worship then asked Mahoney to swear his information was true. He picked the Bible up, kissed it on both sides and then on the inside.

He then wanted the Magistrate to feel the bump on his head but His Worship did not care to.

The case will come up to-morrow.

Mahoney states that he was standing outside an hotel last night when the young man and his wife came along. He asked the lady what the time was and then her husband, he says, struck him a blow on the head.

CITY WILL GO INTO MARKET BUSINESS ITSELF THIS YEAR

The Property Committee decided yesterday that it is advisable to have the city go into the market business on its own account, and if the recommendation of the committee is adopted by the council there will be no sale of the tolls and charges this year, but instead the council will appoint a market clerk to look after this work.

There were present Ald. Bradburn, chairman, Ald. Gillespie, Ald. Johnston and the mayor.

A notice from Chief of Police Rozel, in regard to a fire escape from the band hall was considered and it was moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the clerk write to the firm of Geo. B. Meadows, Toronto, asking for quotations on fire escapes for the band hall, first getting the necessary measurements from the city engineer.—Carried.

The clerk was instructed to write to T. Williams, to ask upon what terms he will renew the agreement respecting a dumping ground.

Ald. Gillespie moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the market tolls and charges be not sold this year, but that the city appoint a market clerk for this year to take charge of the market and collect the tolls.—Carried.

There Comes a Time

when letters blur, when lines run together, and reading becomes difficult, especially in the evening. This blurring is caused by the eye not being able to focus at the normal reading distance—thirteen inches.

The vision in the distance is as clear as ever, and this fact leads many to believe that glasses are unnecessary, but this is just the time when the first pair of glasses is needed. A continuation without glasses causes an undue strain on the muscles of the eye, and a dull headache is the result, a person gains nothing by going without glasses when they are needed. In fact they gain much by having glasses fitted when the first blur indicates failing vision. ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

WHERE CANADA EXCELS.

The recent financial flurry which affected Canada to a moderate degree —the tail of the cyclone that carried disaster into financial and, consequently, into industrial interests in the United States, demonstrated the superiority of the Canadian banking system. The collapse of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company and the evil brought to United States policy-holders thereby, illustrates the superiority of Canadian insurance laws and regulations over those of the United States. A despatch from New York tells of men who have been policy-holders for years, having found out that their insurance is swept away, all their long payments wasted and, that they are at an age when insurance cannot be effected, except at a cost quite beyond their means, not to speak of conditions of ill health having meantime supervened, making insurance impossible. The amount of hardship and suffering affecting perhaps millions of shareholders, carrying millions of insurance, rendered worthless in a moment, may be easily imagined. The collapsed company which has gone into liquidation, had a branch business in Canada, which carried some three millions of risks, covering the lives of thousands of policy-holders. On Monday in Toronto, an order was granted by Mr. Justice Mabee, for the winding-up of the Mutual Reserve Company in Canada. But the Canadian policy-holders will not lose a cent nor for a moment forfeit the protection represented by their policies. Thanks to the Canadian insurance laws and regulations, there is on deposit with the Dominion Government $205,000 for protection of policy-holders, and with the Toronto General Trusts Corporation $75,000 of the Company's money, which is available for the re-insurance of every policy-holder with a solvent Canadian company as well as to pay matured policies. The re-insurance will cost about $250,000, but not a cent to policy-holders. After meeting the cost of re-insurance and the payments on account of matured policies, meaning the complete protection of every Canadian policy-holder in the collapsed company, there will be $60,000 left to divide amongst the unfortunate United States policy-holders. These will owe what little fragments of salvage may come from the wreck to the prudence and foresight of the Government of Canada. Canada may be regarded by the United States as slow, but it is sure and it excels in protecting the financial interests of the public as exemplified in the superiority of our banking laws and insurance laws. In Canada loss to depositors by the failure of a bank is practically impossible and it is equally impossible for a policy holder in an insurance corporation, to lose his insurance through the suspension of a company, the Government deposit required from every company providing for re-insurance with a solvent institution.

FANCY AND FACT.

After trying to show by the logic of a school boy that the Dominion Government's withdrawal of seventeen millions from the banks for the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and the tying up of four and one-half millions by the fall of the Quebec bridge—this is school girl logic—were the cause of the little pinch of financial stringency that came to Canada, the Review sagely says:—

That is why the Government of Ottawa is blamed and ought to be blamed. In violent contrast with this is the foresight of the Whitney Government which manages the great Temiscaming and North Ontario Railway, and its other public enterprises with consummate foresight and without the loss of one dollar.

On the very day on which this brilliant corruscation of wisdom scintillated on the editorial page of the Review, a despatch comes from Cobalt telling of the holding of a meeting—the largest public meeting ever held in Cobalt—to strongly protest against the mis-government of the Whitney Government, and a motion was unanimously adopted declaring for the separation of New Ontario from the older part of the province.

At this meeting there were speeches made by the most prominent men of the place. One speaker denounced the unfair course pursued by the Department of Mines and the object of the new mining bill was condemned in no gentle terms. Another condemned the management of the T. & N. O. Railway in not providing freight shelter, thus compelling freight to remain outside in snow and rain. Still another speaker declared that "through the gross ignorance and mis-government of the rulers of the province" capital was not only frightened out of it but was afraid to venture into that region, and the mining and other industries were "lying flat." A clergyman gave a stirring address on the lack of sanitary conditions around the T. & N. O. Railway station and other places on the line. Other speakers dealt with other misdeeds of the Government and their callous attitude to the grievances of the northern part of the province, one declaring that the railway—managed, according to the bombastic dictum of the Review "with consummate foresight"—"was a pump line to draw money out of the district in every shape and form." The general spirit of the meeting was one of discontent and revolt against the Whitney Government whose misgovernment had made and maintains intolerable conditions—so intolerable that separation from Old Ontario was demanded, the motion to this effect being carried in the immense meeting unanimously with the exception of a solitary dissenting voice.

The historic "Cecil" White, barrister, a former Conservative member for South Essex, and a mighty preacher of annexation to the United States, was the only man to raise a whisper on behalf of the Government, and even he damned the government with faint applause, admitting that the Whitney Government was arbitrary in its treatment of new Ontario. He couldn't deny that the meeting had cause for indignation and the most he could do was to plead for giving the Government another chance.

In the time of the Ross Government, which the Conservatives condemned so strongly, there never was any mis-government and neglect of duty, to justify a demand for separation. But under the Whitney Government, with all its "consummate foresight," conditions of mis-government have become so serious and persistent that we have as recorded in another column, a demand for separation and the setting up of a new province, in order to escape the blessings of Whitney Government misrule. This is the second time the people of New Ontario have broken out in revolt—at widely separated points. If our contemporary had had some of the "consummate foresight" which it attributes to the Whitney Government, it would not have made fancy fly into the face of fact as it has done in the ridiculous manner cited above.

THE SECESSION CRY AGAIN

Autonomy Still the Ambition of New Ontario—Meeting Declares in Favour Of a New Province.

ONLY ONE DISSENTS

Cobalt, Feb. 18th.— The secession agitation received a new lease of life Friday last, when the largest public meeting ever held in Cobalt carried, with but one dissenting vote, a motion favouring the formation of a new Province in Northern Ontario. The meeting was held at the Opera House, with Mayor Long in the chair, and a number of prominent men of the district made strongly secessionist speeches.

Colonel R. J. Gordon pointed out the inconsistency and unfairness of the course pursued by the Department of Mines in dealing with the interests of the Northern Districts. Facts and figures were given in support of the speaker's contentions and great amusement and surprise were caused by the speaker's reading a number of resolutions in regard to government by order in Council fathered by the present Minister of Mines and R. R. Gamey at a meeting held in Sudbury in 1900. The speaker contrasted the avowed principles of that time with the recent practices and gave various instances of the unfair treatment accorded northern interests. The object of the new mining bill to be brought in by the Minister of Mines was condemned in unmeasured terms.

Major McKee followed, giving the experience of various interests in the districts in the attempt to get fair treatment from the Provincial Government. The speaker called in question the honesty of expenditure on the T. & N. O. road, and asked why a road that would be well paid for at thirty thousand dollars a mile actually cost the Province twice or more than twice that amount. No great portion of the twelve million dollars were spent for building station or freight shed accommodation at Cobalt, where car loads of freight were piled out in the snow and rain at the side of the track, while thousands of dollars were wasted in other places.

Milton Carr said the treatment accorded shippers and merchants by the Government Railway was nothing short of scandalous, and the line of steel was a pump line to draw money out of the districts in every shape and form. To add to the disadvantages the railway was exempt from suit for lost freight or other damages, unless allowed by law, which was prohibitive in the case of a poor man losing his freight. The country was being bled to death with imposts of all kinds, and the worst features of the whole thing was that owing to the autocratic consiscation and insecurity of title, capital was not only frightened out of the country, but was afraid to venture in, and the mining industry and other industries were lying flat through the gross ignorance and misgovernment of the rulers of the Province.

E. P. Rowe asked if our relations would be changed with the Federal Government regarding Crown Lands, etc., in the event of division of Province? Mr. Rowe scored the present Government and accused them of laxity in regard to the many grievances of the people of New Ontario.

Mr. Solomon White, barrister, while admitting that the Government was arbitrary, being a former Conservative member (for South Essex,) advised the meeting to wait awhile and give the Government another chance.

Quite a number of working men were present, and their arguments were listened to very attentively. President McGuire of the Cobalt Miners' Union in a short address contended that he was opposed to the present state of existing affairs as between New Ontario and Old Ontario, in so far that in his candid opinion old Ontario is and has been exploiting New Ontario. Mr. McGuire asserted that all representatives in the Legislative Assembly should be called upon to hand in their resignations as soon as it was found that they failed to carry out their obligations to the people.

The resolution suggesting a separate Province was carried almost unanimously, only one dissenting vote being registered. A representative committee was selected including members of the press. An Executive Committee will be named at the next meeting to be held in about one week in different districts all over New Ontario.

FATHER'S ECZEMA AFFLICTED CHILDREN

Mr. Chas. Noble, of 375 Colonial Avenue, Montreal, the assistant chief operator of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., and several of his family have been cured of eczema by Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm. He states the facts as follows: "The disease started in the back of my hands in the form of small sores and eruptions. These were very irritating and when rubbed and scratched turned into very painful sores. I tried waters, lotions and salves, but the disease continued to spread and so I consulted a doctor. He treated me for a time, but still the disease spread and I got no relief. Then to my alarm the eczema spread to several of the children. The pain and irritation in all our cases was very great, and we were very much disheartened as all we tried proved unavailing. Zam-Buk was recommended and I obtained a supply. I tried it first on a small patch of the eczema, and this showed so much improvement that I was convinced Zam-Buk would do good if persevered with, and therefore obtained a supply. Each application greatly relieved the itching, pain and soreness, and it was not long before the eruptions and sores dried up and disappeared. In a few weeks from commencing with Zam-Buk every spot was removed."

"The children who had also taken this disease were treated in the same way and have each been cured. Unlike all other preparations used, Zam-Buk seemed to search to the roots of the evil and it was really surprising how quickly the sores were healed. In my case and that of my children the cure was most effectual and permanent as it is now some months since we were cured, and there has been no sign of any eruptions or sores returning."

Of all druggists and stores 50c. box or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co. Toronto. No home should be without Zam-Buk.

"TRIAL BY JURY"

The second presentation of "Trial by Jury" at the Conservatory of Music Hall last night was a most unqualified success from every point of regard. There was again a large audience and the cantata went through with a splendid swing—absolutely without a hitch—the first presentation serving as a most valuable rehearsal, and giving all the performers, both cast and chorus, a confidence and sureness which contributed greatly to the fine success.

The musical programme so excellently given on Wednesday night, was repeated with the same participants achieving a similar success. Two notable additions to this part of the evening's entertainment, were represented by a duet, splendidly sung by Miss Reesor and Mr. McIlroy, "O Dry Those Tears," to which Miss Julia Choate contributed the violin obligato with her usual artistic success. The duet was heartily re-demanded. Mr. Mortimer Johnson sang that sterling old solo "The Old Black Mare," in so excellent a manner that he had to respond to a recall.

The presentation of "Trial by Jury" was a great musical as well as financial success, and those who took part in it, as well as their capable trainer and conductor, are entitled to a very large degree of credit.

At the conclusion of the performance last night Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon entertained the company of performers at light refreshments.

UNION OF NEWFOUNDLAND WITH DOMINION URGED advantages, although the great interest taken in the schools by the clergy had been of great benefit.

The Resources

Speaking of the size of the island, Mr. Morine stated that Newfoundland had an area of 42,000 square miles, and its resources were fishing, lumbering and mining.

The fishing consisted of cod-fishing for the most part and there was an annual business done of from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000. The island was very rich in mineral resources especially in iron ore. There was also a large copper output, which was carried across to England to be treated. There was not much large timber, but vast tracts of spruce suitable for paper manufacture exist. There were no large tracts of arable land, but scattered all over Newfoundland was good soil, vegetables and grains, being raised in sufficient quantities for the population. It would never be able to export agricultural products.

The cod-fishing was divided into three classes—the inshore fisheries, the Labrador fishing, and the Banks fishing. The first was the largest and most profitable industry, the fishing being done within a few miles from the shore. To the landsmen the work would appear very dangerous, but the hardy Newfoundlanders thought nothing of it, and when they are caught in a storm at sea would say, "This is a wild night for those on land."

Seal Fishing

Mr. Morine briefly described the Labrador and Banks fishing, the latter of which was shared in by American fishermen as well as by the people of Nova Scotia. Herring fishing on a large scale was also done. The seal fishing was referred to by the speaker as an unusual and interesting business in which between 250,000 and 300,000 hair seals were captured every year, being used to make leather and seal oil.

To the people of Labrador the speaker paid a high tribute. They were not as well educated as the people of Ontario, but they were an intelligent, moral, God-fearing, law-abiding, church-going folk, who would compare favourably with any on the face of the earth.

The Climate

Speaking of the climate, Hon. Mr. Morine remarked that tourists would find it delightful with the exception of the spring, when the islanders are afflicted with the cold breezes from the northeast. The winters were warmer than in Ontario and the summer cool and healthful. He advised the members of the club to spend their summers there, promising an abundance of fishing and of enjoyment. The scenery was remarkable, not so much for its beauty as for its rugged grandeur, which would stand comparison with that of Norway. There was grandeur on every side, the coast rising five or six hundred feet above the ocean, while the interior was an elevated plateau, covered with small lakes.

Labrador, the strip of land running for one thousand miles along the coast of British North America, and which is under the control of the people of Newfoundland, was described by the speaker, who expressed the belief that it was decidedly rich in mineral wealth. The people of Canada should not consider it worthless because it was useless for agricultural purposes, and instanced the case of Alask, asking how much Canadians would be willing to pay for that portion of North America now.

Urged the Union

Hon. Mr. Morine concluded his address with the question of the union of Newfoundland to the Dominion, and his arguments were received with applause that indicated that his sentiments were those of the gathering. He pointed out that Newfoundland, from its position blocking the St. Lawrence, would be decidedly disastrous to Canadian trade in the event of coming into the possession of a rival power, for instance, the United States. The foreign trade would be paralyzed were such a thing to happen, and he advised the securing of the colony before too late.

The fishery disputes were explained at some length, and the speaker incidentally approved of the modus vivendi of the British Government. He pointed out the immense advantage in having the fisheries under one control, governed by one department, and for the good of the whole Dominion.

By taking Newfoundland into the confederation the population of Canada would be increased by 250,000 of the best people on earth, which, as the speaker pointed out, would be far more appreciated and serviceable than the scourings of Europe.

The proposal to join the confederation had been defeated at the polls in Newfoundland in 1869 because the people were suspicious. They knew what they had and did not know what they would get from the Dominion, being misled by some of the politicians.

In conclusion, the speaker once more in eloquent terms urged the union of Newfoundland with Canada, saying that much could be accomplished in this by the cultivation and encouragement of a national spirit.

Hon. Mr. Morine's speech was frequently punctuated with applause and his remarks aroused great enthusiasm.

Mr. D. D. O'Connell, in a particularly eloquent and effective speech, paid a graceful tribute to the speaker of the evening and incidentally supported the union of the ancient colony with the Dominion, in moving a vote of thanks to the Hon. Mr. Morine.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles briefly seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously, and after a few words in reply from Mr. Morine the meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

The officers of the club are to be congratulated upon securing such a splendid speaker and such an interesting subject. It was a treat that will be long remembered.

Local soccer men will be interested in learning that the formation of a sub-committee for Association Football is under consideration. The name of Mr. J. F. McPherson of Toronto has been mentioned in connection with this sub-committee. The Toronto authority would probably receive a hearty endorsement from Bill Murphy, of Fall River, Mass., whose tour the final-named arranged last spring.—Montreal Herald.

Itching Eczema's Cause and Cure

THIS DREADFULLY TORTURING AND OBSTINATE DISEASE IS ENTIRELY OVERCOME BY

Eczema is common to rich and poor, old and young, and is neither contagious nor an indication of uncleanness, as some suppose.

Teething, improper food, indigestion vaccination, poisoning by clothing or from ivy, etc., are named among the causes.

There is inflammation, redness, heat, swelling, discharge, formation of crust and all the time annoying, troublesome itching and burning, which often becomes so torturing as to be almost unendurable.

This ever present itching is what makes eczema so dreaded, and it is this feature to which Dr. Chase's Ointment gives relief from almost the first application.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is not only delightfully soothing, but is a wonder as a means of healing the skin. It is not long before the raw, itching sores are thoroughly cleansed, the itching subdued and the process of healing begun. Persistent treatment will then break about a thorough cure.

This great ointment is always beneficial to the skin, making it soft, smooth and velvety, and, besides being the most effective treatment known for the cure of eczema, is useful in every home in a score of ways.

Mr. Hiram Fray, Norwood, Ont., states: "I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left.

'My little daughter two years old has also been cured of eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to be."

Mothers use Dr. Chase's Ointment for the chafing and skin troubles of their babies in preference to unsanitary pore-clogging powders; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

President Leary Is Optimistic Over The Fair Prospects

Refers To Formation of Poultry Association—Depression Is No Drawback to the Farmers.

FUTURE FOR THE FARMER

Toronto, Feb. 21.—(Special).—It is the opinion of Mr. William Laidlaw, president of the Fairs and Exhibitions Association of Ontario, that the standard of the fall fair has not yet reached the point desired in an agricultural country.

"There are fairs and fairs," said Mr. Laidlaw yesterday, at the close of the first session of the annual meeting of the association. In the 250 delegates present are some of Ontario's most prominent agriculturists.

"At the present time," continued Mr. Laidlaw, "there are a good many fall fairs which lose sight entirely of the educational side. They go in for horse racing and other attractions which cannot be classified as belonging to agriculture. These fairs live to a considerable extent upon the assistance they receive from towns or villages in which they are held—donations of money or goods which can be used as prizes."

"What do you think is the future of the fall fair?" he was asked.

"That is a hard question," he replied, "but I would like to think of a fall fair as fulfilling all the functions of an educator as reflecting the best that is in agriculture, and as being able to stand alone. It is such an object as that which we have in view."

Regarding Farm Labor

Turning to another phase of agriculture Mr. Laidlaw was asked how the farmer found himself with regard to help at the present time.

"Well, it is scarce enough," was his reply. "In a few more weeks there will be the usual spring demand for labour. The greater part of that which has come from the old country is inefficient, while quite a few of the old hands have gone to the towns. One of the great difficulties is that those who have come out from the old country have nearly all lived in towns and cities and to such farm work is distasteful. They don't like it and they seem to lack the ability to adapt themselves to it. There are some fine men among them, however. Generally, I think, the farmers will find things easier this year."

The Farm is the Place

"What is the thing the farmer is mostly in need of at the present time?" was asked of Mr. Channon, who comes from Victoria County.

"Money," said he, after a moment's hesitation.

"Has the depression bothered the Victoria county farmer?"

"No, I don't say that it has," he replied. "They all seem to be pretty comfortable."

"Do you think the farmer's son has his 'face set as firmly toward the city as ever?'"

"No, sir. I don't think he has," said Mr. Channon, quite decidedly. "The farmer's son is awakening to the fact that the farm is the place. The financial depression has helped to bring this about. Where is it possible for a smart young fellow to make good to the extend that he can in agriculture? The tide is turning, and you'll see that the farm will become a more attractive place than ever before."

"Better facilities, better education and improvements in the home life form a combination which is attracting the young men to the farms," said Mr. J. J. Murdock, of Haldimand, in reply to the question which had been asked of Mr. Channon.

Aid for Fall Fairs

"To what extent do you think the Government should help a fall fair?" was the question asked of Mr. Hector Gilchrist, president of the Puslinch Association.

"If I had my way of it," said he, "the municipality would be taxed for it, and then we would have a fall fair developed along the most approved lines. The public would also show a greater interest than at present."

"What is the fall fair coming to?" was asked of Mr. R. H. Leary, of Peterborough.

"Well, Peterborough's fall fair is going to be greater and grander than ever," he replied. "We have organized a Poultry Association, and its object will be to assist in making the annual fair a greater success than it has ever been.

"I could do more work with one hand than some of the help we get from the old country can do with two," said Mr. D. J. McLean, of Puslinch. The great difficulty, as he saw it, was that many of the newcomers had the idea on arriving in Canada that they were going to get rich quick. Disappointed in farming, they flock to the cities, and a good many of them there became helpless.

A Big Expenditure

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, corresponding secretary and superintendent of agricultural societies, stated that in 1907 there were 361 active societies, and that the total expenditure of all the societies in the province receiving grants was $700,107.25, of which amount $250,251.10 was paid out for purely agricultural purposes.

In his annual address Mr. Laidlaw suggested that the grants be apportioned so that one-third of the amount paid in prizes should be contributed by the Government and two-thirds by each society. He was of the opinion that the Government grant should be increased from $70,000 to $100,000.

Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, addressing the meeting last night, expressed regret that the social feature of agricultural societies had been dropped to a great extent. He intimated that the Government might increase the $1,000 grant for field crop competitions.

Brockville Man Murdered.

Brockville, Feb. 21.—News has just been received here of the murder at a little place called Fance, 20 miles from Florence, Wis., on the 3rd inst. of Patrick Campbell, a former resident of this town, who went to Wisconsin 25 years ago.

Campbell, who was 52 years old, was unmarried and resided alone in his log cabin on a farm of 40 acres. On the evening of the 3rd a Pole called at the cabin and demanded a night's lodging. Campbell did not like the look of the stranger, and told him so, whereupon the latter departed. A few minutes later, on going out, Campbell received the charge of a shotgun just as he was leaving the door.

Twelve hours later he was found by a neighbor in his hut, still breathing and conscious, and from a description given of the stranger the authorities arrested Paul Kaan, who is now being held.

He was a clairvoyant and fortune-teller, and acquired great influence over Mrs. Vyral, and it is claimed by the police that the couple, by means of arsenic, killed Martin Vyral, the husband of the woman, and four of the children, in order to obtain life insurance carried by the victims.

Mrs Vyral committed suicide when she heard she was about to be arrested.

Directors And Members Of The Y.M.C.A. Meet At Banquet

How to Better the Institution Was the Key Note of the Meeting---Mr. A. M. Copeland Delivered Address On The Y. M. C. A. Work---Members Present Their Ideas To The Directors----Discuss Introduction of Games Of Skill.

"The spiritual work must be uppermost."—Mr. G. M. Roger.

"The Y. M. C. A. waste true, honest men; those who do not need to be kept in continual restraint."—Mr. J. C. Shook.

"Entire re-organization is necessary; games of skill should be introduced."—Mr. E. M. Best.

"Most successful work of the Y. M. C. A. is centered around personality."—Mr. A. M. Copeland.

"Let every member get out and work."—Mr. J. S. Knapman.

"Provide the games of the public, pool and billiard rooms and bowling alleys. Better the environment of the Y. M. C. A. than the public hall."—Mr. R. E. Harding.

"It's false economy to seek for a physical director at a small salary."—Mr. W. D. Long.

Judging from the expressed sentiments of directors and members of the Y. M. C. A., at the banquet which was held last night in the gymnasium, the time is close at hand when a radical change will be commenced and a strong effort will be made to readjust the whole institution, in order to accomplish the successful work which the Association should do in Peterborough. Last night's assembly, for many reasons, was unique in the local history of the Y. M. C. A. The banquet was merely an incidental. The address of Mr. A. M. Copeland, secretary of the Provincial Association, was likewise of secondary importance. This is while giving Mr. Copeland just credit for his interesting speech, but the predominating feature of the evening was the earnest, free intercourse between members and subscribers on the one hand and the Board of Directors on the other, regarding the affairs of the local association. The best interests of the Y. M. C. A. was the keynote of all the speeches. Old and young, director and member, seemed to be imbued with the one idea that the institution was not doing itself credit, it was not securing the desired results and the question of how to successfully fulfil the purposes of the Y. M. C. A. was of moment to everyone who had gathered about the festive board.

The Banquet

Without proceeding further the social element of the meeting deserves recognition. The attendance was large, although not up to former years. The five long tables were appropriately set, the catering being the work of Coleman Bros. The following young ladies assisted in serving the courses: Misses McCoy, Kline, Lang, Wright, Middleton and Henderson. Mr. Copeland, the guest of the evening, was seated at the table d'honneur with the directors. The president, Mr. J. C. Shook, acted as chairman and toast master in a most complimentary manner.

After ample justice had been done the luncheon, the toast of the King was honoured, as customary.

The Provincial Association

To Mr. J. H. Connal fell the duty of proposing the toast of the Provincial Association. He welcomed Mr. Copeland to the city and referred to the assistance he had given the deputation from the local branch last autumn, when the directors were endeavouring to obtain a substitute secretary. On that occasion all doubts as to the lack of sympathy for the local Y. M. C. A. on the part of the Provincial Committee, were then removed. The latter had rendered valuable aid and Mr. Wright, whom they had selected, had quickly gained the favour of the Peterborough people.

Mr. Copeland's Address

"Peterborough," Mr. Copeland began, "is one of the fields of greatest possibilities in the whole province, and it has not yet attained its best results. The Y. M. C. A. was," he said, "in itself still quite young and its main purposes were not fully realized. However, it is growing very rapidly and while changes may be made, it will still carry out its original plans.

The Y. M. C. A., he said, was fundamentally a religious movement. In this respect it was immeasurably strong. As an example he cited the case of a large railway company in Chicago, which tried to provide associations for its employees, equipping them as best suited to appeal to men. However the company had met with failure and the capitalists connected with it had to acknowledge the practicability of the Y. M. C. A., whose strongest appeal was to the spiritual natures of its members, thus supplying that which the other association overlooked.

The successful work of the Y.M.C.A., Mr. Copeland said, is centred around personality. Men do not altogether want things, but persons. The fine buildings have no lasting charm to them. It is the magnetic characters of the men who are found in them. The building is an incidental, the man a necessity. Persons exert an influence over their fellows and it is men of this kind who strengthen the Y.M.C.A.

Its Adaptability

Proceeding Mr. Copeland said the Association must adapt itself to the various needs of its young men. The conditions in one city differ from those in another and to meet them the Y.M.C.A. must be fully prepared.

Referring to the Provincial Committee its chief duty, Mr. Copeland said, was to start associations in various towns something which demands care and foresight. Afterwards they must be guided through many devious ways and in this the wide experience of the committee is of help to the local association. It looks after united work in which combined effort is required. It has charge of arranging new methods in extension work and the various branches of the association's work. New movements under discussion are in behalf of the immigrants who place an obligation on the Y. M. C. A. by their presence here and the shanty-men, miners and construction men. There are 250,000 men at this work in Canada and while something has been done no broad movement has been yet inaugurated. Mr. Copeland then referred to building work of the Y.M.C.A. Six new associations have been formed, 6 others are assured while 8 that would have been that have been retained by co-operation and help from the committee. Before closing Mr. Copeland said that in Peterborough the Association must be made attractive by personality and material equipment. He wished the directors every success and said that this city should be put in a place of splendid leadership among the Associations on the American Continent.

Betterment of the Association

The next toast was the Betterment of the Association proposed by Rev. J. R. Webb.

Rev. Mr. Webb thanked the members of the association for the honour bestowed on him by the opportunity of submitting this toast. He said he believed in the deep interest and sympathy that the young men evidenced and felt that they possessed the necessary energy to carry out whatever they intended. The betterment of association depended in the first place on the directors. The new movement required a strong directorate. The means of bringing the young men from the streets should not be so much to go after them but to equip and provide the building in every manner that the young men will realize the advantages to be gained by becoming members.

Rev. Mr. Webb referred to the public rooms in cities which attract the young men but which are not surrounded by ideal conditions. He spoke of bowling alleys, and stated that a game of skill such as this is found in the associations in the larger cities, and games requiring skill met with the approval of the speaker.

Rev. Mr. Webb then referred to the duties of subscribers and members of the association. He urged both to do their utmost for the association. The personal touch was needed to strengthen the friendships among the members, and everyone should attempt to help their fellows by kindness and geniality of spirit.

Y.M.C.A. Stock

Mr. E. M. Best was the first to respond to the toast. The toast itself, he said, implied that there was need of improvement, and the acknowledgment of this condition showed the proper spirit. Mr. Best commenced by taking stock of the whole institution. The building, the gymnasium, the baths, the reading-room and parlours were first-class, although a few minor changes might be made. The boys' room needed rearrangement. The number of paid officers, Mr. Best said, should be increased, providing a physical director and boys' secretary. He next dealt with the directors, the subscribers and the members, referred to their duties, what they did, what they were doing, and what they should do.

More Games

He left nothing untouched. While all of his speech cannot be given, he especially urged an improved equipment. He made a strong appeal for the introduction of bowling alleys and pool and billiard tables. There was nothing wrong in those games, Mr. Best said; in fact, many private homes are found with them, especially in cases where they can be afforded. Young men will be found playing in the city pool rooms when they should be at the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. W. D. Campbell, speaking for the same cause as Mr. Best, said that

REV. J. R. WEBB,

One of the Speakers in connection with the Banquet.

very little had been left for him to deal with. He emphasized the necessity of uplifting the spiritual natures of the members. The physical development must not be forgotten, and Mr. Campbell urged that a good physical director be secured, and he asserted that it was false economy to obtain at less expense a man who did not possess the characteristics which are necessary to make an energetic and successful director. He supported Mr. Best's suggestion to secure games of skill, dealt with other matters he considered of moment, and emphasized that a new battle-cry of progressiveness should be raised.

Director's Reply

As one of the directors of the association, Mr. J. H. Connal favoured the idea of the introduction of games of would assist in attracting the men skill. There were many points in their favour. He believed they would help increase the membership, and would interest young men. They said would be one means of providing a pastime that is acknowledged generally as good amusement. Mr. Harding, also of the Board of Directors, replied to the statements of the young men. While he regretted the apparent retrogression of the association, he was pleased with the sentiments expressed, and was confident the Y.M.C.A. would take on a new life. He agreed with the recommendations of Mr. Best and Mr. Campbell. The games referred to offered no opportunities of cheating he said, and could not but be helpful to those who would participate in them.

Mr. Harding stated that the downtown pool-rooms could be conducted profitably, and there the environment was not of the best. By keeping the games out of the institution the boys only acquired sneaking propensities to visit the pool-rooms unknown to their parents.

Mr. Wm. Richardson also expressed his opinions on the conditions which require remedying.

Mr. Roger's View

Mr. G. M. Roger emphasized the spiritual side of the work. If a broad spiritual work were done, he said, the money necessary would come from the Christian public. The spiritual work must be kept uppermost. The equipment was necessary, he said, but it was not the first requirement. Commercialism must be kept in the background. Membership fees bring only one-third of the whole cost. The Y.M.C.A. must not be a sporting body, otherwise it would lose the public support. If the city and the churches become cognizant of the spiritual work then the finances will be forthcoming. In conclusion, he said the spiritual work had to go before equipment or anything else.

Mr. Ireland's vocal contribution at

MR. E. M. BEST,

Who spoke on the "Stock Taking" of the Y. M. C. A.

this stage was given a warm encore.

The Ladies

The last toast, "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. B. E. Bruce and responded to by Mr. J. E. Middleton, concluding the toast list.

During the evening Mr. J. Harry Scriver was heard in a delightful vocal number.

The accompanists were Messrs. W. J. McCann and K. Shook.

Health and Vitality for old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lessened. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy, which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

ANOTHER OLD SETTLER PASSES AWAY

Death of Mrs. Francis Sanderson in Smith Township Yesterday.

Smith Township has lost one of its oldest and most esteemed residents in the person of Mrs. Francis Sanderson, who passed away last night at 7.30 o'clock, at the home of her son, Mr. Frank Sanderson, Chemong Road. She was 86 years of age and one of the early settlers of Peterborough County.

Mrs. Sanderson's maiden name was Margaret Malcolm, and she was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada with her mother, settling in Asphodel. After her marriage she moved to Smith Township, occupying with her husband the farm on which her son, Mr. Frank Sanderson, now lives. She was a woman, active, energetic and kind. She lived to see her children, grand children and great grandchildren grow up around her to comfort her in her declining years.

She leaves to mourn her loss five sons and two daughters. They are Michael, of North Smith; James, of Davidson, Sask.; Frank and Edward, of Smith, and William, of Asphodel; Mrs. John Sawers, city and Mrs. Joseph McKee, Smith. Her husband predeceased her twenty-four years ago, her daughter, Mrs. David McKee, some years ago in Iowa and Mrs. T. Edgar, another daughter, about three months ago.

Mrs. Sanderson was a life-long Presbyterian and of late years was a member of St. Paul's Church. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Pogue, of St. Paul's Church, will officiate.

HOUSE RAIDED IN EAST CITY

By Police Constables Newhall, McGinty and Adams—Four People Arrested.

WERE REMANDED TO-DAY

Headed by P. C. Newhall, P. C.'s Adams and McGinty raided the house of Mr. and Mrs. Crowter, 219 Carlyle street, about 12 o'clock last night and succeeded in arresting Mr. and Mrs. Crowter, a girl named Queenie Grant and a young man who gave his name as Elton Yorke.

They were arraigned in the police court this morning before Magistrate Dumble on serious charges.

The court room was filled with the usual crowd of courtmongers, but the proceedings were very short.

Albert Crowter and his wife were charged with keeping a house of ill-fame. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded till February 27.

Elton Yorke, a respectably-dressed youth, was charged with being a frequenter.

"Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Well, I suppose I am guilty, your Worship. I was in the house when arrested," remarked Yorke. "I was never there before, but had taken tha old man home as he was intoxicated."

"Well, I'll remand you till the 27th for trial."

His Worship allowed him his freedom on $200 bail.

A young girl, good looking and well dressed, who gave her name as Queenie Grant, was charged with being an inmate of the house. She pleaded not guilty, saying she had been boarding there.

"She was convicted in Toronto on the same charge," said the Chief.

"Well, I'll remand her with the rest," said the magistrate.

WAS THROWN AGAINST MOVING CAR

Horse Acted Up Causing Slight Accident On Lock Street.

An injury and a narrow escape from a fatality is reported from the south end where last night about 5.30 o'clock on Lock street near the river Herbert Peters of Otonabee was struck with a street car. Mr. Peters was driving south with Mr. Michael Fitzgerald of Otonabee when the accident occurred. On nearing the river a street car caught up to them scaring the horse. The latter made a quick stop throwing the cutter against the car. Mr. Peters leg which was hanging out of the cutter was jammed against the side of the moving car and his head was also injured. Had he been much closer it is stated that he would have had a more narrow escape.

SALVAG E DEPARTMENT OPENED

Salvation Army Have Bought an Ink Factory for the Purpose—Contributions Desired.

The Salvation Army in Toronto have got their salvage department now in good order. Some time ago they bought a large ink factory and after cleaning it out they stored within its walls second hand goods of every description, from newspapers to furniture and hardware. The goods are all donations from kind people throughout the territory who have taken an interest in the Army. When Staff-Captain Goodwin and Mr. R C Braund were in Toronto last week they were shown through the premises and were very much impressed with the scheme. The idea of starting the salvage department was to give work to the men who were unemployed and clothe and room them. They also desired to sell clothing at a nominal price to the poor of Toronto. Lastly it was considered a source whereby a certain revenue would be derived for the pushing forward of the Army work. The system is working splendidly and donations of clothing, furniture and periodicals, etc., will be warmly welcomed. All donors are requested to send their goods to Brigadier Collier or Lt.-Col. Pugmire, 101 Queen street, East Toronto.

RETAIL BUTCHER ON LICENSES

Farmers Should Be Allowed to Sell on Market by the Quarter.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Some reference of late has been made to the question of butcher's licenses. The general public may not be aware of the fact that all retail butchers pay a license of $10 per annum, which permits them to open a shop. Neither farmers selling on the market, by the quarter only, now wholesale butchers doing the same, pay any license. I do not think farmers selling their own beef should be charged a license, but farmers doing a wholesale meat business in the winter, and all wholesale men should pay, say $5.00 each, and then they will be known and come under the control of the council and police, who should see that they do not sell inside the city limits less than a quarter to any one person.

We, who are in the retail trade, do not want to act as spies on the wholesale men, but know that every year as the spring comes on, some of them continue to cut their quarters and peddle around the city, in less quantities than by the quarter.

Hoping that the police will stop this, whether they license wholesale men or not, I am

Yours truly,
RETAIL BUTCHER.

About thirty young people from the Murray street Baptist church comprising two sleigh loads had a very pleasant drive to Mr. Thos. Hazlitt's home about four miles in Otonabee. Games and refreshments served to provide enjoyable pastime and the young people returned home at an early hour.

AN AGE OF PROGRESS

In Medicine as well as in Art and Science.

This is an age of progress in the world of medicine as well as in arts and science. This is demonstrated by the remarkable discovery after years of research by two eminent French chemists of the process by which the curative, medicinal elements of the cod's liver may be separated from the oil, thus getting rid of that nauseating part of this valuable remedy.

In Vinol modern science has given to the world a most delicious cod liver preparation without oil made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for Chronic Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

No one wants an old-fashioned cod liver oil preparation or emulsion after once tasting delicious Vinol.

AFRAID TO TRAVEL IN THE WINTER

Barrister Carries a Pair of Snowshoes With Him to Toronto.

A prominent barrister, who has a dread of being caught in a snowdrift while travelling by train, took a trip to Toronto yesterday on the C. P. R. He carried an expensive pair of snowshoes over his back, which he intended to use in case of an accident. The passengers in the train all wondered why he should carry the snowshoes. Some thought he was the travelling secretary of the Canadian Snowshoe Club of Montreal, but when told the real purpose of carrying the shoes the passengers thought it was a joke. One old lady in the back of the car said the young man should have brought his bench.

CHEAP POWER IS WHAT IS WANTED.

Sam Clarke Gives Hon. Adam Beck Gentle Reminder.

SCORES WHITNEY MINISTRY

Reaping Reward of Liberals' Good Work—Says Premier Deceived the People on Temperance Question—Three-Fifths Handicap — Allan Studholme Pleads Cause of the Wage-Earning Classes.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—Despite the efforts of the Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Whitney, to make progress, the debate in the Legislature goes over into another week. Mr. Allan Studholme, "the Labor party," got the floor yesterday afternoon and continued his address to a late hour last night, when the Opposition leader moved the adjournment. On Tuesday Hon. Mr. Mackay will speak and the Prime Minister will wind up the debate.

Mr. Sam Clarke (Northumberland) resumed the debate. It had cost the province a good deal to get his honor's address and consequently it was fitting to give it full consideration. He reminded the Provincial Treasurer that he "didn't have to work" for that part of his surplus which was represented in the increased subsidy from the Dominion. He commended the idea of the experimental farming station in New Ontario to test the possibilities of the country, and he thought it would be fairer on the part of the Government to delay rushing settlers into the new country until its agricultural possibilities had been fully determined.

Passing on over the clauses in the speech from the throne, Mr. Clarke availed himself of the reference to the report of the committee that bossed Europe looking into asylum conditions to pay tribute to Hon. Dr. Willoughby and express regret at his continued serious illness.

"I can't see what great things this Government have done," declared Mr. Clarke. "They have proved themselves good collecting agents, that's all. They have reaped in the rewards of the good work of those who went before them."

The interest which had developed in the progress of New Ontario, Mr. Clarke declared, was largely attributable to Mr. C. N. Smith, member for Sault Ste. Marie. So long as the Government followed his advice and "stole his clothes" they would not go far wrong.

Referring to the spoils system, Mr. Clarke said last time he had referred to it one of the hon. gentlemen opposite had reminded him that he had "a friend with a job." "So I've been very quiet ever since," added Mr. Clarke amid laughter.

Mr. Preston (Durham)—"And he's still got the job."

Mr. Clarke, amid laughter—"Yes, yes, that's it. He's still got the job."

Continuing the member for Northumberland read from The News of March, 1906, to show that the Government had dispensed with hundreds of justices of the peace, license commissioners and inspectors, fishery overseers, division court clerks and bailiffs, and issuers of marriage licenses.

"I see," he added, "that they have added over 800 issuers of marriage licenses. Well, I think that's wise, for this is leap year." (Laughter.)

Mr. Clarke wanted to know why all the plaudits from the private benches of the Conservatives were for the Minister of Mines and the Provincial Secretary. Of the others nothing was heard.

"What would become of this country if those two men died?" he asked. "If the good Lord took them, though I don't think He needs them." (Laughter.)

"I am sorry the Minister of Power is not here," he was proceeding when Hon. Adam Beck, who was conferring with the Premier at the side of the membership benches, spoke up. "Here he is."

"I want to tell him," continued Mr. Clarke, "that the people of Toronto and Western Ontario are still looking for cheap power, and the water of Niagara are flowing on uncaged. Three years of time has been taken up by the Government on the power policy, and nothing has been done yet."

Referring to the temperance question, Mr. Clarke declared that the license laws were no better enforced than under the old Government. Mr. Whitney, he said, had promised majority rule and a square deal, instead he gave them the three-fifths handicap. "I want to say," he announced, "that the Premier deceived the people on the temperance question."

Mr. Clarke undertook to tell a little inside history. "Hon. G. W. Ross," he said, "had pledged himself to Miss Temperance and he honestly intended marrying her. (Laughter.) But he got into difficulty. When he came to the caucus he had determined to stake all on the prohibition issue, to go in for it off his own bat. But he only had three of a majority and his associates were not willing to go with him. His difficulties prevented him from fulfilling his promise."

Mr. A. Ferguson (Cardwell) followed from the Government benches with his maiden address.

He expressed surprise and regret that the Opposition was aggrieved over the introduction of legislation giving the settlers timber and mineral rights. That view had been held by Mr. Ferguson and his constituents for years. The Minister of Agriculture was to be commended for his efforts to procure efficient farm laborers and to discourage the immigration of useless foreigners. The farmers were willing to pay good wages to those who did their work well.

As a new member Mr. Ferguson was surprised to hear that the only one thing the Opposition had brought against the Government was the purchase of a supposed blind mare. Mr. Ferguson declared that eight foals of this mare had sold for $25,000 in Scotland, the home of the Clydesdale.

As a practical farmer he believed a splendid bargain had been made in purchasing the mare for $1,500.

"I have never been so proud of being a follower of Mr. Whitney as I am now," concluded Mr. Ferguson.

The very vigorous applause which greeted the rising of the "Labor Party," Mr. Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) led that gentleman to remark that he hoped the cheers would be as vociferous when he concluded.

"What Ontario wants," declared Mr. Studholme, "is more patriotism and less partyism." Many things had been mentioned in the speech from the throne, but not a single word of benefit to the wage-earning classes.

"Labor, like Lazarus at the door of Dives, is being refused even the crumbs from the legislative table," was Mr. Studholme's simile. He spoke of the needs of the unemployed in Toronto and the suffering among the poor. The Legislature was partly responsible in bringing undesirable citizens from the old land. Mr. Studholme particularly criticized the grant to the Salvation Army and scored the immigration work of that organization.

OVER BILLION FOR NAVY.

Russia to Build New Fleet of Battleships For Her Navy.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—Representatives of the Russian Admiralty submitted yesterday to the Commission of National Defence of the Douma the financial outline of the much-discussed naval program. The matter was discussed with open doors, instead of in private, as had been expected.

The program is to be completed in 1909, and it includes not only the construction of a fleet of battleships, but also hydrographic work at several of the ports of Russia. The expenditures involved amount to $1,078,000,000. One of the features of the program is a duplicate complement of [illegible] to be constructed. Russian yards will be able to handle and complete the entire program, including the installation of turbine machinery.

An alternative minor program also was submitted. This provides for the construction of only four battleships and a fleet of smaller vessels. The estimated expenditure under this schedule is $225,000,000.

DEFENDS EMIGRATION WORK.

General Booth Addresses Eight Hundred Leaving For B.C.

London, Feb. 21.—(C.A.P.)—F. L. Goldsmid reported gratifying progress on the project to establish "Tunbridge Wells In Canada" at a meeting of supporters. Last year 169 persons emigrated. He urged that the Government should move in the matter of supplying the colonies with British emigrants.

Addressing a batch of emigrants, mainly agricultural laborers and female domestics, en route for British Columbia, General Booth defended the Salvation Army's emigration policy. He was satisfied the Army was on the right lines, and that it would go on progressing. It was being considered to place 3,000 to 5,000 men on railway construction work.

Five hundred of the 800 emigrants who sailed yesterday go to British Columbia under the terms of the Salvation Army's agreement with the British Columbia Government.

Anglo-American Convention.

London, Feb. 21.—Fresh interest was aroused in Parliament yesterday in the American-British negotiations for an arbitration treaty, by the announcement that the United States Senate had ratified the American-French treaty of arbitration, it being felt that this practically assures the completion of a similar convention between this country and the United States. An attempt was made in the House of Commons to draw out Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, on the matter, but Sir Edward replied that it would be premature to make any statement beyond saying that the negotiations were proceeding.

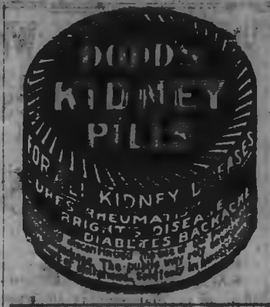
PIMPLES

ALTHOUGH, NOT A DANGEROUS DISEASE, ARE A VERY TROUBLESOME AND UNSIGHTLY AFFLICTION . . .

They are caused by either poverty or impurity of the blood and require the prompt use of a good blood medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters, for their eradication, which it speedily accomplishes, at the same time strengthening the entire system. Pimples also often arise from dyspepsia and constipation, and in these cases Burdock Blood Bitters has the double effect of removing the pimples together with their cause.

Mr. D. P. Samson, Osceola, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with pimples all over my face and hands. I paid out money to doctors but they could do me no good. A friend convinced me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using two bottles the pimples vanished, and I have not been troubled with them since."

Burdock Blood Bitters may be procured at all Druggists and Dealers.



COMMANDER CONDEMNED TO DIE

Final Scene in Court-Martial on General Stoessel.

COURT RECOMMENDS MERCY

Urges Commutation of Sentence—Suggests Confinement In Russian Fortress For Ten Years—Dismissal From Army — Widespread Plot Unearthed—Desperate Fight—Fifty Terrorists Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel was condemned to death last evening by a military court for the surrender of Port Arthur to the Japanese. Gen. Fock, who commanded the Fourth East Siberian division of Port Arthur, was ordered reprimanded for a disciplinary offence, which was not connected with the surrender, and Gen. Smirnoff, acting commandant of the fortress, and Major-Gen. Reiss, chief of staff to Gen. Stoessel, were acquitted on the charges against them for lack of proof. The court recommended that the death sentence of Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel be commuted to ten years' imprisonment in a fortress and that he be excluded from the service.

Commutation of sentence was asked on the ground that "Port Arthur, beset by overwhelming forces, defended itself under Gen. Stoessel's leadership with unexampled stubbornness and filled the world with astonishment at the heroic courage of its garrison; that several assaults had been repulsed with tremendous losses on the part of the enemy; that Gen. Stoessel throughout the siege had maintained the heroic courage of the defenders and, finally, that he had taken energetic part in three campaigns."

Before the sentence was read measures were taken to prevent a demonstration in favor of Stoessel by a number of the younger officers and witnesses who were present. These later sent a despatch to the Empress saying that they would humbly bear testimony that Gen. Stoessel was the soul of the defence of Port Arthur, that he has always encouraged and put heart in the garrison to the best of his endeavor, and that in case of war they would wish to serve again under such a hero. They asked the Empress graciously to bespeak from the Emperor a full pardon.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—Attempts that had been planned against the lives of exalted personages were frustrated by the police last night by a succession of arrests in various parts of the city, aggregating fifty men and women. This is the greatest number of terrorists ever taken by the police in the capital. The majority of them were heavily armed, some with bombs, and they made desperate resistance against the police. During the course of the arrests ten policemen were wounded and one was killed.

The operations centred around the palace of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who, it is surmised, was the immediate object of the plot. Late yesterday several hundred gendarmes drew a cordon around an entire city block in the vicinity of the grand duke's palace, comprising 600 occupied apartments. Agents of the police searched these apartments from top to bottom and [illegible] of explosives and firearms.

A fashionably dressed woman was arrested on the street. She carried a muff in which was concealed a quantity of dynamite and was escorted by a man who wore flat under his belt an infernal machine of a new type. Both opened fire when the police approached them, wounding three of them.

Another woman, who was arrested at the entrance of Ussupoff Park, killed a policeman during a struggle. Two men were arrested in the Grande Morskaia, one of whom is a notorious Italian anarchist.

THE FRENCH TREATY WAS DISCUSSED

Opposition Speakers Say It Will Hurt Grape Growers.

VALUE OF THE NEW MARKET

France Imports $300,000,000 Worth of Goods Which Canada Can Supply—Mr. Cockshutt Complains of Injustice—Hitting at Ontario—Agricultural Implement Industry Will Make Gains.

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—The French treaty was under discussion in the House yesterday, and at midnight the bill embodying the convention was read a second time. Several Conservative members criticized features of the treaty without, however, offering any direct opposition to it. On the Liberal side able speeches in support of the convention were delivered by many, among others Mr. Paterson, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Logan and Dr. Beland. A point emphasized in the debate was the fact that under the treaty Canada was offered a market of $300,000,000 worth of goods, half of which was of products natural to or manufactured in the Dominion.

There was no division on the second reading, it being outside the power of the House to amend the treaty in the slightest particular.

Treaty Favors France.

Dr. Daniel commenced by saying that outside of the sentimental aspect of the question there was a business side. He thought the convention might well be called "a treaty to facilitate imports of French manufactures into Canada." In the French Chamber practically the only criticism offered was with regard to items of boots and shoes, and as to the value of Canadian manufactures imported into France was only $441 in a year, it could not be claimed that the treaty was much to the disadvantage of French manufactures. There was a great disparity between our exports to and imports from France, figures for nine months being $6,879,349 of French goods imported and $1,409,572 of Canadian goods exported to France.

Special treatment had been given to articles of exclusively French manufacture, while there was no provision for exportation to France of special products of Canadian soil.

Proprietory Medicines.

Regarding proprietary medicines, Dr. Daniel showed that while we import to the value of $40,000 yearly from France, we had not the power to export a single dollar's worth of these medicines to France. Absinthe, a particularly dangerous decoction of French manufacture, was given special treatment under the new tariff.

Dr. Daniel feared the reduction of the duty on light wines would have a serious effect on the Canadian grape-growing industry. More than one-third of the grapes grown in Canada were converted into wine. France, he declared, had got much the better of us. She had been given real advantages of trade, while we must look to the future for any advantages that may come to us. He, however, commended the direct shipment feature of the treaty.

Stable Tariff Needed.

Claude Macdonell asserted that the people of Canada desired a stable tariff. The various forms of tariff were creating an unrest and insecurity among the established industries of the country, which was bound to have a serious effect.

The new treaty did not extend advantages to products unloaded at the great lakes ports. He had seen direct vessels discharging cargoes at Toronto, while the treaty gives preference only to direct shipments to sea and river ports. This was not the time to enforce the port to port clause. The facilities were not adequate as there were only two boats in seven weeks.

There was an apparent intention of the framers of the treaty to benefit the port of Montreal without considering the interests of western importers. Mr. Macdonell protested against the making of treaties or selection of channels of transportation by order in council. Toronto importers desired more freedom of choice of port of entry, and in the interests of these importers and those of other sections of the country, there ought to be a change in this respect. Unfortunately, we were so situated that during exceptional winters shipments by way of St. John were delayed, to the loss of business.

Grudge Against Ontario.

Mr. Cockshutt (Brantford) held that the advantages secured were "infinitesimal." The Finance Minister seemed to have a grudge against Ontario. A short time ago a cutlery industry at Brantford went down for want of a little encouragement; later he attacked binder twine industry and now was doing injury to the grape-growing industry. Where was the Minister of Customs when Ontario industries were being jeopardized?

"Hit Ontario was the policy of this Government," declared Mr. Cockshutt, while it had been admitted by Mr. Brodeur that plenipotentiaries had a principle in view, the advantage of Montreal. The least the Finance Minister could do to the wine industry was to admit free spirits for fortifying wines.

Mr. Cockshutt was losing faith in the Government as a treaty-making power. The worst day for Canada was when Parliament let the Japanese treaty go through without full discussion. The Ministers would yet see their mistake, as he believed the Japanese treaty would cause trouble for ten years to come. As for the French treaty, it would benefit France $5 for every $1 gained for Canada. In short, it looked to Mr. Cockshutt like a gold brick.

MANAGER THIRNBECK'S CHIEFTAINS ARE A CRACK JUNIOR TEAM

Manager Jack Thirnbeck's crack little team, the Chieftains, have won many clever victories this season, but none was as creditable as that scored yesterday, when they took into camp a picked team from the Collegiate Institute, by a score of 7—1, leading at the half by three goals to nothing. Their opponents were the strongest team the Collegiate could produce, being years older and pounds heavier than the doughty little Chieftains, who were in, out and all over their big adversaries in a manner that little doubt of the result of the game.

The school team were big and fast, but the speed of the Chieftains was too much for them. The little red and black forward line were back on top of the forward line so fast that it was almost impossible for the school advance guard to break away and when they did so they found themselves up against an impregnable defence, who kept them out without trouble.

On the other hand the Chieftains broke outside their checks repeatedly and flashed down the ice with brilliant snatches of two, three and even four man combination that almost inevitably resulted in a score or a narrow escape. And they swarmed in on the nets like bees, taking advantage of every opportunity to shoot straight and hard at the nets. Individually and as a team they were superior to their opponents and it is doubtful if there is a seven in Canada of their ages who could turn down the Chieftains. They are without doubt the fastest bunch of "kids" that was ever gotten together here, and if they remain with the team for three or four years more Peterborough will have a junior O. H. A. seven that will be a corker. They have trimmed every junior team in Peterborough by large margins, and have gone out of their class, playing teams much heavier and older than themselves, with the same result, an ever increasing record of victories.

There was nothing to yesterday's game but the Chieftains. As has been said they had it on the school at every stage, leading all the way. Their combination and speed discounted the weight of their opponents and they were never in difficulties. Burritt and Fortye were the stars but all played great hockey. Burritt, the thirteen-year-old right wing stickhandled and shot magnificently, figuring largely in the scoring. For the school Fred Conroy and Geale were the pick, the former playing the best game of the season.

Referee Allan Campbell's decisions were accepted without question by the teams, who lined up as follows:

Chieftains.		Institute.
	Goal.
Brown		Scott
	Point.
Wade		Ackerman
	Cover.
Munro		Moore
	Rover.
Crane		Geale
	Centre.
Fortye		F. Conroy
	Left wing.
Burritt		H. Conroy

ALMOST 80 SCRUB GAMES PLAYED AT BROCK STREET RINK

Is there a place in Ontario which has more hockey teams, according to its size, than Peterborough? It is very doubtful if this question can be answered in the affirmative, according to Mr. Jack Thirnbeck, manager of Brock street rink. Jack says that during the season no less than 79 scrub hockey games have been or will have been played at the rink. This means that there are about fifty teams in the city learning the game. The 79 matches referred to do not include the City League and O. H. A. games. They have been played by teams representing various organizations or manufacturing establishments in the city.

The hockey season is not yet over and before the ice fades away there will be booked a good many more games. The hockeyists this year have been fortunate at Brock street rink in getting the best ice they have ever had. The games played there, however, do not represent the whole city. Considering the games played on the open-air rinks, there must be almost one hundred hockey teams in the city.

STRATH-NORWOOD GAME THE ATTRACTION OF THE SEASON

Next week's game between Strathconas and Norwood will without a doubt be the hockey event of the season. Both teams are in the best shape of the year and will have on their strongest line-ups for the occasion, and the keen rivalry existing between the two should result in a battle royal in which, as far as dope goes, honours should be almost even. The High Commissioners have defeated Norwood once this season, but the Finlaysons claim they were in no condition at that time and that they will defeat the Straths handily this time. Naturally, of course, the locals think otherwise and are confident of repeating the defeat. Both teams have many supporters and there has been a never ceasing argument over which is the better team. The game will settle the question finally, and no doubt the biggest crowd of the season will be on hand. The game takes place at Brock street rink next Wednesday night.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Old Boys Send Telegrams in Regard to the Game—Manager McRae to Provide Lemonade.

NEW MAN IS DISGUSTED

Thursday, February 27—The red-letter day of the year—the date of the great Review-Examiner hockey game. Don't forget the banner event of the hockey season.

Highlander Scott has been so disgusted with the playing of the Review team in the two days on which he has been in the city that he has dissolved the connection with the team.

Mr. A. Chopin Yokoma of the Review is seriously considering the advisability of not taking part in the press game. Looks like another case of flunk.

The Review players state there is reason to expect foul play from the Examiner because one of the seven representing this paper is secretary of the newly-formed poultry association. It is a fowl shame that he should be so maligned, although there is no doubt the Examiner will be laying for the Review all right. It seems to be a case of counting chickens before they are hatched with the Review. By the way, several of their players have flown the coop, and hockey stars are as scarce as hen's teeth in either camp, but they are still cocky and ready to crow over the Examiner's defeat. Now, ain't this a bird of a paragraph!

It is a pleasure to be able to announce that refreshments will be served at half-time, Manager MacRae having kindly consented to jump into a pail of water and provide lemonade for the crowd.

Corney Burns of the Review team is hoping for mild weather for the game. He states that he can't get his spit ball working during a severe frost.

Telegrams are still coming to Examiner headquarters. Here are the latest:

Delphus, O., Feb. 21.
Some people don't know when they have enough. Isn't the Review satisfied yet?
ALF. W. SMITH.

Chicago, Ill.
Will be with you by special train for the game. Examiner stock soaring in the stock market.
LORNE FRANKS.

Galt, Ont.
Where will the Review memorial service be held? Will have to miss the game, but hope to be home for the funeral.
DENNIS KANE.

Galt, Ont.
Give it to them, and give it to them good.
B. E. CANNIFF.

San Francisco, Cal.
Nothing since the earthquake has stirred the city of the Golden Gate so much as the news that the big press game is on. The Examiner is a strong favourite in the betting.
R. B. DAWSON.

Vancouver, B. C.
Have just received word of the big game. Vancouver expects another Examiner victory.
JOHN ROSS.

Seattle, Wash.
The Hindoo population is on a rampage but who cares here now. The only thing that matters is the press game. Beat them for my sake.
DANNY COSTELLO.

Brandon, Man.
The sentiment here in connection with the press game is strongly pro-Examiner. Here's luck.
GARNET McBRIEN.

STRATHS MAY PLAY IN MADOC

Are Wanted There On Monday Night Next.

The Madoc club telephoned the secretary of the Strathconas at noon today to the effect that the Trent Valley leaguers would like a game with the Straths in Madoc Monday night. All players of the Straths are requested to meet at the rink to-night at 7 o'clock for the purpose of deciding whether or not the game should be played. It is likely the Straths will send a team down on Monday, although all the City League men will not be able to get away.

Before the address given by Hon. Mr. Morine at the Canadian Club last night, the president, Mr. F. D. The intention was that every Canadian should share in the expense of the undrtaking and give what he or she could towards the cost.

Warsaw Boys Who Have Been Successful In The World

Away From Home Their Boyhood Training Has Been Invaluable And Has Helped Them to Success---Where They Are Located.

Examiner Special:

Warsaw, Feb. 19.—If there is one thing more than another of which the citizens of this place and vicinity might be pardonably proud is the large number of men and women, who, born and brought up, receiving a solid foundation of character from the rocks of Dummer and later wandering forth over the earth in search of bettering their condition, have in so many cases climbed the ladder of success.

If it were possible it would indeed be interesting to hold an Old Boys and Girls re-union that would be a real gathering of the Dummerites, but the experience of other places perhaps more favourably situated financially, shows that such events are not successful in bringing together the natives. However, as a personal reunion cannot be brought about this year, a reunion on paper may prove interesting. An initial list has been compiled and is given below. The difficulty in the way of any two or three persons in gathering such information will at once be apparent to the reader, so it has been arranged that names not receiving mention may be sent to the post office at Warsaw, which will forward them.

A TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. SHEWEN

An Eventful Career in Early Military Life and Afterwards in The County.

A WELL KNOWN FAMILY

Examiner Special.

Mount Julian, Feb. 17.—General regret is expressed at the news of the death of Mr. Payton W. C. Shewen on the 6th February after a lingering illness of three months, during which he received the best of care from his devoted family. Although for some years he had lived in a very quiet way, his life at one time was very eventful. He was born at Gosport, England, in 1853, and was the second son of Col. E. T. P. Shewen, late of Queen Victoria's Royal Marine Light Infantry corps, and was in that regiment when it rendered invaluable aid during the capture of the famous stronghold, the Rock of Gibraltar, also serving with great distinction in the Abyssinia and Crimean wars and the Indian Mutiny.

His mother was Georgina Sophia Bell of the 61st regiment. The deceased was sent to the Royal Naval School for six years and a half, where he received an education to fit him for any position in life. After leaving school he received a lieutenant's commission in the Hampshire Militia Artillery, in which he served for two years, leaving on the eve of his promotion to the rank of captain to accompany his brother to Canada on a three months' trip. They arrived at Quebec in May, 1871, and came direct to Peterborough, bringing their travels to a close by settling in the village of Apsley.

He resigned his commission in the army, and with the exception of one trip to his native land, he has always since lived in the county of Peterborough. He was appointed past-master of Apsley after his marriage in 1875, and along with that position conducted a general store for four years, being at the same time in the municipal council of Burleigh, Chandos and Anstruther. Sometime afterwards he received the clerkship of these united townships, which office he held until he moved to Mount Julian in 1900, where, with his sons, he engaged in a sawmill business. Since disposing of that he had been failing in health and had lived quietly at home.

His wife was Miss Annie Eastland, third daughter of the late Thomas Eastland of Peterborough, who died in 1897, leaving four sons and five daughters.

Besides his family he leaves to mourn his loss one brother in India and one in St. John's, N.B., and two sisters, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Williams.

The funeral service was held at his late home, which is on one of the prettiest spots in Mount Julian, and was conducted by the Methodist minister, Rev. Mr. Garbutt, the remains being followed by several of the neighbours to Apsley English church cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Wilkinson conducted the service, and a great number and gathered to pay their last respects to their friend and neighbour of former years.

Some Clydesdale Events

Farmers Having Difficulty Because of Bad Roads.

Examiner Special

Clydesdale, Feb. 17.—The farmers are busy at present drawing lumber to Coe Hill, some of them only being able to get half way in one day on account of the poor condition of the roads. They have made a road specially for themselves, but some times others block the road, there being at times two loads of hay, two loads of logs, a few loads of lumber, a cutter and some sleighs all stopped, where there was no means of passing except to cut out some brush.

Mr. Fred Bellfied is running a camp. He is through cutting now, and has laid off some men. He has considerable trouble getting to the woods these mornings.

Some of the gear camps are breaking up, Mr. John O'Brien having returned home on Friday.

Mr. Michael Scott is hauling lumber to Coe Hill.

Thomas Trotter says this is a long winter.

Mick C. Leary took a load of beef to Coe Hill on Monday last. He says the markets are very good there.

Mrs. Dennis Moloney is, we are pleased to learn, enjoying good health again.

Miss Katie Gooley is the guest of Mrs. Curby at Coe Hill.

Miss Stella Hynes is on visit with Mrs. James Scott.

Mrs. A. J. Belcher, of Bobcaygeon, is in the city to-day.

Mrs. Brignall, of Belleville, is in the city visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Engle, of Vancouver, B. C., are registered at the Snowden House.

Miss A McGivern has returned from New York where she has spent a week getting the latest styles and picking up novelties in millinery for the coming season.

Miss Mary Quinlan, of Ford street, East City, entertained about twenty-five of her young friends at her home last night. An enjoyable time was spent at cards and dancing, Miss Quinlan proving herself a splendid hostess.

Miss Effie Munro, of Peterborough, was among those present at the dance given at St. Hilda's College, Toronto, last night, given by the seniors to the graduating class of 1908.

Mr. Louis Bishea, of Bracebridge, who has been in the city attending the funeral of his brother, Mr. Henry Bishea, left for Rome to-day, accompanied by his son John and daughter Miss Celina. Mrs. Bishea will remain here for some time.

Mr. Robt. Leary, President of the Peterborough Industrial Fair and Mr. H. Garbutt, the Vice-President, have returned from Toronto where they have been attending the annual meeting of the Ontario Fairs Association. The meeting has been a very important one and the local representatives have thoroughly enjoyed their visit to the city.

Mr. H W Kent is in the city paying a visit of a day or two to his many friends who are delighted to notice that the salt air of the Pacific agrees so well with him physically. Mr. Kent, as announced in the Examiner a few days ago, resigned his position as superintendent of the British Columbia Telephone Company, after many years of service so satisfactory to the company as to elicit from the latter, not only testimonial, but substantial, expressions of appreciation. He has taken the position of British Columbia representative of the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Company of Montreal, producers of telephones and telephone supplies of all kinds, and his present visit to the east is in connection with his new duties. He returns to the Coast in a few days.

BAND AT STREET RAILWAY RINK TO-NIGHT

TWO MORE DOGS WERE POISONED

Belonged to a McDonel Street Resident —One a Collie, the Other a Young Pup.

The invasion on dogs of all descriptions has commenced again and daily reports are received from different portions of the city that certain dogs have been poisoned in those vicinities during the night. Last night two dogs were poisoned on McDonel street; one was a collie and the other a young pup.

BIG DOUBLE HEADER ON MONDAY

Bridgenorth Will Play the Quakers—Rough Riders vs. Keene.

A double header will be played on Monday night at Brock street rink. The Rough Riders and Keene will clash in the first battle and the Quakers and Bridgenorth will come together in the second half of the bill. Both should be rattling battles especially the melee between the R. R's. and Keene. The two have met once before this season and although Keene were one up the locals are confident of reversing the score on Monday night. Both Bridgenorth and the Quakers expect to win.

HAS BEEN APPOINTED AGENT

Mr. George P. Lumley, of Peterborough, has been appointed local agent for that famous disinfectant powder and fluid, "Mac-a-lin." He has opened an office at 432 Water street an dis open for business. The Mac-a-lin is a good selling and a useful article and has met with continued success wherever it has been introduced.

Popular Cure for Croup

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as a cure for croup, will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success. It is wonderfully prompt in relieving the cough, clearing the air passages and soothing the excited nerves. Many mothers who realize the suddenness with which croup comes on keep this great medicine promptly on hand for use in case of emergency.

Mr. Dumble Again Answers Mr. Moore On Library Question

Counsel for the Defence Makes a Rejoinder to Counsel for the Prosecution

THE JACK KNIFE QUESTION

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—I am glad Mr. Moore is presenting the other views regarding the Public Library. As he puts them, I cannot realize that so level-headed a man propagates them as his own—all the same, it will enable people to see both sides of the question, and so, perhaps, form the best conclusion.

It is admitted that we must have a new library building. It is only a question, then, whether we will put up all the money, or accept the building from Carnegie as a gift. It must be understood primarily that it must be a Public Library—that is, a free library. The Nicholls money is given for all the people, and money raised by taxation is from all the people. These gift monies must not be applied for a library for a paying class—it must be free to rich and (poor alike—A Free Library.

If we put up the building independent of Carnegie we will be out the interest on the cost of the building, in addition to the cost of keeping it up—that is, salary of librarian, heating, books, etc. If we take Carnegie's money we pay nothing for interest. Let us put this in figures. Supposing the building costs $25,000. Interest for all time on $25,000 at 4 1-2 per cent., $1,125; cost of running library, say 10 per cent. on $25,000, $2,500; total cost of running library yearly, $3,625; Deduct 4 1-2 per cent. on Nicholls grant, $1,125—Government grant, $180, total $1,305 net yearly cost to be raised by taxation, $2,320.

On Carnegie basis it would be: Ten per cent. on $25,000, $2,500; deduct 4 1-2 per cent. on Nicholls grant, $1,125—Government grant, $180, total $1,305; net yearly cost to be raised by taxation, $1,195; difference per annum in favour of Carnegie library, $1,125.

Can Mr. Moore get over these figures?

Mr. Moore admits that his objection to the Carnegie gift is that it imposes onerous conditions. Do my figures show onerous conditions? Mr. Moore illustrates his argument with the case of a man who gives another ten jack-knives on condition that the donee gives yearly for all time one knife to him or his nominee. Mr Moore laughed when he put that in writing because he knew that Carnegie does not impose that we give him or his nominee yearly 10 per cent. on the cost of the building. Carnegie does insist that we give to ourselves the 10 per cent. It is a case of a boy who uses up a jack-knife every year in profitable work being obliged to buy himself a new one every year to keep up the equipment. He is like the man who gives me $25,000 on a mortgage at 10 per cent., but never asks for the principal and allows me to give the interest to myself every year. That would not be hard to take. Come on, Carnegie, you are the man we have been looking for.

Of course, if the money he insists on our spending in keeping up the library was wholly beyond the requirement, then, and then only, would there be an objection to the gift—but long experience proves that if the building is not extravagantly built beyond the requirements of the people, 10 per cent. is not too much on which to run a good library. Now the money it will actually cost us is less than 5 per cent. on $25,000, thanks to the Nicholls Estate. Should we hesitate? The offer is open to us to-day—it may not be always available. The argument that some places feel the burden of Carnegie libraries severely does not fit in our case, for we have a free site, and half the money from other sources. They perhaps bit off more than they could comfortably chew. Let us keep to the $25,000, and we will always feel like thanking the Nicholls Estate and Carnegie.

I am, Sir,
Your Obedient Servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

Active Building Trade Is Predicted For The Spring

Many Inquiries Are Being Made —Vacant Houses In Peterborough Reported Scarce

TEN INSIDE OF ONE HOUR

Real estate in Peterborough is again on the move. At any rate this is what a prominent speculator stated to the Examiner last night. He predicts that real estate in Peterborough this spring will be more active than ever and intimated that there would soon be a another demand for houses.

He had some facts ready to bear out his statements. He says that yesterday while sitting in the office of a real estate man there were 10 persons inquiring about the renting and purchasing of houses.

He further states that at the present time there are not more than 50 vacant houses in the city. Usually in a city the size of Peterborough there are at least 100 empty houses. He predicts that on the arrival of spring there will be a great activity in the building trade on account of the depression during the autumn of 1907 and winter.

WAS PRESENTED WITH A WATCH FOB

Mr. Miller Resigns Leadership of Mark Street Church Choir.

The choir of the Mark street Methodist church held practice last evening at the home of Mr. John Speer, Hunter street. It was the last occasion of their practice under the leadership of Mr. J. C. Miller, who has during the past four years been associated with them in that capacity, during which time he has proven himself a very agreeable and efficient musical director. It has not yet been determined who will become his successor.

Before separating a presentation of a handsome watch fob was made to Mr. Miller accompanied by an address, to which he replied appropriately.

Mr. Miller who will henceforth worship with his family at the George street church will be greatly missed by the Mark street people among whom he has laboured with untiring devotion, not only in connection with the choir, but as Sunday school superintendent for some time past.

SHIRTS

The Colored Negligee Shirt is the popular shirt to-day.

A short time ago negligee shirts were worn only in summer.

Now the best dressed men wear them all the year round.

They find them much more comfortable, for daily use, than a stiff-bosomed shirt.

Not only are they more comfortable, but they wear longer, because they make fewer trips to the laundry.

It is not the use of a shirt that wears it out it's the laundry that does it

LOOKING BACKWARD AT THE VILLAGE OF BRIDGENORTH; THE PAST HISTORY OF THAT FLOURISHING LITTLE SUBURB

Old Timer Furnishes News of the Pioneers Whose Memories Are Partly Forgotten.

IN REMINISCENT MOOD

A Tribute to Their Deceased Bard, Mr. William Telford—Men of Mettle And Sinew of Days Gone by Men of sinew, hale and hearty,

Brave at scythe and sickle, come;
Come and swell our gleesome party,
Reapers sturdy, reapers come!
The ages folk's our hamlet's glory,
Dames and grandsires, all must come;
Come and tell again the story
Of the days long by gone, come!
(Selected.)

A page of the Weekly Examiner of Jan. 9th, 1908 was adorned with a description of the enterprises of the village of Bridgenorth in its present state of existence, but the writer confined himself strictly to matters of this day and generations which showed that his years are few and his experience limited. When he sees this bit of past history, perhaps that youthful one will have a strong desire to pull these venerable whiskers on account of this "butting in" on his subject.

It is not my intention to give every detail of the history of this progressive little burg, but simply to note some of the events and call to remembrance some of the people who formed a part of its activity. As a means to this end I shall trust partly to memory and more largely to the writing, in prose and poetry, of those who were better qualified to give the subject under discussion its full and proper consideration.

In the early days the means of communication with the outside world were not "up to much"; for instance, the Chemong road was not the splendid highway of the present day, but what is known as the Long Swamp was simply a causeway of logs lying side by side with not a shovelful of earth to reduce the unevenness. And, let it be known that there were no spring vehicles or rubber tires with wind in them to make all roads smooth. Quite near the western end of this causeway was our nearest school about a mile away. It was a humble structure and its sessions were presided over by school masters of the retired soldier order, with whom kindness and gentleness were lost virtues. The winter months brought forth a contingent of pupils of the overgrown type who gloried in their size and strength and were rebellious to say the least. No wonder the boys and girls of those days become heardy men and robust women tramping through the thick bush by by unbeaten paths. When this school was closed another was opened nearly two miles east of the village and situated on the highest hill in the vicinity. Then there came a re-adjustment of the school sections and Bridgenorth was made the centre of No. 5 and the present brick building erected to meet the requirements.

Not a Spring Chicken

In regard to age, this village is certainly no "spring chicken" as the land which latterly become its site was deeded from the Crown to Thos. Ward in 1822 and was designated as lot 12, east of Communication Road. Of course at that time it was a wilderness and it was nearly twenty years later that any steps were taken to form a settlement.

In "ye olden time" when whiskey was cheap and could be sold without restraint, nearly every cross-road had its tavern and as many as four flourished here at once. The oldest of these was conducted by Asa Dunbar, and that historic structure was recently removed to allow the erection of a summer cottage. Only a hundred yards to the east stood a larger and more stately inn owned by John Pope, Sr. This one was later bought by L G Fobert, who remained there till fire destroyed the building and he then became proprietor of the new Chemong Park Hotel. When Pope and Dunbar's were at the height of their fame, there was always "something doing" for the noted Montgomerys frequented these corners then and helped to furnish the excitement. In the spring and autumn when the shantymen were going to and from the back woods this was a stopping place on the trip. Part of the gang put up at each house and when they had freely imbibed of the cup that cheers, the fun or rather a small war usually started. It the same events were enacted some time day at the present time, the village would be deserted in about ten minutes and a fire alarm sent to the city along with a rush order for a regiment of soldiers to stop the riot. But fist fights were not considered seriously so long as no more effective weapons were brought into the play. However, it was in one of these brawls when he was ejecting a few noisy drinkers that Asa Dunbar received a blow from a sling-shot which materially shortened his days and his usefulness. There were giants in those days and Asa was one of them. He was a magnificent specimen of manhood and exceptionally well developed. As the grain was all cut with a cradle, he used one of an extra large size and certainly "cut quite a swath" for each lap put him ten or twelve feet farther from the fence. Timber was plentiful and close at hand so that every man was an expert with the broad-axe in hewing and the chopping axe in felling trees which were no mere saplings. Along this line almost any of these old citizens would have made the present generation of men look like children with toy hatchets.

The catalogue of village blacksmiths from N. McDonald to J Succee shows that this trade has been well represented and that business was brisk as at one time there were three shops in operation and competition was as sharp as the point of a horse-shoe nail.

Walking Encyclopoedia

Long ago there was a sort of fraternity of old men who made a livelihood, scant though it was, by keeping a little shop and catering to the public wants along some special line. With the advent of modern machinery and factories this class has ceased to exist entirely through want of trade. These old inhabitants were interesting characters and their tales of land and sea were told o'er and o'er to the many frequenters and customers. Indeed, their places became regular news agencies, and the events of the day were discussed, debated and deliberated on until completely thread-bare. To hear Weaver Robinson discourse on English history and ancient philosophy would make the last rose of summer, while Moffatt the tailor would play checkers till daylight doth appear. Cobbler Wiley had the misfortune to be very deaf and thus did not enjoy conversation, but his successor, Abe Ward, was an "encyclopaedia of the American war" complete in one edition, for his yarns relating thereto, combined with his deer-hunting exploits, would keep an expert stenographer busy for a month. Then again, there was another very useful citizen in the person of "Putty" Watson, who helped people keep up appearances by the proper application of some paint to their premises, and did odd jobs of glazing and paperhanging, while in dull times he mended kettles and cans, also taking a turn at pots and pans.

Fully thirty years ago this place had the distinction of being the home of an agricultural show which was all right in its way, but would now be called a gipsy outfit, as the main building, the horse-racing, the brass band and the fakirs were all absent. In 1884 a volume of 780 pages and entitled "History of the County of Peterborough" was published, giving a short history of Canada, a description of the early settlements of Peterborough and Haliburton, and numerous biographical sketches. This book just cost the paltry sum of $11, so the information it contains should be treated with all due respect. The agent who was delegated to procure the material for the publication stepped along this way one day, and the following selection from page 378 is the intelligence which he gleaned from the natives:

The village of Bridgenorth has grown with the growth of steam navigation on the lakes. Its site in 1837 was still a wilderness. But it was not to be always thus, for Messrs. S. S. Kelly and W. Scott settled there and erected a sawmill. They were followed by Mr. M. S. Dean, who built a grist mill, steam saw and shingle mill. Mr. Dean also opened a general store, and on Bridgenorth being made a postoffice in 1854 he became first postmaster, which position he still holds. This is now a thriving village, having a population of about 150. Besides Mr. Dean's, there are three stores, kept by Mrs. Moore, Wm. Moffatt and Alex Morrison. Mr. W. B. Kelly is building a fine new sawmill to replace the one burned down in May of the present year. There is another sawmill, owned by Jacob Brumwell, about half a mile up the lake shore. The village also supports a blacksmith, a carpenter and a tailor. The hotel kept by L. G. Fobert contains excellent accommodation and is much patronized by tourists. Mr. W. B. Kelly is the owner of the "Bella Fair," a very comfortable steam yacht which can carry twenty persons. The only church in the village is a frame structure occupied by the Methodists. The school of S. S. No. 5 is located here and has an average attendance of sixty pupils. As has already been mentioned in this work, there is a floating bridge, one mile in length, across Chemong Lake at Bridgenorth, thus causing all the traffic of Ennismore township to pass through this lovely little village.

A Poets Presence

One of the notable neighbours was Mr. Telford, who was a true plowman poet, as well as St. Andrew's bard. A book of his writings was published in 1887 and is worthy of careful reading. Besides this collection he wrote many other poems for the Peterborough papers, and among them is his tribute to Bridgenorth, given below:

A Greenhorn's

Sketch of the village of Bridgenorth.
Sir, will you give me a small space to do a little spouting.
My rusted, almost clogged up brain,
requires a little outfitting,
As your late weeklies I perused it seemed a popular craze.
Each village, town and township round received their mead of praise.
There is one stands not far from me
no poet's pen has praised,
It is no wild, outlandish place where Greenland dogs are raised.
Bobcaygeon, Haliburton—no, Minden,
nor Lutterworth,
But the ambitious lake-girt spot, famed Village of Bridgenorth.
Why, sir, you look astonished; is its name not on your roll?
Did you think it was in Africa or near to the north pole?
Your hire Jim Connor's two-ten colt,
I will bet you ten and win it,
Keep speed up, you will reach Bridgenorth exact in thirteen minutes.
Permit me, sir, upon that place, a few remarks to make—
It stands in stately splendour on the banks of Chemong Lake.
And from the south the summer sun its noonday rays sends forth,
The wind-tossed waves of Chemong lash its shore upon the north.
First upon its eastern boundary let our picturing fancies rise,
There the smoke stacks of two sawmills stand conspicuous to our eyes,
Complete with all improvements in perfection, speed and ease,
They can rip the largest sawlog, cut and slice it up like cheese;
And near by them stands a gristmill though not of the largest size,
It is one all prudent farmers would do well to patronize:
He gives you the best brand of flour and good full weight allows,
Above the average weight of bran to feed the pigs and cows.
A humming sound, the shavings fly,
a planing mill we see,
The boards are hewed as smooth as glass and jointed to a T;
There, too, he bends wood every shape,
perfect and quickly done,
Yes, George could steam you up a frame to place upon the sun.
Three stores full to the door with goods all in the grocery line,
Where you can buy from pure cod oil down unto candles fine:
One takes and gives the letters out with P.O. stamped thereon, Another holds the office of your own town's telephone;
One place I nearly overlooked, that is the fine town hall,
It has one fault all will admit, and that is rather small:
The Court of Foresters sits there, and there Royal Templars meet
To keep the boys with right end up and walk upon their feet.
There was a stately tavern stood right on the centre block,
The fire bug touched its inward part and sent it up in smoke;
Its flames lit up the midnight sky and made the sleepers jump—
All that remains of it to-day is a large flowing pump.
Two sons of Vulcan hard at work,
they swing their hammers high,
From horseshoes on the anvil they do make the sparks to fly;

Likewise a school to teach the young more than their A B C's;
It needs it much, for children there are like the swarm of bees.
Above it stands a handsome church of the good John Wesley's creed,
Where all can hear the gospel sound
the anxious soul to feed;
If there be none free pardon needs, I simply would remark
It's the first village full of saints since Noah left the Ark.
A saddler's shop will take your eye where harness hangs for sale,
Made in the newest style to deck
your horse from head to tail;
And near to that friend Wiley sits the pegs and awl to use
To suit the feet of old and young with hand-made boots and shoes.
For carpenters, dear bless your soul,
one-half I could not name,
They'll build your house for nothing to uphold their present fame.
And Loyd Grey, the barrel hooper, large exporter to the States,
And bold Alister McAllister, he the bagpipes imitates.
I have sketched the village proper, to the western skirts I tread,
To look on the pine-shaded knoll where sleep the silent dead.
A little further west I reach the Chemong park so grand,
Where the magnificent hotel of Louis
Fobert stands,
That superb, capacious structure built in elegant design,
If the Prince of Wales was passing would be tempted there to dine;
Then the aristocratic tourists find a summers' quiet retreat,
With mine host, kind and obliging, all their longing wants to meet.
Its surroundings are most lovely, full of Beauty's master strokes,
The evergreen high pencilled pines and wide-spread shady oaks;
The greensward, summer's carpet smooth, spreads pleasures all around,
While waters from the Chemong kiss
the banks on the background.

Now, Mr. Editor, some day when your press is shut down,
You might head straight north and view it, it is just six miles from town.
If you don't see just as described,
you in your press may jam us,
And in your largest type me call a full-fledged ignoramus.

MOTHER'S GUIDE

When a young girl's thoughts become sluggish; when she has headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep; dislikes the society of other girls; then the mother should come to her aid promptly, for she possesses information of vital importance to the young daughter.

At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and has helped to bring three generations safely from girlhood to womanhood. Read what has accomplished for Miss Olson.

Miss Ellen M. Olson, of 417 North East Street, Kewanee, Ill., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham says:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me of backache, sideache, and established my periods after the best physicians in Kewanee had failed to help me, saying that an operation was necessary."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

ENTITLED TO PARTICULARS

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;
Mix, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

The above prescription has been found invaluable in the treatment of kidney, bladder and urinary troubles, and diseases arising therefrom, such as rheumatism, sciatica, lame back and lumbago, and we feel that the public are entitled to particulars concerning it.

A prominent physician states that the excellent results that have been obtained from the use of the mixture are due to its direct action upon the kidneys, assisting them in their work of filtering all poisonous waste matter and acids from the blood and expelling same in the urine, and at the same time restoring the kidneys to a healthy condition.

He further states that anyone suffering from afflictions of this nature will find it to be very beneficial, and suggests that it be given a trial.

THE FACTS ARE PUBLISHED

Some Medical Journals are making a strenuous fight against the sale of medicines which contain opiates, claiming that people are sometimes led into contracting drug habits through their use. It is certainly only fair that people should be informed as to the nature of medicines which they take, and some of the highest class firms have adopted the plan of plainly printing the formula on the bottle or wrapper. Prominent among these is the King Palmetto Company. Theirs is a remedy which has proven its worth, and many former sufferers from Kidney and Liver and Bowel troubles bear willing testimony to its virtues. King Palmetto Compound is offered for exactly what it is, without any false pretenses, a perfect and scientific preparation that will cure constipation, purify the blood, invigorate the system and overcome any tendency to stomach, liver or kidney complaints. This covers a wide ground, as almost any trouble, except the germ diseases, will disappear if the blood is made pure and the stomach, liver and kidneys stimulated into healthy activity. In fact this will ward off the germ diseases, as germs cannot thrive in a perfectly healthy body. Send for free sample to the King Palmetto Company Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold at $1.00 per bottle and is guaranteed by

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"Well, what did he want to tell me to shut up my mouth for?' cried Old Dry Belt. 'Men have died of less than that.'

"'Aw, shucks, Zony,' I says. 'A great, big man like you oughtn't to come down on a little cuss who's all thumb hand side and left foot.'

"'That be blowed,' says he, only he says it different. 'I'd like to know what business such a sawed off has to come and tell a full grown man like me to shut up his mouth. He'd ought to stay in a little man's place and talk sassy to people his own size. When he comes shooting off his bazoo to a man that could swaller him whole without loosening his collar it's impidence; that's what it is.'

"'Well, as a favor to me?' I says.

"'Well, if you put it in that way—I don't want to be small about it.'

"So Arizona goes up to Jones and sticks out his hand. 'There's my hand, Jones,' he says. 'I'm mighty sorry you told me to shut up my mouth,' says he.

"'So am I,' says Jones heartily, not taking in the sense of the words, but feeling that it was all in good intention. So that was all right, and I stood in with the management in great shape for fixing up the fuss so pleasant. But it didn't last. They say nothing lasts in this world. There's some pretty solid rocks in the Coeur d'Alene, however, and I should like to wait around and see if they don't hold out, but I'll never make it. I've been in too much excitement.

"Well, the next thing after Jonesy got established was that his niece must come out during vacation and pay him a visit. 'Jeerusalem!' thinks I. 'Jonesy's niece!' I had visions of a thin, yaller, sour little piece, with mouse colored hair plastered down on her head and an unkind word for everybody. Jonesy told me about her being in college, and then I stuck a pair of them nose grabber specks on the picture. I can stand most any kind of a man, but if there's anything that makes the tears come to my eyes it's a botch of a woman. I know they may have good-qualities and all that, but I don't like 'em, and that's the whole of it. We gave three loud groans when we got the news in the bull pen. And I cussed for ten minutes straight, without repeating myself once, when it so fell out that the members of the board rolled out our way the day the girl had to be sent for, and Jonesy couldn't break loose, and your uncle was elected to take the buckboard and drive twenty miles to the railroad. I didn't mind the going out, but that twenty miles back with Jonesy's niece! Say, I foamed like a soda water bottle when I got into the bull pen and told the boys my luck.

"'Well,' says Kyle Lambert, 'that's what you might expect; your sins have found you out.'

"'No, they ain't; they've caught me at home as usual,' says I. 'Well, I'll give that eastern blossom an idea of the quality of this country, anyhow.' So I togs myself up in the awfullest rig I could find; strapped two cartridge belts to me, every hole filled, and a gun in every holster; put candle grease on my mustache and twisted the ends up to my eye winkers; stuck a knife in my hatband and another in my boot; threw a shotgun and a rifle in the buckboard and pulled out quick through the colt pens before Jonesy could get his peeps on to me.

"Well, sir, I was jarred witless when I laid my eyes on that young woman. I'd had my mind made up so thorough as to what she must be that the facts knocked me cold. She was the sweetest, handsomest, healthiest female I ever see. It would make you believe in fairy stories again just to look at her. She was all the things a man ever wanted in this world rolled up in a prize package. Tall, round and soople, limber and springy in her action as a thoroughbred and with something modest yet kind of daring in her face that would remind you of a good, honest boy. Red, white and black were the colors she flew. Hair and eyes black, cheeks and lips red, and the rest of her white. Now, there's a pile of difference in them colors; when you say 'red,' for instance, you ain't cleaned up the subject, by a sight. My top knot's red, but that wasn't the color of her cheeks. No; that was a color I never saw before nor since. A rose would look like a tomater alongside of 'em. Then, too, I've seen black eyes so hard and shiny you could cut glass with 'em. And again that wasn't her style. The only way you could get a notion of what them eyes were like would be to look at 'em; you'd remember 'em all right if you did. Seems like the good Lord was kind of careless when he built Jonesy, but when he turned that girl out he played square with the fambly.

"I ain't what you might call a man that's easily disturbed in his mind, but I know I says to myself that first day, 'If I was ten year younger, young lady, they'd never lug you back east again.' Gee, man! There was a time when I'd have pulled the country up by the roots but I'd have had that girl! I notice I don't fall in love so violent as the years roll on. I can squint my eye over the cards now and say, 'Yes, that's a beautiful hand, but I reckon I'd better stay out,' and lay 'em down without a sigh, whereas when I was a young feller if I had three aces in sight I'd raise the rest of the gathering right out of their foot [illegible] are caught at it. Usually I got caught at it, for a man couldn't run the mint long with the kind of luck I have.

"Well, I was plumb disgusted with the fool way I'd rigged myself up, but, fortunately for me, Darragh, the station man, came out with the girl. 'There's Reddy, from your ranch, now, ma'am,' says he, and when he caught sight of me: 'What's the matter, Red? Are the Injuns up?'

"Darragh was a serious Irishman, and that's the mournfulest thing on top of the globe, and, besides, he believed anything you'd tell him. There ain't any George Washington strain in my stock, so I proceeded to get out of trouble.

"'They ain't up exactly,' says I, 'but it looked as if they were a leetle on the rise, and, being as I had a lady to look out for, I thought I'd play safe.'

"The color kind of went out of the girl's cheeks. Eastern folks are scandalous afraid of Injuns.

"'Perhaps I'd better not start?' says she.

"'Don't you be scart, miss,' says Darragh. 'You're all right as long as you're with Red—he's the toughest proposition we've got in this part of the country.'

"'I'm obliged to you, Darragh,' says I. He meant well, but hell's full of them people. I'd have given a month's wages for one lick at him.

"I stepped up to her, with my hat in my hand. 'Miss Andree,' says I (she was Jonesy's sister's child), 'if you come along with me I'll guarantee you a safe journey. If any harm reaches you it will be after one of the liveliest times in the history of the territory.'

"At this she laughed. 'Very well,' says she, 'I'll chance it, Mr. Red.'

"'His name ain't Red,' puts in Darragh, solemn. 'His name's Saunders. We call him Red because of his hair.'

"'I'm sorry I beg your pardon,' says Miss Loys, all of a fluster.

"'That's all right, ma'am. No damage done at all,' says I. 'It's useless for me to try to conceal the fact that my hair is a little on the auburn. You mustn't mind what Darragh says. We've had a good deal of hot weather lately and his brains have gone wrong. Now hop in and we'll touch the breeze.' So I piled her trunk in, and away we flew.

"Bud and Dandy were a corking little team. They'd run the whole distance from the railway to the ranch if you'd let 'em—and I never interfered. A straight line and the keen jump hits me all right when I'm going some place, although I can loaf with the next man on occasion. So we missed most of the gulleys.

"I stepped up to her, with my hat in my hand."

"The ponies were snorting and pulling grass, the buckboard bouncing behind 'em like a rubber ball, and we were crowding into the teeth of the northwest wind, which made it seem as if we were traveling 100 per cent better than a Dutch clock would show.

"'Goodness gracious,' says the girl, 'do you always go like this in this country? And aren't there any roads?'

"'Why, no,' says I. 'Hike!' and I snapped the blacksnake over the ponies' ears, and they strung themselves out like a brace of coyotes, nearly pulling the buckboard out from under us. 'Sometimes we travel like this,' I says. 'And as for roads, I despise 'em. You're not afraid, are you?'

"'Indeed I'm not. I think it's glorious. Might I drive?'

"'If I can smoke,' says I, 'then you can drive.' I'd heard about young women who'd been brought up so tender that tobacker smoke would ruin their morals or something, and I kind of wondered if she was that sort.

"'That's a bargain,' says she prompt. 'But how you're going to light a cigar in this wind I don't see.'

"'Cigarette,' says I. 'And if you would kindly hold my hat until I get one rolled I'll take it kind of you.'

"'But what about the horses?' says she.

"'Put your foot on the lines and they'll make. That's the main and only art of driving on the prairie—not to let the lines get under the horses' feet. All the rest is just sit still and look at the scenery.'

"She held my hat for a windbreak, and I got my paper pipe together. And then—not a match! I searched every pocket. Not a lucifer. That is more of what I got for being funny and changing my clothes. And then she happened to think of a box she had for traveling and fished it out of her grip.

"'Young lady,' I says, 'until it comes to be your bad luck—which I hope won't ever happen—to be very much in love with a man who won't play back you'll never properly know the pangs of a man that's got all the materials to smoke with except the fire. Now, if I have a chance to do as much for you some time I'm there.'

"She laughed and crinkled up her eyes at me. 'All right, Mr. Saunders. When that obdurate man disdains me I'll call for your help.'

"'The place for the man that would disdain you is an asylum,' says I. 'And the only help I'd give you would be to put him there.' She blushed real nice. I like to see a woman blush. It's a trick they can't learn.

"But I see she was put out by my easy talk, so I gave her a pat on the back and says: 'Don't mind me, little girl. We fellers see an eighteen carat woman so seldom that it goes to our heads. There wasn't no offense meant, and you'll be foolish if you put it there. Let's shake hands.'

"So she laughed again and shook. I mean shook. It wasn't like handing you so much cold fish, the way some women shake hands. And Loys and me, we were full pards from date.

"I made one more bad break on the home trip.

"'Jonesy will be powerful glad to see you,' says I.

"'Jonesy?' says she, surprised. 'Jonesy? Oh, is that what you call Uncle Albert?'

"'Well, it does sometimes happen that way,' says I, and then my anti George Washington blood rose again. 'You see, he was kind of lonesome out there at first, and we took to calling him Jonesy to cheer him up and make him feel at home,' I says.

"'Oh,' says she. And I reckon she didn't feel so horribly awful about it, for after looking straight toward the gulf of Mexico for a minute suddenly she bust right out and hollered. It seems that Jones cut a great deal of grass to a swipe when he was back home in his own street. It's astonishing how little of a man it takes to do that in the east. We had an argument once on the subject. 'It's intellect does it,' says Silver Tompkins. 'Oh, that's it, eh?' says Wind River Smith. 'Well, I'm glad I'm not troubled that way. I'd rather have a forty-four chest than a No. 8 head any day you can find in the almanac.' And I'm with Smithy. This knowing so much it makes you sick ain't any better than being so healthy you don't know nothing, besides being square miles less fun. Another thing about the eastern folks is they're so set in their views, and it don't matter to them whether the facts bear out their ideas or not.

"'Here, take a cigar,' says one of the board of directors to me—a little fat old man, who had to draw in his breath before he could cross his legs—'them cigarettes 'll ruin your healthy' says he. Mind you, he was always kicking and roaring about his liver or stummick or some of his works. I'm a little over six foot three in my boots when I stand up straight, and I stood up straight as the Lord would let me and gazed down at that little man. 'Pardner,' says I, 'I was raised on cigarettes. When I was two years old I used to have a pull at the bottle and then my cigarette to aid digestion. It may be conceit on my part,' I says, 'but I'd rather be a wreck like me than a prize fighter like you.' They're queer. You'd think that that little fat man would have noticed the difference without my pointing it out to him.

"Well, I don't have to mention that Loys stirred things up considerable around the Chanta Seeches and vicinity. Gee! What a diving into wannegans and a fetching out of good clothes there was! And trading of useful coats and things for useless but decorating silk handkerchers and things! And what a hair cutting and whisker trimming!

"But Kyle was the man from the go in. And it was right it should be so. If ever two young people were born to make trouble for each other it was Kyle and Loys.

"A nice, decent fellow was Kyle. Nothing remarkable, you could say, and that was one of his best points. Howsomever, he had a head that could do plain thinking, a pair of shoulders that discouraged frivoling, and he was as square a piece of furniture as ever came out of a factory. More'n that, he had quite a little education, saved his money, never got more than good natured loaded, and he could ride anything that had four legs, from a sawhorse to old tiger Buck, who would kick your both feet out of the sturrups and reach around and bite you in the small of the back so quick that the boys would be pulling his front hoofs out of your frame before you'd realize that the canter had begun. Nice horse, Buck. He like to eat Jonesy up one morning before Silver and me could get to the corral. Lord, the sounds made my blood run cold! Old Buck squealing like a boar pig in a wolf trap, and Jonesy yelling, 'Help! Murder! Police!' Even that did not cure Jones from sticking his nose where it wasn't wanted. Why, once— But, thunder, it would take me a long while to tell you all that happened to Jones.

"One thing that didn't hurt Kyle any in the campaign was that he was most as good looking for a man as she was for a woman. They made a pair to draw to, I tell you, loping over the prairie full of health and youngness! You wouldn't want to see a prettier sight than they made, and you could see it at any time, for they were together whenever it was possible. Loys was so happy it made you feel like a boy again to see her. She told me in private that it was wonderful how the air out here agreed with her, and I said it was considered mighty bracing and never let on that they proclaimed their state of mind every time they looked at each other. I reckon old Smart Aleck Jonesy was the only party in the township who didn't understand. Kyle used to put vinegar in his coffee and things like that, and if you'd ask him, 'What's that fellow's name that runs the clothing store in town?' he'd come out of his trance and say 'Yes' and smile very amiable to show that he thoroughly admitted you were right.

"Well, things went as smooth and easy as bobsledding until it came time for Loys to be moseying back to college again.

"Then Kyle took me into his confidence. I never was less astonished in my whole life, and I didn't tell him so. 'Well, what are you going to do about it?' says I.

"He kind of groaned and shook his head. 'I dunno,' says he. 'Do you think she likes me, Red?' I felt like saying, 'Well, if you ain't got all the traits but the long ears I miss my guess,' but I made allowances, and says I: 'Well, about that I don't think I ought to say anything. Still, if I had only one eye left I could see plain that her education's finished. She don't want any more college, that girl don't.'

"'Think not?' says he, bracing up. And then by and by they went out to ride, for Jonesy was good to the girl. I'll say that for him. He was willing to do anything for her in reason, according to his views. But Kyle wasn't in them views; he was out of the picture as far as husbands went.

"They came back at sunset, when the whole world was glowing red the same as they were. I reached for the field glasses and took a squint at them. There was no harm in that, for they were well behaved young folks. One look at their faces was enough. There were three of us in the bull pen—Bob and Wind River Smith and myself. We'd brought up a herd of calves from Nanley's ranch, and we were taking it easy. 'Boys,' says I under my breath, 'they've made the riffle.'

"'No,' says they, and then everybody had to take a pull at the glasses.

"'Well, I'm glad,' says Smithy, and darn my buttons if that old hardshell's voice didn't shake. 'They're two of as nice kids as you'd find in many a weary day,' says he. 'And I wish 'em all the luck in the world.'

"'So do I,' says I, 'and I really think the best we could do for 'em would be to shoot Jones.'

"'Man! Won't he sizz?' says Bob. And you can't blame us old codgers if we had a laugh at that, although it was such a powerful serious matter to the youngsters.

Rev. P. K. McRae, Forks Baddeck, C. B.: "I always count it a pleasure to recommend the Dr. Slocum Remedies to my parishioners. I believe there is nothing better for throat and lung troubles or weakness or run-down system. For speaker's sore throat I have found Psychine very beneficial."

Rev. W. H. Stevens, Paisley, Ont.: "Psychine seemed just the stimulant my system needed. I shall add my testimony as to its efficacy at every opportunity."

Rev. R. M. Browne, Amherst Head, N.S., "I have often recommended Psychine since taking it myself, for it is a cure for the troubles you specify."

Rev. Chas. Stirling, Bath, N.B.: "I have used Psychine in my family; the results were marvelous. I have visited people who state that they never used its equal. I strongly recommend it.

Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, Markdale, Ont.: "I have taken two bottles of Psychine and am pleased to say that I am greatly improved in health. I was troubled with my throat, but now I find it about restored to its normal condition. I find my work very much less taxing. I believe Psychine all claimed for it."

Joe Young and Will Gereghis, who have the contract for cutting 2,000 blocks of ice for the progressive firm of Jopling Bros., have up to the present time 1,000 blocks out. They, no doubt, have been hindered by the severe weather during the past two weeks.

Three red foxes were seen on Monday on the lake. They had come from Telford's woods and were making straight for the village of Bridgenorth, when their course was somewhat changed by the appearance of some ten or fifteen of the natives with shotguns and dogs. However, their attempt to capture them proved futile. No doubt they will never visit Bridgenorth again, as the reception they received was not of the best. Ammunition has been in great demand at the local stores since the attack.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. Cupid Has Been Busy In The Stewart Settlement

Leap Year Love Poems Received By a Number of the Youths—And Spring Not Yet Here.

REPLY TO MISS HOPEFUL

Examiner Special:

Stewart's Otonabee, Feb. 18. — A number of the boys of this settlement have each received anonymous love letters written in poetry which have set them guessing. At first they attempted to hide the facts but in a confidential conversation one informed another of the billet-doux he received and upon consultation it was discovered that the letters were similar. The poem runs like this:—

My dear and most respected Sir,
I send you this your love to stir,
I have chosen first of all
On you to make my Leap Year call;

I've given you the foremost chance,
So you may freely take advance,
Your heart and hand I ask, no jest,
I hope you'll grant my fond request.

And send me back without delay,
An answer saying yes or nay,
If you refuse I'll ask another,
For a wish once lost you can't recover

Then you must Leap Year laws obey,
And down to me five dollars pay.
Besides, kind sir, a handsome dress,
I ask no more, and take no less.

Now you may think my letter funny,
But I must have the man or money.
Now please sent me back a reply;
Let me be yours until I die.

MISS HOPEFUL.

One of the youths, whose fancy has possibly already turned to thoughts of love, although spring is apparently yet far distant, sends the following reply to Miss Hopeful, at Lovers' Cottage, Farewell:

Dear Miss Hopeful—
With feelings of deepest sorrow I have learned of your recent heavy loss. You have my sincere sympathy in this your affliction. With hope that you may speedily retrieve your loss, I express my feeling:

If I met you face to face,
Maiden fair, and full of grace,
I should bow and doff my hat,
Say "your servant," and all that.

While I watch your pretty ways
I could only smile and praise;
And you'd never dream your lover
Could a flaw in you discover.

But I'm bolder, lady mine,
Hid behind St. Valentine;
And I'll count you, one or two Faults that I can plainly see.

Once I saw a tempest rise,
Clouding o'er your pretty eyes,
When a guest came to the door
Who was old and sad and poor.

Once I saw you sit at ease
With your book upon your knees,
While your mother, patient saint,
Did your work without complaint.

Ah, my pretty Valentine,
E're I ask you to be mine
I must know that lovely face
Shines with more than surface grace;
That your captivating art
Does not hide a careless heart.
Lest when tresses brown grow white,
Eyes grow dim which now are bright;
Age and trouble grow apace,
Stealing beauty from your face,
I should bitterly repine
Choosing you my Valentine.

Respected Sir,

Men Return Home From Hauling Logs—Other Notes.

Bridgenorth, Feb. 17.—The Kelly Bros. got through with their hauling of logs on Wednesday the 12th and Adam McWilliams, the foreman, and his men arrived in the village on Wednesday night. Quite a few of the men are married and they were pleased to once more see their wives and families. It is the intention of the Kelly Bros. to return again to cut wood if the snow settles as it has been about 3 1-2 feet deep in Harvey township this winter.

The ice harvest is on and Messrs. Gately and Young also Mr. T. Cullen, are taking it out at a great rate. The ice is about 20 inches thick and of the finest quality.

ILLUSTRIOUS CAREER OF THOMAS EDISON

The latest biography of Edison, the great inventor, tells the story of a man who fought his way to success.

The story more particularly of his earlier years, is most interesting, and with it the author gives us as the years go on a record of his experiments,—many disappointments, and his great successes, so far-reaching in helping the progress of the world's well-being and prosperity. Close upon sixty-one years ago, Thomas Elva Edison was born in the little town of Milan, Ohio, where his father resided. From his earliest years he was an inquiring youngster, always asking questions and requiring answers, and when pushing matters too far he would receive the answer, I don't know," he demanded "Why don't you know?" Like many others of the world's great men he owes much of his success in life to the wisdom, love and care of his mother. Edison's own testimony is:—

"I did not have my mother long, but in that length of time she cast over me an influence which has lasted all my life. The good effects of her early training I can never lose. If it had not been for her appreciation and her faith in me at a certain time in my experience, I should very likely never have become an inventor."

Addled at School

At school, he tells us, he was careless, and always at the foot of his class. "One day his teacher told the inspector that I was 'addled', and that it would not be worth while keeping me at school any longer." The boy went home to his mother in tears. "Mother love was aroused, mother pride was wounded," he says, "and she took me back to the school and angrily told the teacher that he did not know what he was talking about that I had more brains than he had himself." From this time his teacher was his mother, his school life only lasting three months. His mother, a Canadian girl, had been a school teacher previous to her marriage. When he was about eleven years of age it occurred to him that he might assist the family exchequer by engaging in some work, and after considerable opposition on the part of his parents he applied for and obtained the privilege of selling newspapers, books, magazines, candies, etc. on the trains of the Grand Trunk Railroad. Even at this early age his inventive genius was to the front, and he appropriated an unused compartment of the train for a printing office and chemical laboratory, and here he published the first newspaper printed on a train. "The Weekly Herald," described as a little bit of a thing about the size of a ladies handkerchief. This portion of the book, treating of the inventor's early upward career, though perhaps not the most important, it certainly was most entertaining. The author's chatty and agreeable style renders the record very interesting indeed. One day Edison unfortunately set fire to the compartment in which his printing office was, with the result that he, his laboratory, and printing press were chucked out on the platform.

The Fastest Operator

We next find him a telegraphist and described as the fastest operator in the employ of the Western Union, but still pursuing knowledge in chemical experiments, and his great aim was to have a laboratory where he could carry out those ideas of his own which were gathering so quickly in his brain. Meanwhile he became manager of the Law Gold Indicator, and made improvements in it. This was on of his first successes, and after it came "The Duplex Telegraph" Other inventions in telegraphy followed, and we come to "The Telephone." Edison's share in the perfecting of it not in the invention of this instrument now occupying a place in the commercial world, is remarkably well told by Mr. Jones, who gives many interesting and amusing anecdotes of the early experiments by Edison and others. The wonderful persistence and dogged perseverance of the man is perhaps best shown in his continuous night and day work in connection with "The Electric Light," and the history of this important period in the inventor's life is set out very fully. Still further evidence of the inventor's determination to overcome all obstacles will be found in his labours in connection with the "Talking Machine," or phonograph, the patent of which was taken out in 1877. Mr. Jones gives a most amusing account of Edison's endeavors to obtain a record of his baby's crying. The phonograph came to the Edison laboratory and the first baby to the Edison home about the same time."

Phonograph Wouldn't Cry

He managed records of the baby's language all right, but cry it would not, and the father's only attempt to bring about the desired wail was a dire failure. Mr. Jones recounts many interesting incidents in connection with the early days of the phonograph. Next came "The Kinetoscope," or moving pictures, at altogether an original invention, but vastly improved from the Zeotrope, the little invention which suggested the idea to Edison. Other inventions followed, such as the magnetiscope, separator, etc. We are told that as far back as 1880 Edison applied for a patent covering wireless telegraphy, and was allowed one in 1891, but he did not pursue his investigations in this direction with his customary zeal. He was content to give way to Marconi, for whom he has a very sincere admiration. The Trasshopper Telegraph was of this period. It was an invention whereby communication could be made between telegraphic stations and moving trains. The features of this system are clearly explained by Mr. Jones. "Electrocution" is next dealt with, and as example given of death thereby. Among other matters to which separate chapters are devoted are "War Machines," "The Storage Battery," "Nation Books," "Banquets," "In Europe," "Home Life," "Edison's Personality and His Opinions." The work throughout gives ample evidence of care and patience in the accumulation of facts, and the manner in which they are set before the reader is a strong testimony to the author's ability. Twenty-one full page illustrations, including portraits of Edison at various periods of his life, accompany the letterpress.

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

LOOKING BACKWARD AT THE VILLAGE OF BRIDGENORTH

None ever gave a word of praise,
Till our poet gave it then.

I think our famous poet thought,
We might need a word of cheer
To help us bear the burden
As we toiled from year to year.

His words, indeed, do courage give,
Then let us while we may
Toil on, and striving honestly
Our every debt to pay.

I hope his good intentions
Will never be forgot;
Thanks, for his good opinion
Of this pleasant, little spot.

But both our noble butchers,
He left entirely out
They can give you sheaks or ham,
Or gristle, tail or snout.

And for any line of woodwork
You need not pass us by
Or for turning steel or iron
We can make the shavings fly.

And anything we understate
We'll endeavour to complete
With the most learned and skilful—
And do it just as cheap.

And now my rhyme is ended,
How interior you exclaim;
That must be a real greenhorn
I'm sure, it's not the same.

Chemong Lake

This is an artificial or "made" lake caused by the building of the Beathorn dam. According to local tradition this was at one time a muddy creek which could be crossed on a plank. When it became Mud Lake, it also became an obstacle in the traveller's path and the first means of crossing was by a ferry which was simply a large scow propelled by oars. For many years this tedious and labourious form of navigation obtained but was finally supplanted by a floating bridge constructed by Wm. Trenaum. The floats in this bridge were of the virgin pine and most of them are still doing duty in bridges or wharves at various points. At the time of building, the first floating bridge was considered a marvel of engineering skill and people came from many distant places to see this new method of building a road on the water. It proved a great boon and soon became so much travelled that the maintenance of the flood alone has been a big item of expense.

When the information seeker for the History of the County of Peterborough halted at Chemong Lake he became enthused and the following extract from page 230 was accordingly let loose:—

Chemong Lake which separates the township of Ennismore from those of Smith and North Monaghan, is a fine straight stretch of water, twelve miles long by one mile wide. From the high banks on both sides, and especially from the road along the eastern shore leading from Bridgenorth to Selwyn, a lovely view is obtained of tree-covered hills rising abruptly from the water's edge, and of thriving farms, until the view is lost in the purplish haze hanging over the far-distant trees to the right and the lake to the left. This lake offers a splendid stretch for boat-racing, and is often used for that purpose by Peterborough's Hanians, it being only six miles from that town. Some of the people in this district are guilty of a terrible barbarism. They overlook the euphonious beauty of the Indian word Chemong and call this lovely pool o fwater Mud Lake, thus giving to strangers, who have never seen it, the idea ota dirty swamp or marsh being located in their vicinity, instead of a deep expanse of clear and fresh water, as it really is."

Although the above was written 24 years ago, it still very aptly describes the view which is improving with age.

According to advertisement Chemong air is heavily charged with ozone, and is invigorating, to the full extent of the law. It (Chemong air) regenerates the degenerate, and winds up the run down; it helps the helpless and animates the anaemic; it is death to germs and life to Germans; it makes two hearts beat as one and delivers—the goods.

Once upon a time a common Man spent three-sevenths of a day at Chemong and when he returned home he was a Great Poet. While he was under the hypnotic spell, he wrote something on the wallpaper in his room. When translated to cold type and printer's ink, it looked like this:

Chemong Lake and Chemong Park
(By a resident of Peterborough who with his family camps there regularly—Printed by special request.)

To Chemong Park we took our way,
It was a beautiful July day,
To fish for bass it was our will—
We drove right on to Kelly's mill.

Our party numbered exactly eight,
All full of cheer and spirits bright,
Our annual picnic all the talk
Along the banks of Chemong Lake.

We landed there at half-past nine,
And then each took his hook and line,
But the wind it blew so very strong
Across the Lovely Lake Chemong.

To walk across he might do worse,
Each walked the bridge, I led my horse,
The bridge in miles three-quarters long,
Across the lovely Lake Chemong.

We then unhitched at end of bridge—
The lake was calm—under the ridge,
Our express wagon so snug along
The shores of lovely Lake Chemong.

And then we went to catch the frogs
Among the rushes and the logs,
For it is said by lad and lass
That frogs are best for catching bass.

And then to fishing we did go,
Our hooks and lines we all did throw
On the floating bridge we strung along
To fish for bass on Lake Chemong.

The day it seemed so very short,
Our fishing there it was fine sport;
We caught the bass, over one foot long,
On the floating bridge at Lake Chemong.

Sun rather hot, near six o'clock,
Our horse to wagon we did yoke:
We left Fanningme's slipping bill,
And then re-crossed to Kelly's mill.

And then we drove to Chemong Park,
We could not leave till nearly dark,
Everything lovely, rich and rare,
Who would not want to live out there?

Oh, let me not forget one thing,
And that is Chemong mineral spring,
Crystal, clear water, good and sweet,
To drink it is the greatest treat,

The cottages all look so fine,
The Chemong hotel it makes a shine,
The great big trees to be among
In the lovely park of Lake Chemong.

And now just here let me declare
That Nature she has done her share,
For beauty she has made her mark,
Those lovely grounds of Chemong Park.

There is my friend Telford lives quite near,
Next to the Gilmour Church I hear,
Well may he sing a good Scotch song
About the lovely Park Chemong.

And when we get the street cars there,
We'll jump aboard and pay our fare,
And in the town remember long
A day of pleasure at Chemong.

Here is some more of that which consists of rhyme and time and which the learned ones call poetry. Read it, its application may make you famous.

When you've got a thing to say,
Say it; don't take half a day.
When your tale's got little in it,
Crowd the whole thing in a minute;
Life is short—a fleeting vapor;
Don't fill the whole blamed paper
With a tale which, at a pinch,
Could be compared in an inch;
Boil her down until she simmers;
Polish her until she glimmers.
When you've got a thing to say,
Say it; don't take half a day.

To write a complete history of Bridgenorth and its environs would require thirteen common scribbling books, the price of which is not to be had in these hard times, so the truth embodied in the above "pome" has been seriously taken to heart, and hence this essay is brought to a grand conclusion with best wishes to the author of the previous sketch on this subject.

Sheffield Choir Had its Origin Under A Gas Lamp

Developed into One of the Finest Musical Organizations Now Existing.

TO TOUR THROUGH CANADA

The Wharfedale and Airedale Observer printed in England, has the following interesting account of the institution and the evolution of the great Sheffield Choir which during this year will make a tour of Canada:—

"The Sheffield Choir, one of the finest combinations of singers that England has ever seen, originated under a street gas-lamp.

Not a very bright start, some would say. It was (not, but the choir has since known what it is to be the very sun of the choral firmament. To vary the metaphor, there are no fields which it has not conquered. These vocally gifted Yorkshiremen aristocrats have sung in most of the leading cities in this country, and have made a triumphant tour through the most musical of all foreign countries — Germany. They have been through practically every work yet written, and, if necessary, could sing them with variations. To hear them sing "The Messiah" is to marvel at the beauty of tone that a trained body of singers is capable of. To hear them in "The Dream of Gerontius" is to be amazed at the extent to which they have carried the art of "colouring."

Some people attribute these remarkable results to the Yorkshire air; but the Sheffielder smiles at the suggestion. If you ask him what the secret really is, he whispers two words: "Dr. Coward." There you have in a nutshell. "If you want the story of our choir," said Mr A. S. Barrows, the secretary of the S'heff Musical Union (which is the choir's concert name) to our representative, "I shall have to talk about Dr. Coward. He is the choir.

From Cutler's Boy to Conductor

And thus we get back into the gas-lamp. It was away back in the seventies—in 1876, to be precise—that the foundations of this great combination were laid. Dr. Coward was one of three or four great musical enthusiasts who had an informal talk on the subject in a Sheffield street one night, and it was decided to form a choir. The famous conductor was then plain Mr. Coward, a member of the scholastic profession. But he had long had a strong penchant for the divine art, and all his spare time was devoted to improving his theoretical knowledge. It is related that while still a boy, employed in a cutler's workshop, he used to make the journeys to and from his home with his head buried in a music score, and was frequently in violent collision with people who were not active enough to step out of his way. Little did they know then what a budding genius they had in their midst. From the cutler's shop Master Coward went to be a school teacher, but he eventually decided to devote himself entirely to music. And his rise was coincident with that of the Sheffield choir.

The latter came into existence as a tonic sol-fa association, and Dr. Coward began in the same thorough way which characterises everything he does. Everyone desiring admission to membership had to hold the Tonic Sol-fa College certificate. He paid particular attention to sight-reading, and for a considerable time the singers were drilled with a vigour worthy of an army sergeant. In course of time their conductor began to feel proud.

You Can't Sing

"Come and hear them," he said to a musical expert one day. The invitation was accepted. The result proved epoch-making. The doctor's friend listened slightly while the choir were put through their paces. The theoretical part of the performance was beyond criticism. Not a note was misplaced; the time was perfect. The conductor confidently awaiting the verdict.

"It is all very clever," said the expert, "but you can't sing." The words fell like a discordant crash of symbols. The choir could not sing! Surely, never was such an insult offered! But the significance of the incident was not lost on Dr. Coward. He pondered deeply over the subject for some days, and the result was that he came to the conclusion that expression and colour had been forgotten in the anxiety for mechanical accuracy; although, be it noted, the choir had already won several prizes at competitions in Wales and at the Crystal Palace.

Shortly afterwards the sol-fa certificate qualification was abolished, and members who could pass the Union's voice and theory test, in either notation were admitted. The doctor went into the work with more enthusiasm than ever, and the singing began to show a perceptible improvement. Then he took his degree as a Bachelor of Music and the Union honoured the occasion by giving a performance of his degree exercise, "The Story of Bethany."

Ever Forward

Those were the beginnings of the Sheffield Choir. Great things have been done since then. "In 1887," said Mr. Barrows, "we actually spent £30 in the engagement of a band to play at one of our concerts. Of course, we have spent much more than that since, but the £30 venture was a historical occasion, in view of the rest of the funds. Three years after that, our conductor having become a Doctor of Music in the meantime, a musical festival was organised and the singers of Sheffield combined in a performance of "Elijah." In 1892 a more important festival was arranged and Dr. August Manns, who came down to conduct, with Dr. Coward and chorus-master, was so struck with our singing that he invited a number of us to take part in the Triennial Handel Festival at the Crystal Palace, and we have sung at each one since.

"Crowns? We have 440 members of the choir; I can remember when we gave a concert with ten tenors."

The Sheffield singers can indeed point to a remarkable record. They have sung in the presence of the Queen and members of the German Royal Family, and before the Canadian Premier when he was in London last year. They have entertained Earl Fitzwilliam's guests at Wentworth House, and they have given performances under the conductorship of such men as Richter, Henry Wood, Nikisch, Weingartner, Dr Harris of Canada, Dr. Parry, and Mr. Coleridge-Taylor. They have charmed London frequently.

The outstanding event in the choir's career was the visit to Germany in conjunction with the Leeds Choral Union, which took place in 1906, and the stolid Teutons have since admitted that, if we are a nation of shopkeepers, we have not lost the art of choral singing. The degree of excellence attained by the choir was described as unprecedented by Dr. Coward as "The Electrical Mutoolan." The latter indeed, worked like a Trojan throughout, and gave the vocalists no rest.

In pastures New

This year the choir is to spread its fame in Canada. The members leave England on October 24th, and return on November 24th. They will visit Montreal, Toronto, Buffalo and other towns, and will probably visit Boston. The strenuous nature of the tour may be gathered from the fact that they will sing every day with the exception of one.

Organisation is one of the most remarkable features of the choir. For many years, to quote an example, classes have been run by the Union, and here, for a nominal fee, those desirous of gaining the necessary knowledge to pass the tests are taught by leading members of the choir. Dr. Coward himself once took charge of this work, and since he relinquished it Messrs. Jeffs, Burrows, and Jessop have carried it on. Mr. Burrows, it should be noted, is not only an indefatigible secretary, but a composer of glees, and his synopsis of Elgar's "King Olaf" is now published with the work.—Huffy Green.

Dying in his signal-box at Peterborough, Northants, the other day, a signalman nobly did his duty and averted a possible railway disaster. The man, whose name was Edward Woods, aged 52, was suddenly taken ill while alone in the signal-box at Peterborough, on the Great Northern Railway. He had just passed a train, but remembering the fact that his further inactivity would result in grave peril to passengers, he blocked the line and died. Death is supposed to have been caused by heart disease. A pathetic feature of the tragedy is that Mrs. Woods is lying dangerously ill. The brave labour of Woods is similar to a deed performed some time ago at Maindee West Junction, Monmouthshire, when Signalman Morgan locked his levers and set his signals at danger at the moment of becoming insensible from sudden paralysis. The advisability of having more than one signalman in a box in case of sudden illness has often been the subject of discussion. Early last year a signalman named Greenhalgh was found dead in his cabin near Blackburn, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire main line, having apparently been seized with a fit. The discovery was made by a driver of a train who found the signal of Greenhalgh's box against him, and getting no response to his repeated whistles, sent his fireman to see what was the matter.

A thrilling story of the sea was told in Bristol the other day upon the arrival of the trawler Elizabeth Anne of Bideford, with sand from Appledore. The vessel, with a crew consisting of Capt. Irwin and his sons George and Sidney, left Appledore Westmorelgnd, on a recent Monday morning. When the harbour bar was reached they ran into the Race, and for nearly an hour were helpless. The breakers ran mast-high and the deck was practically cleared of fittings. Sidney, aged 18, made a daring attempt to clear the Race by launching a small boat and getting alongside of the trawler, which he endeavoured to pull away. His small craft was caught by a huge wave, dashed against the trawler and wrecked. The boy clung to the ropes and when called upon to board the vessel pathetically replied that he couldn't as both his legs were broken. At considerable risk the father succeeded in getting the boy aboard, but for an hour Sidney had to hold on with the seas swamping him every time the vessel lurched. At the last moment, when hope was about to be given up, assistance came and the boy was taken in to Clovelly. With difficulty the trawler was navigated to Bristol where it was found the captain was suffering from injured ribs.

Many discoveries of interest to the antiquarian have been made by workmen engaged in digging the foundations for the new London General Post-office on the site formerly occupied by Christ's Hospital. A part of the wall build around the city of London by the Roman has been found running beneath the school playground. It was two feet below the surface, where it was seven feet in width and extended to a depth of 16 feet. It was built in the usual Roman method and was composed of Kentish rag stone from the Maidstone district, with bands of tiles about two feet six inches apart. Connected with the wall were two circular bastions. The wall and the ditch that ran outside it have now been cleared. In the latter a number of skates made of bone were found. Many specimens of Roman and mediaeval pottery have also been discovered, as well as a large number of coins. Special instructions have been issued to the workmen in order that the links with the past that the site is likely to yield may be preserved. The Society of Antiquaries of London is carefully examining the excavations.

SCOTLAND

While workmen were discharging the cargo of esparto grass from the Dundee steamer Aurora, at Burntisland, Fifeshire, they were startled by coming across a man's body. The man was dressed in the uniform of a French soldier, but the trosers were of the overall sort worn by the men in the stokehole. On this being discovered, it was stated by some of the crew that a man in the garb of a soldier had boarded the steamer, when loading at Arzen, on the coast of Africa, and begged a passage with the steamer, as he wished to get away from the French army. The permission was refused, but the same night a pair of trousers went amissing, and from the fact that he wore a pair of the same style, it is concluded that the deceased was the same man. He had evidently got on board the steamer at night and secreted himself, but how he came to be buried among the cargo remains a mystery. One of the bears he wore was lying some distance in the hold from the spot where the body was found and it is believed that he had been using this to attract the attention of the crew by knocking against the ship's side or under deck before he lost consciousness. The tunic or jacket he wore bears figures which might serve to indicate the man's official number in the army and an embroidered waist belt also bears markings which might lead to his identification. It is supposed the man, who appeared to be about twenty-two years of age, is a German, who had enlisted in the French Army. The body, which was much decomposed, was interred at the instance of the local authorities.

A violent southeasterly hurricane, with torrencial rain, swept over Kirkcaldy district recently. The gale set up a heavy sea and huge breakers rolled along the shore, causing considerable damage to the Sands road. At different points portions of the embankment and roadway were washed away, while houses and workshops were flooded to a depth of several feet. In many cases workmen could not gain entrance to their premises until the breakfast hour, when the water had subsided. In a common lodging-house the accumulation of water was such that the inmates when leaving for their work in the early morning had to make their exit by means of ladders. Caravans which occupied stances on the Sands road had narrow escapes. The inmates fearing the rising of the sea, got up during the night and had their waggons shifted to places of safety. Their alarm was well grounded, for the caravans had not been long removed when subsidences occurred where they formerly stood.

IRELAND

Considerable indignation has been caused throughout Galway by the manner in which the police have effected some arrests recently. The other morning a large force of police arrived in Sligo by car from Geevagh, South Sligo, escorting nineteen prisoners, who had been arrested on warrants charging them with obstructing the delivery of the mails. Processes were being sent by registered letters to tenants who were negotiating for the purchase of their holdings and to other tenants, in the Geevagh district. The men were taken off their beds in the dead of night. One man who came to his door in his shirt was pulled out of his house and kept standing on the street almost naked for a quarter of an hour. All the prisoners were kept on the road at Geevagh Cross for over two hours in the bitter cold, and were then driven to Sligo. Two of the prisoners were handcuffed across a side-car, and one had his arm lacerated. They were refused breakfast on their arrival in Sligo, and are all now confined in the police barracks. They have been visited by Mr. P A Mcllhugh, M.P. The affair has created the wildest excitement in Sligo town and county.

William Rooney, a County Down farmer, left Dundrum on Stranraer Lough, at nine one night, and put off to cross the sands in the moonlight on horseback. Next morning his horse reached home, riderless, and in an exhausted condition. On search being made, Rooney's body was found only a few yards from shallow water. It is evident that the farmer was overtaken by the tide, which comes up over the sands at a terrific pace, and that a fearful race for life ensued, the horse showing every sign of how hard it had been ridden. Rooney lost the race practically on the post. A few yards from the spot where his body was found he would have been safe.

Advices have been received at Buncrana, Lough Swilly, that the War Office intends erecting a barracks at Ned's Point and Dunaree Forts, on the East Coast of Lough Swilly. This action has been in contemplation for several years, and the sum of £15,000 had been allotted for the scheme in 1905, but difficulty in procuring the necessary land shelved the project until the present. The district is one of the most important training centres in Ireland for regulars and Militia.

The Donegal fisheries which up to Christmas had been a complete failure, have recently been attended with great success. The catches landed on several days have exceeded £1,000 daily, some of the boats making shots of 70 and 80 crans. The herrings are the finest possible quality, and appear to be working westward. A number of Scotch steam drifters which had left the fishing have returned.

At a special meeting of the Belfast City Corporation in Committee, under the presidency of the Lord Mayor, the Earl of Shaftesbury, for the purpose of selecting a Lord Mayor for the coming year. Sir Robert Anderson was chosen for the position.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY FERBUARY 22 1908

EXTRACTS FROM OLD PAPERS DATING BACK TO THE TIMES OF THE QUEEN'S ACCESSION

In a Cobourg Reformer Collection in Possession of Sheriff Hall—Travel by Stage and Boat to Peterborough.

SOME MARRIAGE NOTICES

Sheriff Hall is the possessor of an old collection of newspapers, which he prises very highly. They are copies of the "Cobourg Reformer," printed away back in '34, a few years previous to the accession to the throne of the late Queen Victoria. The sheriff is having the collection bound previous to the presentation to the Historical Society. They will undoubtedly be appreciated by the visitors to the Victoria Museum, as they contain many items of interest—especially to the old timers whose memory carry them back to the early days of the first half of the past century.

Below is published a few excerpts from the collection referring to various subjects of interest to Peterborough, among them the route from Cobourg to Peterborough in the early days, the opening of the Trent River, advertisements of unique form and marriage notices out of the ordinary. Here are a few of them:

One Penny Reward

Ran away from the subscriber, two indented apprentices to the wagon-making business, Dennis Mahoney, about 16 years of age,—left about the 1st of May last; also Lazarus, alias William Payne, about 20 years of age—left on the 19th inst.

Any person bringing them both back shall receive the above reward, or one-halfpenny for either. Any person harbouring them after this notice will be prosecuted as law directs.

THOMAS SOLOMON.

Cobourg, July 25th, 1833.

Marriage Notice

The marriage notices ran something like this:

At Belleville, on the 8th instant, by the Rev. John Cochran, Richard Birdshall, Esq., of Asphodel, County of Northumberland, to Charlotte, eldest daughter of John Evert, Esq., of Belleville.

In Peekskill, on Sunday the 5th ultimo, by the Rev. Mr. Hunt, Mr. Frederick Hope, to Miss Emeline Price.

Hope, at last, has realiz'd
The Price of all his toils.
And Price with confidence relies
On Hope for future joys.
Thus mutual sympathy in both,
Has taught this happy pair,
To know the Price of female worth,
And Hope's foud soothing care.

New Establishment

The subscriber respectfully begs leave to return his sincere thanks to his friends and the public in general for the liberal support hitherto received and informs them, that, he has with great trouble and expense, fitted up a new and commodious building, as

Montreal Markets

Friday evening, Aug. 28.

Ashes.—There has been more doing in both Pots and Pearls. Sales of Pots to a considerable extent have been effected at 35s. 6d., and in a few instances 35s. 9d. a 36s., were obtained on time; small bills sell at 35s. In Pearls some business was done at 38s. 6d. a 39s. 9d.

Flour.—We have to notice a slight improvement in prices, the sales of U. C. finn for the past few days being mostly at 31s. 6d. a 32s. For superfine, on the spot, 34s. has been paid; and for a lot of 1,000 bbls. to arrive, 33s. 9d.—90 days.

Wheat.—We have no change to notice in this article; the last sale, from the boat, of prime U. C. was at 5s. 9d. per 60 lbs.—inferior lots have fetched 5s. 4d. a 5s. 6d.

Provisions.—Pork is again higher, with a good demand for consumption. In small quantities Mess was sold at $25 and $26, and the latter price is now demanded by holders for large parcels; of prime Mess there is little here, and it may be quoted at $21 1-2; prime is worth $19 a $19 1-2. The latest advices from Cleveland, O., say Mess had advanced in that market to $23. Of Lard there is no stock here; it sells in small quantities as it arrives at 7 1-2d a 8d. per lb. Butter in saleable packages is scarce, and sales made at 9 1-2d. cash.

Exchange.—The Montreal Bank draws on London at 10 1-2; Merchants' bills sell at 9 1-2 and 9 3-4. Drafts on New York, 3 days' sight, 3 per cent. premium.—Morning Courier.

Improvement of the Trent, etc.

Among the many internal improvements projected in this Province, none demands more serious consideration or would produce greater public benefits than the opening of the navigation of the River Trent. In the construction of expensive and great public works, the petty claims of localities and the clashing of individual interests should give place to the public good. We may infer that what will be for the public good which is advised by a competent engineer and surveyor, sanctioned by the executive, and reported on favourably by a committee of the House of Assembly. However, in the teeth of this public authority, to support some paltry local or individual interest, the Kingston Chronicle and Gazette of the 9th instant has a four-column article, whose logic, weight and size are quite overwhelming. We were afraid the big bladder should burst of itself ere we could get a poke at it. Right and left, this Brareus, heads and arms all employed, with one hand smacks at Cobourg, with another at Port Hope, with a third at Peterborough, then with a fourth attacks the engineer; with his fifth assails the Cobourg Railway Company, and so on, till all his hands are at once full of the dastardly work. Ye gods! what a slaughter he makes. He must be the son of Titan run mad.

THE WRIST WATCH WAS LIKE THE CAT—CAME BACK

Here is another case in which a "Lost" ad. in the Examiner brought the desired results and quickly, too. A young lady was out at the slide at Jackson Park the other evening, where she lost her watch. It was of the variety known as the wrist watch. The young lady had an ad. inserted on Thursday, and yesterday the time-piece was brought into the Examiner office. It had been picked up by a young man who left it with one of the employees of the Jackson Park rink. The latter reads the Examiner, and—well, the rest of the story is easily unravelled.

ANOTHER INDICATION OF RECKLESS DRIVING

In a recent issue of the Examiner an article appeared referring to the determination of the Chief of Police to protect the rights of pedestrians from reckless drivers. It appears that the same class of individuals are causing considerable annoyance and trouble to women and children who drive on the street themselves. A case was pointed out to the Examiner today in which a city driver almost ran over a cutter containing two occupants.

They were told gruffly to "get out of the way," and they were on the right side of the street, too. Rather than be run into they crossed the street with a narrow escape. Scarcely had they done so, however, when the reckless driver crossed in front, and stopped in front of a residence to deliver a parcel. When inquiries were made as to what he meant by his unmanly actions he began to use abusive language, and disappeared into the house.

There should, the occupants of the cutter believe, be something done for the protection of women and children in such cases. They state there is altogether too much fast driving in the city, and particularly around corners.

POSITION IS ALLURING

Many Want To Be Policemen—Applications Are Coming In Very Rapidly At Present.

CLOSE ON MARCH 5th

At the annual meeting of the Police Commissioners on Tuesday last it was decided to make an addition to the force of one man, to fill the vacancy made by P. C. McDonald, who resigned some time ago. The vacancy has created considerable interest around the city and many applications for the position as guardian of the law, have been received. The matter will not be taken up by the commissioners until March 5th, when all applications will be considered and the best man selected.

Bigger Than Usual

—A huge lemon measuring 6 inches from tip to tip and 10 inches in diameter has been found to be a product of Peterborough. It is now in the possession of a young man employed at the Canadian General Electric Works.

Deeds Done In Darkest Russia

The Examiner has received a postal card from Mr. B. Lastar, who is now in Russia. He tells of deeds of darkness and murder that go unpunished in that foreign land. He writes: I am in the place known as Kiev—the centre of the darkness of the Black Hundred where the most vile atrocities are committed and where happiness among the people is unknown. There is no woman who considers herself safe after dark. Officials are mixed in every crime and they are more to be feared than the mob. There is just now going on the trial of two persons who were supposed to be responsible for murder of every description. If honest men could see the way the trial is going on they would not be able to stand the monkey business. It is hard to believe men of a supposedly intelligent society mixed up with such proof against them that does not leave the slightest doubt as to their guilt, and then only to be fined thirty roubles, whereas young men, poor and defendidg themselves, are hanged or given eight years at hard labour. There is too much to believe if you don't see for yourself.

GROWTH OF THE PEA HUSINESS OF HOWDRY & SON AND ITS IMPORTANCE TO THE FARMERS

Peterborough Its Headquarters Since Beginning Fifteen Years Ago—Its Annual Shipments and The Culture Of The Peas.

SHIP ENTIRELY TO FRANCE

The importance of this section of the country as a pea-growing district may not be fully realized by the general public but a short review of the work of the firm of Howdry Sons bears out the fact that peas of the best quality can be grown here. This company has its headquarters in Dol de Bretagne, France, where the father, Mr. Jean L Howdry has a large estate devoted to the culture of fancy peas, beans and all kinds of vegetables and their seeds. Apart from the actual growing of these grains and vegetables which will be dealt with in this article, Mr. Howdry has also employed specialists who devote their time to improvements of the seeds by methods known only to experts in this particular art.

Mr. Louis and Maurice Howdry are in charge of the work in Canada and in an interview with the latter some interesting information has been obtained. In France Mr. Howdry said the season for the ripening of peas extends from January to July a period of six months while here the limit is six weeks. There they are almost entirely picked green. This is due to the great demand for green peas and as a result the canning industry is most extensive. This being the case Mr. Howdry and sons met the local demand but had not the territory for cultivating large quantities of peas to the seed state. Consequently they decided to look elsewhere and after investigations chose Canada for their operations.

Their Beginning Here

Fifteen years ago the firm made their first shipment of fancy seed peas for planting and commenced in the Peterborough district. Their first headquarters were in a shed near Mr. Rehill's buildings in the vicinity of the C.P.R. station. They moved to the north end of the city but as their business developed they opened a warehouse on Sherbrooke street in the building on the north side of the street east of the G.T.R. tracks. Finally they removed to the large building formerly the old Bridge Works at the extreme east end of Dalhousie street which they purchased and in which they still do business.

On coming to Canada they brought two car loads of fancy seed peas. Their methods of reaching the farmers at once became favourable and they have continued since in the same manner.

They give the seed to the farmers who agree to plant it. The company agrees to pay a certain price for the seed when it has matured. While the plants are growing the company looks after them. They send out men to pick the runnels from the good plants to insure only good seed being gathered when ripe. At the close of the season the same quantity of seed the farmers first received is returned to the company and the agreed price is paid for the remainder.

They also bring out 50 or 60 different kinds of fancy peas which are distributed among the various farms to suit the quality of the soil. The straw grows from 3 to 5 feet in length.

Mr. Howdry said that they have no trouble in distributing the seed as the farmers come to the factory for it or if at a distance it is shipped and on every hand the system has met with expressed satisfaction.

Extent of Their Business

Mr. Howdry stated that the district in which their peas are now grown extends from Lake Simcoe to Lake Ontario and from the Bowmanville district on the west to an eastern point miles beyond Peterborough. Their busiest year was a few seasons ago when for three months they shipped one car load per day to France. Each car contained 250 sacks, or 1,000 bushels.

The Howdry firm also grown peas in Algeria, Africa, that business being of about the same extent as that in Canada. Owing to the cheapness of labour their peas are hand-picked there and there the dwarf peas are a feature. The company sows according to the demand. If African peas are wanted more, the Canadian planting is decreased and vice versa. However the average amount sowed here is 24,000 bus.

The company does not sell their peas on the continent. Europe is their market and an immense yearly business is done with Germany, Belgium, Norway and other countries.

Improved Peas

Mr. Howdry described the home methods of improving the seed but details of this cannot be mentioned in this short article. However, about every two years improved varieties are received in Canada keeping up the quality as the seed is improved. In May a shipment of new peas is expected together with a large shipment of fancy beans. The company is opening up headquarters for bean-growing at Blenheim, Kent County. The seeding will be commenced in May and an extensive business is expected to develop as that district is adapted to the cultivation of beans, while this territory is more suitable for peas. Mr. Howdry employes over 30 men for work among the farmers in the summer.

The seed from France does well in Canadian soil the warehouse is always stored with seed for the next season's planting. They have a 30 h.p. separator which Mr. Howdry says does the work nearest to hand-picking that he has ever seen. Its capacity of round peas is 300 bus per hour.

These are but a few facts about a company which pays the farmers well, leaves its money in Canada and rapidly increasing its already extensive business.

SMITH LADIES IDENTIFY BURKE AS THE MAN WHO WAS SEEN IN BUCKHORN VICINITY

Although Would Not Swear Positively, They Believe Him The Same Man—New Evidence Offered.

PROSECUTION CONCLUDED

Considerable new evidence was received in the case of Chas. Burke when he appeared before His Honour Judge Weller this morning. Burke is alleged to have robbed Mr. John Purser's store at Buckhorn on November 5, gatting away with about $25. Burke appeared before Magistrate Edmison in the County Police Court and was committed for trial. There was a large crowd present today, considerable interest being taken in the proceedings.

The first witness was Miss Eliza Purser.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Burke, and Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution.

The Robbery

Miss Purser, being examined by Mr. Wood, related the events of the robbery in the same detail as at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Edmison. The affair is still fresh in the public's memory. A stranger entered Mr. John Purser's store in the evening of November 5. Miss Purser, the witness, was in her brother's store at the time. The stranger purchased some tobacco, turned to leave the store, and as Miss Purser also walked away, he returned, opened the till and took the money — between 25 and 35 dollars — which it contained. As Miss Purser tried to prevent the man from passing through the door, he drew a revolver and pointed it at her.

To Mr. Gordon witness said she next saw the man in the jail at Peterborough. There were eight or ten prisoners in one room, and witness with a number of friends, went there to pick out the man who had stolen the money, if he were there. Miss Purser said she had seen a picture of Burke before she visited the jail. Mr. Cochrane had shown it to her, but she said she did not identify the prisoner by that alone. Witness said she identified him, but did not say so to Mr. Cochrane, as she was averse to a court trial and to appearing in public as a witness. She said she thought that if she led Mr. Cochrane to believe she was in doubt as to Burke being the man she would not be called as a witness.

Miss Higgins' Evidence

Miss Lucretia Higgins was next called. She was visiting Miss Purser at the time of the robbery and was in the store when the stranger entered. When the man went to go out he turned and came back. Miss Higgins went over to thre counter where the till was and asked him if there was anything he wanted. Miss Purser had gone into the house. The stranger had opened the till and was taking the money out. When witness tried to prevent him he drew his revolver and pointed it at her head. She then ran into the house for Miss Purser.

"As near as I can tell he is the man." Miss Higgins said to Mr. Gor-

IT WAS COLD ENOUGH TO FREEZE THE DOG

"Its cold enough to freeze a dog," is a time-worn expression which very seldom comes true. This, was, however, literally realized at Harwood, Rice Lake, a short time ago, when a dog was actually frozen to death. The canine spent the night beneath the stars and on the following morning its lifeless form was found lying on its master's doorstep. Evidently the night was too cold for the dog; the mercury had dropped too far in the glass and the truth of the old saying was substantiated. The animal had been frozen to death during the cold night.

Heard Complaint Against Side Walk Measurement

The Court of Revision held a meeting last night for the purpose of considering complaints aguainst sidewalk measurements. They will meet again on Tuesday night.

LOCAL MASONS VISITED LINDSAY BRETHREN

About fifty members of Peterborough Lodge A.F. and A.M., paid a visit to Faithful Brethren Lodge at Lindsay last night and were splendidly entertained by their Lindsay brethren. The local Masons went to Lindsay on a special train, leaving shortly after 7 o'clock, but owing to a broken axle did not reach their destination until ten o'clock. In spite of this fact, however, their visit was a most enjoyable one. At the Masonic Hall, one degree was put on by the visiting Masons who were afterwards entertained at a banquet at the Royal Hotel. Wars. Bros. Rush, Lord and Crame, of Peterborough Lodge, and Wor. Master Campbell, of the Lindsay Masons, made short speeches after which the visitors left for home arriving here at 2 a.m.

DAVE HARTLEY IN KANSAS

Letter Received by The Examiner—Has A Great Appetite and Likes the Climate—Careless of Life In the West.

TWO MEN SHOT DEAD

The Examiner has received a letter from Mr. David Hartley from Kansas City, Mo., where on Monday he begins his long walk, stretching over a period of 72 hours. Davy says:

"I am here, and well. I have secured board at a good private house, half a block from Convention Hall, and I have a room and bath to myself. There are two Canadians staying here, and I have secured a good straight fellow to look after me, and I find Manager Scoville a fine fellow. This is going to be a great race as they are arriving from all over. I am the only one who has shown up from Canada. Scoville says nothing would please him better than to see me land on top. He says I ought to take a good place. I wish I had a month here before the race. I am picking up wonderfully and the climate agrees with me greatly. I am beginning to feel like a new man and am having lots of good food. I am hungry all the time, and do 15 or 20 miles in the hall every morning. There will be thousands of dollars bet here on the result. The hall covers a square, and they keep eight men steady looking after it and keeping it clean.

Kansas City is a beautiful city and there are very few cities with cleaner streets, as the water all runs away. The streets are wide and paved with asphalt. They slope to the sides, allowing the water to run off.

Life is held too cheaply here. Only on Monday there were six men shot. Two men commenced firing on a street car, and one dropped dead, while the other got to the door and died.

There are 22 railways running into this city.

To-day is a beautiful day, although there was a fall of snow.

Well, I guess I have said enough for a little fellow. I don't leave the house much, as in a few days the fun starts, and it will be a hard one."

FIREMEN'S AT HOME A SUCCESS

Enjoyable Time was Spent at the New Fire Hall Last Night

The second at home held under the auspices of the Fire Brigade in the new fire hall last night was another proof of the fact that the fire Ladies are most hospitable and successful entertainers. About fifty couples were present and tripped the light fantastic to delightful music supplied by Wilson's orchestra. Those who did not dance amused themselves in euchre. Refreshments were served during the evening and the merriment was kept up until an early hour this morning.

WORK FOR A STATESMAN

While Canada and Ontario, especially, boast of their great forest resources, at the present rate of consumption and consequent cutting of lumber and pulp woods, these resources will suffer very serious reduction in extent and quantity. It would seem that not only is the popular mind, not seized of the importance of forestry interests in all their relations, but that the governing powers, responsible for their conservation and wise treatment lack a similar sense of their value. The warfare which the first settlers of Ontario and other wooded portions of Canada had to wage against the forest primeval, led to the sentiment which regarded the tree as an enemy which cumbered the ground and one to be ruthlessly cut down. It is forgotten that in thus preparing the soil for cereal and other crops, an equally important crop was wasted. The trees of the forest are in reality, simply a crop which grows, and ripens as other crops and should be only reaped like other crops when ripe, or, at least, at that stage of maturity which insures the greatest value. If our forest growth had been regarded in this light, we should not have had the reckless and wasteful cutting of forest trees especially upon areas, unsuited to the growth and culture of other crops. Lumbermen in the past have not only cut with reckless indifference as to whether or not the tree crop was matured and therefore wisely cut to save deterioration by decay, but growing trees more than half short of the stage of maturity and growing into value every year, have been laid low. This was and is as wasteful, imprudent and improvident as would be the action of a farmer who would cut and house the half grown and rapidly growing grass of a meadow. If our timber, especially pine, had been cut with more care and due regard to preserving half grown and growing trees, the value of our crop of pine would have been incalculably increased and the aggregate yield of profit would have been ten-fold, perhaps, what it has been. And as mature pine grows scarcer, the temptation to cut immature trees increases and is not resisted. We see every spring, comming down our rivers and streams thousands of saw logs, mere poles in size, which, if left standing, would have grown in size and value year after year. The pine gone, the greed of the lumberman lays low the hardwood, with the impartiality of death who cuts down young and old alike. We thus, have immense tracts of country denuded and our natural water reservoirs destroyed, so that the melting snows of spring, and the rains of spring and autumn instead of being conserved to ooze out slowly and beneficently from sodden forest depths into the open, rush off in a few days carrying with them the soil of the naked hill slopes and pouring in a wasteful and superfluous flood to thaw a making, for the moment, mighty rivers of rills, and soon dwindling mighty rivers into rills. Waste and destruction of our forest growth have changed our climate for the worse, changed for the worse the character of our seasons and inflicted untold injury upon the agricultural and dairying interests of the country. While this waste of forest wealth, with its evil, climatic and economic consequences, has been permitted for years, no measures even remotely adequate to the situation to restore the waste and recreate to some partial extent vanished conditions, have been taken.

On the authority of Mr. E. J. Zavitz of the Forestry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph there are west of Toronto and south of Muskoka no fewer than 150 square miles of land unsuitable for cultivation, in blocks of from 3,000 to 30,000 acres. East of Peterborough and Kingston there are vastly larger tracts equally unfit for grain crops, and equally denuded of tree growth. By planting these and other now waste places to forest, the ultimate result would be direct economic profit and indirectly the profit would come from improving the regularity and increasing the volume of rainfall, and mitigating the destructive sweep of cyclonic storms. A comprehensive forestry policy applied would also give a constancy of volume to our streams that would increase their possibilities as agencies in the development of electrical energy, one of the most potent elements in modern industrial operations.

To the statesmen, who will grasp, the infinite value of a comprehensive system of forestry, and conceive and put in practice a policy founded upon this comprehension and a policy of dealing in a wise way with the exploitation—the cutting, manufacture and export—of our pulp pins and other forest resources, will come the acclaim and credit due to a national benefactor.

HOPEFUL OUTLOOK.

It seems to require a good deal of disturbance of financial conditions to affect the general prosperity of Canada. February is the month of the annual meetings of banking and other financial companies. The annual statements printed have nearly all the same story of progress and satisfactory results from the operations of the past year. Whatever are the causes of these results — whatever elements assist Canada in resisting the depression and disaster which overtakes our neighbours under very largely similar conditions, the effect remains. We have good reason for hoping that the general prosperity, which has been with us for the past ten or eleven years, will continue. We are in our developmental stage. We have practically illimitable resources to be developed; resources that will generously repay their development, and in the process call for an inflow of outside capital which will keep the wheels of business lubricated and in lively motion. Let us hope that we shall continue to be so busy with the building up of a nation on the northern half of the continent that we shall not have leisure to even "pass the time of day" with hard times. The outlook for such a condition is not at all bad.

THE OLDEST COLONY.

Britain's oldest colony, Newfoundland, is a country of vast resources whose land development has been slow probably only to the greater profit of her fisheries. Still the island colony is growing. In the years from 1898 to 1907 inclusive the increase of exports has totalled $10,321,799; the imports have increased $4,114,756, and this year the surplus of revenue over expenditures is $125,354.42. If Newfoundland would take the advice of Hon. Mr. Morine, its late Attorney General, and throw in its lot with Canada, there is reason to believe that her growth and development would be accelerated and she would bring resources to Canada which could be utilized in industrial and commercial expansion. Whether Barkis is willin is still doubtful. Hon. E. M. Jackman, Minister of Finance of Newfoundland, in closing his budget speech, delivered on Feb. 11th, forecast "an era of progress and advancement." He held that the most powerful leverage to this end was by "remaining an independent colony of the Empire." He believed the best interests of Newfoundland "can only be secured by paddling our own canoe and directing the energies of our own people through our own parliament." This doesn't sound very much like annexation to Canada, it Mr. Jackman speaks the sentiment of the people and parliament of Britain's oldest colony.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Studholme says that if the Ontario Government had fulfilled its promises with regard to prison labour he would not, says the Globe, have been in the Legislature as a Labour representative. Judging by the way he wades into the Government in three-hour speeches, the latter is feeling the penalty of its perfidy. Mr. Studholme is not reasonable. He is unreasonably optimistic if he expects the Whitney Government to keep its promises.

Wit and Wisdom

The devil takes his time, but he always spurts on the home stretch.

If women were only as perfect as they expect their husbands to be, Heaven would be at our very doors.

One of the wisest things ever said by John Stuart Mill was that you could never hope to heal the ills of society unless you spoke to them frankly.

"What is the meaning of a false doctrine, Willie?" asked the Sunday School teacher. "It's when the doctor gives the wrong stuff to a sick man," replied the little fellow.

Laziness grows on people; it begins in cobwebs and ends in iron chains. The more business a man does the more he is able to accomplish, for he learns to economize his time.

"Can you support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?" "Perhaps not; but I can support her in the style to which her mother was accustomed during her early married life."

Fancier—"This dog, madam, would be cheap at $20." Lady—"I would take him; but I'm afraid my husband might object." Fancier—"Madam, you can get another husband much easier than a dog like that."

It is not what a man has, nor even what he does, that directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.

It is quite plain that cleverness, success, attainment, count for little; that goodness or character, is the important factor in life.

If we wish to be just judges of all things, let us first pursuade ourselves of this; that there is not one of us without fault. . . no man is found who can acquit himself.

Sympathy is the greatest word in the world. It overcomes evil and strengthens good; it disarms resistance, melts the hardest hearts, and draws out the better part of human nature.

A right use of the opportunities of instruction afforded me in early youth would have made me a scholar are my twenty-fifth year, and have saved to me at least ten of the best years of my life.

Cure for Weak Lungs

BURKE IDENTIFIED BY SMITH LADIES

don, referring to Burke, and afterwards said she was practically sure of him.

Witness said she could not identify the man by the picture Mr. Cochrane had showed her. In the jail, Burke and an old man named Powers were told to stand up. Witness had then said to Mr. Cochrane the Burke looked like the man.

Mrs. Higgins said that after Nov. 5th, there was a rumour about another man who was reported to have been in the vicinity of Buckhorn on the evening in question. Witness had heard about him, but she had not discussed the rumour with Miss Purser.

Stranger got a Lunch

Margaret Kidd, wife of Arthur J. Kidd, of Lakefield, was called and stated that on the morning of the day of the robbery a mann called at her residence and asked for some breakfast. He said he was on his way to Buckhorn. Witness gave him a lunch and the man went away.

"As near as I can tell," witness said, "the prisoner is the man." She had seen his picture in the Examiner but otherwise had not seen the man until coming into court. Witness said the striking feature by which she recognized Burke was his eyes.

Miss Kidd corroborated her mother's evidence. The man had called at about nine o'clock in the morning. Witness believed Burke to be the man, but could not swear positively to his identity. The man had no overcoat when he called at Mrs. Kidd's residence, but Mrs. Kidd said that shortly afterwards they missed an overcoat that must have been stolen.

Gave him Milk

Mrs. Gertrude Northey was sworn and stated that her home was in Smith, five miles east of Buckhorn. On the afternoon of the day of the robbery, about 4.15 o'clock, a stranger called at her home and asked for a drink of milk. He wore a long dark overcoat and a cap. He wanted to pay for the milk but witness would not take the money. She had not seen the man since that time.

"I have not seen him until now," Miss Northey said and afterwards said, "I have not the less doubt about Burke being the man." The night of the robbery the Northey family received a phone message from Buckhorn, asking about a stranger that had been seen in the neighbourhood.

Miss Northey said that Burke's full lips were the most noticeable thing of his features and she especially identified him for that reason. Miss Northey was confident that Burke was the same man that had asked for the milk.

George Taylor, of the Chemong settlement, also identified Burke. He had passed the prisoner near Northey's, while returning from Lakefield on the Buckhorn road. Witness had offered to give him a "lift," but the man said he would rather walk. This aroused witness' suspicions and he looked closely at him as he passed.

In conclusion Mr. Taylor said I think he is the man.

This concluded the evidence for the prosecution and an adjournment was made until 2.30 o'clock. The deposition of Mrs. D. Conroy was agreed to be read by Mr. Gordon as she was unable to be present, owing to illness.

MABEL AT THE TELEPHONE

When Mabel's at the telephone
She's generally loaded,
The others on the line must groan
When Mabel's at the telephone—
To desperation goaded.
But Mabel never seems to flinch;
She knows that she has got a cinch.

When Mabel's at the telephone,
You'd think she had imparted
All that the girl had ever known,
When Mabel's at the telephone.
But, really, she's just started.
There's nothing any one can do
But wait with patience till she's through.

When Mabel's at the telephone
She heeds no call to "trim it"
Or "cut it out." That's said, I own,
When Mabel's at the telephone.
Her chatter has no limit.
Some day subscribers will combine
To oust her from that party line.

When Mabel's at the telephone
She shows great indignation.
Her plaints would move a heart of stone
When Mabel's at the telephone
And hears a conversation.
She'll ask them if they mean to stay
And gabble nonsense there all day.

Story Of The London Times; A Romance Of Journalism

The Evolution of a Great Paper—The Cost Of The First Blunder.

IS AN AGGRESSIVE PAPER

The London Times, about which there is much discussion nowadays, is as much a distinctly British institution as are Parliament, roast beef and bulldogs.

Yet it is only 122 years ago since The Daily Universal Register saw the light, which three years later added Times to its name. The founder was John Walter I. (there were three John Walters in succession), who began life as a coal merchant, in this he succeeded very well, and made money. Then he took to underwriting at Lloyd's where he lost it all during the American War of 1776-83. But John Walter was one of those men who never know what defeat means. A year after his bankruptcy we find him in Printing House Square working an invention known as logographic printing, which was an anticipation of the present linotype machine. As an incidental enterprise, and more to keep his printing machinery going than anything else, Walter started the paper.

It did not make much headway at first. Newspapers then were largely dependent upon the Government for their news, and if they were "agin it" —well they did not get much news. But John Walter was made of sterner stuff. He soon let it be known that The Times was, above everything else, independent.

John Walter I tried his son William manager during the latter years of his life; but William was not a success and he gave way in 1803 to his young brother, John Walter II, the greatest of all the family. He continued the policy of absolute independence, and profited by it. In Henry Crabb Robinson he found the first of the war correspondents, and his news of foreign events was often published days before that of the Government. And he always insisted on the impersonal character of his contributors' Every opinion expressed was that of The Times. Nobody knew who wrote it. In 1816 John Walter II appointed Stoddart editor. He, however, soon gave way to Barnes, to be succeeded by Delane and Chenery.

The second Walter impressed his forceful personality on the paper. When he laid down the reins, they were taken up by John Walter III, who held them until 1894. Under his reign The Times became less flamboyant, so far as European politics were concerned. The present representative of the family is Mr. A. F. Walter, the principal proprietor and governing director of the Company.

The first blunder The Times made was the publication of "Parnellism and Crime," and the fathering of Mr. Richard Pigott's stupid forgeries. When the Parnell Commission discovered that Pigott was a mere clumsy rogue, and that The Times had been his dupe, it took the paper a long time to get over the result of this. It is said that the case put before the Parnell Commission cost the proprietors £130,000.

In its long history, the paper brought off many journalistic "scoops." Delane, who was described by Kinglake as being "passionately imbued with the spirit of journalism," had a nose for news which he turned to good account. One day he was dining with a great specialist from Harley street, who remarked: "I wonder what Northbrook meant when he came to consult me as to whether the climate of India would suit him."

Delane wondered too—politely in answer. But when he got back to the office he wrote the announcement, that Lord Northbrook had been appointed Viceroy of India, and everybody was astonished that he should know something which had not got beyond the Prime Minister and Lord Northbrook. Then again, The Times was able to print the full text of the Treaty of Berlin on the day it was signed, in spite of all Bismarck's precautions, which were animated by his fierce dislike of the British newspaper. The Times announced the repeal of the Corn Laws almost before the whole of the Cabinet knew what Peel's resolve was.

No Ability To Digest Food

NERVOUS SYSTEM SO EXHAUSTED THATTHE VITAL ORGANS ARE FEEBLE IN ACTION

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The digestive system is a wonderful piece of machinery, but power is necessary to make it effective.

Overwork, worry, anxiety and excessive mental effort exhaust the nervous system at a tremendous rate.

In this case the power is the nerve force contained in the body, and if the nerve force is lacking the digestive system becomes crippled and there is suffering from indigestion nervous headaches, neuralgic pains, dizzy spells, weakness and discouragement.

Strength cannot be regained from the food you eat so long as digestion is so imperfect, but you can be restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which contains in condensed pill form the very elements of nature which and repair must be made before some dreadful form of nervous disease sets in. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food invigorates the nerves which control the digestive fluids, sharpens the appetite, is slightly laxative, so as to encourage the action of the bowels and strengthens every organ of the body.

You can use this treatment feeling certain that every dose is doing you at least some good, and can prove it by noting your increase in weight.

Mrs. M A Sharp, 346 Dublin street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "For some years I was troubled with indigestion which developed into nervous dyspepsia and besides suffering from nervousness, dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed and as a result of the use I am quite restored to health."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FIRST SIGNS ARE IN THE BACK

Best Not to Neglect Nature's Danger Signals When Kidneys are Involved

ANYONE CAN PREPARE IT

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here, also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be administered, and absolutely no strongly alcoholic patent medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless, and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy, and anyone can mix them: Compound Karpon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys so that they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared, and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying, and may prove just what many people here need.—12.

IF STOCK IS KEPT IT SHOULD BE GOOD

Profitable Classes Brought to Excellence By Feeding—What They Assimilate Counts.

KEEP THE PROFITABLE

"If it is important to keep live stock or rather have live stock to keep you," said Principal Cummings at the recent convention of the Nova Scotia Farmer's Association, "it is even more important that this live stock, whether cattle, horses, sheep, swine, or poultry be of the best quality. Every one knows that there is stock that will be a profit and stock that will not. We have at the college farm at Truro a dairy cow that, valuing milk at only 1c. a poupd, paid a profit last year of $100. We have also under the same roof, cows that were kept at a loss, and between these extremes cows of varying ability as money makers. Our problem, like that of any progressive farmer, is to get as many of that first kind as possible and to get rid of as many of the other sort.

"In doing this, we have to depend upon breeding, selecting, and feeding. Time was when we all owned animals that we could not afford to feed well. On the other hand we have at the college, and various farmers, have cows that they could not feed too heavily.

"It is a curious trait of human nature that many a man who can summon up his courage to buy first class stock and who will not balk at a fairly high price, will begrudge to those animals every extra ounce of food they consume. It will not pay.

"Such profitable classes of stock as Jersey's, Holsteins, Shorthorns, etc., have all been brought to their excellence through feeding. Their real value consists in the amount of food they consume to advantage over and above the amount necessary to the vital functions. In our own herd, while there are exceptions, yet, as a rule, our most profitable cow is our heaviest feeder. The same holds good of the record of every herd whose records I have examined.

TO RAISE STANDARD OF THE HORSES

The Ontario Horse Breeders Association Make An Important Move In This Direction.

WILL ASK THE GOVERNMENT

The Ontario Horse Breeders' Association made an important move at their Annual Meeting in Toronto last week, when they decided to take immediate action in the matter of bettering horse breeding conditions in the Province.

The report of the inspectors sent out last year by the Department to investigate the conditions of the industry showed that there was great need for something being done. These men found that out of 1,704 registered stallions in the Province, 169, or about nine per cent. were serviceably unsound. These unsound stallions were bred to 11,225 mares, or 9.3 per cent. of all the mares bred to registered stallions. In the grade classes conditions were worse. Of the 903 grade stallions used for breeding purposes, 163, or 22 per cent. were serviceably unsound. Seven hundred and twenty-seven mares, or 20 per cent. of the mares bred to grade stallions were bred to unsound animals. In some counties, particularly in Eastern Ontario, conditions were even worse than here depicted.

The standard of horses in the Province is low, no one denies that. This is due largely to careless and indiscriminate breeding. The general feeling is that something should be done to raise the standard and place the industry on a better basis. To accomplish this, the directors of the Association drew up a set of resolutions dealing with the licensing of stallions In adopting these recommendations at the General Meeting, therefore, and resolving to at once ask the Government to enact legislation covering this matter, the Association has taken a decidedly important step and one that, after the resolutions have been carefully considered should prove to be in the direct interests of the horse breeding industry of the Province.

Should the Government see its way clear to pass such legislation, many owners of unsound stallions may have to face some hardships. The matter however, has been under discussion for the past year. Every one must feel that the promiscuous breeding carried on in the past has been most ruinous. They must feel, too, that the only way to improve conditions is to take some well-planned, but decided action that will lead toward improvement. As in the dairy business, the crusade of "please be good," or "please do right," has proved ineffectual. The measures here recommended though they may seem radical, are necessary if the industry is to be placed in the position its importance merits. Ontario cannot afford to be behind the west in a matter of this kind.

METHODS OF GROWING STRAWBERRIES

How to Secure the Best Results For Profit.

Although strawberries will grow on almost any kind of soil, they do best on a rich, heavy sand, with a quicksand bottom. This type of soil furnishes plenty of moisture, not only for the growth of the plants, but also for giving size to the fruit. The land should be prepared during the previous fall by plowing-in about 60 tons of manure an acre. In the following spring it should be worked up and fertilized again with about 25 loads of well-rotted manure an acre.

The land is marked three and one-half feet apart for the rows, and two feet for planting in rows. By means of a scuffler, a shallow drill is made along the row markings. The whole area is then rolled and the drills are once more opened. Planting is done with a spade. Well grown plants are selected from rows of stock plants. A small portion of both tops and roots are trimmed off. The plants are placed in small holes made by the spade and run over the patch, then about 500 pounds an acre of a bone and potash fertilizer are applied and worked-in. Scuffling and hoeing are continued all summer. It costs at least $150 an acre to produce a crop of strawberries.

It is difficult to recommend varieties that will do well in all localities. Those that have done best with me are, practically in the order of ripening Excelsior, Michel's Early, Auguste Luther, Lovett, Tennessee Prolific, Clyde, Wm. Belt and Williams. For home use, three varieties that will cover the season nicely are Auguste Luther, Wm. Belt and Brandywine.

CANADIAN APPLES IN GREAT BRITAIN

Competition From Other Countries—Merit Alone Counts.

MARKET FOR OTHER GOODS

"Market Conditions in Great Britain," was the subject of an address by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, Ottawa, before the last convention of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association. He spoke in part as follows:

Great Britain will take all the first class fruit that Canada has to offer. There is no need to look for other markets. They can handle all of the apples that we can produce. The larger the quantity, the more notice is taken of it. While all dealers in Great Britain are willing to admit that Canadian apples are best, they do not always give as much for them as for apples from other countries. Canadians are likely to meet new competition. Large quantities of Tasmanian apples are being put on the English markets, and are meeting with favor from dealers and consumers.

"British dealers say that Canadian apples have improved in quality and grade during the past few years. Purchasers have greater confidence in Canadian apples than in American. Our growers should be particular not to misrepresent contents of packages. Apples seldom are sold according to marks on barrels. Merit alone counts. It is a mistake to send packages wrongly marked.

"In respect to selling apples by the auction system, would say that, personally, I would prefer to sell f.o.b. to consigning, although good sales often are made on consignment. It is better to consign to the large centres rather than to inland points, as there is greater competition."

Pears and tomatoes can also be shipped successfully to Great Britain although the latter is rather difficult to transport in cold storage.

Mr. Ruddick referred also to the canned fruit trade, and mentioned its possibilities. There is a good market for canned apples, but only one variety should be placed in a can. The demand for raspberry pulp is large. England will take large quantities of cider. The average price is 17 cents a gallon, and the freight four cents. Growers can determine for themselves whether or not the industry would be profitable.

TO OBTAIN UNIFORM FLOCK

News of Interest to Poultry Breeders—Feather Notes.

If you have decided what variety you wish to keep, study the advertisements of parties who have them, and find one who claims as one of the good points of his pen, that they are record layers. Then, in early spring, when you have a broody hen ready, get a setting of eggs from this pen, and give the chicks you hatch the best of care all season. If you get two settings from different places, you will have pullets from one lot not related to the cockerels of the other, and can mate up two small pens yourself next spring. With this foundation you will soon have a uniform flock of pure-bred fowls, and as it increases you can do away with the old scrubs, and breed only the thoroughbreds that have been bred for just the qualities you want.

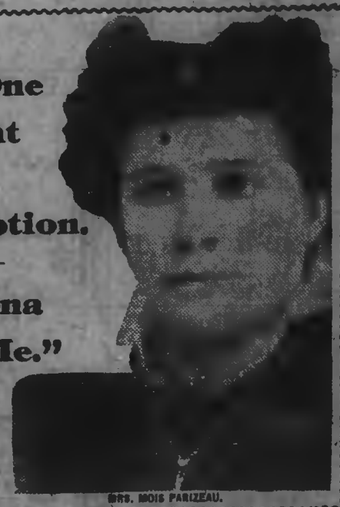
"Every One Thought I Had Consumption. Pe-ru-na Saved Me."



"I THANK DR. HARTMAN FOR PE-RU-NA."

MRS. MOIS PARIZEAU.

"I hardly know how to thank you for the good Peruna has done me.

"I suffered five years with pain in the stomach. About a year ago it became so bad I could hardly bear it. I coughed day and night and grew weaker and weaker. The pain extended through my body and I also had difficulty in breathing, which made me cough. Everyone thought I had consumption.

"My husband heard of Peruna and bought five bottles. This treatment virtually cured me and now I recommend Peruna to every one who is suffering.

"I thank Dr. Hartman for this excellent remedy."

Ste. Julie de Vercheres, P. Q., Canada. —Mrs. Mois Parizeau.

A NEGLECTED cold is generally the first cause of catarrh.

Women are especially liable to colds. These colds occur more frequently during the wet, sloppy weather of winter and spring than any other time of the year. Often they are not considered serious and are allowed to run on, or they are treated in such a way as to only palliate the symptoms, while the cold becomes more deep-seated and the patient finally awakens to the fact that she has a well-developed case of catarrh.

WOMEN SHOULD BEWARE OF CATCHING COLD.

By reason of their delicate structure, the lungs are frequently the seat of a cold, especially if there is the slightest weakness of these organs. The treatment of catarrh of the lungs is also more difficult and discouraging than catarrh of any other organ of the body.

It would be wise therefore, to guard against it by every precaution possible.

Peruna has been found the most reliable of all remedies for coughs, colds and catarrh, by reason of the fact that it goes at once to the very seat of the trouble.

It searches out every crevice, every duct of the body. It quickens and equalizes the circulation of the blood, thus relieving the congested mucous membranes. It exercises a healing and soothing effect upon the mucous membranes, no matter whether they are the more exposed membranes of the head and throat, or whether they line the remotest cells of the lungs.

PE-RU-NA THE REMEDY FOR CATARRH OF THE LUNGS.

Mrs. Jaschob, 1621 Hicks St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"When I wrote to you for advice, I had been sick for three years. I had trouble with my throat. Often I could not breathe through my nose. I also had pains in my chest and a cough. I took Peruna according to directions and it has cured me."

AN ARTIST DREAM REALIZED; PORTRAITURE IN COLOURS

The Roy Studio Has Learned The Mystery of Reproducing Colours With the Camera.

To-day colour photography is an accomplished fact. The newly perfected art of recording the most delicate shades of colour in the flesh, eyes, garments and flowers has at last been demonstrated an absolute certainty.

For many years the solution of this problem has baffled the best scientific minds. To reproduce colours in their natural beauty by photography was an accomplishment thought to be beyond human comprehension. But, during the past year and a half those on the inside of the photographic world have been studiously engaged in surmounting these difficulties.

And now it is a pleasure to announce that Peterborough has been honoured with the distinction of being the second city in Canada which veloped, upon which were seen the faintly of this new discovery. To-day a representative of the Examiner was shown in the Roy Studio, Hunter street, a plate photograph fully depicting shades of the flesh, the most delicate tints and shades of colour. Mr. Fred. Roy took two photographs of the time, in the presence of the Examiner representative, and developed them in his studio in order to fully demonstrate the new process. The exposures lasted five and six minutes respectively. The gradual appearance of every colour and line as the plates passed through the different baths in the dark and light rooms, dispelled any skepticism which might have been held regarding the genuineness of the finished product. The bright colours of the flowers, the jewellery, the necktie, the clothes, and even the tapers along the tacks, hair, etc., were there as perfectly as are painted the skies.

To the layman it seems marvellous. The secret is in the treatment of the plate and in the exposure and development processes. At present no duplicates are possible, each plate being unique (single in kind)—in this respect resembling the first daguerreotype. At the present time the modus operandi of the new discovery are known only to a few besides the discoverer, Antione Lumiere, of France. It is unnecessary to say that Messrs. Roy and Son, of this city, are jubilating the last half the Rough Riding. After the expenditure of a great deal of money and time, they have succeeded in turning out photos which record the most delicate shades of colour and distinctness—and samples of their beautiful work may now be inspected by the public.

SIXTY YEARS IN UPPER CANADA.

An Interesting Volume of Recollections by Col. Charles Clarke, Ex-Clerk of the Ontario Legislative Assembly.

Col. Charles Clarke of Elora, in his day a journalist, a member of the Ontario Legislature, Speaker, and for many years Clerk of the Assembly, has just published a book of recollections, "Sixty Years in Upper Canada" (Williams Briggs, Toronto). It is a very interesting volume and will be much prized for the information it gives of men and events during the past half century. As a journalist and politician Col. Clarke had a personal acquaintance with most of the men of the generation that has just passed away. While he possesses the gifts of a chronicler, and writes most entertainingly in discussing the rivalry between George Brown and John A. Macdonald, he contrasts the qualities of the two men until he arrives at the tragedy by which Brown lost his life. Bennett, a discharged employee of The Globe, entered Mr. Brown's office to complain of the treatment he had received at the hands of the foreman who had dismissed him. Bennett carried a revolver, but it is not clear that he meant to shoot The Globe editor. But Mr. Brown clinched with him, and in the struggle got shot. "The thought comes to me," says Col. Clarke, "that under similar circumstances Sir John whould have managed not to be shot."

John Sandfield Macdonald, we are told, had one distinguishing weakness: he was a good hater, and had no love for George Brown. These two men never heartily became one on any question which occupied the public mind. I remember an incident, unimportant in itself, but which markedly illustrated the feeling so evidently and constantly existent. At the formation of the Brown-Dorion administration, a public dinner was given in Elora in honour of the event. This occurred in days when railways had not reached that section of the country, and the ministerial visitors travelled from Guelph in carriages. A party from Elora met the invited guests a few miles out, and escorted them to the village. These guests were men, notable then, although afterwards better known. There were John Sandfield Macdonald, A. A. Dorion, Oliver Mowat, Michael Foley, A. Ferguson Blair, Luther H. Holton, David Burton, and others, but minus the chief, George Brown. I naturally inquired why he was absent. Some one replied that private affairs had compelled his return from Hamilton to Toronto, and I expressed regret. An irascible voice from the interior of the carriage immediately and unpleasingly asked:

"Can't you do without George Brown for a single night?"

The voice was the voice of Sandfield, and his question was never answered, his hearers being too much astonished to readily find a reply suitable to the time and circumstances.

Col. Clarke speaks highly of old Malcolm C. Cameron, known in his day as "The Coon." The most regrettable of the few dubious things he did was his pursuit of poor John Weterhall, of Halton, who, appointed Commissioner of Public Works by the Hincks Administration, was attacked relentlessly by Malcolm Cameron, and was not only financially ruined, but lost his reason. It reported Wetrnall's speech at his nomination in long hand, and spent the night at an hotel in Dundas listening to the then meandering listeners of his oratorical points. A few days after that miserable night came the poll, and the result was dire. The roads were bad, the Scots' vote in Dumfries was alienated, or made indifferent, by Malcolm Cameron's stump speeches; and with the contributory efforts of Rev. Mr. Jennings, a Presbyterian minister of Toronto, who had heard Waternhall swear at one of his meetings, and found him unwilling to apologize therefor, the unexpected end of the campaign came in the thorough defeat of the Ministerial candidate and the triumphant return of Caleb Hopkins.

On the morning following the election, a knock at my office door preceded the entrance of a gaunt figure, carrying a lantern in one hand and a big stake for a staff, who was oddly dressed in unusual garments and asked me to "im an honest man. I thought, at the first glance that this was the whim or jest of a cynic, but speedily discovered that my visitor was the sad wreck of an ambitic and disappointed man. Poor Wetenhall was sent to the Toronto Asylum for the Insane, and died there from erysipelas, following wounds received at the hands of a brother unfortunate. More talented men and keener politicians there may have been in the Reform ranks of Upper Canada, but a more honest and trustworthy man than he never sought the suffrages of the people.

Looking over the votes of these early sessions, one finds perhaps less independence than the circumstances of a body newly-organized might warrant. Men soon ranged themselves on one side or the other, and in matters of moment found it safer to follow their leaders. The zeal of some of these neophytes, too, was less intense than might have been expected. There seems to have been considerable abstention from voting, and, presumably, from the House. There was a new system, but men were and still remain the same. Precisely what constitutes an ideal private member is a question about which there may be difference of opinion. One man's view, frankly and emphatically stated to me, I can give. Speaking to Hon. E. B. Wood, in the early days of the second Parliament, I remarked that the House was to be congratulated on the brainy character of many of the representatives.

"Brains!" said E. B. "What do we want with brains? What we want is votes!"

Thomas Gibson Esq., member for many years for North Huron, one of the most honest men who ever filled a seat in the Legislature, was one of the small band who received popular endorsement during many successive Parliaments. His style was peculiarly his own, and you knew, when listening to his broad Scotch tongue, that he had that to say which was worth hearing, and that he implicitly believed every word he uttered, as did everybody else. He was an intense reader, and if a stranger to the House asked for Thomas Gibson outside of the hours when the House was in session, he was likely to be directed to the library. He was a walking encyclopaedia on matters municipal, for he had been a reeve in Huron for many years, and, possessing a remarkably retentive memory, could respond to any question put to him along that line. He had an honest objection to the theatre. I persuaded him to hear and see Adelaide Neilson, in Juliet, and he left the building declaring that such a performance was a slur upon Shakspeare and profaned his name when his words were used "in sic a manner by sic a woman."

Another interesting anecdote is told by Col. Clarke, relating to Thomas R. Ferguson, who used to represent South Simcoe.

He was a politician of the turbulent type, and when Nassau Chatham Gowan was contesting North Wellington with Charles Allen, Ferguson was there and did much to precipitate a riot in the township of Marybrough. He had to pass through Elora on his return after the poll. The Reformers had gone through the excitement of receiving reports giving returns in favour of Allen, and many were about retiring, when a buggy containing two men drew up in front of the hotel in which the Grits were jubilating. It was immediately seen that it was Ferguson who was in control, and refusing to permit the driver accompanying him to pass the hotel where the Reformers were assembled. A shout was raised, and two men approached the buggy and endeavored to pull "Tom" out of it. He sprung to his feet, placed the muzzle of a heavily-loaded gun, which he carried, to the breast of Andrew Gordon, twice pulled the trigger, but fortunately found the weapon useless from rust, which had filled the nipple and rendered harmless the caps. Ferguson was pulled from the buggy and advised to run for his life. He was thrust over the bar of the hotel, someone pulling off one of his boots as he disappeared, and was then hurried from the rear of the building to a place of safety by some of the Reformers present. Next morning his tall hat furnished a football for passing schoolboys. A trial followed the attempted shooting, but the jury could see nothing wrong in the affair, and no verdict was secured. When I met Ferguson afterwards he laughed at what might have been a catastrophe. His pluck was seen when the final vote was taken in the House at the time of John Sandfield's defeat. Every vote was needed on both sides, and Ferguson, very ill at the time, was placed on a couch and carried into the House, and gave his vote from that position. —Toronto Saturday Night.

LITTLE FOX TERRIER ARRESTED

Was Found in a Cellar of a Romaine Street Residence—Miss Jarvis Would Not Prosecute.

PAID COSTS OF THE COURT

The arrest of the fox terrier terminated in a very amusing case being brought before Magistrate Dumble yesterday. A young lady named Jarvis swore out a warrant yesterday morning for the arrest of her fox terrier dog. She had been informed that a neighbour lady who lives on Romaine street, was harbouring the animal and would not allow it to go out. The warrant was handed over to P. C. Meharry for execution, and accompanied by Miss Jarvis, he paid a visit to the home of the accused.

The lady denied all knowledge of the canine in question and told the officer he could search the house if he wished. He told her that was what his intentions were and she then demanded him to produce a warrant, which he did. His suspicions were at once aroused and going to the cellar he found the poor little terrier. The officer then asked Mrs. Cunningham to come to the police court at five o'clock and the matter would be settled.

At the appointed hour the offender appeared with her counsel, Mr. Osias Le Plante. The dog was the centre of attraction and was very frisky in the court room.

When the case was commenced Mr. Le Plante produced a chattel mortgage and tried to prove that the dog was in the mortgage. Miss Jarvis identified the dog, and the magistrate gave judgment in her favour.

She was asked to prosecute the delinquent on a charge of theft, but refused and she took her dog home, after paying the costs of the court. The defendant told his Worship the dog used to come down to her home every day and she considered it was hers.

"Well, the next time that it goes to your home take a flash to it and it won't come around again," was his Worship's remarks.

Difference In Grain Prices; Peterborough And Springville

Farmer" Quotes Figures and Wants to Know the Reason Why---Would Prefer Peterborough, If Prices Were Right.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I write this to you for information. Can you tell me the cause of the marked difference between the price of grain in Peterborough and in Springville at Kendry siding? I will give you some figures that should open your eyes. Within the last day or two I have looked the matter and found out the difference. For instance, oats in Peterborough bring 48 cents, in Springville, 50 cents. Wheat in Peterborough, 93 to 95 cents; in Springville, 96 to 98 cnts. Peas, 80 to 81 cents in Peterborough, and in Springville, 90 cents to $1. Barley in Peterborough, 60 cents; in Springville, 69 to 70 cents. These prices were offered in the two places and paid in Springville within twenty-four hours, so the difference cannot be caused by change in the outside market. What is the cause of such a big difference? Farmers were led to expect that grain prices, especially oats, would rule high in Peterborough. I would rather bring my grain to Peterborough because it is closer to my barns and the unloading is done more quickly and with less work. At Springville the grain has to be loaded into cars and the bags lifted up with great labour, and the weighing is a slow process. I would rather come to Peterborough — I would save time, but lose money. The difference in price counts, and the most money is what the farmer wants for his hard work. I am in the same position as scores of farmers in North and South Monaghan and Cavan. Many or most of them would prefer to come to Peterborough, but for the difference in the price of grain. I believe nine-tenths of the grain that would come to Peterborough from these townships, with equal prices, now goes to Springville, owing to the better prices paid by Mr. Wilson, who knows what he is paying, as he has the grain contracted for before he buys it. Peterborough is the natural market for the most of these people, but the price tells. It seems that it would be to the advantage of Peterborough, as it would be to me, to have the grain come to the city, if the prices were right. More of the money paid out in this city for grain would be left there than will be the case when the cash is paid out at Springville.

Yours truly,
MONAGHAN FARMER.

THE HENS ARE WISE TO NEW POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Even the hens know that a poultry association has been formed in Peterborough, and they are getting busy in providing eggs that certainly foreshadow the success of the organization. One of the members of the association—and an officer, too—visited his hen coop at noon today and found an egg laid by a pullet, that measured 8x6 1-2 inches in dimensions.

The pullet was only hatched last June. It began to make provision for the breakfast table about December 1, and has since been having. It is a white leghorn, and a bird highly prized by its owner.

Speaking about poultry, the officers are reminded of the meeting on Monday night at the Examiner office at 7.30 o'clock for the purpose of drafting a constitution.

Splendid Essay Was Read At St. Peter's T. A. S. Rooms

On "St. Bridget of Kildare," The Patroness of Irish Womanhood, Given by Miss L. Deannard—An Excellent Programme.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

Thw Assembly Hall of St. Peter's T. A. S. was taxed to its utmost capacity last evening when the regular meeting of the Ladies Litrary Society was held. The programme presented was one worthy of the high aims and aspirations of the Society. It consisted of a very interesting essay on "St. Bridget of Kildare," the patroness of Irish Womanhood, by Miss L. Deannard, and a musical programme gracefully presented by some of the Society's local artists.

Miss Deannard's essay was a most comprehensive account of the life of this holy woman. The subject was introduced by referring to the constancy steadfastness and fervor with which the people of "Fair Erin" adhered to their faith. Though at times enveloped with the darkest clouds, they emerged with the light of faith shining as brilliantly as ever. The same devotion and attachment to the faith that characterized Erin's children of old and won for their bright little insular nation the proud distinction of "Isle of Saints and Scholars," still live with undiminished fervor in the Irish heart. History tells us that standing out from all others renowned for their faith was the great Apostle St. Patrick, the founder of Christianity in Ireland, and St. Bridget, that beloved patroness of Irish Womanhood.

In beautiful language, perfectly in harmony with the revenential point of view from which the subject was approached, the essayist laid before the audience the authenticated facts concerning the life of this chosen soul. St. Bridget of Kildare was born in Faugher in the year 453, her parents being of royal descent. Reared by pious parents thoroughly instructed in every branch which tends to give dignity to a true Christian, her virtues of modesty and charity were soon visible. At an early age she consecrated herself to God, and spent most of her time in the performance of many holy and beautiful practices. Her reputation for sanctity became greater each day. Her life was uninterrupted series of holy acts and she seems to have occupied herself entirely in promoting the welfare of others. Our Divine Lord seemed ever present to assist her by His Divine Grace.

The attention of our beloved patroness was especially given to cultivating and sanctifying the soul of her own sex for whom she provided schools and for many shelter. Encouraged by her example many other young ladies consecrated themselves to God. Soon a religious institution was founded and our saint assumed the superiority of it. Her reputation for sanctity became greater each day and in proportion as it was diffused throughout the country. The number of candidates for admission into the new monastery increased. Subsequently, many great monasteries were founded. The origin of which must be attributed to the work of this pious saint. The site on which Kildare now stands was soon chosen by the saint and her faithful followers as an abode. Soon a beautiful edifice was erected there, the fame of which spread abroad. Well may the daughters of "Fair Erin" feel grateful to her for her tender solicitude in their behalf. In so much reverence is she held, that there is scarcely a family in Ireland but one of its fair daughters has chosen her for her holy patron saint.

After seventy years devoted to practices of the most sublime nature, corporal infirmities admonished her and the time of her dissolution was near at hand. Fortified by all the rites of her holy religion, her soul quitted her mortal body and winged its flight to the bosom of Him whom alone she had loved and served. A very pathetic, as well as beautiful description, of her death was given.

Her relics were entombed in the churches of Kildare, which for ages was frequented by pilgrims from all over Ireland and Great Britian. The fame of her sanctity reached Germany and France and the people of these countries entertained the most profound veneration for her. Great indeed was the honour paid to St. Bridget of Kildare. The shrine containing her relics was preserved in the monastery at Kildare, until about the year 850, when, owing to the ravages of the Danes it was removed to Downpatrick, where the relics of St. Patrick were enshrined.

The sweetness and docility of this beautiful life was very ably portrayed by the clever essayist. The essay, besides being of a most interesting nature, written in a clear and concise style contained many passages of remarkable beauty and strength.

The musical part of the programme which preceded the reading of the essay was rendered in a faultless manner, and reflected much credit on the clever performers.

The following was the musical programme introduced by Miss K. McGrath who occupied the chair for the evening.—

Instrumental Duet —Misses Doris

Vocal Duet —Mr. Koen and Miss Delaire.

Recitation—Misses Mary and Josephine Feeney.

Vocal Solo—Mr. Koen.

Instrumental Solo — Master Harold Otis.

Instrumental Duet — Misses Mary Hickey and O. Loeliber.

The accompanists of the evening were Misses Doherty and Delaire.

This interesting meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National anthem.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on Friday evening, March 6th, when an essay will be read by Miss Ward on "Kenilworth."

Scene from Victorien Sardou's masterpiece "Diplomacy," which will be presented by the Royal Alexandra Players at the Grand Opera on Tuesday, February 25th. Plan now open.

More Light Let In Upon Conservative Nomination

"Onlooker" Discusses the Mode of Appointing Delegates To West Riding Conservative "Convention."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have been reading the press lately. I see that a convention was supposed to be called for the Conservative party of West Peterborough.

I understand from the bylaws of the Association it is necessary that public meetings be held in the townships for the purpose of appointing the delegates. This was not done; consequently I contend that there is no candidate regularly nominated and no convention could properly be held.

It is stated that at the so-called convention Mr. Garvin polled the majority of the votes of the regularly constituted delegates, that is those that were appointed for Peterborough; yet Mr. Burnham claims to have the nomination!

Men like Mr. J. A. Davidson, of Smith, and Mr. Harry Garbutt, of Smith, received no notice of any meeting for their township, and Mr. John A Davidson, of Smith had to be appointed a delegate from Peterborough. I do not know that Messrs. Layfield, Wilson, Waddell and Atchison own the Conservative party of West Peterborough. When the names of the country delegates were requested they were refused. That Mr. Phelan and Mr. Garvin were knifed by Mr. Burnham's friends there is no manner of doubt and a nomination obtained in such a way can have but one result.

If Mr. Burnham feels that he has obtained the nomination honourably his honour is satisfied very easily. As for Mr. Garvin, had he known the names of the Conservative delegates from the country and had they not been selected against him he would have obtained the nomination without a doubt.

The Conservatives are claiming themselves to be a party of purity and condemn their opponents for doing things that should not be done, but when the Conservative party in the very first stages of the contest stoop to the crookedest methods, what can they hope to gain by denouncing crookedness during the campaign? A crooked beginning makes a bad ending.

I am sending this letter to your journal in confidence so far as my name is concerned. Kindly see that my name is not discussed by the gentlemen referred to in the Conservative Club. I do not wish to be talked about unnecessarily. I am hopeful that I will yet be able to cast a vote for one closely identified with the Examiner.

Yours truly,
ONLOOKER.

WARRANT FOR MINING MAN'S ARREST

Mr. L. W. Spear in Trouble—Was Negotiating at Haverlock

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of L W Spear, president of the Spear Mining Corporation of Toronto, the company that has been conducting mining operations at Seabrook's mine at Preneveau. He is alleged to have sold shares in the Bonanza gold mine which was supposed to be in Otter township north of Larder Lake.

Spears is supposed to have sold $50,000 worth of stock and is said to to be in Lawrence, Miss. He employed three stenographers and a boy at 61 Victoria street, Toronto, for about eight months, but left early in January.

Other officials of the Corporation state that none of the money paid for "development" of the mine, ever reached them.

ANOTHER DISTRIBUTION AGAIN TO-NIGHT

Nothing Given Out Before 6 o'clock—Children Must Not Come.

Since the relief fund weekly distributions have commenced the people have been in the habit of calling on the relief officer after hours of the afternoon. Mr. Miller has been greatly disturbed in his regular work by these people and has had to abandon everything else and attend to their wants. Another distribution will take place this evening at Mr. Millers store on Water street, and he wishes to announce that nothing whatever will be given out until six o'clock.

The relief officer also wishes to say that parents must not send their children for the charity offered as they will not receive anything. It is his belief that when the children come it is only educating them to look for charity and the practice should stop.

A LARGER MARKET THAN USUAL

Big Attendance by Both Country and City Visible To-day

A drop in the prices of some of the marketable goods was noticed this morning. The market was a great improvement on that of the past few weeks the farmers attending in large numbers and the townspeople turning out proportionately. Butter and eggs opened at 30 cents but as the morning wore on and the usual bargain hunters showed signs of staying until the end the prices dropped a cent or two but only in a few cases. Beef and pork sold at 5 and 6 cents and 9 and 10 cents, respectively. Apples were to be had in fairly large quantities, russets predominating at 50 cents per bag. Chickens generally sold at from 75 to $1.00 per pair.

ORANGE JUICE AND HEALTH
For Stomach and Skin.

Few of us realise what an important part the skin plays in keeping us well or making us ill.

The millions of tiny glands, or pores, are intended to rid the system of waste matter, which the blood brings to the skin. It is a well-known medical fact that the healthy skin carries off more Urea or waste matter than the kidneys. Just think how much poison remains in the system when there is any skin trouble.

The skin and stomach are intimately associated. Find a person with a dry, harsh skin and you will find one who suffers with indigestion or constipation, and both, usually.

Both may be relieved by a judicious use of orange juice. Both can be cured by taking the juice of an orange every morning before breakfast, and taking "Fruit-a-tives" at night. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. The fresh juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes are separated from the pulp, and then combined in such a way that the medicinal action is intensified.

Orange juice alone will not cure Skin, Stomach or Bowel troubles. But when taken in connection with "Fruit-a-tives," a positive cure results. "Fruit-a-tives" may be obtained at all dealers or will be sent on receipt of price—50c a box—6 for $2.50. 'Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

DISCUSS RAISING OF AGE LIMIT

Twelve Years Minimum For Children In Factories.

REGULATION OF CHILD LABOR

Recommendations of Committee Are Followed—Hours of Work For Boys —Operation of Liquor License Act —Powers For Making Drainage Improvements — Proposal to Establish Boards of Health.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—The determination of the Provincial Government, as a result of the investigations of last year, to put a legal stop to child labor in Ontario was evidenced in the Government measures introduced by Hon. Nelson Monteith at yesterday's session of the legislature, placing a higher minimum age upon the employment of all children.

Hon. Nelson Monteith introduced three Government bills. His act to amend the Horticultural Society Act gives societies power to apportion one-half of their funds to any one of the objects for which they are organized, instead of only one-third as formerly. The other two measures are aimed directly at child labor, as a result of the investigations of the special legislative committee last year. The Act to amend the Shops Act raises the minimum age at which children can be employed in shops from 10 years to 12.

The act to amend the Factories Act provides that no child under 12 years of age can be employed in a canning factory.

Hon. Mr. Hanna presented the report on the operation of the Liquor License Acts for 1907, in which attention is called to the fact that the number of licenses have been reduced by 198 from the total of the previous year. In local option municipalities the law had been vigorously enforced and the fines collected amounted to $4,175. The provincial revenue from the license branch for the year was $587,126.60.

Mr. P. H. Bowyer (East Kent) introduced an important amendment to the Municipal Drainage Act, providing that engineers must consult with farm owners before proceeding with drainage works through their properties. The measure further provides for the amendment of section 72 of the present act by enlarging the powers of municipal councils in making drainage improvements.

Mr. Hislop (Huron), secured an order for a return showing a classified statement of all payments by the province to the Toronto University; while Mr. Munro (North Oxford) was granted an order for returns of amount of losses by fire throughout the province.

Mr. May (Ottawa) got orders for returns on the several commissions appointed by the present Government and for a list of Fair Associations to which the Agricultural Department sent judges.

A bill was introduced by Mr. J. P. Downey providing for the creation of County Boards of Health, with representatives from all municipalities, to have jurisdiction in tubercular troubles. The bill further provides for compulsory notification in cases of consumption. These county boards are designed to supply the machinery towards preventing a spread of the disease.

Rumors In Portugal.

Lisbon, Feb. 22.—The air is full of rumors of plots and counter plots. Some speak of increased revolutionary agitation among the Republicans. Others of the revival of "Francoism"; yet others of a palace and barrack plot to establish a military dictatorship.

Oporto newspapers state positively that the Government has discovered a Francoist plot at the palace, and is prosecuting Counts Arnoso and Tarouca, and Major Jose Lobo, who are alleged to be the leaders.

Mr. Emmerson Probable.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—It was stated on excellent authority last night that Hon. H. R. Emmerson, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals, will be appointed a member of the Railway Commission when the bill for the increase in the membership of the board is passed. Rumor gives to Mr. Emmerson the post of assistant chief commissioner, with a salary of $9,000 a year. There are two others to be appointed.

Bad Palpitation of The Heart
EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD,
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.

If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells, these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.

From the depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.

Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Ever since I was nine years of age I have been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

YOUNG GIRL ACCUSED OF ARSON

Shocking Disclosures at East Gwillimbury Fire Inquest.

TRACED TRACKS IN SNOW

Witnesses Declare Girl's Footprints Were Seen—Young Woman Under Arrest—Charged With Firing Farm Buildings—Live Stock Destroyed —Had Letters From Virtual Owner — Threats Alleged.

Mount Albert, Feb. 22.—Such disclosures of moral depravity as were made yesterday during the fire inquest in connection with the burning last Friday morning of Mrs. John Hopkins' farm buildings, on lot 16, in concession 6, of East Gwillimbury, have seldom if ever been equaled in the annals of York County. Whether the girl, Mabel Allen, who is now charged with being the incendiary, is guilty or not remains to be proven. She is in the custody of County Constable Cook, at his home, in Mount Albert, and will appear on a charge of arson before Magistrate Moore on Monday. The case will be tried in the Town Hall, Mount Albert.

Provincial Detective Rogers was the presiding coroner, while Crown Attorney H. L. Drayton, K.C., conducted the prosecution. The bulk of the crown evidence was secured by Provincial Detective Greer.

C. R. Fitch of Stouffville appeared on behalf of the girl.

The nature of the relations between Miss Allen and Hopkins were of such a private character that the presiding coroner cleared the court room of all spectators while the girl was on the witness-stand.

The evidence apart from its direct connection with the fire, pointed clearly to the indication that this dark-eyed girl of 18 summers has been cruelly wronged by the man who, as a result of last Thursday evening's occurrence, has been suddenly and maliciously robbed of the property and effects which would have been his on the death of his aged widow mother.

The first witness called was Jacob Hopkins, son of Mrs. John Hopkins who owned the burned property.

He admitted that he had some trouble with the girl because she wanted him to marry her, but stated that he found it impossible to do so, since he was unable to obtain a divorce from his wife. Questioned by Mr. Drayton. Hopkins said the girl knew he was a married man. The relations between the two had not been of a moral nature, in fact he admitted he had seduced the girl a few weeks after she had come to live at his mother's home.

Mrs. Hopkins also testified to the truth of her son's evidence, and added that the girl in moments of passion sometimes threw knives, forks, spoons, stove-lifters and frying pans at the boys in the house. On one occasion the girl threw a knife at her son Jacob, which missed him and struck in a board.

The Allen girl even threatened once to burn the buildings, the old lady stated, and on many occasions inferred that she would bring great losses to the family.

About 2 o'clock last Friday morning Jacob Hopkins awoke and, according to his own statement, "went to the bedroom window to see what the weather was like, as I saw that The Toronto World forecasted showers." On looking out he was horrified to find the whole farm buildings ablaze. Hastily donning some clothing he rushed out, to find that the fire had gained such headway as to dispel all hope of saving the live stock and farm products that were in the buildings. The loss included 13 head of cattle, 3 horses, 2 pigs and 65 hens, besides 200 bushels of turnips, 200 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of barley, 75 bushels of wheat, 10 tons of hay and many valuable farm implements.

The loss on live stock and produce is estimated at $1,500, the entire loss, including buildings, $3,000. The total insurance is $650.

Six or seven young men who reside around the neighborhood hastened over to the scene of the conflagration and discovered footprints in the snow, leading up to within four feet of one of the buildings. They commenced a trail of the footprints and Norman Kay, one of their number, stated yesterday under oath that they followed the impressions in the snow right to the gate of the Allen home, near Brown Hill, a distance of five miles across the fields. These footprints constituted the main part of the incriminating evidence and the crown's purpose was to prove that they were those of Mabel Allen. The impressions of the rubbers were in the soft snow, and the witnesses stated that there were particular markings, that the prints were about 9 1-2 inches long by actual measurement and that they were evidently those of a young woman. Mr. Fitch, on the other hand, stated that the girl's rubbers measure ten inches and that the impressions noticed around and in front of the house might have been caused by some of the sisters, who were accustomed to go to the pump nearby for water. The rubbers were produced in court.

The girl positively denied being out of her own house during the night of the tragedy, and in this she was substantiated by the members of her family. She left the Hopkins' home in August of last year.

The town hall was crowded and the greatest interest taken in the case by the townspeople, who regard the occurrence as one that will live in the records of Mount Albert for many a day. The crowds, after being ejected from the court room, remained outside during the entire hour and a half the girl was on the stand, and when the doors were opened they rushed in again in stampede fashion.

Canadian Hogs to Replace Horse Meat In France—Canning Trade Will Also Be Increased—Ambassador Bryce Listens to Debate In the House —French Treaty Cuts Down the British Preference.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The House went into committee yesterday afternoon on the French treaty. Right Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, occupied a seat on the floor of the House, and was an attentive listener to the discussion.

The debate at once turned on the effect of the treaty in cutting down the British preference. Mr. Fielding read an item which seemed to show there was no reduction, but being asked to read the next it showed a considerable cut.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Henderson, "that if the British ambassador, when he comes, hears this, he will think we are treating Great Britain rather meanly."

The British ambassador smiled.

"If the hon. gentleman's remarks ever reach the ears of the British ambassador," returned the Finance Minister, "he will not think we have done unwisely."

Mr. Foster regarded Mr. Fielding's statement that the effect on the British preference was not considered, as "an amazing confession." The Premier and his Cabinet, both in Great Britain and Canada, had plumed themselves on the preference given to Britain.

Was the Government prepared to abrogate the British preference by making treaties with other powers? asked R. L. Borden.

Mr. Fielding said when Parliament a year ago adopted the intermediate tariff it was well understood that we were opening the way for negotiations. Moreover, a great majority of the items set out in the French treaty were not produced in Britain.

David Henderson (Halton) complained that when a preference was given on French gloves a reduction was not made on fine leathers used in the manufacturing of gloves in Canada.

Colored French Peas.

Mr. Marshall (Elgin) commented on the unfairness of allowing French peas (highly colored) in under special terms, while Canadian canners were debarred from using coloring matter.

Mr. Brodeur said under the Adulteration Act a person offering for sale adulterated food is liable to a fine.

Mr. Smith said the act was a dead letter.

Horse Meat Possibilities.

During the discussion, Mr. Paterson, by way of impressing the committee with the benefit of the treaty concessions to Canadian farmers, quoted from an American weekly, The Breeders' Gazette, an article in which it was contended that under the treaty, Canada might be able to supplant with wholesome beef and pork a portion at least of the demand now met by the slaughter of dogs and horses. In Paris alone, for example, the paper said there were consumed in 1905 the carcasses of 86,000 horses. An Opposition member asked if this meant that we were going to pay $40 to $60 per head duty on horses to have them killed for horse beef.

"No," replied the Minister of Customs, "it means all are to supplant this with our hog products."

Mr. Zimmerman of Hamilton, in a brief address, made an important statement as to the bearing of the treaty on a portion of Canadian trade. The International Harvester Co., which employed 1,800 men at its Hamilton works, he said, was so much impressed with the possibilities of the treaty that the heads of its export department had come from Illinois to investigate. As a result they had practically decided that the whole of their export trade with France, now amounting to over $3,000,000 annually, would be manufactured in the Canadian branch. This would probably result in doubling the capacity of the works and staff in Hamilton. He had also, he said, received assurances from a prominent pork-packer that the treaty would placed Canada in a much more favorable position than the United States as regards the canned meat trade, and that it was quite possible the big trade in this line which Canada had some years ago would be regained and large advances made.

Keep Out of Politics.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Mr. Foster in the House yesterday renewed his enquiries regarding alleged participation of the two Leblancs, employes of the I.C.R., in the New Brunswick elections. The Minister of Railways had been making an investigation. He had wired the general manager and had been informed that one Leblanc had been in New Brunswick over Sunday and had returned to his duties in Quebec; the other had been absent from duty, and the general manager did not know where he was. Mr. Graham had wired the general manager that while employes of the railway were at perfect liberty to use the franchise as they liked, the Department did not want them to interfere in election matters.

ALONE WITH DEAD MAN.

Lighthouse Man's Terrible Ordeal—Kept Prisoner For Seven Days.

Toledo, O., Feb. 22.—Fleeing in terror over long stretches of treacherous ice from the Toledo harbor lighthouse, where for seven days he had been imprisoned, with the dead body of Capt. Delos Hayden, Joe Berner reached the city yesterday afternoon. He brought the news of the death to friends and relatives, telling of the nerve-racking vigil beside the dying man in the lonely lighthouse and his still more terrifying experience while watching over the dead body, waiting for a turn in the weather which would permit his escape.

Hayden was conscious to the last and left a message for each of his relatives and friends. He died in his faithful companion's arms. Berner placed the body in one of the tower rooms of the lighthouse and began his wait for an opportunity to reach shore.

Around the lighthouse the ice was firm under the snow, and when Berner started out at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon he had strong hopes of reaching the shore in safety. Yet the trial was extremely perilous. He was not even equipped with a pike pole with which to sound the ice, and he fell many times into airholes. He also found much open water and frequently by the merest chance escaped death.

Berner cannot explain how he happened to reach Cedar Point Thursday. He had no idea as to the direction in which he was walking, and had he gone 200 feet either east or west of the course he happened to take he would have missed land altogether. He took a few hours' rest at Cedar Point, and then proceeded to the city.

GIRL'S FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Walked Mile and a Half With Clothing Burned Off.

Emo, Ont., Feb. 22.—Miss Edith Knopke, who lived on a homestead claim across the boundary in Minnesota, was almost burned to death in her solitary cabin, and had one of the most trying experiences which ever fell to the lot of one of her sex. She was cooking meat when her clothing caught fire, and the wall paper also ignited. She was too dazed by the sudden conflagration to take any effective measures, and when she got out of the cabin her clothes were literally burned from her body, and she was suffering terribly. Her home in ruins and she in a naked condition and alone in the wintry woods at night, she made a plucky attempt and succeeded in walking a mile and a half and reached the home of a neighbor, John Reid, who, with the help of other neighbors, did what he could for the unfortunate woman.

Medical aid was summoned, and telegrams were sent to relatives in the east. The badly burned young lady was fixed up as comfortably as possible and taken by train from Fort Frances to Minneapolis. Hopes are entertained for her ultimate recovery. She is twenty-seven years of age, and expected to prove her claim to her homestead in about four months.

PRESS CHAMPIONS STOESSEL.

Papers Say Real Responsibility Has Not Yet Been Fixed.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—The passing of the death sentence by a court-martial upon Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, who was tried on charges of cowardice and treason in surrendering Port Arthur to the Japanese, is received with little satisfaction in the Russian capital, where it is felt that the trial of Gens. Stoessel, Eock, Reiss and Smirnoff has done practically nothing towards establishing the real responsibility for the fall of the fortress.

The newspapers express sympathy with Gen. Stoessel and declare that the death sentence undoubtedly will be commuted. They demand also that Gen. Kuropatkin, Viceroy Alexieff and other officers still more intimately responsible for the loss of the war, be placed on trial.

PLOT ALMOST MATURED.

Suffering From Frightful Burns She Struggles Through the Woods.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—The frustration in this city Thursday of a terrorist plot and the arrest of fifty men and women for alleged complicity was followed yesterday by the capture in suburban towns of several other persons implicated in the abortive attempt at assassination. The police believe they have made the most important and telling move against the terrorists that has been engineered in several years.

The plot came very much nearer maturity than did the last unsuccessful conspiracy against the Emperor the participants in which were tried and condemned last July. According to the police, the band had two victims in view. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch and Judge Chtcheglovitoff, Minister of Justice. Both were to have been assassinated between their residences and the railroad station and Tsarskoe-Selo, where they were going to see the Emperor. Two distinct revolutionary organizations were concerned. The first had its headquarters in Finland, and the second was the so-called Northern Flying Column, recruited in the vicinity of Moscow.

Alarmed at the recent arrests of agitators at Viborg and Helsingfors, and the prospective closing of Finnish territory as a shelter from which to conduct their operations, the first organization decided to put its plans into immediate execution. The Moscow allies were notified and joined the group from Finland in St. Petersburg.

The police, however, had been informed of what was in the air, and as a result almost all the men and women implicated are now in prison. The entire force of the secret service was employed.

Most of the prisoners are young, between 17 and 21 years, well dressed and well supplied with money.

The Italian who was taken in on the Grande Morskaia is the accredited correspondent of two prominent radical Italian newspapers—one at Rome and the other at Milan. He was in receipt of the press privileges of the House of Parliament and the Council of the Empire. His friends, however, insist that he had no connection with the plot, and the Italian embassy is taking steps to have the matter of his arrest investigated promptly.

VOIDING NATAL ACT.

Senator Gives Reason Why Jap Cases Were Sent to Court.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—In the Senate Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked why the Department of Justice had instructed its British Columbia agents to appeal the case of the two Japanese arrested for violation of the Natal Act.

Sir Mackenzie said that it looked like an effort to escape the unpopularity which would attach to the disallowance of the act by leaving it to the courts to possibly decide that the legislation was ultra vires.

Hon. Mr. Scott replied that the Government had given the order for the defence of the prisoners, because it felt that it was the duty of Canada to protect Japanese when arrested in violation of treaty rights. That had been done in this case and that the act was ultra vires was indicated by the 95th section of the B.N.A. Act, which declared that a province could not pass immigration legislation in conflict with federal legislation.

"If the courts hold that the Natal Act is not ultra vires, will the federal Government then disallow it?" asked Senator Lougheed.

Hon. Mr. Scott said he could not advise in advance of the case arising what the action of the Government would be.

Catching Fisherman.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 22.—Fisheries Overseer T. A. Hand had several cases of importance to deal with during the past few days. Sunday afternoon Thomas O'Reilly was caught by Mr. Hand fishing for trout through the ice near the island, south of the ship canal. Hand hid in the bushes and waited long enough to convince himself O'Reilly was engaged in illegal fishing. After a chase of three-quarters of a mile O'Reilly was overhauled. He admitted the offence and was fined $30.

Mr. Hand visited Gros Cap and lifted some nets, which were supposed American in Canadian waters. After seizing the nets Mr. Hand observed a couple of men leave the American side in a rig. They proceeded to the Canadian side and Hand placed them under arrest. The men proved to be William Milligan and Andrew Neyland, Baymills. The outfit was confiscated. They had fish on board. The men appeared before Mr. Hand Wednesday. They requested the trial to be postponed one week, Milligan and Neyland putting up cash security of $150 to guarantee their appearance. Mr. Hand states that the nets seized were of American make.

Shooting Was Accidental.

Dunnville, Ont., Feb. 22.—In the shooting of nine-year-old Richard McVay, the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, but censured the parents for leaving the three lads alone to look after the farm. The parents were residents of Buffalo.

30,000 Homeless In Gotham.

New York, Feb. 22.—It is the estimate of one of the managers of the association for improving the condition of the poor that there are approximately 30,000 homeless men in New York to-day. Of these probably 60 per cent. are non-residents.

A Political Deduction.

London, Feb. 22.—(C.A.P.)—The News points out that the only country showing a decline of domestic exports is Canada, whose imports advanced $10,000,000.

"As imports, according to protectionists here, is the grand index inversely taken of national prosperity, Canada is rapidly approaching bankruptcy."

A Poet's Vision.

For years the poet Francis Thompson had been one of the "submerged," selling matches, calling cabs, anything to obtain the pence necessary to buy food. At last he yielded to despair, and having for some days saved up all he could earn, he devoted it to the purchase of a single dose of laudanum sufficient to end his troubles. With this he retired at night to his haunt, the rubbish plot in Covent Garden market. Then by his own narrative the following incident occurred: He had already taken half the fatal draft when he felt a hand upon his arm and, looking up, saw one whom he recognised as Chatterton forbidding him to drink the rest, and at the same instant memory came to him of how, after that poet's suicide, a letter had been delivered at his lodgings which, if he had waited another day, would have brought him the relief needed.

It happened so with Thompson, for after infinite pains the editor of a magazine who had accepted and printed an essay and a poem of his, but could not discover his address, had that very morning traced Thompson to the chemist's shop where the drug was sold, and relief for him was close at hand.—London Academy.

Mineral Waters.

Mineral waters are found at the snow of the Himalayas, and they rise from the sea at Baiae and Ischia. They are to be found in all parts of the globe, but more particularly in volcanic regions. There are but few countries in which mineral waters are not to be found except in very flat ones and at the deltas of rivers.

Settlement In Full.

By LULU JOHNSTON.

Copyrighted, 1907, by N. E. Daley.

Dick Staley, perched on a furniture crate, looked disconsolately at Billy Blaine, who was regarding the wall paper and trying hard not to laugh. In spite of Blaine's efforts the twitching corners of his mouth curved, and as he met Staley's eye he exploded in a roar of laughter which served only to deepen Staley's gloom.

"Laugh, confound you!" growled Staley. "It's funny to you. It's not so funny to me. I've got to get this place settled in five days, and upon my soul I don't know what to do first!"

"The first step is easy," chuckled Blaine. "Get a man in to scrape the walls. The paper is the worst I ever saw."

"It looked all right in the book," said Staley defensively. "It was the prettiest thing in the whole book of samples."

"It may be all right in a sample," admitted Blaine, with another glance at the flowered monstrosity, "but there is only one square yard of the sample. It looks different, Dick, when you have a roomful of it."

"I know it," admitted Staley, "but that doesn't help matters. It only serves to make them worse. I wanted to surprise the matter by bringing her to her own home instead of taking her to a hotel. She hates to give up her old home, and I wanted to make the change as easy as possible."

The smile died from Blaine's face at the allusion to Mrs. Staley. He was Dick's chum, and he knew how tenderly Dick loved the gentle faced woman who within the month had lost both husband and daughter. Now she was coming to live with Dick, and for weeks he had planned to take an apartment that she might not feel too keenly the loss of the home that had been hers since marriage.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, Dick," suggested Blaine. "Let's go downtown for some lunch. I'll phone Nell for one of those professional fixers for you. She knows a crackerjack, a girl who used to move in good society and whose father lost his money. She knows what's what and how to do it, and Nell will get her to do it for you."

Dick patted his chum on the back while his eyes glistened. Nell Blaine was the most accomplished matron of his acquaintance. She would extricate him from his trouble. Together they left the apartment, and while Staley ordered lunch Billy Blaine hung over the telephone in the restaurant.

"COMPLETE?" SHE ASKED, NOT QUITE CATCHING HIS MEANING.

"She'll bring her over tonight at 8," reported Billy as he took his seat. "Eat with a good appetite and consider yourself settled already."

Billy's words restored confidence, and when Dick Staley met Marion Wadleigh that evening his last doubt vanished. The girl did not laugh at his blunders nor even at the wall paper. She listened with sympathy and took from her chatelaine the tablets on which to make notes of what she wanted. With increasing admiration Staley followed her through the various rooms, noting the quick, businesslike way in which she condoned his errors and approved his successes.

"I can do it over in four days," she said briskly when she had shut up her memorandum book and returned to the parlor where Nell Blaine, Billy's sister-in-law, still sat in rapt admiration of the garish wall paper. "Suppose, Mr. Staley, that you drop in here Friday afternoon? Then you can suggest any last changes you wish made, and the place will be ready for your mother Saturday evening. Shall I get you a servant also?"

"Can you?" Staley had heard of the servant problem, and he had worried greatly. This businesslike girl offered even to take that trouble off his hands. He was rapidly coming to regard Marion Wadleigh as a tailor made angel.

He dropped in the next morning on his way to the office and found a paper hanging crew already installed, removing the paper that had proved so disappointing. Marion was there in a gingham apron even more becoming than the cloth costume of the night before, and Dick's heart beat faster in answer to her greeting.

There was something "homey" in her appearance that appealed strongly to the man who for years had enjoyed but an occasional glimpse of home in vacation time. The soft dark hair was hidden by a cap and the piquant face was flushed with exertion, but the heightened color only added to her beauty, and the cap did not shadow the tender light in the brown eyes.

Dick went to his office with his head in a whirl. Ever since he had come to the city he had sunk himself in work. Fortune had come his way rapidly, and up to the present he had found work all sufficient. Now he began to realize that the years had been lonely.

Marion was not at the house when he dropped in the following morning, nor did he see her again until Friday afternoon, when he went to make his final inspection of her work.

Dick gasped as he entered the apartment. In place of the gaudy paper the walls were now covered with quiet tones and the flowered carpets had been exchanged for rugs whose soft tints harmonized with the new paper. Instead of the solid office-like furniture were lighter and more tasteful pieces, and the whole apartment suggested a feminine presence.

Best of all, Marion Wadleigh was there. The print dress had been exchanged for an afternoon costume, and immediately Dick decided that after all a print dress was not the most becoming costume which Marion could wear, though that had been his impression since he had seen her last.

Quietly she moved about the place, giving an account of her expenditures, and Dick followed, hearing only the rich voice, full tones, without caring what she said. At last the tour of the rooms was ended, and she returned to the parlor.

"If you like," she said, "I can buy the material for dinner tomorrow and be here to welcome Mrs. Staley when she arrives. Mrs. Blaine wanted to come over, but she had to leave town last night with her husband."

"I should be delighted if you could arrange to be here tomorrow," said Staley. "I am sure that my mother will wish to add her thanks to mine for the beautiful home you have provided. You will stay to dinner?"

"I only suggested being here to welcome her," said Marion, her face flushed. "You see—in business—it is best to maintain strictly business relations. You don't have to thank me for what I have done. My charges cover all services, you know."

"But money could not pay for pulling me out of a hole and settling me," insisted Dick. "Besides, I don't want to maintain a purely business relationship unless you insist, Miss Wadleigh."

"I don't insist," the girl answered softly. "I have been much interested in your devotion to your mother, and I am sure that I shall be glad to know her better. She must be a dear old lady to deserve such affection."

"I want you to know her very well," explained Dick. "You see you have only partly settled mother. You have provided her with a home, but I want a home of my own, and I want you to furnish it complete."

"Complete?" she asked, not quite catching his meaning.

"Even to a wife," explained Dick. "I don't ask an answer now, but will you consider the proposition?"

"As a business woman I have always considered propositions," she said, with a laugh, but the look in her eyes belied the briskness of her words, and Dick realized that when they should know each other better there was a prospect of being settled "in full," as he termed it some months later when he placed a solitaire on Marion's finger.

He Got the Job.

He called at the house and asked if she had any carpets to beat, adding that he had been in the business for over twenty years.

"How much to beat that parlor carpet?" she asked.

"Four shillings."

"Why, that's awful! There was a man here yesterday who offered to do the job for 2 shillings."

"Exactly, madam, but how was he prepared?"

"He had a stick in his hand."

"I presume so. He intended to take the carpet out on a vacant piece of land, didn't he?"

"Yes; our yard is too small, you know."

"Exactly. That is a tapestry brussels carpet. It is badly worn. He would make a great show in getting it out and in here. Out on the piece of land he would give your name to every one who asked who the carpet belonged to. Is that the way to do a job of this sort?

"I take the carpet out through the back yard. I wheel it home. I beat it in a yard surrounded by a high board fence, and while I am returning it, all nicely rolled up and covered with a cloth, if any one asks me what I have I reply that it is a velvet carpet for 224 Blank street. If no one asks any questions I call at the houses on either side of you and ask if they have just ordered a new wilton. They watch me and see me come in here."

He was given the job.—Pearson's.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS OF MAKING BUTTER

The Woman's Institute of Enismore held an excellent meeting last night in the hall at the cross. There were about forty members present. The feature of the meeting was a paper read by Mrs. Paul Costello of that township on the "Art of Butter-making."

Mrs. Costello explained that the secret of success in butter-making depends largely on cleanliness from start to finish—healthy cows, fed on wholesome food, kept in a well-ventilated stable, with plenty of light and sunshine. Milking should be done as cleanly and at as regular intervals as possible—the milk thoroughly strained and separated immediately after milking. Care should be taken to raise speed on separator gradually up to the number of revolutions stamped on the crank, and speed should be maintained at this during the operation of separating. Set the cream screw so as to have cream delivered from the separator at about 30 per cent. butter-fat, which will be about one pound of cream to ten lbs. of milk. Cool the cream as soon as separating is completed, being careful not to mix warm cream with the previous lot until cooled. Cream should be kept at a temperature of about fifty or sixty degrees, until enough is gathered for churning, when it may be heated up to a temperature of seventy degrees in winter and sixty degrees in summer, until ripened, or sour. When signs of thickening show, it should be cooled down to churning temperature, which may be from 55 to 65 degrees, according to the firmness of fat in the butter. No fast rule can be laid down for churning temperature, as the fat in milk varies in firmness, according to length of time cows are milking, and also the feed the cows are eating. Cream properly ripened should churn in from twenty minutes to half an hour. When butter is gathered into granules about the size of wheat, the buttermilk should be drawn off, and water added to the churn—about the same quantity as the milk drawn off—at a temperature of forty degrees in summer, and fifty degrees in winter. Revolve the churn about twelve times, draw off water and salt at 1 1-4 oz of salt to one pound of butter—revolve the churn a few times, and work in about half an hour—just enough to insure a uniform colour. Put up in a neat one pound package, wrapped in the best parchment paper, with your name stamped on same if you wish. In conclusion be clean in all these operations—turn seperator at the proper speed—aim to get a 30 per cent. cream, and ripen and churn at as low a temperature as possible to complete the churning in half an hour. This will improve both body and flavour of butter.

AXLE ON TRAIN WAS BROKEN

Masons on the Special Train Last Night Were Delayed.

The special train which carried the local Masons to Lindsay last night met with an accident that caused a delay of about two hours. Between Omemee and Bethesda an axle of the tender broke and it was a long time before repairs could be made. Had the train been running at full speed a serious accident might have occurred, but fortunately the train was slowed down on an up grade and no damage was done. The train was manned by a Masonic crew, M. M. Samerson, holding the throttle and Mr. G. Thompson acting as conductor.

Gave Lindsay False Hopes Then Made Them Look Cheap

Midland Tried Defence Game in First Half and it Was Not Successful—Bored in The Last Period and Tied the Score—Midland's Round by 13 to 8.

A GRAND HOCKEY GAME

Special Staff Correspondence.

It was a mean thing that Midland played on Lindsay last night in the return game at Lindsay, when after allowing the homesters to tie the score on the round, and had turned the crowd into a horde of howling maniacs, they went to work and piled up enough goals to keep Lindsay from winning even the game. When time was called each team had scored six times, but at the half Lindsay lead by 4 goals to 0, and immediately after half time scored a gain making the score on the round 7—7.

Lindsay people will not admit it, but Midland is immeasurably the better team, either individually or collectively, and Lindsay had no license to even get away with a draw last night, it was a case of a lightning fast team playing an effective combination, against a seven not so fast and with no more idea of combination than a South Sea Islander has of a fur coat. It has been stated in these columns before that Lindsay is not a well-balanced team and this was clearly demonstrated last night. Newton is great, and Koyle is grand, but the rest are only average, and some of them not a high average at that. Their individual efforts were of no avail last night, because Midland had all the speed. Two or three would simply skat onto Koyle when he started one of his serpentine rushes and the clever point never got clear through for a goal. Bill Stoddart's galloping rushes with the puck kept as far ahead of him as possible, were pie for the Midland defence, when they got that far, but the forward line generally saw to it that Bill didn't wander much. As for Randall and Cotey, they were out of their class and when they realized that fast started in to rough it, in which aim they were far more successful. Randall almost cost Switzer an eye by jabbing him in the face with his stick, while Cotey chopped both feet from under Roberts, injuring the point man so bad that he was out of the game for good.

The half time score does not indicate the play by any means. Midland started out with the somewhat doubtful policy of playing a defence game, and it might have resulted disastrously if they had persevered in it. Eddie Gould, the white haired rover and Fred Whitcroft's old team mate, hung back as a second cover point and rarely let himself out, although he did a whole lot of useful defence work. Neither did his forward line attempt to bore in, as those who had seen them play last year, knew they could do, and the wise ones looked for events in the second half. Although the Lindsay crowd was so deliriously happy during the first half that it did not realize that when Midland let one there would be trouble. Lindsay scored four goals in that first period, not one on a clean rush, the puck being netted after scrimmaging around the nets in every case. The style of play adopted by Midland in that period resulted in the puck being considerably in their territory. When Gould's green and white team came back after the rest there was nothing to it but the northerners. Dropping all idea of playing the defence game, the forward line opened up and their work was a revelation to the Lindsay crowd. Flashing down the ice with a speed that left behind their checks, they played magnificent combination, both at the long and short range variety, almost outclassing their opponents. Switzer or Gould would come tearing down the centre, handle it to one of the wings, who would pass across the rink and then there would be a heave on goal, while the Lindsay forward line were unable to check back closely enough to break up this combination. The Midland line was fifty per cent. faster and about seventy per cent. more clever, although they would call you crazy if you were to mention it in Lindsay. On the defence Lindsay had a more even break.

Lindsay will tell you that if Roberts of Midland hadn't retired early in the second half, leaving the teams six men a side, they would have won the round. They wouldn't, not in a million years. It was not the dropping of Roberts that won the game for Midland, but rather that the northerners changed their tactics in the second half. Lindsay, however, made a big mistake in dropping Sullivan at this stage. The big cover point was playing great hockey, but they benched him, instead of Goosie Taylor, who was simply dazed with seeing green and white streaks flashing past him.

There was a delay of about fifteen minutes over this incident. Cotey deliberately chopped Roberts over the feet and the Midland man left the ice and did not come back, although the Lindsay team kicked strenuously that he was fit to play. They all had a turn at trying to convince Referee Hancock, and between talks were taking a jaunt to the Midland dressing room to announce that Roberts was not hurt. However, he was not like the cat and wouldn't come back. Lindsay dropped Sullivan and the game went on. Well toward the finish Stoddart and Nurley collided and then Randall got to Switzer with a terrific hook in the face, with the result that the game ended with the teams playing four men a side.

Lindsay played a nasty slashing game and the way Eddie Gould's feet were nearly chopped off him, and every one else will carry home some bloody souvenirs. Cotey and Randall were the worst performers, but the rest were there with an artistic slash at all times. Randall's attack on Switzer was apparently a deliberate assault, and if the Lindsay man were to be haled before a magistrate it would be of benefit to the game. Switzer was very badly hurt and it was thought for a while that he would lose an eye. He was carried out of the rink on a bench and had to be left behind at Lindsay, the rest of the team leaving at 11.30 for home.

It would be hard to pick Midland's best performers, but the two great little wings Beatty and Hastings were about the best pair on the ice last night. Although Eddie Gould, in the second half, gave a great exhibition of stick handling and stick hurdling. Although not as fast, perhaps, Gould is the neatest stick-handler of the team and his work was superb. His running mate in central ice, Switzer, was very much there, skating like a streak of lightning and shooting well. Hanley and McDonald played well on the defence.

Newton, Koyle and Stoddart were Lindsay's best, and the former's work in the first half kept Midland from pulling out at least another five goal victory last night.

Referee Hancock was a little slow for Midland's forward line and called them back for an off side often when the man with the puck had been skated on side. However, he was impartial, if not too correct, and neither side had anything to complain off.

Lindsay are sore losers, and will, no doubt, protest the game.

The teams were:

CURLERS WON AND LOST IN KEENE

Two Local Rinks Had a Good Time in Their Games.

The two Peterborough rinks of curlers that went to Keene, skipped by Messrs. C. N. Brown and A. Moore, were defeated in the afternoon contests, being 4 and 3 points down respectively. Mr. Moore's rink played again at night, and by continued good curling won out by 5 up. The rinks were as follows:

Keene	Peterborough
Mather	R Harstone
Moore	M McIntyre
McCamus	O Dumbls
Dr. McWilliams,	A Moore
... .sk. 6	... ...sk. 11

The men had a good time and were well satisfied with their outing. Dr McWilliams' rink provided an oyster supper after the game.

KNOCKERS DOUBLE ON ROUGH RIDERS

Defeat the Former Winners in Rough Game by Score of 2-1.

There was a big surprise at Brock street rink last night between 7 and 8 o'clock when the Rough Riders went down to defeat in a rough game against the Knockers by the score of 2 to 1. The winners played the aggressive game all the way and during the last half the Rough Riders hadn't a shot on goal. All the talking were made in the first half. There was not a great deal of combination displayed by either team, both watching their men too closely. The Knockers' goals were scored by Hillier and Doris in the first few minutes of play. Hillier made a zig-zag rush, putting the puck in the net himself, and he was followed up by Doris, who shot from the boards. Giroux notched the Rough Riders' lone tally. The feature of the game was probably its roughness, and Referee Ferguson was kept rather busy penalizing the offenders, who usually sat on the fence in pairs. The result was a surprise, to many on account of the Rough Riders' win of 4-0 on Saturday last.

Following were the teams:

KNOCKERS	ROUGH RIDERS
Goal.
Allan	Giroux
Point.
Henderson	Cahill

P. Campbell	Porter
Rover.
Hillier	Hayes

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Review Had a Practice Last Night—The Hospitals Are Full Today As a Result.

OUR LIMERICKS "HURT"

Our Limericks seem to be a thorn in the side of the Review team and they devoted considerable space and a sprinkling of sarcasm to criticizing the poetry department of this paper. We admit the verses are pretty bad, but claim they are no worse than the subjects they concern. It is no more possible to take our Limericks seriously than it is to take the Review hockey team seriously.

Manager MacRae of the Review team is apt to be misjudged by his appearance on the street. Really, he can't do justice to himself until he gets on ice.

The Review claims that our verses are mellow. This is accounted for by the fact that they are written about mellow subjects (Webster's contains a good explanation of the word "mellow").

The Review watches our metre as if they were inspectors for the gas company.

We had no idea our Limericks were hitting the Review so hard. A little Zam-Buk would be good for their ailment.

Ex-Editor VanBlaricom of the Review, is in the city to-day, having been called for a consultation in regard to the Review team. After sizing up the bunch he declined to have anything to do with them.

"The Lemon and the Lime" is the title of a clever little skit which will be produced by the Review Burlesquers. Mr. MacRae will appear as the Lemon, and Mr. Yokome as the Lime.

David Hartley writes home to say that a man in Kansas City has been shot for talking too much. Wonder what they would do with Dub MacRae down there?

There is no truth in the rumour that the Review team are wearing Zoomsote in order to be in shape for the game.

A despatch tells of a family being suffocated by escaping gas. There must be always trouble of that kind at the Review office.

The Review seem to be having difficulty in getting a team together, and are keeping their line-up a secret. If it's anything like last year's they can't be blamed for holding their men under cover as long as possible.

Those people you see with a smile to-day were at the practice of the Review team last night and can't help showing their hilarity whenever they think of it. As far as can be learned, it was a joke from start to finish, even the ice cracking with merriment at the spectacle put up by the Tory seven. Everybody knows what they were like last year, and when it is stated that they are worse now than last year's team ever thought to be, the public will be able to get some idea of the treat that is in store for them. Among those out were D.U.B. MacRae, Grand Master of the Ancient Order of Lemons, and Past President of the Successful Soccer Club; Cornelius Burns, muscular director; A. Chopin Yokome, musical director; Mike Dobbin, a ringer; Leslie Gilgour, the kid wonder; McGuire, the Orangeman man, and other lesser lights. "Miss" Crane, the wardrobe mistress of the dramatic club, was unable to be present.

FAST TIE GAME PLAYED AT KEENE

Norwood and Local Sevens in Treat Valley Hockey.

Examiner Special:

Keene, Feb. 22nd—The Trent Valley League game between the Norwood and Keene teams played here last night resulted in a tie 6 all. The game was very fast all the way, both teams displaying fine condition and speed. The fast Norwood forwards could not get away as they expected, the Keene defence playing good hockey all the way.

There was a fairly large crowd accompanied the Norwood bunch and the rin kwas packed. On the merits of the play Keene should have won out, although Norwood played strenuous hockey at every stage.

RECENT DECREE OF THE PAPAL SEE REGARDING SPONSALIA AND THE MARRIAGE LAWS OF ITS ADHERENTS

Some Clauses That Concern The Catholics Of This District—When a Marriage Is Null And Void.

TO PROTECT MATRIMONY

At the three masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning an important decree was read concerning sponsalia (the promise of marriage) and matrimony. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, in the introduction to the decree, writes: "In order to enforce uniformity in the marriage laws throughout the Catholic world the Holy See has issued the following decree regarding promise of marriage, and the valid and licit celebration of the sacrament of Matrimony."

The decree has been issued for all the churches in the Catholic world. Several of the clauses are omitted from the decree as they pertain to conditions which do not exist in this diocese.

The following are the principle clauses:—

Concerning Sponsalia

1—Only those are considered valid and produce canonical effects, which have been contracted in writing signed by both parties and by either the parish priest or the Ordinary of the place, or at least by two witnesses.

In case one or both the parties be unable to write, that fact is to be noted in the document and another witness is to be added who will sign the writing as above, with the parish priest or the Ordinary of the place or the two witnesses.

2—Here and in the following articles by parish priest is to be understood not only a priest legitimately presiding over a parish canonically erected, but in regions where parishes are not canonically erected the priest to whom the care of souls has been legitimately entrusted in any specified district and who is equivalent to a parish priest; and in missions where the territory has not yet been perfectly divided, every priest generally deputed by the superior of the mission for the care of souls in any station.

Concerning Marriage

3—Only those marriages are valid which are contracted before the parish priest or the Ordinary of the place or a priest delegated by either of these, and at least two witnesses, according to the rules laid down in the following articles:

4—The parish priest and the Ordinary of the place validly assist at a marriage:

(i) only from the day they have taken possession of the benefice or entered upon their office, unless they have been by a public decree excommunicated by name or suspended from the office;

(ii) only within the limits of their territory, within which they assist validly all marriages not only of their own subjects, but also of those not subject to them;

(iii) provided when invited and asked, and not compelled by violence or by grave fear, they demand and receive the consent of the contracting parties.

5—They assist licitly:

(i) when they have legitimately ascertained the free state of the contracting parties, having duly complied with the conditions laid down by the law;

(ii) when they have ascertained that one of the contracting parties has a domicile, or at least has lived for a month in the place where the marriage takes place;

(iii) if this condition be lacking, the parish priest and the Ordinary of the place, to assist licitly at a marriage, require the permission of the parish priest or the Ordinary of one of the contracting parties, unless it be a case of grave necessity, which excuses from this permission;

(iv) concerning persons without fixed abode (vagos), except in case of necessity, it is not lawful for a parish priest to assist at their marriage until they report the matter to the Ordinary, or to a priest delegated by him and obtain permission to assist;

(v) in every case let it be held as the rule that the marriage is to be celebrated before the parish priest of the bride, unless some just cause excuses from this.

6—The parish priest and the Ordinary of the place may grant permission to another priest, specified and certain, to assist at marriages within the limits of their district.

The delegated priest, in order to assist validly and licitly, is bound to observe the limits of his mandate and the rules laid down above, in 4 and 5, for the parish priest and the Ordinary of the place.

11—The above laws are binding on all persons baptized in the Catholic Church and on those who have been converted to it from heresy or shism (even when either the latter or the former have fallen away afterwards from the Church) whenever they contract sponsalia or marriage with one another.

The present decree is to be held as legitimately published and promulgated by its transmission to the Ordinaries, and its provisions begin to have the force of law from the solemn feast of the Resurrection of Our Lord Jesus Christ, this year, 1908.

Meanwhile let all the Ordinaries of places see that this decree be made public as soon as possible, and explained in the different parochial churches of their dioceses in order that it may be known by all.

These presents are to have force by the special order of our Most Holy Father Pope Pius X., all things, even those worthy of special mention, to the contrary notwithstanding.

Given at Rome on the 2nd day of August in the year 1907.

Vincent Card. Bishp. of Palestrina, Prefect.

C. De Lai, Secretary.

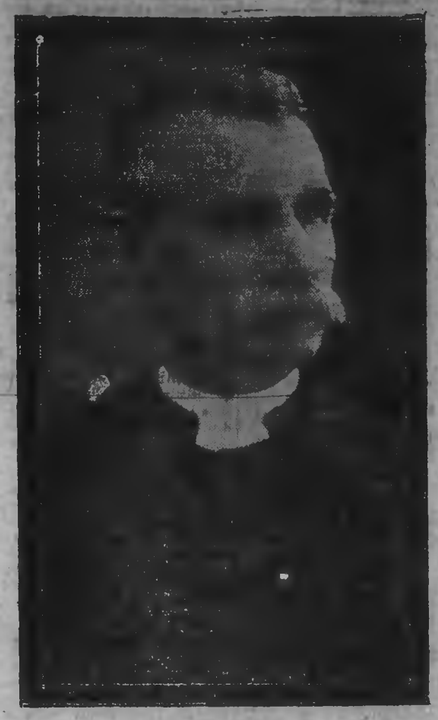
His Lordship Bishop O'Connor in the remainder of the article as read reviews the clauses, explaining them in detail. The conclusion is as follows:

"This decree will go into effect from and after next Easter, April 19, 1908, and is binding upon all Catholics. After that date, should Catholics attempt to contract marriage before a minister of any sect such a marriage will be invalid and not binding, that is to say, null and void. Moreover, such Catholics would be excommunicated and deprived of all right to the privileges belonging to members of the Church.

This letter shall be read to the congregation in each church and chapel of the diocese as soon as convenient after its reception.

Given at St. Peter's Palace, Peterborough, on the 18th day of February, 1908.

Richard Alphonsus O'Connor,
Bishop of Peterborough,
M. J. O'Brien, D. D.,
Secretary.



REV. A. H. BRACE,
Pastor of Park Street Baptist Church, who, unexpectedly, tendered his resignation as such at yesterday morning's service.

REV. A. H. BRACE RESIGNS THE PASTORATE OF PARK ST. CHURCH

The congregation of the Park Street Baptist Church was greatly surprised yesterday morning by a statement from the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, that it was his intention to resign his charge as their pastor and that he would formally place his resignation in the hands of the church in the evening. Accordingly at the close of the evening service the church deacons were asked to remain. Deacon T. G. Gillespie was called to the chair, and Rev. A. H. Brace read the following statement, and retired, after very seriously discussing the situation. Further consideration of the subject was deferred for one week:

Baptist Parsonage, Park Street, Feb. 22nd, 1908

To the Deacons and membership of the Park Street Baptist Church, Park street, Peterborough:

The Building Committee last Friday evening decided to put off building for at least six months, in view of the strained condition of the money market, and the high rate of interest. This just gives me the opportunity of retiring.

After careful consideration I have decided to give up my charge as pastor. I have spent five very happy and successful years, and the church has steadily grown. You nobly raised your pledge to $700, to give me a call. The prosperity granted has warranted the increase of salary, which now stands at $850.

The lot, for which we could not lay our hands on $10 to make a deposit at the time of sale, is bought and paid for. Over $500 has been raised and the mortgage has been burned and $1,000 hard cash going to interest in the bank and thousands pledged for a forward movement. I rejoice with you in over one hundred received by baptism.

But five years for an ordinary man I deem to be long enough in on pulpit and I therefore tender my resignation to take effect Sunday, evening, May 3rd, 1908.

Yours sincerely,
A. H. BRACE.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL IN HOCKEY

Park Street Team Entertained by Their Young Lady Friends.

On Friday night the Park street hockey team whitewashed the George street seven by ten straights. It was a runaway game, with Loomis, Hillier, Johnston and Killenbeck boring in all the time. While the score was a compensition in itself the little social afterwards at Mrs. Johnston's home on Park street, was out of the ordinary. About twenty of the young people, including the players, were present and a most enjoyable time was spent.

In the game Park street lined up as follows: Goal, Killenbeck; point, Barrie; cover point, Gilleland; rover, Loomis; centre, D. Hillier; right wing, H. Killenbeck; Left wing, P. Johnston.

Referee—Norman Darling.

A street car, which was passing northward, frightened the animal and it started down the street. A man who was standing at the corner of Hunter and George streets, saw the horse coming and brought it to a stop. There was no damage done.

A VISIT OF VALUE.

The visit of the members of the Legislature to the Ontario Agricultural College will be a benefit to the country at large, if it leads them to take a deep interest in an institution intended to work for the benefit of the most important possible national interest. The Agricultural College has justified itself and lived down the spirit of party antagonism and petty hostility with which it was regarded by the Conservative party for years. There is need for greater Government aid in the interests of agriculture. The Liberal Government for years dealt generously with the College, even in face of the obstruction of the Opposition. If the visit of the members should result in a more liberal attitude towards the work and needs of the College, it should lead to good effects. Hon. Mr. McKay, leader of the Liberal Opposition, no doubt voiced the sentiments of a majority of the Legislative members when he asserted that the Government should not be niggardly in helping on work such as is carried on at the Ontario Agricultural College. He pointed out that the appropriations for agricultural education amounted to less than half a million dollars, and considered that amount too small for the great purpose in view. The visit will, doubtless, do good for no one can examine personally the extent and variety of work carried on in the interests of farming and dairying, without being very deeply impressed with its value to the province.

TORONTO LICENSE REDUCTION.

The second batch of License Commissioners has resigned in Toronto. The first board appointed by the Whitney Government resigned because the Government, for party reasons, discharged an inspector who enjoyed the confidence of the board, and whose retention the latter considered essential to the proper enforcement of the License Law. The second board, in resigning, have this to say:

"Strong as have always been our personal views in favour of temperance, our determination to give to everyone whom our actions as public servants might affect absolutely fair treatment is just as strong. We believe in giving everybody a square deal. No true temperance advocate will, on reflection, be convinced that the cause of temperance requires the sanction of injustice or sharp practice for its successful propagation, or that it will be permanently advanced by trickery or bad faith. A bylaw compelling the Commissioners to cancel thirty-four existing licenses, railroaded through the City Council in a single night, without previous public discussion, after the people had pronounced a short time before, and in fact during our term of office, against the passing of such a bylaw, was manifestly a betrayal of the electorate. Indeed, it will, if permitted to take effect, grievously injure those who have obeyed the law and have to the best of their ability carried out its letter and in spirit the special demand of your department—namely, 'to keep hotel.' Such action on the part of the Council cannot have our approval or support, either as citizens or as Commissioners, peculiarly conversant as such with the inevitable effect of the bylaw. The passing of the bylaw was not acting in good faith with the electorate or with the license-holders. For a few men to suddenly and arbitrarily destroy privileges which the people, by a substantial majority, had assured the holders thereof would be continued, and which largely formed the consideration for an expenditure of over $1,000,000 for the establishment and furnishing of proper buildings in which to exercise those privileges, we venture to say, was not playing fair."

The retiring Commissioners show that they could not do otherwise. They complied with the special policy of the license department requiring hotel-keepers to "keep hotel" in the sense of making the improvements of premises required by law. The license-holders also complied with this requirement of the law at the instance of the Commissioners. The City Council, without notice, decided to cut off thirty-two hotel licenses. This the Commissioners regarded as unfair, as it implied a breach of faith on their part, and was unjust to licensees, who had spent large sums to comply with the law. The Commissioners are strongly in favour of temperance, as strongly, perhaps, as the members of the City Council, but they are not prepared to accept the doctrine that it is justifiable to do evil that good may come. While the reduction of licenses may be of great moral benefit, it seems fair to require that in the process injustice and breach of faith should not be committed. The Commissioners, by resigning, show that they will not be parties to a course of action which would stultify themselves in regard to their demand that licensees should improve their premises. There seems to be no question of friendliness or hostility to temperance involved, only the principle of fair play and honourable dealing. The most vicious criminal is not condemned and punished without reference to his rights. Why should thirty-four Toronto hotel-keepers be practically fined? This is the way the Commissioners regarded the matter. They feel that, while complaints are made with justification that license-holders do not comply with the law, it is not consistent to punish license-holders for complying with the law.

FIRST-FRUITS OF THE TREATY.

Members of the Opposition at Ottawa have been studying the Franco-Canadian treaty for the purpose of finding ground for complaint and criticism. Desirous of discovering that the treaty will prove of little or no benefit to Canadian trade, they have not found it hard to reach that conclusion, and have not been at all reticient in their expressions of opinion to that effect.

So much for the results of critical study of a document by minds prejudiced against it.

Now comes forward our Adam Zimmerman with a brief, cold, clear statement of fact which is more convincing than all the laboured deductions of the Opposition statesmen. The International Harvester Company, says Mr. Zimmerman, finds that the new treaty is so favourable to Canada in the detail of agricultural implements that it will pay the company to make in Canada the implements which it exports to France. Hence it is the company's intention to increase the capacity of its works in Hamilton and raise the value of its output by $2,000,000 as a direct result of the new treaty.

Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur are to be congratulated upon this the first-fruits of their labours in Paris. And of course the news announced by Mr. Zimmerman is mighty good news for Hamilton people.

Another statement made by the member for West Hamilton was that he had been informed by a prominent business man interested in the meat-packing industry that the treaty would give a stimulus to that industry in Canada, because it secures for the Canadian trade more favourable treatment that that which is accorded by France to the United States industry. If this turns out to be true, the result will be beneficial to other Hamilton industries.

Probably it will not take long for the treaty negotiated by Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur to be justified by its fruits.—Hamilton Herald.

LYDIA E.
PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

No other medicine has such a record of success for woman's diseases, or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for feminine ills, Inflammation, Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has relieved more cases of Backache and Local Weaknesses than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodic pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues." These are indications of Feminine disorders, which this medicine overcomes as well as slight derangement of the Kidneys of either sex.

Women who are sick and want to get well should refuse to accept any substitute for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bruts Is Bigamist, Too.

Kingston, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Lizzie Baker of Yarker found herself wife No. 2 of Alex. S. Babcock of Murvale, when the husband was tried for inhuman cruelty to a child, breaking its arm, while in a temper. He was constantly threatening to kill the four-months-old infant. He was sent up for trial. It was disclosed in the evidence that Babcock was a bigamist. He admitted it. His first wife was Edith Ella Matice of Plum Hollow, who left him. He married Miss Baker in 1906. He was also sent for trial on this charge.

Ship's Crew Rescued.

New York, Feb. 24.—Capt. Lacey and eight sailors of the American schooner Edward J. Berwind were brought here on the steamer Campania from Liverpool. They were picked up in mid-ocean by the British steamer Mercedes de Larrinaga and landed at Liverpool.

The Edward J. Berwind was bound from New Orleans for Philadelphia, when her crew was forced to abandon her.

Three Children Burned.

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. James Stanley of Madawaska were burned to death as the result of an oil lamp being overturned. The victims' ages were 5 and 3 years and 3 months.

The parents left the house and locked the children in, and nothing was known till the house was in flames.

Windmill Severs Arm.

Owen Sound, Feb. 24.—Thomas Burdge was the victim of a distressing accident yesterday, by which he will lose an arm.

He was fixing the windmill two and half miles east of here, when his arm was caught and nearly severed. He hung for some time before help arrived.

Predicts Money Glut.

London, Feb. 24.—"Money will in six months be in an excessive quantity on the American market, and the same conditions will prevail in Canada," was a statement made on Saturday by a prominent local broker recently returned from New York.

"I met one of the leading bankers of New York City," said the London man, "and his firm belief was that deposits were being poured into the banks in such quantities that spring would possibly ensure a money glut.

"That is just what a lot of London firms and individuals are waiting for. Many big legitimate enterprises are hanging fire for the lack of money, and once it becomes easier you'll see this city will be added to by several more large industries."

Engine Throws Car on Platform.

Wingham, Feb. 24.—A railway accident occurred at the C.P.R. station Saturday afternoon, in which the passenger engine of the 1.15 p.m. train was wrecked.

As the train was approaching the station a freight train was pulling off the main line on to a siding. The last car of the freight did not get far enough past the switch, and the passenger engine caught the car, throwing it completely off the tracks on to the platform.

Had the accident happened a few feet nearer the station, the telegraph office would have been wrecked.

Parochial Mission Will Be Conducted At St. John's

Preparations Are Being Made Already For Special Spiritual Effort—Will Begin March 8th.

ORDINATION FOR SUNDAY

Rev. Canon Davidson left on the morning C.P.R. train to-day for Norwood to attend the opening of the Parochial Mission which will continue through the next two weeks. The mission is being conducted by the Rev. Rannet Anderson, of Brooklyn, in Christ Church, (Anglican) Norwood.

Preparations at St. John's

At the conclusion of the evening service at St. John's last night almost the entire congregation remained for the after service which was of an informal devotional character. Beautiful hymns which will be used in the coming parochial mission were sung with an earnestness which indicates a most successful mission.

The singing was effectively lead by an orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gliddon. The tone of the service was deep and unconventional and seemed to be much appreciated by all. This is the fifth of the series and another meeting will be held next Sunday evening.

During the services at St. John's yesterday morning and evening, Rev. Canon Davidson made explanatory references to the Parochial Mission which will be held from Sunday, March 8th until Wednesday, March 18th. This event has been long looked forward to and has aroused much interest in the congregation. The Parochial Mission Mr. Davidson said is a means of bringing home the Gospel message to the dulled consciences and the chilled hearts of men. It has th effect of being a spiritual "warming up" and an inspiration to better things. The many great missions held in different parts of England by means of which tens of thousands of nominal church men had passed from formalism and indifference to lives of power and earnestness were referred to. Few of these had been held in Canada Mr. Davidson said and only on a small scale. He recalled that conducted by Rev. O. P. Ford at St. John's in 1891 and another by Rev. F H Duvernet now Bishop of Caledonia, in 1899.

Last June the Synod of the diocese recommended that missions be held where ever practicable and preparations have been for some time in progress of St. John's and are now more widely made for a strong extensive effort. Missions, Rev. Canon Davidson said occasioned a deviation from ordinary routine to unusual means which were found effective for bringing fresh life into the ordinary services. The mission was akin to the revivals of other communions and Mr. Davidson said that helps and suggestions from all quarters would be thankfully received and used. At the same time great care would be taken to do nothing inconsistent with the real tone and principles of the Church of England services.

An Ordination

His Lordship Bishop Reeves, assistant Bishop of Toronto, has signified his intention of holding an ordination at St. John's church on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m. On that occasion Messrs. C E Wilkinson and F H Battersby will probably be admitted to the Diaconate. The sermon will be preached by Bishop Reeve. Ven. Archdeacon Warren and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will conduct the examinations on Friday. The celebrat on of Holy Communion will follow the ordination.

There has been no ordination in this district or indeed outside of Toronto since 1875, when in St. John's church Rev. G E Soward late of Minden and Rev. W C Allan, of Cavan, were ordained.

Those Horrid Bilious Spells

HAVE BECOME A HABIT—BUT YOU CAN BREAK UP THE HABIT BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

"It is nothing when you get used to it," is a common expression which many seem to apply to attacks of biliousness.

Year after year they suffer from frequent spells of bilious headache, indigestion, constipation followed by looseness of the bowels, dizziness, despondency and ill-temper, and the habit seems to have become so firmly established that they do not think of breaking the chains of bondage.

Why not make a break for liberty, health and happiness. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills stand ready to help you. They have helped thousands under just such circumstances to know again the joys of healthful living.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure biliousness by reason of their direct and specific action on the liver, causing the bile to be properly filtered from the blood, where it acts as a poison, and passed into the intestines where it is necessary to aid digestion and regulate the action of the bowels.

By this treatment you not only obtain relief from the attack, but bring about lasting cure, and prevent kidney disease, which is the usual outcome of neglected biliousness.

"I was suffering for years with stomach trouble and terrible headaches, and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended, I determined to give them a trial and did so with most satisfactory results as I was very greatly benefitted, and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments." — Mrs. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont.

THE TUBERCULOSIS CONFERENCE

To Be Held in Toronto in Alexandra Theatre on March 4th—Earl Grey to Preside

A NUMBER OF ADDRESSES

The programme for the conference of Municipal Representatives called to meet at th eRoyal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, on March 4th, by the National Sanitarium Association, to discuss how more effective provision can be made for the relief of those who are suffering from, and for the prevention of the spread of Tuberculosis, is one that will likely attract a large number of delegates from all parts of the province.

His Excellency, Earl Grey, will preside, and address the conference. Addresses will also be delivered by His Honour Sir Mortimer Clark, a number of leading medical men, mayors, wardens, and others.

The mayor and council of the city of Toronto propose to entertain the municipal delegates at 12.30 noon, and his honour the Lieut.-Governor will give a reception in the evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. The conference will be opened at 2 p.m.

There has been a remarkable awakening during the past year regarding the tuberculosis problem. There is little doubt that the outcome of the conference on March 4th will have an important bearing on legislation that is expected from the Local Legislature during the present session.

There is no a municipality in the Province that is not interested in the great problem.

Municipal officers, medical men, clergymen and everyone in fact interested in the study of this question will be made welcome by the National Sanitarium Association. Arrangements have been made for special railway fare, full particulars of which can be obtained by writing Mr. J. S. Robertson, secretary-treasurer, National Sanitarium Association, 347 King street West, Toronto.

PRACTICAL SERMON ON SWEARING

Danger of the Practice Portrayed by Rev. Mr. Coon.

A very practical sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Coon, pastor of Mark Street Methodist Church at the evening service yesterday. He spoke on the third commandment, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord they God in vain." Mr. Coon pointed out the utter uselessness of blasphemy, and not only that but the destruction which awaits the man who uses God's name without respect and continually tramples it in the mire. Mr. Coon pointed out how this baneful habit is acquired by young boys and advised them never to think they were acting manly because they could swear like a common roysterer.

CEREAL EMPLOYE WAS INJURED

Was Trying to Start Up The Machinery And Was Knocked Unconscious.

Mr. Adams an employee of the Quaker Oats Company, while starting up the machinery was knocked unconscious on Saturday morning. The machinery did not start up as quick as it ordinarily did and he pulled back one of the levers of the switch-board. He was struck on the chest and on the hand and was knocked unconscious to the ground. Mr. Adams is a stranger in the city and has only been an employee of the Quaker Oats Company for a short time. He is able to be around to-day but his hand is bandaged up.

What a joy to Feel Well

Do you know what it is to feel well—to feel young, hearty and vigourous—to enjoy work and to look forward with hope to the future. This is the way you will feel if you evitalize your wasted and depleted nervous sytem by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Not in any miraculous way, but when your system has been gradually built up by this great restorative treatment.

THE WEATHER

Though the weather to-day is bright and pleasant, the thermometer went down to nine below zero last night. The worst of the cold weather is now probably over, although we may have a few cold snaps to remind us that Jack Frost is loth to take his departure.

Sold Country's Secrets.

Toulon, Feb. 24.—Charles B. Ullmo, an ensign in the French navy, has been found guilty by a court-martial of attempting to sell naval secrets to a foreign power and sentenced to life imprisonment in a fortress and to be degraded from his rank.

Ensign Ullmo was arrested at Toulon, Oct. 25, on the charge of being a spy. An examination of his effects showed him to be in possession of many valuable documents, and he afterwards confessed to having abstracted a secret signal book and the naval cipher. An army reserve officer named Burton was arrested later at Vendomme on similar charges and at Toulon on Nov. 10, five ringleaders of an important association of international spies were taken into custody. It is believed that all these men were in some way connected with Ulmo's plan. The authorities found evidence that Ulmo had offered to sell information concerning the defenses of France to a German agent.

Troubles in Italy.

Rome, Feb. 24.—Urgent precautions were taken by the authorities Saturday to prevent demonstrations in the vicinity of the Chamber of Deputies by adherents of members of the extreme parties, who in the recent debates in the chamber have urged the abolition of all religious teachings in primary schools.

When the demonstrators arrived they found a cordon of soldiers and police thrown around the building, and they were kept at a safe distance. Inside the Chamber troops were stationed to quell any disturbance that might arise. In driving back the crowd in the streets the police were compelled to arrest several of the more unruly demonstrators.

River "Flows With Blood."

Fez, Feb. 24.—A letter has reached here from Mulai Hafig, the Sultan of the South, announcing a "massacre of the infidels." Its reading was saluted with the firing of 200 guns. Mulai Hafig says, among other things, that the stream where his men are encamped is "overflowing with the blood of the French."

AN ARTIST DREAM REALIZED; PORTRAITURE IN COLOURS

The Roy Studio Has Learned The Mystery of Reproducing Colours With the Camera.

To-day colour photography is an accomplished fact. The newly perfected art of recording the most delicate shades of colour in the flesh, eyes, garments and flowers has at last been demonstrated an absolute certainty.

For many years the solution of this problem has baffled the best scientific minds. To reproduce colours in their natural beauty by photography was an accomplishment thought to be beyond human comprehension. But, during the past year and a half those on the inside of the photographic world have been studiously engaged in surmounting these difficulties.

And now it is a pleasure to announce that Peterborough has been honoured with the distinction of being the second city in Canada which has demonstrated the absolute certainty of this new discovery. To-day a representative of the Examiner was shown in the Roy Studio, Hunter street, a plate photograph fully developed, upon which were seen the most delicate tints and shades of colour. Mr. Fred. Roy took two photographs at the time, in the presence of the Examiner representative, and developed them in his studio in order to fully demonstrate the new process. The exposures lasted five and six minutes respectively. The gradual appearance of every colour and line as the plates passed through the different baths in the dark and light rooms, dispelled any skepticism which might have been held regarding the genuineness of the finished product. The bright colours of the flowers, the jewellery, the necktie, the clothes, the shades of the flesh, the moustache, hair, etc., were there as perfectly as are painted the skies.

To the layman it seems marvellous. The secret is in the treatment of the plate and in the exposure and development processes. At present no duplicates are possible, each plate being unique (single in kind)—in this respect resembling the first daguerreotype. At the present time the modus operandi of the new discovery are known only to a few besides the discoverer, Antione Lumiere, of France. It is unnecessary to say that Messrs. Roy and Son, of this city, are jubilant over their success along this line. After the expenditure of a great deal of money and time, they have succeeded in turning out photos which record the most delicate shades of colour and distinctness—and samples of their beautiful work may now be inspected by the public.

Blind Man Gives Evidence At The Trial Of Charles Burke

Says The Prisoner Was in Toronto The Night of the Buckhorn Robbery — Burke Also Gave Evidence.

HE WAS REMANDED AGAIN

At 2.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Charles Burke, charged with the robbing of the Buckhorn postoffice on November 5, was brought before Judge Weller, and the last of the evidence which is to decide the fate of this noted individual was taken. There was a large crowd present in the court room, many expecting that Burke would receive the judge's decision, but he was again remanded until Wednesday next at 3 o'clock.

The defence had a star witness in Wm. Kimbal, a poor blind boy from Toronto, who volunteered evidence in Burke's behalf. The prisoner went into the box for the first time. From the moment he entered the box he took the keenest interest in the proceedings, and at the end of the session stood up to await the judge's decision, and looked very disappointed when he learned that he must rest a few more days in the jail.

The first witness called was Edward Conroy.

"You and Miss Conroy called at the jail the same time as Miss Higgins to identify the prisoner," said Mr. Gordon.

"Yes."

"Miss Purser was there?"

"Yes."

"What did Miss Higgins say about the question of identity?"

"She said she wouldn't like to swear he was the man."

He did not remember anything further that was said.

Wm. Kimbal, the blind youth, then went into the box. He said he lived in Toronto.

"Where were you on November 5?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"At 96 Sherbourne street, Toronto."

"How do you know, that it was the 5th?"

"Well, I was in a room talking to Mr. and Mrs. Hay. Two people came upstairs, and later I heard my brother speak to Mr. Burke. I went in and shook hands with Burke and a man named Kerry. He said it was Guy Fawkes night.

"What did Burke say?"

"Burke said, 'Let us have a celebration.' We had some beer in the rear, so I brought them in and drank."

"How long have you known Chas Burke?"

"Five years off and on."

"What time did this meeting take place?"

"Between 8 and 9 o'clock."

"How long did Burke stay?"

"We both went out to a lodging house about 10.30."

"How long did you stay there?"

"Burke and I stopped there all night."

"Are you certain as to that?"

"Positive."

"And as to the conversation?"

"Positive," he stated, "about the celebration."

"When did you leave Burke?"

"In the morning."

"When did you see him again?"

"Three weeks later."

"What does Burke work at?"

"He worked at Barchard's and Firstbrook's box factories, and he told me that he was going to peddle rings."

Mr. Wood, who appeared for the Crown, then cross-examined the witness.

"So you have known him for five years?"

"Yes."

"Where did you meet him?"

"In a Sherbourne street house: it is a lodging house, and my brother knew it."

"In September, 1903?"

"Ever since him for a week?"

"Yes."

"Did you know where he was?"

"Sometimes I did, and sometimes I didn't."

"Did you hear that he got into prison?"

"Well, I heard he got into some sort of scrape."

"He broke into a house on St. Clarence avenue, Toronto. Is that right?"

"Well, it must be right if you have got it."

"Well, have you seen much of him?"

"Well, no; only a month before this happened."

"What is your occupation?"

"A canvasser."

"What did you come here for?"

"I came here to swear he was in the house that night."

"Do you carry your stocks with you?"

"Well, I have a few. Here they are," and he handed them towards the Crown Attorney.

"Well, I don't want to buy any."

When asked by Judge Weller how he knew Burke, he said he knew him by his voice.

The Prisoner's Story

The prisoner was then put into the box and gave his evidence in a straightforward manner.

"When were you arrested?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"On January 4."

"What was the charge?"

"On a charge of vagrancy and suspicion."

"Of what crime were you suspected?"

"I did not know until I came to Peterborough."

"What was said about the Millbrook shooting?"

"I was shown to a man in Toronto, but was not identified."

"Do Chambers and you look somewhat alike?"

"Yes, somewhat; only he is shorter."

"Where were you on the 5th of November?"

"At No. 96 Sherbourne street, Toronto."

"How do you fix that?"

"We had a little celebration. I reached Toronto that night from Montreal."

"What have you been doing for a living?"

"I have worked in Barchard's and Firstbrook's box factories."

"When you were not doing that?"

"Peddling rings."

"How is it you have not held the jobs?"

"On account of my past record."

He then told of the visit of three ladies to the jail, and heard them whisper that he was not the man. He was then cross-examined by Mr. Wood.

"You came back here last September. Were you with Murray?"

Mr. Gordon was on his feet in a moment with an objection.

"When were you here in October?"

"I do not know the date."

The court allowed Mr. Wood to ask the first question, and Burke said he was here with Murray on the 22nd of October.

"Who was the other man?"

"I refuse to tell."

"You and Murray were caught?"

"No, sir; I was not near the C.P.R. depot."

"How far were you from there?"

"About a mile from the city, by Jackson Park, on the Lindsay track."

"You were selling rings for $1.50 a-piece?"

"I never stated the price; I asked the person what he would give me for them."

"Where did you sleep that night?"

"In a barn."

"Have you been back since?"

"No."

"When did you get out of prison?"

"In January, last year."

"What is your age?"

"I am 29."

"You have had five convictions?"

"Yes; that is what you are holding this case on."

"So you have spent eight years, nine months and 10 days in prison?"

"Yes."

Mr. Gordon, in reviewing the case, showed that some think the prisoner was the man, but will not identify him. One lady swears the man wore a cap, and another that the man he saw in the vicinity of Buckhorn wore a hat. He further showed that the evidence of Mr. Conroy proved that Miss Higgins was not positive as to the prisoner being the man. The evidence of the blind man from Toronto, who has a good reputation, shows Burke was with him at 96 Sherbourne street the night of the robbery. Burke has a line of conveniences, and does not hesitate to admit them. When he secures a position his past records become known and he is forced to peddle. In concluding, the counsel asked for an acquittal, as the case was not proven against the prisoner.

Mr. Wood stated that four witnesses had identified the prisoner as the man who robbed the Buckhorn postoffice. Mr. Taylor, whose evidence carries great weight, stated that he saw the prisoner at 4 o'clock on the road to Buckhorn. The peculiar expression of his lips, by which he was identified, allows beyond the shadow of a doubt that he is the man. His own evidence is not worth considering, as a man who has spent such a long time in prison will not let the truth stand between him and liberty.

His Honour had received a letter from the Jack Kerry mentioned in Kimbal's evidence, stating that he was sorry he could not get down to give evidence, but assuring His Lordship that Burke was with them on November 5.

"He speaks about a profession. Who is he?" asked His Lordship.

"Oh, he is the piano player," replied Kimbal.

"And he also speaks of Mamie and Barbara. Who are they?"

"Well, you see, one of them is Jack Kerry's wife, and they both live there."

"He does not mention that you were in the room."

"Oh, I guess he knew that I was coming to Peterborough to give evidence."

"How long did Mamie and Barbara remain at 96 Sherbourne street?"

"They left three weeks after that night."

"Well, Jack Kerry does not agree with you. He says they were given notice to leave on the 6th?"

"Well, I am not certain about the time, you know," was Kimbal's response.

"What kind of a fellow is Jack Kerry?"

"He drives a vegetable wagon."

"How many times have you seen Burke?"

"I have met him about three times."

"What kind of a voice has his brother got?"

"Well, his is of a higher pitch, and is more musical." This caused great laughter in the court.

His Honour said that he felt it was a serious matter, and he would like to consider it a little further. He remanded the prisoner until Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a decision will be given.

Music and Drama

ALLEN DOONE,

Ireland's Sweetest Singer, to Play a Return Engagement Here Next Saturday—Matinee and Night.

Allen Doone, who will be pleasantly recalled for the fine impression he made in the Joseph Murphy plays, by his artistic acting and sweet singing, will, on Saturday next present at the Grand matinee and night, his new and successful comedy-drama "A Romance in Ireland," supported by George W. Kenny's superb company of players; with a wealth of scenic settings and adequate costuming, accessories and mechanical effects. Mr. Doone, now in his third season as a star of the first magnitude, is conceded by every playgoer of Irish extraction, to be the representative Irish comedian of the time. He stands for all that is wholesome and uplifting in the characteristics of his race. His impersonations are not caricatures, but faithful, pleasing drawings from life with the added embellishments of his own magnetic personality and his sweet singing. In "A Romance in Ireland" Mr. Doone portrays the part of a happy-go-lucky, mischievous, but good-hearted young fellow named "Larry O'Daly," who, having nothing in particular to do except to amuse himself, proceeds to do that in the most thorough manner. Squire Doyle owns a fast hunting mare, of which he is exceedingly proud, and of which he is also very careful, but Larry who is desirous of cutting a figure on the hunting field, "borrows" the mare without permission, and so incurs the choleric old gentleman's displeasure, and is forbidden the house. This is a sad blow to the young scamp as he is enamoured of the squire's pretty daughter, Nora, whom he is now under the necessity of visiting clandestinely, and it is on one of these secret visits that he is surprised by the squire, who, wild with rage, accuses the young man of the theft of a large sum of money, which he has just been robbed of. This leads to the development of the story of the play, which is laid in the County of Mayo, Ireland, in the seventeenth century, and is said to be one of the most interesting and dramatic plays seen in years, with an original, consistent plot and many unique situations. The old-time songs and dances of the period are a pleasing feature, and Mr. Doone will be heard in several new songs of his own composition—both comic and sentimental.

RELIEF FUND A GREAT SUCCESS

Has Assisted Many of the Poor This Winter—Relief Officer Has Done a Noble Work.

WILL THE POOR FORGET?

The usual distribution of food took place at Mr. Finch Miller's store on Saturday night. The gifts included beef, tea, sugar, potatoes and groceries, and were greatly appreciated by the needy poor of this city who have had the misfortune to be out of work this winter. The men who apply for help do not present the impoverished looking appearance of the London poor, as we see pictured in so many magazines. The men here are fine, able-bodied citizens, who would work if they had it, and who are driven to accept relief by the lack of employment. The men are loud in their praises of the kind manner in which the relief officer officer has carried on the work this winter. Those who have been unable to come to the relief officer's store and have the food sent to their homes by the officer. The spring will soon be here and with it will come plenty of work for the labourer and artisan. Then the work of the relief officer will be decreased, but it is hoped that those who have been helped this winter will not forget him in the winters to come, when they are blessed with prosperity that they will do their share to assist the newcomers to this country in the hour of need.

THE SUGGESTION IS A GOOD ONE

Correspondent Approves of Idea of a Plain Clothes Officer.

Editor Examiner,

Dear Sir,—It is certainly necessary that the remarks on the above subject, in the Examiner on the 20th inst., should be considered. Whilst not complaining of the local force, I think the officer mentioned should be employed as a detective to put down the crime and lawlessness so prevalent. I notice many suspicious characters about, well-dressed sharpers, beggars, pickpockets, etc., who know well the portion of the city patrolled. It is not possible for an officer in uniform to watch the loafers and those about to commit crime. Therefore, when our police authorities are engaging new men it would be well to act upon your correspondent's suggestion.

Yours truly,
WM. WILLIAMSON.

A QUESTION FOR THE LADIES

Writer Asks for Enlightenment On The Fashion Question.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—There is a question it it is not too impertinent, which I would like to ask the ladies of this city through the medium of your paper. I have noticed from time to time that the fashions in shirt waists, shirts, hats, etc., keep changing. So why is it that because one young lady wears a polo turban that all the others are not content until they have one. This is a very perplexing problem and there is apparently no reason or originality to the custom. It is not only in hats that this is noticeable but in coats, collars and even the make of a skirt. If there is any answer to this I for one would be pleased to be enlightened.

Yours truly,

WILLIAMSON IN COURT AGAIN

Said He Would Sign the Pledge—Was Fined $2 or Ten Days.

A few weeks ago the city was relieved by the departure of one of the Williamson families to Detroit, but there is still one family remaining that will give the police trouble. George Williamson, of police court fame, was the only one in the dock this morning, and the charge against him was that of being found drunk in a public place.

He pleaded guilty, but told his Worship that he bought a horse on Saturday and went out to buy a blank. On his purchasing tour he got in with some friends who asked him to have a drink. He drank three and fell prostrate to the ground, waking up in the police station.

"If you will let me go, your Honour, I will right up and sign a pledge not to drink for a year," he pleaded.

"Well, I fine you $2 to be paid forthwith or ten days in jail," replied his Worship.

The Veletta Club, the latest social organization in Peterborough which is speedily becoming most popular had a delightful outing at Lakefield on Friday night, driving out to enjoy a skate on the Lakefield rink. After skating several hours, supper was partaken of and a little dance followed. The trip was greatly enjoyed by the members of the club.

Refreshments were served during the evening and Mrs. Arnott's hospitality was much appreciated. The weather was ideal for the outing and the return drive to the city was enjoyed by every one. About twenty were in the party.

Should Ask Ratepayers For View On Library Question

Mr. W. S. Robinson, of the Board of Education, Gives His Opinion On Much Discussed Problem—Two Things To Be Considered.

THE MATTER OF A SITE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In looking over the columns of your paper I see a good deal of discussion going on, re public library. There are none who have the best interests of the city at heart would oppose any reasonable proposition for the establishing of a free public library, well equipped with the best books, magazines, etc., as an adjunct to the other educational institutions of our city. But, Sir, I think the question is one that will require some careful consideration by the citizens and council as the burden of taxation is large enough at the present time with no possible means in sight of lowering them but every possibility of a very large increase owing to the heavy demands for the necessary public improvements, also the proper provision for the introduction of new manufacturing industries to our city. Of course the acceptance of the Carnegie gift is not a debt other than the providing for the ten per cent. of the amount given for maintenance of the Library and that means a large increase in the assessment or in other words a direct charge upon the property of the taxpayer and this point in the discussion should be kept clearly before the public mind. It seems to me that while the discussions going on between two of our most respected citizens, viz., Messrs. Moore and Dumble is doing no harm, but rather good as it is keeping the question before the public, that there are two things to be considered: (1) Has the council ever taken any steps to ascertain the exact conditions surrounding the Carnegie gift; (2) Have the ratepayers ever been asked for an expression upon the question? If not I would say let the council prepare a bylaw and submit it to the people at as early a date as possible, and if the is in favour of a free library then go after the Carnegie gift as fast as possible, for there is no reasonable objections that can be advanced against its acceptance.

Now, Sir, I must differ with my esteemed friend, Mr. Dumble in regards to site, viz., the south-east corner of the Central Park, as it would never do to put up a building in front of those already up to obscure the view, in any way, and again I think the citizens will hear me out when I say there should never be a building of any kind put upon the Central Park, and hope the day will never come when one of the best central breathing spots will be used for any other purpose than that for which it has already been designed. I am, Sir,

Your Obedient Servant,
W. S. ROBINSON.

Furniture Business Taken Over By United Agency Co.

Will Also Do Business In Pianos, Organs, Sewing Machines and Insurance — Office Moved to Mr. Clegg's Store.

ARE MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

The United Agency Company, Limited, recently organized in Peterborough, has purchased the business of E B Clegg & Co., furniture dealers, George street, and besides dealing in furniture will do business in various other lines. There will, however, be no change in the management of the furniture department as Mr. Clegg will still remain in charge of that for the company.

The company will also carry on a business in pianos and organs including the products of the well known Karn Company of Woodstock and Evans, of Ingersoll. This department will be in charge of Mr. W H Rose, of Toronto, an expert in this line, and who will be assisted by Mr. O Fife, son of Reeve Fife, of Otonabee. The company has the agency of these for Central Ontario as well as that of the New Williams sewing machine and three insurance companies.

The insurance department will be managed by Mr. H P Lindsay and includes the Great West, the Railway Passengers, of London, Eng., (accident) and the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Company.

The United Agency Company, Limited, have moved their offices from the Bank of Commerce building to Mr. Clegg's store where all the business will be done. The company has an authorized capital of $50,000. Mr. W. F. Nelson is manager and secretary-treasurer, and all the interests of Messrs. Lindsay and Nelson are centred in the new company. Their work is all done under one management and in one store. The second and third storeys are being renovated at the present time and the ground floor will also undergo some improvements at once.

The Company will run a continuous advertisement in the Examiner where information may be obtained at any time. (Mr. W. F. Nelson, the secretary-treasurer will continue auditing and bookkeeping as usual.

The office in the Bank of Commerce building vacated by the Great West Life is now occupied by Dr. Walmsley, osteopathic physician.

Writer Is Opposed To The System Of Bonusing

Why Should The Wm. Hamilton Co. Be Bonused To Compete With Mr. Green, He Asks.

WANTS BY-LAW DEFEATED

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I understand that a bill is shortly to be introduced into the Legislature by Mr. Downey to prevent municipalities from bonusing business enterprises.

I understand that the city of Peterborough is preparing a bylaw to submit to the people in connection with the Wm. Hamilton business, making them a loan of $30,000 on certain terms, which practically means a bonus of about $20,000.

I am opposed to all bonuses, and I hope the ratepayers will treat this bylaw as they do all bonus bylaws.

I noticed the following in the Saturday News:

"Municipal bonuses are indefensible in view of the fact that they prevent "the square deal." Established industries are taxed to aid the new one. A manufacturer should pay his way, especially when his machinery is exempt from taxation."

Why should the Wm. Hamilton Company be bonused to help put Mr. Green out of business, or to make business more difficult for him? He has offered to buy out the William Hamilton Company. The price may not suit the speculator, but it answers the purpose of the city to get the institution going as it was before.

I hope the ratepayers will give Mr. Green a "square deal."

Yours truly,
NO BONUS.

MR. HUFF'S TAILOR SHOP IN NEW SPRING GARB

Both the interior and exterior of Mr. Ed. Huff's tailor shop, on George street, near Charlotte, has blossomed out in a new spring garb. Winter will soon break up and the first harbingers of spring are now appearing. The new fabrics for the new spring styles in men's garments will be rendered all the more attractive when the surroundings are made bright and clean and fresh—so Mr. Huff thinks. The business Mr. Huff started to build some two years ago is growing—bigger it hopes to grow—and now these newly-improved premises beckon you with an air of distinction. Mr. Huff's aim is to make his a modern store, up-to-date in every particular. The interior of the store has been treated to a new wall covering in light green ingrain with a well-blended ornamental border combination, which has produced an agreeable change. The wood work has been repainted and grained to make an effective contrast, while the store front has also been painted and grained to correspond. The work has been done in a careful and tasteful manner by Mr. Thomas D. Murdock, of this city, formerly of Napanee, who evidently has acquired a thorough knowledge of his business.

MANY FAMILIES ON THE RELIEF LIST

Only Fourteen in the Summer Time—Distributions Will Soon Cease.

The relief officer announced to-day that one hundred families have been on the regular relief list this winter, and eighty-eight families have been assisted on several occasions. During the winter eighty-eight families have been supplied with wood and food. During the summer there are only about fourteen people on the regular relief list, and most of these receive pensions from the city. There will only be a few more distributions this winter.

AFTER GRIPPE

Convalescents Need Strength.

The grippe is one of the most weakening diseases known.

Mrs. G. I. Partridge of Franklin, Mass., says: "A severe attack of the grippe left me in a very weakened condition, no appetite, thin, nervous and no vitality. A friend brought me a bottle of Vinol. It gave me a hearty appetite, and my health and strength returned until I felt like a new creature. I consider Vinol a wonderful medicine—it makes strength and vitality go fast."

We want to say to the people of Peterborough that after grippe or any severe sickness, convalescence need strength, and we have never sold its equal for more satisfactory strength creator and health builder than our delicious cod liver preparation—Vinol.

This is because Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

We ask the convalescent, the weak, aged and run-down people of Peterborough to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough.

TRAGEDY IN COLORADO CHURCH

Priest Shot at the Altar While Celebrating Mass.

CONGREGATION IN A PANIC

Assassin an Anarchist Who Says He Has Grudge Against Clergy — The Victim Had Just Administered Sacrament When Deed Was Done—Scene In Sacred Building—Shot Through Heart.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 24.—Father Leo Heinrichs was shot and killed yesterday by Alio Guizeppe, an avowed anarchist and priest hater, while the priest was administering the sacrament at the early mass in St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church.

Kneeling at the altar rail, between two women, Guizeppe pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the body of the priest, after receiving from him the consecrated water, and shot the priest through the heart.

Exclaiming, "My God, my God," Father Leo fell prone in front of the altar and died.

With an inarticulate scream, the assassin sprang into the aisle and waving the smoking pistol about his head dashed to the church door. For a moment the hundred or more persons in the church were dazzled. Then a woman shrieked and the congregation became panic-stricken. Several women fainted and many others became hysterical. Several men, including Patrolman Daniel Cronin, started in pursuit of the murderer, Policeman Cronin overtook the fleeing Italian on the church steps.

Guizeppe attempted to shoot the policeman, but was foiled and overpowered after a desperate struggle, in which several men assisted the officer.

The murderer was hurriedly removed to the city jail. As threats of summary vengeance by men who collected in front of the church, Chief of Police Michael Delaney called out the reserve force of patrolmen, who were kept on guard all day and last night.

Before the commotion caused by the tragedy subsided, the Franciscan brothers connected with the St. Elizabeth's Church silently brought candles for the dead and placed them beside the body of their superior, where he lay. By direction of Bishop Matz the church was closed for the day.

A single bullet hole in the white communion robes of the priest showed that the lead had gone straight to the heart. The bullets remaining in Guizeppe's revolver had sharpened points.

Guizeppe was placed in solitary confinement. He admitted to the policeman that the priest whom he had killed was a stranger to him, and in explanation of his crime, said:

"I just went over there because I have a grudge against all priests in general. They are all against the workingman. I went to the communion rail because I could get a better shot. I did not give a blank whether he was a German priest or any other kind of a priest. They are all in the same class.

"I left Italy three months ago, and went first to Central America and then came to Denver. I am an anarchist and I am proud of it. I shot him, and my only regret is that I could not shoot the whole bunch of priests in the church. I am a shoemaker, but have not worked since coming to Denver."

Australia Buys Paper.

London, Feb. 24.—(C.A.P.)—Australian advices to The Financial News state that Canadian paper manufacturers are making strong inroads in all centres of the Commonwealth. If the standard and quality of the paper is maintained, there will be a strong preference in favor of the Dominion's product against United States. Wallpaper manufacturers are also finding a good market.

Another Murder.

Montreal, Feb. 24.—Just one more Italian murder here and still no arrests.

One Silvio was shot dead Saturday evening, and his compatriots say the murderer's name is Carmirro.

The latter disappeared soon after the crime.

Attack on Alderman's Seat.

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Municipal circles were considerably stirred by the news of proceedings to unseat Ald. W. E. Brown of Victoria Ward. The papers have been filed and the allegation is that bribery and corruption were practiced.

AN EATING ULCER.

Ulcers are a skin disease, and are more or less directly occasioned by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a skin free from disease when the blood is in a disordered condition and the stomach and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

Through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the entire system, Burdock Blood Bitters has made thousands of cures of different skin diseases during the past thirty years it has been on the market.

Mrs. Joseph Robinson, Hallerton, Que., writes: "I had an eating ulcer on my ankle. I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and it worked like a charm, cleaning out all the impurities from my system and improving my appetite. While taking the B.B.B. internally I used it externally to cleanse the sore, and it helped

EIGHT MEN DROWNED IN A STORM

Violent Hurricane Visits England and Ireland.

TRAIN BLOWN FROM TRACK

Tornado Leaves Death and Destruction In Its Wake—Shipping Suffers Severely — Grand Stands Blown Down — Spectators Injured—Schools and Churches Unroofed and Buildings Collapse.

London, Feb. 24.—The southern coast of England and the north of Ireland were in the grasp of a hurricane on Saturday which left death and destruction in its wake.

In the Mersey River a schooner was capsized and eight men drowned. Several small steamers are reported in distress off Holyhead, while a number of small craft have been driven ashore.

No less than one dozen grandstands at several provincial points, were blown down, and many of the occupants, who had gathered to witness local football matches, injured.

A train running between Burtonport and Donegal was blown off the rails by the wind while crossing a viaduct, and nearly crashed into a bog beneath. The passengers were rescued unhurt.

The launching at Belfast of the new 25,000-ton steamer Rotterdam for the New York service of the Holland-American line, had to be postponed on account of the gale.

Blinding hailstorms added discomfort to the day.

The tornado was of short duration, but most violent, unroofing schools and churches and uprooting trees. Fatalities are reported through the collapse of buildings in Manchester, Sheerness, Wisbech and Leeds. The tramway services in Liverpool and Manchester were partially suspended because of trees that had fallen over the tracks. The lightship at Grimsby was sunk, but the crew was rescued by a trawler. A schooner foundered off Sheerness, and the skipper was drowned. Many were injured at Birmingham.

HUSBAND'S AWFUL CRIME.

In Fit of Rage Shoots Wife and Then Suicides.

Hotchkiss, Col., Feb. 24.—Insane with rage because his wife objected to his scolding one of their children, I. D. Stoneburner, aged 41, a prominent and wealthy farmer, living near this city, shot and fatally wounded the woman and then placed the smoking revolver against his own heart and committed suicide before his six little children, seated around the supper table.

Stole Whisky From Car.

London, Feb. 24.—After hearing the evidence of a score of witnesses, Police Magistrate Love Saturday morning registered a conviction against Perry Sinclair for stealing five cases of whisky from a bonded Grand Trunk car, and against Joseph Lenahan on a charge of receiving a quantity of the liquor. Sinclair was remanded for sentence and Lenahan will appear in a week.

Through evidence secured by Grand Trunk Detective Day, the car was traced from Glencoe to this city, and it was shown that Sinclair and a man named Cotter had been seen after the car had been broken into burning a box and a number of straw bottle casings. Richard Blackwell swore to this.

Lenahan, it was shown by the evidence, had attempted to dispose of the whisky to hotelmen in the city, and this was the strongest point against him. It was not proven that Lenahan had known that the whisky was stolen.

William Mahon, proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel, was fined $10 for conducting a poker game on his premises.

Society Shuns Castle.

Dublin, Ireland, Feb. 24.—Many English fashionables, both in the nobility and out of it, come here each year to enjoy the gayeties of the Castle season which begins this week and will last until St. Patrick's Day. But this year the court of the viceroy, the Earl of Aberdeen, is rigorously boycotted, not only by the English, but by the Irish aristocracy, and the season threatens to be a flat failure. There is only one reason for this, of course—the scandal surrounding the theft of the crown jewels from Dublin Castle.

Warns Yankee Fleet.

Melbourne, Feb. 24.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Deakin has issued a statement respecting the invitation of the United States fleet to visit Australian ports, wherein he referred to its importance upon the future development by the appearance of such a great body of warships on the Pacific. He says: "Receptions of the fleet in South American ports would be eclipsed in Australia and the visit of the fleet would mark a new era in the history of this part of the world."

No Color Line at Capital.

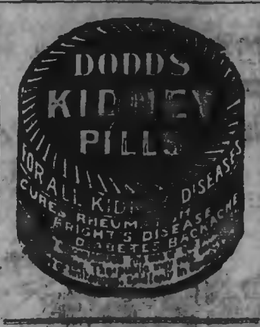
Washington, Feb. 24—Washington's birthday in the House was commemorated by a lively debate on the negro question.

It arose out of an effort by Mr. Heflin of Alabama to amend the District of Columbia Street Railway trackage bill, by requiring separate cars for whites and negroes.

For over an hour and a half the subject was fought out with the result that the amendment was overwhelmingly defeated.

Panic at Teheran.

Teheran, Feb. 24.—Ten persons were killed and a score or more wounded, including several ecclesiastics, as a result of a panic in the main streets here yesterday, during the passage of a religious procession celebrating the Mohammedan muharrima religious festival held during the first month of the Mohammedan year.



WITNESS CONFESSES PERJURY.

Says Testimony on Which Man Was Condemned Was False.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Eighteen-year-old Jerry M. Vzral, whose testimony more than any other person's served to convict the Bohemian fortune-teller, Herman Billik, of the murder of six members of the Vzral family, has, it is announced, recanted and in an affidavit declares that the testimony was simply perjury.

Billik is under sentence to be hanged March 20. The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment, destroying the man's last chance, unless Governor Deneen shall issue a pardon.

Not only does the Vzral boy impugnhis own evidence, but he declares that two of his relatives also lied.

In the affidavit the boy states that all the vital part of his testimony was perjury, taught him by a high police official and an assistant state's attorney. He specifically names the men whom he accuses.

In the affidavit Vzral, who is now a student in Valparaiso, Ind., asserts that he told the story because a police official threatened him with the murder unless he did as the officer wished.

The credit for polishing off the fictitious narrative he gives to an assistant state's attorney, with whom, he says, he was closeted 40 times, the conferences being from one to four hours in duration.

He further asserts that the inspector of police summoned him at least 50 times, and that these conferences usually lasted two hours.

The confession was obtained by the instrumentality of Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, head of the Paulist Fathers in this city and pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, who has been working in Billik's behalf for several months. Father O'Callaghan says he was interested in the case through Sister Rose, a nun at the Columbus Hospital, who firmly believed in Billik's innocence. It was Sister Rose who converted the carbarn bandit, Gustav Marx, who was executed with Niedermeyer and Vandine, the only one of the trio that died a Christian.

FEARS WAR MAY RESULT.

American Speaker Disapproves of Sending Fleet to Pacific.

London, Feb. 24.—Washington's birthday was celebrated Saturday night by the London section of the American Navy League by a dinner at Hyde Park Hotel.

The speakers included are Newton Crane, who has represented the United States Government on several important occasions. He spoke at length on "The Yellow Peril," which he characterized as the bogey of labor union demagogues. He also expressed strong disapproval of the voyage of the American fleet to the Pacific, and said he feared when it reached San Francisco it would excite passion which might result in war.

A large proportion of those present expressed disapproval of Mr. Crane's sentiments by a noticeable silence at the conclusion of his speech.

Apologized and Paid Costs.

London, Feb. 24.—In the motion brought by Lawson & Jones against Lind, Kerrigan & Co., in the weekly high court, before Mr. Justice Clute, yesterday morning, a decision was given in favor of the former firm.

The motion was brought to commit the defendant, Mr. Kerrigan, to jail for a breach of an injunction issued by the court, the breach being a failure to deliver light, heat and power.

For the defendant it was contended that no breach was intended, or, in fact, made.

The court ordered that upon the defendant filing an affidavit that no breach was intended, and apologizing for the breach, paying the costs and that no further proceedings be taken under the motion, without prejudice to the claim for damages which the plaintiff may have.

The firm of Lawson & Jones has also issued a writ against Lind, Kerrigan & Co. for damages for failing to deliver light, heat and power, as it was agreed, according to the claim filed by the plaintiffs. Other firms are interested in the outcome of this suit.

Gouged Wife's Eye Out.

Montreal, Feb. 24.—The police of No. 5 station were aroused on Saturday by a woman, whose name is not known, who rushed into the captain's office, screaming that a murder was being committed at 31 St. Urbain street. She was in a great state of excitement, and before any details could be gathered she had disappeared.

Lieut. Gorman and three constables on reserve at the station immediately hurried over to the address given. The house was all lit up and there was a great racket going on inside. Gorman knocked and demanded admittance, but no one came to the door, and the shrieking and screaming continued. The four officers then put their shoulders to the lock and, with their combined weight and strength, crashed in the panel.

Inside, in one of the bedrooms, the lieutenant found a man, who later gave his name as Fred Rodgers, fighting desperately with a woman. Her face was covered with blood, one of her eyes was hanging from its socket, and the furniture, bedding and pictures in the room were turned topsy-turvey. After the police had separated the two and investigated the matter, Rodgers was arrested, charged with assault. The woman is said to be his wife.

DISASTER AT RAILWAY CROSSING

Express Dashes Into Wagon With Frightful Results.

SIX DEAD, THREE INJURED

Party of Young People Going to a Basketball Game — Tried to Cross In Front of a Train — Vehicle Dashed to Pieces—Victims Were Dreadfully Mangled — Team Plunged Through the Gate.

Spring Valley, N.Y., Feb. 24.—A foam-flecked pair of horses that tore through the streets early yesterday, dragging between them a splintered wagon pole, brought to the village the first news of a grade crossing accident, in which nine members of its most prominent families were either killed outright or frightfully injured.

The runaways brought up at the livery stables of George Young, from whom they had been hired the night before to take a party of men and girls to a basketball game at Nyack. Returning in the early hours of the day the wagon load of merrymakers was run down at a West Nyack crossing by an Ontario & Western passenger express train. Four of the party were instantly killed, two died while being removed to the Hudson County Hospital at Hoboken, N.J., and the other three lie in a serious condition at that institution.

At the hospital last night it was stated that the outcome of the injured could not be predicted for several hours. Of the three the condition of Miss Bird was said to be the most desperate.

The Spring Valley basketball team and eleven supporters drove to Nyack, occupying two carriages. The party of sixteen included six young ladies. The teams started for home a half hour apart. As the first wagon load approached the crossing at West Nyack the southbound mountain express, running over the West Shore road came in sight.

It was behind time, and being pushed, it is stated. The gateman says he lowered the gates and at the same time waved a warning to the merrymakers, whose shouts of laughter could be heard as their horses came galloping along. He believes that young May thought he could beat the train. At any rate the gateman says that the team plunged through the gate and the next moment the wagon was poised on the cowcatcher of the locomotive. As the vehicle fell to pieces the occupants tumbled some to one side, the others directly under the engine's wheels. The train ran a considerable distance before it could be stopped. Then it was backed up and the injured placed upon it.

The bodies of the dead were literally crushed to pieces and scarcely recognizable. In the dim light it was impossible to complete the work of recovery, which was renewed yesterday.

Fire at Hastings.

Hastings, Feb. 24.—Fire broke out about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a frame building occupied by a tailoring establishment and a Chinese laundry, and for a time threatened the postoffice and the residence of John Tracey.

The fire brigade, however, managed to confine the flames to the building in which they broke out, and, although it was soon a mass of ruins, little damage was done to any of the surrounding buildings. The exact loss and insurance are not known.

Steamer Beta Wrecked.

Turk's Island, Feb. 24.—The British steamer Beta, Capt. Pye, from Halifax, Feb. 14, for Bermuda, Turk's Island and Kingston, was totally wrecked off here yesterday. The crew and passengers were rescued, and part of the cargo probably will be saved. The steamer was of 987 tons.

Brothers Killed by Train.

Gloversville, N.Y., Feb. 24.—Samuel O. Shepard of West Day, Saratoga County, and his brother, Delbert Shepard of Woodbine, Iowa, were struck by a Delaware & Hudson passenger train near Corinth, late Saturday afternoon, and both instantly killed.

Uruguay Lines Tied Up.

Montevideo, Feb. 24.—The employes on all the railways in Uruguay have gone on strike. There are about 1,200 miles of railway in Uruguay, which are controlled by British capitalists.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

Davy Hartley Started His Six Day Grind At 10 A.M. To-day

With Fifty Others — Peterboro's Great Walker Got Under Way in Match for World's Championship at Kansas City—Hoagland, of Auburn, the Man To Be Feared.

RECORDS TO BE BROKEN

At 1 o'clock this morning in faraway Kansas City, David Hartley, Peterborough's great little walker, in company with fifty of the most famous living pedestrians, set out on the six-day grind that will establish the title of champion of the world. Hartley has been in Kansas City for a week, and is in great shape for the match. He will have a most classy field against him, but, should he in the running all the time. All Peterborough, in fact all Canada, will await the result with interest.

The despatch from Kansas City to the Examiner is as follows:

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 22.—Manager W. D Scoville of the Missouri Athletic Club, which will put on a six-day walking contest February 24, referred this morning to the entry of David Hartley, one of the best known pedestrians on the American continent. Hartley lives in Peterborough, Canada, but has taken part in matches all over the country. Although he does not claim to be the champion of the world, he has never been defeated in a long distance match. The meeting between him and Hoagland, the holder of the world's title, will be one of the features of the match. Both of the men are said to be stickers from the word go, and the distance covered by them in the 72 hours will be a revelation to the local "pede."

Although a man past what to the ordinary man is the prime of physical prowess, Hartley says he is still at his best. The fact is demonstrated by a recent race Hartley had with a well-known walker in Canada,

Final Preparations

"The final preparations for the match are being made," said Mr. Scoville, manager of the contest, this morning, "and from now until Saturday walkers will be coming in to finish their training for the match. I expect that when the time for the start comes there will be at least fifty men toe the mark. I have the entry blanks of almost that number now, but a few who have announced that they will take part in the contest have not yet sent them in. The first day will probably result in a record-breaking pace. I would not be surprised to see a world's record broken, and I will bet they will go at least 65 miles. It will be an almost continuous sprint and you will see some of the amateurs fall by the wayside. The pace will be killing and by the time midnight arrives some of those who have not taken the proper kind of training will be all in, down and out. They will go to bed that night, but will neglect to get up the following morning in time to take in the contest.

"I predict, however, that some of the local men who have been working hard will make a good showing and will finish one, two, three in the final sprint."

KEENE TRENT VALLEY SEVEN WILL BE SEEN HERE TO-NIGHT

The Rough Riders and the Keene Trent Valley septette clash to-night at the Brock street rink in what promises to be one of the fastest games of the season. Both teams are very strong and are confident of winning, Keene having tied Norwood, one of the fastest teams in the City League, on the former's ice last week, while the local boys journeyed to the village of peacefulness and succeeded in holding the Keene club down to a margin of one goal, which leaves both teams about evenly matched so a great game is assured. The Rough Riders are playing sterling hockey and should qualify for Junior O.H.A. as there is plenty of good fast material. It is up to the public, if they want to see Peterborough's name resting in the limelight again to turn out and encourage the boys who in the near future shall earn honour as well as fame for their town by bringing future hockey championships to the city. Be a sport and turn out and cheer for the boys to-night. The Rough Riders will line-up as follows—:

Goal—L Giroux.
Point—W Cahill.
Cover point—A Campbell.
Rover—C Hayes.
Centre—C Giroux.
Right wing—P Porter.
Left wing—C Waram.

The Rough Rider-Keene game will be followed by a battle between the old rivals Bridgenorth and the Quakers and a hard game should result.

The Gratters and Good Time social Club play between 10 and 11 o'clock.

NORWOOD CONFIDENT OF BEATING STRATHCONAS ON WEDNESDAY

Norwood will have their strongest line-up on when they clash against the Strathconas on Wednesday night and are confident of administering a defeat to the locals that will show that the East Peterborough team is entitled to claim the championship, although beaten out by the Strathcs in the games played. The Norwood seven claim that the Strathconas caught them when they were not in shape and that it was only condition that won for the locals. They have rounded into shape now, and will be a hard team to beat off on Wednesday.

The Strathconas will hold their last practice before the game to-morrow night and are going at their fastest clip just now. They are confident that they can show the public that their victory early in the season was not a fluke and that they are in reality as well as in name City League Champions. The regular city league team will be in line and the game will certainly be the hockey attraction of the season. Mr. Geo. Lynch has been agreed upon as referee and the usual city league admission charges will prevail.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Davy Moore, the Review Poet Laureate, To Get Into the Game—Limerick Factory Running.

GAME ON THURSDAY NIGHT

It is with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that the Examiner team hears that "Davy" Moore, the poet laureate of the Review, who presides over the destinies of the bindery, has decided to throw in his lot with the Review hockey team. Pleasure because we will be glad to have the society of that gentleman even for a brief moment and regret because that he will be seen on the side of such a disreputable organization as the Review team. At the advent of Mr. Moore into the game the limerick department, which has been closed down for the past few days⁄ for repairs, has opened up again and here is some of the output:

The Review Poet Laureate Dave Moore
Says a place on the team I'll secure,
I've skated in my day
On old Hamilton Bay,
So don't think that my chances are poor,

From the parody shop comes the following. The air is "Good Bye Jennie Jones":

Good bye Davy Moore,
For the Examiner'll upset you,
Good-bye Davy Moore,
And the undertaker'll get you,
Good-bye Davy Moore,
When the game's over I'll bet you
Your friends won't care to know you then.
Good-bye Davy Moore,

A Chopin Yokome's musical ability is expected to allow him to score frequently:

The Review are sore on Irl Hicks because he neglected to mention the terrible disaster that will happen to them on Thursday night, in his forecast of national calamities for the year.

It is said that Manager MacRae is apprehensive of appearing before so many ladies on Thursday night, in view of the fact that this is leap year. After making a house to house canvass we are able to assure him that he will not be in the least danger from the fair sex.

'Tis said the Review Maniger Mack,
When he found that the training was slack,
Cut out that shenanigan
Or I like Tom, Flanagan,
Will resign from you hard-looking pack.

One thing is certain that the police will not have to arrest any of the Review team for exceeding the speed limit, although there is danger that some of them may be apprehended for loitering in a public place.

Here's the little ditty that Manager MacRae has to listen to all the time from the players. No wonder he looks like a Manitoba wheat field after a severe frost. The tune is "I'd Rather Two Step Than Waltz, Bill":

I'd rather keep time than play, Mack,
I'd rather keep time than skate.
Hockey is tough, Mack, and I'm not tough Mick,
I'd rather not be in it with the Grit team a minute,
For everything about them is fast, Mack,
And though I was good in my day Mack,
Let me keep time and I'll be in line,
For I'd rather keep time than play.

Thursday night will see the finish of the great drama or comedy, which ever way you look at it. The proceeds of the game will be used to augment the funds of the Children's Aid Society. The admission has been placed at the ridiculously low price of 10 cents, to all parts of the house and the plan is now open. To prevent speculation not more than six tickets will be sold to any one person. The curtain goes up at eight o'clock, and the Review team immediately after. George Lynch has consented to try and keep the teams from murdering each other. Review rooters will be provided with waterproofs at the door so that they can weep to their heart's content. Any one caught throwing lemons on the ice will be arrested. The Review team will be there and seven lemons ought to satisfy anybody.

Oh dear said Miss Crane of the Review,
I really don't know what I'm to do.
My dressmaker said
I ought to wear red.
But I'm certain I look best in blue.

A young lady wants to know what D'R. MacRae intends to do with the "hook," when he "gets it."

The Review states that Corney Burns is anxious for a chance at the Examiner. It looks like another case of "When our firemen fight the foe,"

AUBURNS BEAT C. G. E. MACHINISTS

Northerners Won Hard Game on Saturday by a 2-0 Score.

The Auburns, the latest candidates for the Senior and Manufacturing League championship, are making a strong bid for the honours although they have entered the race rather late. On Saturday afternoon they administered a handsome coat of coleimine to the team representing the C G E machine shop, the score at the finish being 2—0. At the half the northerners were ahead by one goal. The game was a hard fought one and the Auburns had the best of the battle, shots on their goal being few and far between. For the Auburns, Shaw and Kendry were the Stars while Hillier and Coughlin played good hockey for the losers. The Auburns were encouraged by the presence of about one hundred feminine rooters, who made things lively with their cheers. Following is the line-up:—

Auburns.	C. G. E.

B Brummell	Staunton

Shaw	Barrett

WEDDING BELLS

McCONNELL-DARLING

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday last, at the residence of Mr. John Darling, 4th line of Smith Township, when his sister, Miss Ida Pearl Darling, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Arnott McConnell, of Emily. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of guests, by Rev. Mr. Peckover, of Omemee. The bride, who was given away by her brother, was gowned in a handsome creation of cream crepe de Chine, with the usual beautiful bridal flowers. The bridal couple, during the ceremony stood under a tastefully elaborate arch of evergreens. The duties of bridesmaid were performed by Miss Violet King. The groomsman was Mr. Harold McConnell, brother of the groom. The wedding march was played by Miss Alma Darling, cousin of the bride. The large array of beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the bride in the community, where she has passed her life, winning hosts of friends by her amiability and attractive qualities of character. At the conclusion of the ceremony and after the happy couple had been the subjects of hearty congratulations, an elaborate wedding banquet was served. Mr. and Mrs. McConnell will reside in North Monaghan.

THE EARLY LEAD WAS OVERCOME

Omemee Trimmed the Knockers on Saturday Night in Omemee.

After galloping away from the Omemee forwards and notching four goals in the first twenty minutes play the Knockers kept to the home team on Saturday night by the score of 6 goals to 4. The first half ended with the score 4—2 in the Knockers favour but with Davis off with an injured shoulder the team became disorganized and were unable to maintain their early lead. Omemee had the better of the argument in the second half and got away for four goals taking every opportunity and playing fast hockey all the time. In the second half a defence game on the Knockers' part was unavailing owing to the small size of the rink and Omemee tied the score shortly after the opening.

There was a good crowd to see the game which at first kept the Omemee people thinking a lot but anyone little. They let loose afterwards when the Knockers took a bullion ride and were satisfied with the result. The game was very clean, slashing and tripping being noticeable by its absence. The Omemee defence used their superior weight with telling effect. For the home team Mitchell and Magee on the wings played hard throughout, being responsible for the most of the goals. Beatty in goal made a few timely stops.

The teams lined up as follows—:

Omemee.	Knockers.

This is the second annual trip of the Knockers who on each occasion have received splendid treatment from the Omemee Club.

YANNIGANS EASY FOR THE JAPS.

Quaker Oats Office Staff Played Hockey On Saturday.

The most exciting and scientific game of the season was that played on Saturday night at the Brock street rink, between the Yaps and the Yannigans of the Quaker Oats Company's office. The Yaps took their office mates into camp by 8—5, but the score was only an incident. At one stage of the game the teams were playing one man a side, all the others having been put on the shelf by Referee Derocher. Sullivan upheld the honour of the Yaps, while Poe was the only Yannigan left. The old Princeton football player made a driving tackle at his opponent and saved a goal. The Yaps' lead at half time by 5 goals to 2.

Following were the teams.

BACHELORS TO PLAY THE BENEDICTS

Biggest Game of the Year is Being Arranged.

A game is being arranged for the near future that will no doubt create a lot of interest and excitement. The married and single men of the city will get together in a contest that should be about the best of the year. The Benedicts say they can wipe off the map all the Bachelors in the city, and a look at their line-up will show that they may come pretty close to making good their boast. They will likely go on the ice with Wasson in goal, Meagher at point, McWilliams cover, Parnell rover, Morgan centre, Graham right wing, Clarke left wing. Glover will be one of the mainstays of the Bachelors' line-up.

NORWOOD ATD MADOC FOR TRENT VALLEY PENANT

Norwood, Feb. 24.—Norwood journeyed to Keene on Friday night and played Keene a second Trent Valley League game. The game itself was a hair-raiser, bristling with startling plays, Keene had possession of the puck two-thirds of the game, but Norwood's defence played stellar hockey. Every man from the goal tender to the goal umpires had their hands full. R. Pearce gave perfect satisfaction as referee.

For Keene, McCarthy and Dickson played the game of their lives. Quinn decorated the fence for a good part of the game.

For Norwood the Doherty brothers put up a great article of hockey. Joe Doherty should be given special mention, a small boy of sixteen summers, he proved to have an old head on young soldiers. Being of a quiet disposition he has not shown in the limelight, except last night. There is not a particle of doubt Norwood have now a good goal tender, and the game was tied through his efforts. The youngster was cheered by the spectators on several occasions. Haycke played good hockey but had to retire at half time, being cross-checked severely. Cummings, Morrow and Hendren played great games. Both Morrow and Hendren are very fast and proved to be men of mettle. The score at half time stood four to three in Keene's favour.

For Norwood Hendren secured the first goal. Morrow secured the next two, while Doherty scored the three remaining ones in the last half. Final score stood six to six, leaving the championship of the Trent Valley League between Norwood and Madoc.

There was all kinds of fun at the curling rink Friday night when Mr. R. Neil and Mr. H. Foote played a close game, in which the latter won out by 9 to 8 points.

The rinks were:

Yates	McIntosh
Webb	R. Carton
Hicks	Wightman
Neil, skip—8	Foote, skip—9

The ice was in splendid condition and some good curling was seen.

A game has been arranged in the near future for a quantity of bread. Mr. Archie Moore is to play C. Frost, Mr. Neil being vice-skip for the former. It should prove interesting.

The Bell Telephone Company challenge the Review to a game of hockey. It is really a shame for the Bells to ask the poor Review to play hockey after the Examiner gets through with them. They might have got the game on last week when the Review team were at least able to stand up on their skates. But oh! After Thursday night—where will the Review team be? The Review has the sympathy of the Examiner, who would advise them to wait until after Thursday night before rushing into print to accept this challenge, which has undoubtedly been issued "with malice aforethought."

COURTING BY PROXY AND A MATCH-MAKER'S CLAIMS AIRED IN AN IRISH COURT

Amusing Story Told in a Newspaper From Cavan County, Ireland, Received by Mr. Fair.

GRANTED DECREE FOR 10s.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Robert Fair, the Examiner has received a copy of "The Anglo-Celt," of Feb. 8th, 1908, right out from the old sod—the County of Cavan, Ireland. It contains an interesting and unique article on a courtship by proxy. The matchmaker claimed his fee, which was not forthcoming, after he had successfully arranged the marriage. The Celt contains the following account of the suit:

A case heard at Enniskillen Quarter Sessions on Friday, before Judge Craig, created considerable hilarity amid the spectators and officials of the court. Charles Maguire, farmer, Derrygonnelly, brought an action against Patrick M'Menamin, Bolustymore, for £5 for work done and services rendered in procuring defendant a wife and all the necessary arrangements for the wedding.

Plaintiff, in reply to his solicitor, Mr. Cooper, said he had done certain work and rendered certain services to the defendant in procuring him a wife, which occupied a good deal of his time, and for which M'Menamin promised to pay him £5.

His Honour—Did you make the match?

Plaintiff—I did, sir (laughter.)

Proceeding, plaintiff said he introduced defendant to the girl, and then travelled into Enniskillen and called to see the clergyman, Rev. Robert M'Tighe, B.A., in order to procure the license.

His Honour—M'Tighe is a good name for a gentleman who performs a marriage ceremony. (laughter).

Mr. Cooper here read the following letter—"Belleek, August 17th, 1907. Mr. Maguire—You promised to come to the fair at Belleek. How is it you did not come? I am writing to let you know I am going to the fair of Derrygonnelly on the 24th, and I want you to make arrangements with that girl and her people for me. I hope she is a Protestant, and I will give you £5, as I promised, and pay all your expenses. To Charles Maguire, cattle dealer, from Patrick James M'Menamin."

His Honour—He was dealing in a different kind of cattle that time (laughter.) Mr. Cooper—The curious thing is that he is a Roman Catholic himself, but he wanted a Protestant wife. His Honour—But that evidently was not an indispensable condition.

Plaintiff said that the wedding was first arranged to take place in Benmore Church, but defendant objected, as he had been married in that church ten months before (laughter.)

His Honour—Ten months before? Plaintiff—Well, it was not a year, anyway, but his other wife died. The wedding subsequently took place in Garrison Parish Church, and was performed by the Rev. Father O'Keefe. I attended there. His Honour—Well, I suppose you got a part of the wedding feast? Plaintiff—There was no feasting about it.

Mr. Cooper—I believe that owing to conscientious scruples, you didn't go into the church during the ceremony, but as soon as the wedding party came out of the door you went up and asked for your money. Plaintiff—That is right. His Honour—I must say you did not give them long credit. Mr. Cooney, solicitor — Did you get anything from the bride's people? Not a farthing.

Lady with a Past

Now, sir, did you not take this man in? Did you not get him a lady "with a past?" His Honour—Have you put in a counter-claim for breach of warranty? (laughter.)

Mr. Cooney—No, but I think we should have. Plaintiff—I told him that this girl had happened with a bit of a mistake, but he said that did not matter at all. Mr. Cooney—Was this man not a complete stranger to you, and did you not go to him and say "It's time you were married?"—Never.

Did you tell him that you could get him his pick of the best girls in the county—Protestant or Roman Catholic?—Never. Are you not famous for getting nice girls?—Well, I would not say that. Did you ever get any nice girls?—Well, I got one once for myself (laughter.) Did you not get £1 from M'Menamin?—I got it for whiskey, but it cost me nearly £2. What made you take such a deep interest in this marriage?—Because I was going to make some money out of it.

Mr. Cooper—M'Menamin had some difficulty in getting a wife. I believe he had a lot of wives before this one?—Well, they say he had eleven wives (loud laughter.)

His Honour—A regular Bluebeard.

Mr. Cooney—Were they Irish or American wives?

Plaintiff—I don't know. I only know of two of his marriages, but he told me that Saunderson (the last wife) was worse than any of the other ten he had had (laughter.)

Defendant, who spoke with an American accent, admitted that he had been married before.

Mr. Cooney—Is it true that you have had eleven wives?—Perhaps you will learn that later. This is evidently a delicate question, so I won't ask you any more about it (laughter.) Is it long since your other wife died?—Well, it is about a year ago, I guess. You are well-known in the country as a marrying man?—Well, yes (laughter.) It was Charles Maguire came up to me in the market and introduced himself. He came up to me and said, "It is time you were getting married again" (laughter.) I looked at him and said "Who are you?" and he said, "I am first cousin to Mr. Johnston, who lives beside you." And you found out later that this was not true?—I did. He said to me that he could get me the best girl in Ireland for a wife, and I said perhaps a middling one would do (laughter.) Did you promise to pay him £5 for introducing you to the girl?—I did not promise him five halfpennies. He said he would bring me down to Derrygonnelly to see this girl, who, he said, was the best in Ireland.

Well, in any case he brought you down to see the girl, and you got engaged to her and married her?—Yes.

After he introduced you to her did you do all the courting yourself?—I only courted her about three hours, but I got another young fellow down there called Pat Murphy to court her for me for the other seven days (loud and prolonged laughter.)

You had to wait seven days till you could get married?—Yes. Defendant's proceeding said he had already given plaintiff 28s.

Mr. Cooney—How much was settled on the girl?—Nothing, except herself, and she is worth enough. I did not want any money with her; it was the girl I wanted.

Defendant admitted that plaintiff had procured the license for him, and done some other services, but said there had never been any question of payment.

Mr. Cooper—Did you want to marry the girl the day after you met her, and were you not discontented because you had to wait seven days? Did you prefer a Protestant wife?

Defendant—I did. I am a Catholic myself, but I wanted a Protestant wife (laughter.)

Mr. Cooper—And you were angry that you had to wait seven days?

Defendant (warmly)—Now, young man, don't think you are talking to some spring chicken when you are talking to me (laughter.)

Well, what did you tell Maguire when he demanded his money?—I told him I would kick the jaw off him and so I would (laughter.)

How often were you married before?—That is none of your business.

His Honour granted a decree for 10s., stating that he gave nothing for the getting of the wife, but simply for the little errands and out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the plaintiff for the defendant.

WALKED AWAY WITH MR. LASTAR'S FOOTWEAR

Mr. Benjamin Lastar's journey through Russia is not all of a congenial nature. His wife on Simcoe street has received a postal card from him this morning from Russia, on which he tells a rather amusing story.

One morning, when he awoke in his room in a public house he discovered his boots were missing. They had been stolen during the night, but luckily his rubbers were left and he was able with difficulty to travel to Mr. Lastar's home, some miles distant to secure the necessary footwear.

Mr. Lastar is expected home in the course of a few weeks.

Havelock Gives Majority Of 98 For The By-law

Hotel Licenses Will Be Raised From $250 to $750 On May 1st —One Hotelman May Not Take Out License.

VOTING BY SUB-DIVISIONS

Examiner Special:

Havelock, Feb. 24.—The high license bylaw to raise the license fee $500, that is from $250 to $750, which has caused so much excitement and trouble in town, was settled to-day, when a vote was held on it, with the result that it carried by a majority of 98. There were 153 votes for it, while only 55 were polled against it.

The trouble apparently began when in December a deputation of hotel-keepers waited upon the Council and said they paid taxes the same as anyone else in town, and demanded that they should have protection from men under the influence of liquor, and suggested that a policeman be appointed. The Council acceded to the request and appointed Constable Britt at a salary of $35 a month, which has since been raised to $40.

A number of citizens thought that if the village had to pay out $35 a month for protection to hotel-keepers, they should pay more for licenses.

On January 24 Mr. R. J. Graham presented a petition to the Council, signed by himself and 99 other ratepayers, asking that a bylaw be submitted to the people to raise the fee for hotel licenses to $500 more than the present fee. The Council submitted to the wishes of the people, so the bylaw was submitted to a vote of the electors to-day.

There was great interest taken in the voting, and time for the polls to close was patiently awaited. Mr. Richard Philips was deputy returning officer and Mr. Fred Bennett poll clerk for division No. 1, and in division No. 2 Mr. H. T. Andrews was deputy returning officer and Mr. C. H. Brewster poll clerk.

There are three hotels in town—The Armstrong House and Dineen House in the east end and the McNichol House in the west end. The licenses run out on May 1, and the proprietors must pay $750 to secure them for the coming year. One of the hotel-keepers stated that he would not pay such a high license, but will close his house on May 1. Application for licenses must be made before April 1. If all the hotel-keepers follow the example of the above mentioned one Havelock will go dry on May 1.

The vote on the bylaw in sub-divisions was:

	For.	Against.
No. 1	33	69
No. 2	32	84
Total	55	153

Majority for—98.

Retired From Railway Service After 52 Years

Mr. Geo. Nottingham Has Had a Long Experience as a Railway Employee—Pensioned By G.T.R.

A FEW EXPERIENCES GIVEN

For two years better than a half a century Mr. Geo. Nottingham has been employed on several railways, but last night he received word that his superannuation by the G. T. R. would take effect on March 1. Mr. Sam McIlroy, another employee of the G.T.R., received notification to the same effect.

These two men have been in charge of the gates at the G. T. R. crossing on Simcoe street—Mr. Nottingham during the day and Mr. McIlroy at night.

Long Service

In 1856 Mr. Nottingham commenced to work on the Richmond and Quebec Railway. Seven years later he was appointed foreman and remained on this line until 1872, when he came to Upper Canada and began to work for the Toronto and Nipissing line, with his home in Uxbridge. Mr. Nottingham remained in active service until four years ago, when he was sent to Peterborough to take charge of the Simcoe street gates, owing to rheumatism, which robbed him of his former vigour.

Through Accidents

Whilst Mr. Nottingham spent his first seven years as a sectionman he was a foreman afterwards until he came to Peterborough. He was foreman of extra gangs, and had extensive experience on ballast trains and snowplows. During his long active service as a railwayman, Mr. Nottingham has been through accidents of more or less seriousness. He was pitched with a snowplow seven times while working on the Toronto and Nipissing road. Mr. Nottingham bears facial marks to-day received in those accidents, and on one occasion had a very narrow escape from fatal injury.

When the Toronto and Nipissing line was taken over by the G. T. R. Mr. Nottingham remained with it, and thus is entitled to the pension. Mr. Nottingham and his wife intend to return to Uxbridge, where they have property. They have a fine orchard and enough ground for filling purposes. There Mr. Nottingham intends to spend the rest of his days in the quiet existence of semi-rural environment.

AVOID NARROWNESS.

A Toronto minister writes to the papers to complain of $40,000 being spent to send Canadian athletes to England to compete in the Olympic games, when there are starving men and women in Toronto and other Canadian cities. This is a narrow view to take. It would, by a parity of argument, be as just to complain of the hundreds of thousands sent out of the country to educate and convert the heathen to the religion of the Gospel, when there are thousands of uncivilized heathens and uneducated at home. Both contentions, as arguments, are defective. If the whole energies of the country were to be devoted to relieving destitution at home or to sending missionary money abroad, there would arise a condition of things which would yield no money for either purpose. All the activities of the world must be carried on equably to secure the best results. A great deal of the destitution spoken of is accidental, the result of exceptional conditions. In a country like Canada there should not be widespread poverty. Here there is a living, and what is more, happy homes, for all, to be had for the—making. Nobody doubts that the great need of Canada is population. We have millions of acres awaiting settlement. In the process of populating Canada, it is inevitable that there should be a certain proportion of inferiors and ne'er-do-wells. But there will be a survival of the fittest—the best will succeed, and we shall have a robust remnant, representing a virile population. The pioneer settlers of Ontario must have been of sterner stuff than the present generation, or they would not have so triumphantly overcome the hardships and toil to which they were subjected. They did overcome, and laid the foundation of the robust population of the Ontario of to-day. Doubtless some of them,—the weak in will, the weak in energy, and the lacking in industry—went under, as a large proportion of our new population goes under, temporarily, till they can get upon their feet. We want population in Canada, and what better advertisement can Canada have in the Old Land than a band of athletes, who will show the physical stuff of which Canadians are made? An athlete who devoted his whole attention to the development of one arm, to the neglect of his general physique, would be a lob-sided monstrosity. We want an all-round development, national as well as physical. The clergyman mentioned takes a narrow pagan line of argument. While objecting to spending $40,000 to send athletes to England at the expense of the relief of the suffering, the minister omits to mention that in Toronto the Globe "shack" fund of $18,000 odd dollars represents the big-heartedness of the people. The people of Toronto and the surrounding country raised $18,000 to relieve Toronto poor, many of them temporarily so; the sum of $40,000 is to be devoted to sending Canadian athletes abroad, and Toronto talks of raising $200,000 for missions. All of these things are right in their place and sphere. We shouldn't be narrow. Putting all our eggs in one basket is not wise. Let us, as Canadians, take an attitude—do things—that will make for all-round good and sound national character. With a country as broad as ours, with needs as varied as ours, we cannot afford to be narrow.

There are over a thousand million of dollars invested in agriculture—in farms, farm implements, general equipment stock, etc. Yet all that the government does to promote the welfare of our most important interest is to spend a short half million a year. Of any interest demands the liberal aid of the government it is the class which in numbers and importance of interest, overwhelmingly constitutes the legislative institutions of the country. In view of this condition, should not farming interests be more largely the subject of government expenditure?

You Should Take Zutoo

When you think a headache is coming on.

When you have eaten too heartily.

When you have drank more than is good for your digestion.

When you feel you have a coming on cold—feel feverish or chilly.

These are times Zutoo tablets will ward off the coming disorder—nip it in the bud, and insure you against pain and suffering.

RIGHT USE OF ABILITY.

"Take," says the London Advertiser, "Borden, Foster, Ogler and Monk, out of the Federal Opposition, and there might be enough brains left to make an average township council." The Advertiser is, perhaps, extravagant. It is not ability the members of the Conservative Opposition, possibly lack, so much as patriotism. It does not require an overwhelming ability to make a member of parliament a useful legislator. It depends upon the point of view. If a member of the Opposition regards it as his duty, or adopts as his policy, to play the role of mere obstructionist, his ability, if it were that of a Laurier, would be wasted. If his aim is towards construction instead of destruction, to promotion of parliamentary work; if he is animated by a sincere desire to advance useful legislation and facilitate the business of parliament, he can be of the greatest usefulness and justify his election as a representative. It does not take much ability to be honest and do right, to be a patriot instead of a pessimist, in sentiment and act. The Opposition in parliament is busy applying the policy of mischievous obstruction; the time of parliament is wasted by long-drawn talk, apropos of, principally, nothing; that is, nothing that can lead to a higher plane of result than the manufacture of party capital. When it is remembered that a parliamentary speech costs the country a dollar a minute, some idea may be formed of the waste of public funds in the form of oratorical froth. And not only this but a more serious result of this frivolous speechmaking on party capital subjects, is the distraction of attention from the serious business of legislation, the prevention of due consideration of public measures and private measures with relations affecting the public interest. If the Opposition in the Dominion parliament, would use all the ability they possess in a public spirited manner, instead of a party spirited manner, there would be less blame attached to them. The right use of the ability they possess would make them public benefactors, instead of public nuisances.

EDITORAL NOTES

The attention of Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition is called to the mess Japan has made of its government owned railway experiment, not that this experiment contraindicates the soundness of the principle, but to show that it is wise to make haste gently in experimental statesmanship.

Our enterprising evening contemporary, the Review, has, in keeping with its new aura of culture, added a new department, the conferring of degrees. The generous gift of a degree of Doctor of Divinity upon a city minister, if unsupported by fact, is at least a well-meant solution for the resignation of a pastorate.

THE POWER SITUATION.

A deputation from the Ontario government has been visiting Ottawa with a view to protecting the interests of this province in any treaty which may be made between the United States and Canada affecting the water privileges at Niagara Falls. The province, in short, is unwilling that any restrictions, such as is proposed by the United States, should be placed on further power developments at the great cataract. The situation as it now exists affords a splendid demonstration of the wisdom of the power policy of the late government.

Had it made but one development, and that a government one, as was at one time urged, we would have a present development of something like 50,00 horsepower, instead of 400,000 horsepower. Had its policy prevailed we would also have added development of 125,000 horsepower by the Electrical Development Company, which could have been made at the time its other work was being carried on but cannot now be made; in fact, the opportunity has been lost forever. As for any further developments, other than those now being made, experts have reported that there are three or four possible locations below the Falls, which could be utilized without injury to the scenic beauty of the great waterway, and without diminishing in any way the volume of water.—Brantford Expositor.

Chicago, Feb. 25. — (Special)—The Rev. John A. The scheme inaugurated by the Rev. Earl is an innovation so far as Chicago is concerned. The preacher hopes to have a dozen to thirty babies present every Sunday. One of the church parlours has been fitted up as a nursery. It is presided over by forty young women, who will work in relays at each service.

THE ENFORCEMENT IN WINNIPEG

Misleading Reports Sent Out—No Arrests Have Yet Been Made, Says The Secretary.

POLICE NOT INTERESTED

The Examiner has received the following reference to the enforcement of the Lord's Day Alliance in Winnipeg from Mr. T. Albert Moore, the general secretary:—

The recent activity in the City of Winnipeg with respect to the enforcement of the Dominion Lord's Day Act has excited widespread interest. Unfortunately, however, most exaggerated reports have gone abroad, and special pains seem to have been taken to misrepresent the part of the Lord's Day Alliance in this campaign.

It has been reported that 1,500 arrests have been made. This statement is in error by 1,500 only. Not a single arrest has been made. The fact was, at the time of that report, that the Attorney-General had given consent to prosecution in 232 instances. This is a goodly number but not so very great in a city of over 100,000 population, after a period of five months in which, owing to the inaction of the authorities, the law was a dead letter.

Again, it is true that discretion has not been observed in this campaign against the transgressors of the Lord's Day Act. There has been petty interference with the liberty of some, and some vexatious acts have been committed in the name of law enforcement. But the press correspondence is quite as much at variance with the facts as in the matter of arrests. Even the police must be accorded their due. Though it is admitted they have acted with indiscretion, they have not perpetrated all the absurdities credited to them.

Further, the Lord's Day Alliance is roundly abused by many who publicly comment upon the situation, and is held up to scorn and ridicule. To it is assigned the responsibility for all unreasonable acts in the enforcement of the Sunday law. Now, the police, not the Lord's Day Alliance, are enforcing the law. The part taken by the Alliance has been to urge the authorities to action; and in its plea it has been careful to state that it asked only for the impartial and reasonable enforcement of the Dominion Lord's Day Act. The request in this term has been reiterated in correspondence and interviews with the authorities, in communications to the press, and was the substance of a motion carried with unanimity and enthusiasm at a great public meeting held early in the month. If the police have gone beyond this, they, and not the Alliance, must bear the reproach.

And the campaign is not for the purpose of impressing the religious views of some upon the community, or to impose upon the people any religious rite or ceremony. The police are not interested in this, nor by the most extravagant interpretation can the Dominion Lord's Day Act be regarded as requiring it. The law aims to restrain the sellers of wares and others from doing unnecessary business on Sunday. It aims to secure a national rest day. For the rest, the religious aspect, the observance of the Lord's Day, this concerns the Alliance. It is part of its programme, but to attain its object in this particular the Alliance relies, not upon law, or upon compulsion in any form, but the effectual aids of education and persuasion.

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Twelve Boys Were Locked In The G.T.R. Lavatory To-day

Tore the Lock Off the Door and Made Their Escape While Mr. Sandy Telephoned for the Police —Were Trespassing.

BOYS MUST KEEP AWAY

The Grand Trunk Railway have been greatly annoyed of late, owing to the large number of small boys who have been playing around the lavatories and waiting rooms. Mr. Sandy, the local station agent, made up his mind to stop this nuisance and this morning he found twelve boys playing in the waiting room. He put the boys in the lavatory and locked the door, while he went to the office to phone for P. C. Newhall to come and arrest them. When he had finished telephoning he hurried back to find that the door was wide open and the boys had escaped. The lock had been taken off the door by means of a penknife.

In the meantime P. C. Newhall was hurrying to the scene with three pairs of bracelets in his pocket, but was greatly surprised when he reached the station to find he hadn't anyone to take back.

Mr. Sandy is going to take the names of every boy he finds trespassing on the G. T. R. premises and will have them brought up before the magistrate. He said there was once a time when it was safe for passengers to leave their valises, etc., in the waiting room, but that time had passed away and it was no longer safe. He hoped that after a few of the boys had been arrested that the rest would keep away from the station.

A conductor, who was in the office with Mr. Sandy, told an Examiner representative that there are several boys down at the station to meet every train, and as soon as it was stopped they would make a dive for the smoking car, looking for cigar and cigarette buts.

After this a strict watch is going to be kept around the station and anyone found trespassing will have their name taken and will be brought up before the magistrate.

OTONABEE RESIDENTS COMING

Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow Will Reside on Water Street—A Presentation And Address.

On Tuesday evening a pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow, Lainz, Otonabee, when they were presented with a silver butter dish and china tea set, accompanied by an address. The address was read by Miss Beatrice Stark and the presentation made by Miss Mamie Brasly, after which both Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow appropriately replied.

The rest of the evening was spent in games and amusements, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow are coming to Peterborough to reside.

The address was as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Goodfellow,—

To everything there is a reason and a time for every purpose, a time to be born and a time to die, a time to sow and a time to reap, a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to weep and a time to laugh, a time to mourn and a time to dance, a time to get and a time to give away, a time to rend and a time to sew, a time to keep silence and a time to speak, a time to love and a time to hate, a time of war and a time of peace, a time to work and a time to rest, a time to eat and a time to sleep, a time to meet and a time part. And as the time of our parting as neighbours is drawing near we feel what a loss will be ours. By your sterling qualities and Christian character, you and your family have gained a place in our midst which will be most difficult to refill. You have always taken an interest and an active part in all our undertakings, both in church life and social life of our neighbourhood. Your motives have always been felt to have been prompted by the love of selfish gain, but merely to further the paths of truth and honour.

We cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing to you in some slight way the regard in which you are held, and we ask you to accept this china tea set as a token of our good will. May you have many happy meals from them.

Our earnest wish is that you will have health and prosperity, and that God's blessing will abide with you in your new home.

Signed by Mrs. Robert Miller, Miss Henderson, and Mrs. R. Weir.

For Diseases Of The Skin

THERE IS NO TREATMENT SO CERTAIN TO RELIEVE THE ITCHING AND HEAL THE SORES AS

Dr. Chase's Cintment

The one common feature of nearly all skin diseases is itching, annoying and oftentimes almost unendurable itching.

The strong point about Dr. Chase's Ointment is that by reason of its remarkable soothing qualities it relieves itching the moment it is applied.

But Dr. Chase's Ointment does more than this. It is composed of the greatest healing ingredients known to science, and its healing powers are often described as magical.

Allaying the inflammation, relieving the itching and gradually and naturally healing the raw, flaming flesh, Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most effective treatment for eczema and salt rheum that was ever discovered.

There are many kinds of eczema, and nearly all itching skin diseases come under this head. In children it is known as tetathing eczema, and many a fond mother will tell you heartfelt gratitude of how her little one was rescued from torturing, itching eczema by the use of this great ointment.

Wherever there is itching skin or a sore that refuses to heal Dr. Chase's Ointment will positively prove effective as a relief and cure.

Miss O. Stanley-Jones, professional masseuse and nurse, 283 Simcoe street, Toronto, Ont., writes:—"In my occupation as a nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case I recall was that of a child of sixteen months who was in a bad way with scaley head. It was a real nasty case causing the child to suffer very much and to be very troublesome. I persuaded the mother to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and in ten days the child was entirely cured.

"Another case was that of a lady who was greatly troubled with eczema on the face. The doctor was dosing her with medicine which was doing no good. In this case cure was effected in seven days with only one box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Both of these cures were lasting."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has an unparalleled record of cures; 60c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 14

ANOTHER TEMPERANCE LEAGUE

By Employees of the Moulding Department of Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Co.

Last evening the employees of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, moulding department, met at the residence of Mr. James Hatcher, and formed a temperance league. The aim of the league is to assist in making the city of Peterborough a "dry" city, by the passing of local option. The officers elected were:—President, James Hatcher; Vice-President, Ed. Welch; Secretary, D. Keegan; Treasurer, Robert Drury. There was a Vigilance Committee appointed, and the elected Robert Maxwell as their chairman. After the officers were duly elected refreshments were served and the balance of the evening was pleasantly passed with speeches and music. President Hatcher gave an eloquent address on the aims and objects of the league. Mr. Frank Rome favoured the members with two popular selections on the violin. He rendered "Swanee River" and "Pop Goes the Weasel," with variations. The next placee of meeting will be announced later.—Com.

PACER WALLACE IS IN COURT AGAIN

On a Charge of Being Drunk and Disorderly—Was Allowed To Go.

After two days of freedom, "Pacer" Wallace was gathered into the police station. He was arrested some time ago and was sent up on the hill to spend a ten-day term, which he had evaded for nearly a year. He was allowed out on Saturday and made up his mind to go to his home in Pittsburg.

Before going, "Pacer" thought he would stay around town and say good-bye to his friends. He went over to a hotel to have a drink and got into a fight. His face was badly damaged, and after the trouble was over he was taken to the police station by P. C. McHarry. He disliked the idea of having to be in the lock-up again and promised the officers that if they would let him go he would set out at once for his home in the States.

Wallace appeared before his Worship this morning, on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The chief put in a plea in Wallace's behalf.

Wallace promised his Worship that if he was allowed to go he would be out of the city at twelve o'clock and would go to his home in Pittsburg.

SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN

A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered

Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of the hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labour in one laboratory, the dandruff germ destroyer was discovered, and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair, and speedily eradicates dandruff. "Destroy the cause, you removes the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

STRANGERS' FELLOWSHIP TEA AT THE Y. M. C. A.

A Pleasant Evening Spent—All Strangers Welcomed.

A pleasing feature in connection with the Y.M.C.A. social work is the monthly strangers' tea given by the Strangers' Fellowship Club to new members of the association and to any known strangers in the city. On Sunday evening the repast was provided by the ladies of George street Methodist church and was presided over by Mr. R. E. Harding, who made a most congenial chairman. He briefly outlined the Y.M.C.A. work, especially with regard to strangers in the city, and extended a hearty welcome to those present.

Short addresses were delivered by the secretary, Mr. Coleman, and others, who also joined in welcoming the guests of the Strangers' Fellowship Club.

Those present who partook of the Indian hospitality were Messrs. R E Harding, H C Wright, R Wright, Fox, Smith, S A Oke, A Weart, Gibbs, J H Scriver, Daly, Little, F Wade, Gale, Lang, C Coleman, G Wright and Arthur Rogers.

The next tea will be held on the 29th March, to which all non-members and strangers are heartily invited as guests of the club.

ATTEMPTED TO PICK A MAN'S POCKET

Timmy Kearns at His Old Job Again—Was Drinking at Hotel Bar.

WAS CAUGHT IN THE ACT

"Timmy" Kearns, who is well known in local police court circles, having been charged with nearly every offence known, left the city last night to evade the police.

He walked into a hotel yesterday with a certain Scotchman in this town, and as they were drinking at the bar the man from the land of the heather felt a hand in his pocket. He made a grab for the hand and found it belonged to Kearns. The latter tried to make a dive for the door but was held by the brawny Scot. He first threatened "Timmy" with arrest, but then decided to give him a good licking, which he did. Kearns was allowed out in time to catch the G. T. R. train for Toronto, and he has left for parts unknown.

ELOCUTION CLASS TO BE FORMED

Teacher From the Margaret Eaton School Will Be Here Next Month.

The Peterborough Conservatory of Music have been negotiating for some time with different Toronto schools of expression and literature, trying to secure some capable teacher to take charge of that branch of work in this city. Mr R. Gliddon is in communication with the Margaret Eaton School of Toronto, and will have a permanent teacher here some time during the month of March. The elocution department of the Conservatory has been dropped since Miss Heath was here two years ago, and during her time she had twenty-seven pupils. The field for elocution in Peterborough is large, and with the interest shown in the city in this class of art it will no doubt be a great success.

The new Peterborough Band will give a Concert assisted by some of the best talent in the city on Wednesday evening, February 26th in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. Come and hear the new band. Roland Common, Conductor

THE HOUSE-TO-HOUSE VISITATION

The Supervisors Have Been Secured—Meeting on Thursday.

In connection with the house to house visitation work, the organization is being perfected as quickly as possible. The city has been divided into thirteen districts, ten being west of the river and three east. Supervisors have been secured for the districts, and most of them have got to work. The purpose is to divide each district up into groups of from twenty to forth youses, and to each group a couple of visitors will be assigned who will call at every house house of the group between 1 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 11.

A meeting of the supervisors will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when it is hoped all will be able to report definitely in regard to the number of visitors they will require, and be in a position to proceed with the assignment of work to them.

It will be a help in the work of those interested if all the churches could report before that time the names and addresses of the visitors they are to supply.

Arranging For The East Riding Liberal Convention

Meeting of the Executive Committee of the East Riding Liberal Association Held on Saturday---Sub-division Meeting For Selection of Delegates.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the East Peterborough Liberal Association was held in the office of the Secretary, Dr. Robinson on Saturday last.

It was decided to hold a convention of delegates to nominate candidates to contest East Peterborough in the Liberal interest at the next general elections for the Ontario Legislature and the House of Commons at a date to be fixed when arrangements for special speakers shall have been completed.

Meantime the Vice-Presidents of the Association in the different villages and townships in the riding will call meetings in each polling sub-division of each village or township, for the purpose of selecting delegates and alternates. At these meetings every Liberal will be welcomed to the end that each delegate and alternate may be as representative as possible of each sub-division and collectively of the whole riding in the forthcoming convention.

The Secretary of the Association was instructed to supply the different Vice-Presidents with a sufficient number of notices in blank for calling sub-division meetings, to secure the greatest degree of publicity so that every Liberal interested may be apprised of the date of the meeting, at which, as remarked, every Liberal will be made welcome.

The date of the Riding Convention will be announced as soon as arrangements for the speakers shall have been completed.

Lumber Estimates This Year Show A Great Shrinkage

Cut Throughout Ontario Has Been Largely Curtailed by the Companies—There Will Be a Big Demand, Says Local Company.

PRICES WILL NOT CHANGE

The latest estimates of the pine cut for the season, received by the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines of the Ontario Legislature, show a shrinkage of 35,500,000 feet. The estimate made earlier in the season was 710,000,000 feet but this now has been reduced to 675,000,000 feet. With regard to railway ties the estimates have been changed in a diametrically opposite manner. The Canadian Northern, the National Transcontinental and the Canadian Pacific Railways, are all drawing upon Ontario, now, for their supply of ties, with the result that the estimate output has doubled. It is expected that 3,000,000 ties will be required of this province. The estimated cut of pulpwood is 216,000 cords.

During the past week or ten days sufficient snow has fallen to guarantee sleighing for the balance of the winter. In the woods a lighter fall would haves been more welcome, particularly in view of the present thaw, which if prolonged and followed by more cold weather, may prove troublesome for skidding an hauling operations in the bush. As it is work in the bush has been generally retarded. The smaller operators are more likely to feel the effects of this since they are anxious to work to the best advantage this season, in view of the unusual expense under which they are compelled to operate. They are taking out less than last year in most instances, but as they keep cut up closely each season they feel constrained to make the best possible use of their time. The larger operators in many cases are not cut up so closely.

Although buying conditions are dull, there is a large amount of business being transacted. Hemlock is fairly active and shows every indication of assuming somewhat of its old time vigour very shortly. Everything depends upon the amount of building that will be undertaken during the early summer, and as yet it is difficult to more than surmise what this will be. The falling off of American and British orders gives the general trade of Ontario a leaner appearance than it would otherwise wear, a condition which will not right itself very readily.

White pine is in fair demand, inquiries being more numerous than sales. Spruce is holding itself well. We understand that orers for eastern spruce are being picked up in greater volume in Ontario than the general trade would lead one to think. Hardwoods are featureless. Prices are stationary but orders are few.

The above item appeared in the Canadian Lumberman for February. An Examiner representative called at one of the local lumber offices this morning and was told that lumber would be very scarce this year and the price would not be any lower than last. The small lumber yards which depend on the big lumber companies for their supplies are also standstill. This is the condition existing throughout the whole of Ontario.

Still Looking For Relatives Of Dead "Peterborough Red"

Chief Roszel Has Received Letter From Treasurer of Idaho Railway—Killed By a Train.

BORN IN PETERBOROUGH

A letter from Mr. A. W. Laird of Potlatch, Idaho, has reached Chief Roszel, referring to the death of Wm Edwards, familiarly known as "Peterborough Red." The letter reads as follows:

Washington, Idaho, Montana Railway Company,
Potlatch, Idaho, Feb. 18.

Chief Roszel,
Peterborough,—

Dear Sir,—On February 12 a man named Wm. Edwards was attempting to steal a ride on one of our trains, and on account of cold weather and deep snow it would appear that he became numb and must have lost his grip on the brake beam, where he was riding, and rolled under the wheels and was killed. We understand this man was born and raised in your city, but could get no information as to his relatives. We therefore write you the above information, and would advise you that he had nothing on his person but fifty cents and a hospital ticket which identified him. The remains were buried at Potlatch, Idaho, after coroner's inquest was held in the presence of L. B. McCarter, coroner of Latch county, whose residence is Moscow, Idaho. If this man has any relatives that you know of, kindly inform them.

Yours truly,
A. W. LAIRD,
Asst. Treas.

Reads His Own Obituary In The Peterborough Gaol

Arthur Turner, Supposed to Have Been Killed at Smith's Falls, Has Not Left the City.

IS AWAITING DEPORTATION

A story appears to have been absorbed by some easy marks in Peterborough to the effect that Arthur R. Turner, who was in the local police court a few days ago, charged with vagrancy, had caused his own death at Smith Falls, by lying down beneath a train. This rumour is, of course, absurdly untrue as Turner is now incarcerated in the county gaol in Peterborough, awaiting the arrival of the deportation officer.

Turner was sent to gaol here for 30 days by Magistrate Edmison and the jailer refuses to allow him to leave until the expiration of his time unless Mr. Devlin, the Government deporting officer, gets authority from the Minister of Justice. This has not been done and Turner will not leave Peterborough until Mr. Devlin returns from an official trip to Sault Ste. Marie.

No doubt Mr. Turner will be gratified to learn that he is not yet dead, even if his obituary has been published, and he may also be pleased that his condition is no worse than residing in the silent corridors of the county gaol.

RINGWORM

Stubborn Case—Healed By Zam-Buk.

The most troublesome and obstinate of all scalp trouble is Ringworm. Mrs H. Girdlestone of 100 Rawdon street, Brantford, Ont., says: "My daughter had ringworm very bad, so bad that I was compelled to have her hair cut off. I obtained a preparation from the druggist to paint the sores, but instead of curing, the ringworm developed into nasty sores matterating and smelling badly. I saw Zam-Buk advertised in the newspaper and immediately sent for a box. After several applications I could see a great improvement, and as I kept up the Zam-Buk treatment daily the disease was soon checked. The nasty sores were thoroughly cleaned and healed and all trace of ringworm banished from the child's scalp in a few weeks after commencing with Zam-Buk. I cannot recommend Zam-Buk too highly."

Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, chapped hands, cold sores, itch ulcers, eczema, running sores, ca'arrah, piles, bad legs, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, abscesses and all diseases of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, 50c., or post-paid upon receipt of price, from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 6 boxes $2.50.

WOOD FOR SALE ON THE MARKET

Sells Cheaply But People Do Not Buy Very Readily.

There was a fairly good market to-day, especially in hay and straw. Th farmers were present in larger numbers than usual. Hay sold at from $17 to $18 per ton, with a few asking $19. There was also mixed wood for sale at $4.50 per cord. People in the city are complaining that wood is scarce and selling at too high a price, but on Saturday a load of good wood at a reasonable figure stood on the market for several hours before it was finally purchased. The same may be said of the wood on the market to-day. The farmers are quite reasonable in their prices.

GOOD TIME COMING FOR LAUNDRY

John Chinaman Rejoices at the Sun's Increasing Strength.

Winter weather is none too good for the laundry business, said one of the Chinese laundrymen to-day.

"Too cold yet," he said, "not hot enough for big business in collar and shirt." Just now this particular Celestial said he was only "middlin' busy." Next month he expects that there will be a noticeable increase.

"Hot weather," he explained, "then begin to come. People get hot easy, collars and shirts soiled, and have to be cleaned often."

Tom was certainly wise to the situation, and from his experience he had doped out the case as he found it.

A collar a day is about the average in summer, and that same collar in February might maintain its glossy sheen for three days in winter. Similarly with shirts. The fine weather means an open coat and less necessarily a clean shirt front.

No wonder the Chinaman watches Old Sol's gradual approach to the tropic of Cancer.

NAAMAN, THE SYRIAN LEPER

Is This an Ideal Subject for a Sermon?—Its Scope for Gruesome Criticism and Comparisons—Unlike the Sermon on the Mount.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir, — Listening to an impassioned address on the Syrian leper last Sunday, these thoughts were forcibly impressed upon me:

Is there not an inherent tendency in human nature to look for imperfection, and does it not usually find what it looks for? Human nature has no perfect standard or model of its own, by which to judge. From its own finite view point it asserts that there is no use to look for perfection in this world, since it cannot be found here. Humanity has been so drilled in the contemplation of imperfect thought-moulds that it is loth to grapple with the idea of spiritual perfection. Must I say it, that false theology, more than anything else is responsible for this disinclination to reach out for a present understanding of God, and His perfect manifestations. The example of the Great Master is not often enough held up as the one and only standard of right thinking, hence the woful misunderstanding of His word and works, and the unrestrained habit of thinking at random upon all subjects.

Think of the Sermon on the Mount! The besetting sin of criticism! Everything and everybody is one that has seemingly gained ground with the progress of modern civilization. Jesus never made a mistake in criticising or judging anyone. His was the "higher knowledge" of all comparing spiritual things with spiritual." He said, "Ye judge after the flesh; I judge no man." And yet "if I judge My judgment is true." Such thinking is not personal censure, or condemnation, or any other corporeal consideration of any one, but the natural and lawful expression of man's divine intelligence, of the Mind that was with Christ Jesus.

Unbridled criticism must not be confounded with righteous reproof, or rebuke. The latter is clothed with authority, and power, while criticism has neither. The only righteous criticism is that which lovingly and compassionately looks for the good in others. As one learns to love and to live as Jesus lived, overcoming evil with good, he will partake of that pure, God-like consciousness, which "thinketh no evil." Hasten the hour when the quickening spirit of divine love will arouse every true Christian to a more rigid observance of the divine command to think of others only as God would think of them. "What I say unto you, I say unto all, watch."

With thanks, Mr. Editor, for this privilege.

STUDENT.

BUILDING OPERATIONS HAVE BEGUN

Three Houses are Under Erection—Two Foundations Being Completed on Gladstone Avenue.

The contractors are already beginning to work, and soon the bricklayers, carpenters, plasterers, etc., will be called back to their usual employment. During the past week three houses on Gladstone avenue, which were not completed when the winter set in, have been begun on again. Foundations for two other houses are also being completed. This also has considerable bearing on the real estate situation, and in the spring of this year the citizens will see many new houses built and many new-comers to the city.

The Chest Pains of Bronchitis

If the cough is dry and hard, if there is pain, soreness and tightness in the chest, if you have difficulty in getting you breath, you have reason to suppose that you have bronchitis. Lest it should become chronic or lead to serious lung trouble, do not delay the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the most certain cure for bronchitis.

UPSET THE SLEIGH ON PAVEMENT

Farmer's Horses Caused Some Little Excitement.

The windows of Lang & Maher's Daylight Store had a narrow escape from destruction to-day by a farmer's team, which became frightened at the street car, upsetting the sleigh on the pavement. The driver jumped from the rack and ran to the horses' heads, and as they swerved in on the sidewalk the sleigh was upset. The people who were passing hurriedly escaped, and as a result there was no actual destruction.

GOD HELP THE DOG POISONER

So Remarks One of Those Opposed to The Practice—Two More Dead.

Again two dogs have to-day met death by poisoning like a good many more of their tribe have done in the past years. Dr. Johnston was this morning called to Chamberlen street where a handsome collie belonging to Mr. Art. Fuller had gotten a dose of poison.

About the same time a report from the corner of Brown street and the boundary stated that Mr. Robinson's collie had been poisoned. The doctor had just arrived on the scene when it passed away. It was a great pet of the family, who claimed it was one of the best watch dogs in the city.

Dr. Johnston and other residents of that vicinity are greatly incensed over the killing of dogs and will wage an aggressive war against the perpetrators.

"God help them if we catch them," remarked one of the anti-dog-poisoners to the Examiner to-day.

Bad Palpitation of The Heart

EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD,

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.

If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells, these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.

From the depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.

Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Ever since I was nine years of age I have been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HAD A MINT IN JAIL.

German Prisoner Made Bogus Coins In His Cell.

Rendsburg, Prussia, Feb. 25.—For some time past counterfeit five-mark pieces have been circulating in Northern Prussia. The authorities started to investigate, with the result that in a number of instances the false money was traced to this town, and it was finally learned by the police that they were being paid out by persons connected with the prison here. To clear up the mystery Detective Inspector Scheder had himself committed as a convict and was shut up in a cell in the jail.

After a day or two of observation he located a sound of faint hammering in a detached cell, where a counterfeiter was serving a long term of imprisonment. With this evidence Scheder called in some of his colleagues, and Sunday night they raided the cell of the midnight workers. They found it to be a veritable counterfeiter's workshop, in which the convict minted five mark pieces.

It appears that the convict, after being brought to jail, told the prison inspector where his coining apparatus was hidden. The inspector found the dies and brought them to prison, and arranged that the convict could work at night to make the coins, the inspector and his family putting them into circulation.

The inspector, his wife and his mother-in-law have been taken into custody.

Brings Back Murderer.

New York, Feb. 25.—After a chase of over 10,000 miles, lasting nearly a year, Detective Baldwin of Roanoke, Va., has brought back from the Argentine Republic by way of England, Moses Faris, a young Syrian, wanted in Virginia for the killing of a countryman, Frank Ashaid, last March.

Faris asserts that he killed Ashaid, who was a merchant in Roanoke, in self-defence after the man had attacked him with a knife. He fled to Canada, with $600 in his pockets, returned to New York and sailed for Buenos Ayres.

Warnock Post Mortem.

Brockville, Feb. 25.—The post-mortem over the body of the late J. G. Warnock was conducted yesterday afternoon at the request of the Attorney-General's Department by Drs. Horton and Harding. On behalf of interested parties, two doctors each were present for Mrs. Agnes Warnock and Mrs. Eva Warnock, the conflicting widows.

The body was completely thawed out, and the result of the finding will not be made known until the adjourned inquest on Thursday night.

DECREASE IN ACTIVE FORCES

New Naval Base In Scotland—Military Garrisons Abroad to be Reduced—Standard of the Navy to be Maintained — No Possibility of Further Curtailments In the Army—New Ships Proposed.

London, Feb. 25.—The British navy estimates for 1908-09 were issued last evening. They amount to $161,597,500, as against $157,087,500 for 1907-08.

The agitation for economy has had some effect on the shipbuilding program, which contemplates only one improved warship of the Dreadnought type, instead of the three expected. The Government proposes to build one large armored cruiser, six fast protected cruisers, 16 torpedo boat destroyers and some submarines. The number of the last mentioned vessels is not given, but they are estimated to cost $2,500,000.

In an explanatory statement Lord Tweedmouth, the first Lord of the Admiralty, points out that an increase in expenditure is inevitable, but by the strictest economy he was able to confine it to $4,500,000.

In April next the British navy will have under construction seven battleships, four armored cruisers, one unarmored cruiser, ten torpedo boat destroyers, 20 torpedo boats and eight submarines.

Lord Tweedmouth shows how a gradual and continuous diminution in the amount required for new construction, which was initiated in 1895, when it reached the maximum of $57,500,000, was still possible, the amount being $37,725,000, as compared with $40,500,000 last year. He announces the definite intention to proceed with the construction of a naval base at Rosyth, Scotland, which, in addition to having a basin capable of accommodating 22 warships, will include a depot for submarines and destroyers. The whole work, it is estimated, will occupy a decade in building and cost $16,250,000.

Among the inevitable increases in expenditure, such as the increased cost of coal and provisions and the higher pay of the men, he mentioned the Cunard subsidy, for the Lusitania and Mauretania, which now stands at the full amount of $750,000.

The naval estimates provide for exactly the same number of officers and men as last year.

Army Expenditure.

The War Secretary, Mr. Haldane, in a statement regarding the army, says: "Looking to the future, I am convinced that it is impossible to make further diminutions in the army expenditure on a considerable scale, unless we first of all reduce the number of troops serving abroad.

"Garrisons abroad," he adds, "will be reduced whenever that can be safely done, but if reductions in the regular army are carried too far demand will ultimatey have to be made on the citisen force, such as hitherto has never been contemplated."

The army estimates for 1908-09 total $154,185,120, and the War Secretary estimates for a total 185,000 men in the home and colonial establishments, irrespective of India, a decrease of 5,000 men from last year.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Brief Sessions Chiefly Occupied In Receiving Petitions.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—A brief session of the Legislature yesterday enabled Mr. Duff to move the first reading of a bill to amend the Municipal Act. Mr. Smith (Soo) obtained order for returns, the details of which have been already published, relating to the clearing of the right of way of the T. & N. O. Railway, and with regard to contracts held by McRae, McNeil and Chandler.

Dr. Preston (Lanark) obtained an order for a return of the several commissions issued during the years 1902, 1903 and 1904, with their cost to the province. This will offset the return asked for by Mr. May relating to the commissions issued by the present Government.

Mr. Lennox will introduce a bill to amend the Ontario Architects' Act.

East Toronto is seeking power to hold its municipal elections on New Year's Day. Also to reserve a residential area select from laundries, factories and other commercial drawbacks.

Ottawa wants to take over the remaining toll roads and to spend $115,000 on city improvements, without the formality of a bylaw.

One hundred and eight petitions asking for the repeal of the three-fifths clause in the local option law were laid on the table.

It is expected that the debate on the address from the throne will be concluded this afternoon, when the leader of the Opposition, Hon. A. G. MacKay, and Premier Whitney, will speak.

BOMB-THROWER PURSUES HIM.

Black Hand Wrecks Italian's Store For Third Time.

New York, Feb. 25.—An Italian bomb explosion similar in character to many which have taken place in this city within a year occurred in Brooklyn yesterday, when Peter Locato's music store, Morgan avenue, was wrecked.

Locato had received many so-called "Black Hand" letters, but, having refused to pay for immunity, his store was first blown up last spring. In December last another bomb was left on the stoop, and the doors and windows were demolished. Since then he has received letters demanding money, but has ignored them, and a third mysterious attack has now followed.

The lives of Locato, his wife and his three children, who occupied rooms in the rear of the store, were endangered by the last explosion, but they escaped with slight injuries.

RECIPE FOR COLDS

THE OLD TOLENE AND WHISKEY MIXTURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, ETC., ONCE MORE POPULAR.

From an eminent local druggist we learn that the old, reliable mixture of whiskey and Tolene is as popular to-day as it was years ago, and that it is better than many of the so-called sure cures advertised extensively. Here is the recipe:—

Fluid extract Licorice..... ½ oz.
Fluid extract Cascara..... ½ oz.
Elixir Tolene ..... 1 oz.
Best rye whiskey..... 6 oz.

Take a dessertspoonful every two or three hours. Children in proportion.

These well-known ingredients can be bought at any drug store at small expense and mixed at home.

NEW BRITISH BILL IN LIMELIGHT

Mr. McKenna's Education Measure Before British House.

BALFOUR'S BITTER ATTACK

Churchmen Are Rigorously Opposed to It — Complete Public Control of Elementary Schools—Two Classes Will Receive State Aid—Question of Religious Instruction —May Lead to Abolition.

London, Feb. 25.—The new educational bill was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday by Reginald McKenna, president of the Board of Education. The bill regulates the conditions under which public money may be applied in aid of elementary education in England and Wales. The House of Commons was crowded for the occasion.

The new measure is not as contentious as the Birrell educational bill of 1906, which the House of Lords threw into the waste-paper basket without ceremony. The two main principles embodied in the new bill, are that there shall be complete public control of the elementary schools by locally elected bodies, and that there shall be no denominational tests in the appointment of teachers.

In speaking of the bill, Mr. McKenna said that failure to pass the Ministerial proposal would give a most powerful impetus to the movements to secure the total abolition of religious instruction in the schools.

Mr. McKenna explained that under this bill there would be two kinds of schools receiving state assistance. The first and predominant would be the public elementary school, provided for by the public, controlled by the public, and managed by the public, while the second and exceptional type would be the voluntary schools which are supported by the various denominations. The latter, if not carried on for profit, would be given exchequer grants in aid, but they would receive no support from the rates. The local authorities have to provide simple Bible instruction in all the elementary schools, but the school buildings would be available after school hours for denominational instruction by volunteer teachers, the pupil voluntarily staying over for such teachings.

A. J. Balfour attacked the bill bitterly, and in spite of the modifications introduced by Mr. McKenna, it is apparent that the Conservatives and the churchmen intend to wage as uncompromising a war upon the present measure as they did upon the Birrell bill of 1906.

Bannerman Still Leads.

London, Feb. 25.—There is no truth in the report that Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has offered to resign.

The situation remains as previously stated in these despatches. Should the health of the Premier not improve sufficiently within a certain period he will vacate his post, and Henry Asquith is assured practically the unanimous support of the Cabinet as his successor.

There is little doubt in political circles that this will be the ultimate outcome, but in the meantime both the Cabinet and the party rank and file are anxious that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman retain the leadership so long as there is the slightest possibility of his being able to resume active work.

Shot Chief of Police.

Fayetteville, N.C., Feb. 25.—Chief of Police Benton was shot dead in front of his home by a negro, Sam Murchison, crazed with drink. This man also shot two negroes a few minutes before he shot the chief.

POLICE INTERFERED IN HOCKEY GAME ON EDMONTON ICE

Strathcona won out in a league game with Edmonton by a score of 7-5. At half-time the score was 4-3 in Strathcona's favour, and in the second half the lead was increased by one more. Edmonton was weakened by the absence of Crowley and Deeton, whose places were taken by Holley and McKenney. The Strathcona team was the same in personnel as played in Edmonton last week, but McLeod was placed at centre and Bellamy resumed his position at cover, while Dunderdale was at his old place as rover. The game was not characterized by brilliant playing on either team, though players of both made a number of pretty individual dashes. The contest as a whole was ragged. McLeod and Graham did good work for Strathcona, while Miller and Boulton were prominent on the Edmonton line-up. The features of the game were the appearance of the police on the ice as the result of a mix-up between Whitcroft and Dunderdale in the first half, and Holley's attempt to scale the walls and attack some of the spectators, whose rooting he considered too vigourous, in the second half.

The mix-up between Dunderdale and Whitcroft was the result of a too forceful check by the former. Dunderdale was going up the ice with the puck and Whitcroft was waiting to intercept. Before the Strathcona player reached his opponent he dropped the puck and checked Whitcroft heavily, sending him to the ice. In a moment they were at it fists and feet, and it required the services of P. C. Harris and the remaining players to get them separated. At last they were parted, but before the referee took charge of the game Whitcroft again rushed at Dunderdale and gave him a blow, over the eye. Both were, of course, sent to the promenade.

It was in the second period that Holley did his stunt. McLeod was taking the puck down the ice, and in passing Holley the latter was hit on the face with McLeod's stick. This caused a delay while Holley was being resuscitated. He suddenly revived, however, and in an instant was endeavouring to climb the six-foot sides of the rink to get at some of the spectators who were giving him some unappreciated sympathy. The players again interfered, and peace was restored.—Edmonton Bulletin.

KEENE AND ROUGH RIDERS PLAYED A DRAW GAME

Two hockey teams from the suburbs invaded the city last night and the agriculturalists got a little the best of the break. The Keene Trent Valley League team played a 1-1 tie with the Rough Riders, while the Bridgenorth seven went their Otonabee cousins one better, trimming the Quakers by 2 goals to 1. A fairly large crowd saw the contests, which were hard fought and interesting, if not brilliant exhibitions of hockey.

The greatest interest was in the Rough Riders-Keene game, which it was thought would result in a victory for the homesters, who had held Keene down to a margin of one goal in Keene some weeks ago. The visitors, however, put up a surprisingly strong resistance, and the game was anybody's until the finish. The play was very even, neither team having much advantage, and it was by no means clean, both teams showing an inclination to slash and trip that made things decidedly lively from start to finish. The checking was close and hard, with the result that there was little or no combination, the predominating features being short dashes which were quickly stopped.

There was little to choose between the two teams on the play. Both hung to their checks so closely that there was little chance of breaking away. Both lines followed the puck around in a bunch, which also tended to make the game far from open. It would be hard to pick the stars of either team as all played for every ounce that was in them. Giroux got away with some good stops in the nets, and Campbell and Cahill were also prominent. For Keene, McCarthy, Short and Dickson were the best.

The Rough Riders were first to score, Waram doing the trick on a pass from Hayes in about two minutes' play. Keene evened up soon after on a rush by Short and McCarthy, the latter scoring. There was no further scoring, the teams being still tied at half-time and at the finish. There were some narrow escapes in the second half, with both teams working hard.

Ralph Quinn handled the bell.

Bridgenorth won

The Bridgenorth City League seven won from the Quakers by 2-1, leading at half-time by 1-0. As in the first game, it was a decidedly hard fought battle with honours about even. Bridgenorth had a strong defence and their forward line broke away dangerously at times, playing fair combination. The Quakers, on the other hand, had little or no combination. Both teams shot badly and the score should have been larger. Referee Rose had the boards lined with offenders throughout, but the game was not rough, tripping being the worst offence. Long, Gilman and Heaslip starred for the Quakers, while H. Bellegheem and F. Jopling were Bridgenorth's best. Kelly made several difficult stops.

E. Bellegheem scored for Bridgenorth early in the game, and there was no further scoring until well on in the second half, when Long evened up matters. Just before time F. Jopling scored again for Bridgenorth, and the honours belonged to the team from the pines.

WILL NORWOOD BEAT THE STRATHS TO-MORROW NIGHT?

To-morrow night's big game between the Strathconas and Norwood is attracting more interest than any game of the year, owing to the rivalry existing between the two in regard to the City League struggle. Norwood will bring up their strongest line-up and confidently expect a victory over the team which defeated them early in the season. There is no doubt that Norwood are much stronger, better balanced and faster now than when the Straths gave them the only defeat of the year, and the local team will have their work cut out for them if they hope to win. The Straths will have their final practice to-night and will be in the best of shape for the hard battle which awaits them to-morrow night. It is not likely that there will be any change in their line-up and the regular City League team will be sent out against Kempt, Doherty & Co. in an effort to show the fans that the Straths are the best team in the City League. George Lynch has been agreed upon as referee. Usual City League charges will be made—15c for gentlemen and 10c for ladies.

A fast Collegiate Institute game was played yesterday afternoon at Brock street rink, when a team from Forms Upper I and II defeated a seven from two lower I forms by a score of 8—3. For the winners Morgan, Geale and Conroy were the stars, while Crane and Hayes played good hockey for the lower forms. The goals were scored by Geale 3, Clancy 2, Morgan 2, Conroy 1 and Crane 3.

WANT PEOPLE'S SHIELD GAMES FOR CALGARY

Vancouver Chosen on Account of Its Size —Unfair Tactics Claimed.

The Peterborough Quaker Football team and their supporters will be interested in the following despatch from Calgary:

Dr. Ings, president of the Provincial Football Association, has received a reply from the People's newspapers, the donors of the People's Shield, which is emblematic of the football championship of Canada, to a letter, asking that the People's Shield be played for in Calgary instead of Vancouver. The Caledonians won the trophy last year, and it was generally understood that the next competition for it would take place in Calgary. However, a surprise was sprung on them when it was announced that the donors had ordered the Shield to be played for in Vancouver.

Dr. Ings immediately wrote the donors asking for justice on behalf of his club and pointing out the fact that Vancouver had not even entered a team in the shield competition last year, and that to hold the competition att he coast would practically spoil all the great interest worked up by last year's championship games.

In reply to his letter W. T. Madgre, one of the trustees, stated that the selection of Vancouver had been made because of its greater size, and that if the competition could be held during the Dominion Fair he would use every effort to have it played in Calgary.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Review Has Announced Its Line Up At Last—What Do You Know About This?

"DINNIE" DOBBIN BACK

After keeping their line-up dark for a month the Review this morning stated that they will send the following collection of innocents out against the Examiner in Thursday night's great press game:—

Goal—Dinnie Dobbin.
Point—Jack Thompson.
Cover—Corned Beef Burns.
Rover—Stratcona Wilson.
Centre—A Chopi nYokome.
Right wing—Dob MacRae, manager, proprietor, trainer and doctor.
Left wing—Orangeville McGuire.

We expected that the Review team would be bad, but it we had ever imagined that they would trot out such a disgracefully weak aggregation we would not have lowered our reputation by beating them. The Review have had many poor teams, but the above line-up is the limit. They should be beaten by anywhere from 20 to 45 goals if the Examiner system doesn't go wrong and it has been working pretty well in practice.

With the big game just two days away both teams are finishing their strenuous training campaign. The Examiner team will put the finishing touches on to-night with a practice, and the Review will have their final workout to-morrow evening behind closed doors.

There may be some people who have not heard the arrangements for the big game and for their benefit the programme is republished. The game will be called at 8 o'clock sharp on Thursday night when the puck will be faced by Mr. E. L. Goldwin, secretary of the Children's Aid Society. The admission will be only 10c. to everyone, the cheapest and best game of the year. There will be an hours skating after the game for those who are not too sore from laughing t participate in such violent exercise. The proceeds will go to the Children's Aid Society. Remember the press game is at 8 o'clock on Thursday and the admission is only 10c.

Dinnie Dobbin has returned from Toronto, reporting a very unsuccessful trip. He couldn't induce any of the Toronto Pros. to take part against the Examiner who are looked upon as one of the fastest amateur teams in the country.

Captain Creyand Yokome of the Wood-chopping Brigade, will be at centre for the Review team. For identification purposes he will wear "The Flower of Japan."

A great sum of money will change hands as a result of the game, as there is a vast amount of betting being done, the odds running all the way from 1.000 to 1 on the Examiner to 5!2 to 1 on the Review.

The Peterborough Band has kindly consented to play on Thursday night. The band, however, absolutely refuses to play the accompaniments for A. Chopin Yokome's songs at half-time. An imported orchestra from one of the northern lumber camps will be there for that.

ONE DRAWBACK TO THE QUAKER TRIP

They Lack the Necessary Funds to Get Started to the Coast.

The Quaker Football team have not yet given up the idea of travelling westward to compete in the games for the People's Shield, emblematic of the championship of Canada. The trouble is a financial one. The boys held a meeting last night at the Examiner office, when the situation was talked over. President Dr. Morgan occupied the chair and most of the senior team were present.

It was decided to instruct the secretary of the club to write the various prominent football towns and cities along the route of the C. P. R. with a view to getting on some games on the way back from the coast. If these could be arranged the boys believe that with local financial assistance they will be able to begin the trip, and unless the latter can be secured it is not likely that they will move very far westward.

The team will this year be stronger than ever on account of a number of the absentees of last year being back into the game again.

MR. MOORE PAYS FOR THE BREAD

Defeated by Mr. C. Frost in a Close Game.

The Moore-Frost contest attracted quite a number of lovers of curling and close contests to the Charlotte street rink yesterday afternoon. The game was arranged while the curlers were on the Lindsay-Bobcaygeon trip. It could not be learned which had issued the challenge, but both were willing to play. The forfeit was twenty loaves of bread and as a result of the game Mr. Moore has to pay for the bread, on which Mr. Finch Miller has now a strong claim.

The rinks were composed as follows—

Jas Montgomery,	A Webb,
R Carton,	R Hicks,
Jas Cornsal,	R Neill,
A Moore, sk..9	C Frost, sk..10

Mr. Moore's rink led almost to the last end when Mr. Frost made a play that put him in the lead.

The result of the Tool Room-Office Staff hockey match at McCannon's rink last night is still a matter of doubt. The Tool Roomers say that the game was a tie, and the office hands declare they won out by 3-2. The latter opinion apparently had the largest majority, hence the game was given to the office staff.

Early in the game the gad and the hook were introduced and were prime favourites until the last whistle. The game was a fine exhibition of a mix-up owing to the rivalry of the two crews. Referee Lang had a busy hour watching the fine points of the game. The two teams will likely meet again.

ANTICS OF DOG WITH RABIES

Ate Broom and Carpet and Bit Holes Through Granite Pan.

Rochester, Feb. 26. — (Special.) — What is regarded as the most violent case of rabies yet reported in Rochester was discovered yesterday afternoon in a Portland avenue grocery. The victim was violent to a dangerous extent, but was disposed of before he had bitten anybody. The dog was killed and its head sent to the professor at Ithaca for examination. George Bernhard, special deputy of the State Agricultural Department, has in his possession some interesting relics of the dog's work.

Mr. Bernhard walked into the man's office this morning with a granite wash basin which showed several holes bitten through it and several other indents where the teeth had failed to penetrate. The dog was a mongrel Great Dane and St. Bernard, and the power of its teeth is shown by its work on the barn.

But the basin was not the only thing demolished by the dog. Before turning to that he devoured the family broom, attacked articles of furniture and tore carpets to shreds.

Dr. Moore's report will probably be that the animal was rabid.

SCHOOLBOY SUICIDES BY SHOOTING HIMSELF

Dime Novel Victim Wrote to Father Before Suiciding.

New York, Feb. 26. —(Special.) — After writing two letters to his father, William Miller, sixteen years old, a schoolboy at Brooklyn, committed suicide by shooting himself. When found in his room, the unconscious boy had clutched in his left hand, with the letters, a picture of a desperado shooting a woman. Around his waist was a belt with two holsters, one containing a loaded revolver. The other revolver was in his right hand.

A SENSATIONAL MURDER TRIAL

Now Going on in Oklahoma—Husband Disappears in the Night.

Examiner Special.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 24.—What is likely to be one of the most sensational murder trials in the history of the new State is set for today in the criminal division of the district court. Mrs. Lila Meadows and her alleged paramour, Rudolph Tgeler, are charged with the killing of James R. Meadows, the woman's husband. Meadows disappeared from his home in this city on the night of June 4, 1907.

Tegeler and Mrs. Meadows were suspected because they were known to have been together a great deal. No arrest was made until letters explaining the crime supposed to have been missent, were received by Chief of Police Post and afterward known to have been written by Tegeler, who in turn admitted that he had written them for another person, were produced. Teleger was arrested and Mrs. Meadows was taken into custody shortly afterward. It is expected the trial will consume two or three weeks. It is believed the defense will try to prove that neither Tegeler nor Mrs. Meadows, but another person, killed Meadows.

IF A UNION MAN'S WIFE MAKES BREAD IS SHE UNFAIR? RESULTS OF RAISING PRICES

The Irate Wives Blame The Flour For Non-Success and Grocer Bears The Brunt Of Trouble.

DO THEIR OWN BAKING

Is the making of bread by the wives of union labour men an undue competition with their fellow-unionists of the Journeymen Bakers' Association, or is a legitimate part of the domestic functions of the household.

This seems to be a very timely question to answer, since the recent hoist in the price of the staff of life.

One of two extremists have been found to declare that competition of this kind is almost as bad as prison labour, and that wives of labour men who would so demean themselves are almost worthy of the opprobrious title of "unfair." But this opinion is very unpopular.

The rise in the price of bread, it is pointed out, is not due to any increase in the remuneration of the bakers, but to an alleged increase in the price of raw materials.

If the journeymen bakers find themselves hurt by the reduction in the amount of work resulting from the popularity of home baking, all they have to do is to strike for more wages or else cheaper bread.

"Then," as one labour man in the city has said, "the more of us can make our own bread, the easier it will be for us to stay away from the baker shops and give the journeymen bakers all the help we can."

Increase in Baking

There is no doubt that there has been a great increase in private baking since the recent raise; but grocers state that that always happens after an increase in the price of bread, and that only a very small proportion of those who start in the courageous resolutions to do their own kneading keep it up for any length of time.

The extent of home baking is more or less accurately gauged by the sales of flour to small consumers.

One man said that he was sorry for the change as it was more trouble than it was worth. "When a woman who was unused to baking, and did not know much about it, started in to make her own loaves, she always blames her failures on the flour. Sometimes she comes in herself to raise Cain because she cannot raise the dough; quite as often the irate and indignant husband, who has raised so much trouble at home that she has had to excuse herself by blaming the flour, comes in instead.

"I had three men in here late last night," said one small and apologetic looking groceryman. "One of them said I was in league with the bakers to starve the poor workingmen of Peterborough to death. It was not my fault. Their wives will try to economize by buying inferior flour, or flour of uneven uality that cannot be relied upon to work the same way twice running. If they have luck with it the first time that proves at once that they are heaven-sent bread-makers, and any trouble that comes after that is sure to be blamed on the groser."

Was Nearly Asphyxiated In A Telephone Conduit

Frank Cross, An Employee of the Bell Telephone Company, Had a Narrow Escape This Morning—Was Taken Out in Unconscious Condition.

HAS RECOVERED NOW

Frank Cross, a splicer in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation at 11 o'clock this morning. Cross comes from London, Ont., and is on the staff which is engaged in doing the conduit work for the company. This morning he was at work in the conduit at the corner of Simcoe and George streets, some distance below the surface, making some connections, and another workman was employed at the surface, melting solder. The latter happened to look down the manhole and was startled to find Cross lying insensible at the bottom. He was quickly brought to the surface and carried over to the Bell Telephone office, where he was unconscious for some minutes, it being at first thought that he was dead. Three doctors were summoned, and after working for some minutes succeeded in reviving him. Mr. Cross soon recovered and felt few ill effects from his adventure, which came near to costing him his life. Had he lain in the conduit a few moments longer he would undoubtedly have been dead.

One of the Peterborough Light & Power Company's gas mains is laid parallel with the conduit, and gas escaping therefrom was the cause of the trouble. The odour was very strong even at the surface this morning.

Hartley Still In The Ring And Fifth In The Race

According To One Despatch—Seven Men Dropped Out In Two Days.

HE HAS GONE 93 MILES

The Examiner received the following dispatch from Kansas City this morning:

At the end of the twenty-fourth hour of the six day walking match W. A. Hoagland, of Auburn, N. Y., was six miles ahead of his nearest competior.

The score of the five leaders at midnight was as follows:

Hoagland, Auburn, N.Y., 108 miles.
H. O. Messur, Milwaukee, Wis., 102 miles.
H. J. Player, Kansas City, 101 miles.
Tom Slater, Syracuse, N. Y., 100 miles.
H. Tuttle, Pittsburg, Kas., 93 miles.

The morning Mail and Empire has the following:

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 25.—But twelve men were on the track at midnight to-night, the close of the twenty-fourth hour in the six-day walking match at Convention Hall. This does not mean necessarily that the others are out of the race entirely, as they are privileged to return at any time. The men finished to-day as follows: Hoagland 108 miles 9 laps; Messler, 102 miles 7 laps; Player, 101 miles 4 laps; Slater, 100 miles; Hartley, 93 miles 4 laps; Blake, 91 miles; Simpson, 79 miles; Stoles, 56 miles; McLinn, 74 miles; West, 69 miles; Mitchell, 62 miles; Pratt, 81 miles.

Hartley is the only Canadian in the race.

Whitney Refuses Repeal Of Their Three-Fifths Clause

Tells Ontario Alliance That Government Will Stand Fast By Their Three-Fifths Provision.

HE RIGHT AND THEY WRONG

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 25—Replying to the members of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance who to the number of over one thousand waited on the government this morning to press their views regarding the three-fifths clause in the local option legislation Premier Whitney in a lengthy speech expressed the sympathy of the government in the temperance movement but declared that it would stand by the three-fifths clause. Neither threats nor anything else would divert them. Mr. Whitney announced and it the three-fifths clause were to be made a party issue the government threw down the gage of battle.

TRAVELLERS IN A POLICE COURT CASE

Hotelmen Said to Have Failed in Their Duty.

Lindsay, Feb. 25.—(Special).—Yesterday County Police Magistrate Moore held court at Fenelon Falls, where two of the local hotelmen were confronted with rather peculiar charges. It appears that a couple of weeks ago the Coboconk hockey team journeyed to Fenelon to play a game of hockey with the team of that village. The boys from Coboconk arrived in the Cataract village, so they swore, at about 7.15, having been delayed in driving over on account of the extreme heavy roads. Immediately upon their arrival they repaired to the Twomey house, where they swore they saw Mr. Twomey and asked for supper, which Mr Twomey was either unable or unwilling to supply, the evidence of the boys and the proprietor of the Twomey house being conflicting upon this point. From Mr. Twomey's place the Coboconk boys went to the hotel of John Aldous, who at first promised to get them something to eat, but when he found that their horses were at the Twomey house, refused point blank to either give them meals or a room.

The charge against these hotel men is for not providing accommodation for the travelling public, contrary to a section of the Liquor License Act. Judgment was reserved to allow Mr. Weldon, who appeared for the License Inspector and Mr. McLaughlin, K.C., who appeared for the defendants, to argue the matter before the magistrate.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL

At Street Railway Rink on Friday Night, February 28th. Prizes on view in Frost's Window.

HE DROPPED THROUGH A MANHOLE

Local Tailor Had a Funny Experience This Morning.

An open sewer man-hole was the cause of a somewhat unusual and far from agreeable experience to Mr. George Fowler, the local tailor, this morning. Mr. Fowler was crossing George street and failed to notice that the man-hole was open. The result was a lightning disappearance act that would have done justice to Herrman. Nothing was visible save the top of his hat. Fortunately a number of people were passing at the time and Mr. Fowler was rescued from his predicament. He escaped uninjured although the sudden drop into the nether regions gave him a bad scare.

NATIONAL FORESTRY.

In an article printed in the Examiner on Saturday upon the subject of "Forest Preservation," the same line of argument and appeal was used as that employed by Dr. Fernow of the Chair of Forestry, Toronto University, in his address to the Canadian Club, Toronto on Monday. This coincidence is inevitable, since the same arguments suggest themselves to any person who intelligently and sympathetically considers the subject. Perhaps no other national and provincial interest bulks so largely in importance as forest preservation, and what it implies. It implies or involves not only our industrial but our agricultural and dairying interests, which combined are largely inclusive of our principal national interests. It involves the permanence of industrial operations for which a constant supply of wood is necessary; it involves the desirable and favourable climatic and weather conditions—depending on standing forest—essential to agricultural and dairying operations in their fullest degree of success. The preservation of our standing forest, constituting the great natural reservoirs, is essential to the regular and adequate flow of water in our rivers and streams, in turn, essential to the development of electrical energy, the motive power of the present and future. How to keep our forests and use them too is a problem for skilled forestry which needs the co-operation of broad and energetic statesmanship. Other countries, notably Germany, have solved this question as far as initiative is concerned. It, however, needs little skill or effort beyond observance in the cutting of timber, of the principle of cutting only the mature trees and saving the growing trees; of preventing forest fires, and of seeding to trees—reforestering—burnt areas and denuded areas unfit for grain growing. Not so much needed is wisdom as patriotism; not so much knowledge of how to do it as the energy and enterprise for doing it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Mail and Empire says that "one of the Western papers demands that the timber and coal lands grabbers be prosecuted for high treason." Another case of the old recipe—"first catch the hare."

The Canadian Trade Commissioner at Melbourne, Australia, reports that on Christmas day the thermometer there stood at over 105 in the shade. Imagine, says the Ottawa Free Press, eating roast beef and plum pudding on such a day!

According to a London cable, the people of England are only just beginning to learn that Canada's printing paper is securing control of the markets of Australia and New Zealand. And Canada might indefinitely extend that control if the possibilities of Canada in the matter of paper production men were pushed, even approximately, to their limit.

CANADA'S CALL TO HER OWN

(Chicago Canadian-American.)

The old saying that "a prophet hath no honour in his own country" is well matched by a truth equally novel which may be expressed thus: "A great country is less appreciated by its native sons than by strangers from afar." We are reminded of this fact not infrequently when we receive inquiries from Canadians who are anxious to know what their prospects of success are in the United States. They are generally young men who have begun to think that their talents and energies are being wasted in the land of their birth, and that fortune, or, at least, prosperity, awaits them in this great Republic. They have heard of the rapid rise to position and affluence of other Canadians, whose ambition and enthusiasm found their proper vent as soon as they crossed the boundary line. The fascinations of new territory, new conditions and new associates are strong upon them, and, as they think of the chances to be had for the taking in "the States"—distance lends enchantment to the view." The little town in Ontario looks very tame compared to the metropolis of Illinois.

The Canadian settler coming here finds all the avenues of trade pretty well congested; competition so fierce that mere bread-winning is often a struggle for existence, and everything—except the Golden Rule—overstocked and overdone. In time, if he is quick to adapt himself to a break-neck speed of living, he may make enough to pay big taxes on a house and lot he can call his own, but, long before then, he will have dismissed his old dreams of getting rich, and be satisfied if he is enabled to keep out of debt.

This wonderland, likewise, seizes upon the man born under the Stars and Stripes, and he, too, goes to seek his fortune across the border. But what a different country he finds there from the land he has left! If his mind runs to farming, he is not forced to become a tenant and pay an exorbitant rent for the privilege of cultivating the soil. A homestead awaits him almost for the asking. If he has a genius for mining he is in the midst of a territory whose wealth is just beginning to be roughly estimated, because half of it is unexplored and undiscovered. If he be a mechanic there are endless openings in manufacturing centres that are rich in natural resources, but in sore need of skilled workmen. In short, everything that ensures success seems ready to his hand, and if he fails it will be because he is, either mentally or physically, a cripple.

Ontario—now called "the Garden of Canada"—was a wilderness when Illinois was in her prime. The other day students from the Ontario Agricultural College captured the gold medals for efficiency at a Chicago exhibition. Every week prospectors are digging up fresh evidence of untold wealth in her mineral districts. The prairies of Manitoba yield crops that stagger statisticians, and she is still only marking a beginning. And then there is what is called "the last West"—vast territories of pregnant soil that will some day enrich millions and fill to overflowing the granaries of the world.

What of the hundreds of thousands of our citizens from the British Isles who have never seen Canada and who have but vague notions of her stupendous advantages? Many of these, who crossed the ocean to better themselves, found conditions in the United States no more to their liking than those in the Old Land. Life to them is still a drudgery without much of a future in sight. Canada offers today more than awaited the new-comer in Illinois thirty years ago. She offers to the masses what only a few can secure in these congested states—homes of their own, healthy surroundings in which to raise their families and the prospect of a comfortable old age.

To return to the Canadian emigrant who turns his back on his native Eldorado. Is he any more foolish than the Canadian investor who passes by the same opportunities and puts his cash into American securities? The latter has been much in evidence during the recent panic. He comes to the front especially when receiverships are appointed, and his wail is heard over the rottenness of

"When I wrote to you some time ago, I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the feminine organs and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do.

Uncle Sam's business methods. Meanwhile abroad Americans have control over some of the biggest profit-bearing enterprises in the Dominion. They were the pioneers who foresaw Canada's magnificent future when her own people were ignorant or indifferent about her wonderful resources. They were starting power plants, stamping-mills, foundries and street railways, while the natives were "waiting for something to turn up."

Nothing seems more strange to-day to the man who had made a careful survey of the western world than this: that Canadian energy should waste itself in a land already overdone in every kind of human endeavour; and that Canadian capital should seek investment in the United States when its opportunities to be quadrupled are so much greater right at home.—The Canadian-American.

MEAD WAS DISMISSED THIS MORNING

Lillian Armitage is Over Fourteen Years of Age.

In the police court this morning John Mead and a man named Windover were charged with being disorderly on February 19. Mr. G. Gordon appeared for the defendants.

The evidence of P. C. Newhall was taken, and he told of the disgraceful manner in which these two men were behaving. He said he found one of them behind the post-office, but Windover got away. He had considerable difficulty in getting Mead to the station, and said the prisoner offered him $20 if he would let him go, as he did not want to be mixed up in the affair.

Windover was the next witness and denied everything P. C. Newhall had said. He swore that he had had only only a few drinks and was not acting in any way disorderly. His companion, Mead, had just started across the post-office when he was caught by the officer. He said he did not run away.

Lillian Armitage was called and she denied that these men had spoken profanely in her presence. She was asked what she told Mr. Newhall in the station, and said that he told her he would put the handcuffs on her and place her in a cell. So she told him everything.

Mead's evidence corresponded with Windover's.

Mr. Armitage, the girl's father, was put in the box. He said he met P. C. out one night, and was told to go up on Sunday and see his daughter, and tell her to come down here this morning and plead guilty to the charge. This would make it harder on the two prisoners, and they would get five years.

The officer denied the greater part of this story, and stated he only gave Mr. Armitage a little advice. He told him he would not speak to him on the street.

The Chief said that no charge had been laid against Mr. Armitage's daughter until this morning, and that only one man had been arrested.

His Worship fined Windover $10 and costs, with three days in which to pay it.

The case of John Mead was next taken up and His Worship fined him $10 and costs, to be paid in three days.

TO SAVE BRITISH DAYLIGHT

Proposed Act of Parliament to Regulate Clocks—9 a.m. to be 7 a.m.

SOME DO NOT APPROVE

London, February 26. — (Special.)— About a year ago there was published a scheme proposed by a certain Willett, who was distressed by the enormous amount of daylight Britishers, and especially Londoners, wasted in bed. He suggested that all clocks in the United Kingdom, should be simultaneously put forward, so that a man getting up apparently at 9 in the morning would really be doing so at 7.40. Thus he would gain one hour and twenty minutes of daylight. William Pearce, M. P., has now drawn up a bill called a daylight saving bill, by means of which he will ask the House of Commons to legally institute a new British time in the summer months.

The measure proposes that all clocks shall then be advanced eighty minutes giving an extra 310 hours of daylight as by a miracle to British business men. An eminent brain specialist declares that all the best work is done in the early morning hours. Therefore the scheme will increase the output of authors, clerks and all sorts and conditions of men.

The head of one of the biggest business firms in the city says he is willing to discuss the plan but the railways and business houses all must concur. An extra hour on a summer evening for cricket and tennis would appeal to the young and to city men.

The astronomers at Greenwich say it would be easy. Already they record three times, Sidereal, according to the stars, astronomical, beginning at noon, and civil, beginning at midnight.

The manager of the Savoy Hotel on the other hand, declares that it would be impossible to change the time, as Mr. Pearce proposes. The society dining hour, he says, is already late, and it is possible that people would dislike walking about in evening dress by daylight. Should the bill pass it would mean that 7.30 would be equivalent to what 6.10 is now.

Peruna Strikes at the Root of the Trouble.

MR. S. J. MASSEY.

Mr. S. J. Massey, formerly a resident of Toronto, and a well-known business man, writes from 247 Guy street, Montreal, Quebec:

"I wish to testify to the good results I have derived from the use of Peruna.

"Having been troubled for several years with catarrh of the head, I decided to give Peruna a fair trial and I can truly say I have received great benefit from its use.

"It evidently strikes at the very root of the trouble and good results are soon noticeable.

"I have also found Peruna a very valuable remedy for stomach trouble and indigestion.

"I have no hesitancy whatever in recommending Peruna as a reliable catarrh remedy."

There are several kinds of indigestion. The trouble may be due to sluggishness of the liver, derangements of the bowels, enlargement of the pancreas, or it may be due to the stomach itself.

In nearly all cases of stomach indigestion catarrh is the cause. The only permanent cure is to remove the catarrh.

Peruna has become well-known the world over as a remedy in such cases.

Dominion Alliance Condemn Three-Fifths Clause Of The Provincial Government Say Government Is In Honour Bound To Repeal It—Straight Majority Wanted.

UNFULFILLED PROMISES

Toronto, Feb. 26.—(Special.)—"The repeal of the three-fifths clause," as the slogan of the annual convention of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, which opened in the Bond street Congregational church at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning. There were about 300 delegates present when the president, Mr. Joseph Gibson, of Ingersoll, took the chair. About one thousand representatives from all over the Province are expected. The sessions will last until Wednesday afternoon.

The outstanding object of the visit to Queen's Park this morning was to ask for remedial legislation with regard to the three-fifths clause, which has been a handicap to local optionists in many sections throughout the Province.

The president, in his address, referred to the assurance given the temperance advocates by the Government of the repeal of the three-fifths clause, providing that public sentiment was in favour of it, and he claimed from the indications given in recent elections that the Government was now in duty bound to grant their request.

The Governmet's Attitude

Mr. Gibson referred to the attitude of the Provincial Government as to the three-fifths bylaw.

"Hon. Mr. Whitney assured us a year ago," he said, "that the three-fifths was not insisted on for fear that the law could not be enforced. There was no doubt about that. The purpose was to secure the permanence of public opinion.

"Now, what we say is that, if the law is enforced there is no question of permanence of public opinion.

"Hon. Mr. Hanna said later on the House that the three-fifths bylaw could be repealed when the strength of public opinion justified it. He even said that, if the experience of the voting in January, 1907, were repeated in 1908, the three-fifths bylaw should be repealed. The results this year were better than last year. In 1907 there could have been thirty-four repeal contests, but there were only eight, and only one of these was successful.

"This year there were fifty-two contests possible. There were only seven, and only one of these succeeded, and we will explain that. In six out of the seven repeal contests, we defeated the liquor interests more than two to one. Last year seventy-one bars were abolished, while this year the number was ninety-four. In the face of these facts and the words of Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, we say there is nothing left for the Government to do, in all decency, but to repeal the three-fifths clause.

Why Have Three-fifths

"No three-fifths vote is required in any of the United States, and why should it be here?

"Some people say we have a disability here that does not exist there in the fact that brewers and distillers can oprate here where there is local option. That may be, but is there no disability there? They have eleven millions of blacks, and the records show that 835 lives were taken by violence over there last year. There was not a single case of mob law here in Canada. The people here are more obedient to the law, and labour under less disability really than exists in the United States.

"There is nothing more than a majority vote required in that country.

"Save us, I say, from the unnecessary humiliation in the suggestion that there is more decency and respect of law under the stars and Stripes than under the Union Jack.

Substantial Progress

The executive committee reported encouraging and substantial progress during the year. There was a stronger sentiment than ever for thoroughgoing advanced legislation. The temperance cause and the country at large had suffered an irreparable loss by the death of Mr. G. F. Marter.

"The most significant and disappointing thing about the Government's license legislation," said the committee, "was the absence of anything of a progressive character. The amendments were good, but nearly all of minor importance.

"The past year was a most strenuous one. The three-fifths handicap prevented many places that would otherwise have entered into campaigns for the passing of local option by-laws from trying, our workers being afraid that they would not be able to reach the requirements. There were 91 local option contests. We were beaten by the liquor forces in 26 contests. We were defeated by the three-fifths legislation in twenty-eight contests. We won in thirty-seven."

The sentiment of the delegates is for a majority vote and that alone, they say, will satisfy the people on the local option question.

Recommendations

The following recommendations of the Executive Committee of the Ontario Alliance, were adopted:

"That the convention, in addition to re-affirming its policy in regard to the abolition of the bar room and the treating system and drinking in clubs, should lay special emphasis upon the following four points:

"That for the more effective detection of the illicit sale of liquor the Alliance should press for, and, if possible, secure legislation requiring anyone arrested for drunkenness to divulge under oath the source from which the intoxicating liquor was obtained.

"That in the judgment of this committee the present requirement for the three-fifths vote to carry local option legislation is contrary to justice, fair play and the spirit of our institutions, and deprives municipalities of a right long enjoyed, and that this provision of the present Liquor Act should be at once repealed.

"That in any city of upwards of 30,000 population, any ward shall have the power to vote on the local option by-law, in the same manner as any municipality.

"That no license for the sale of intoxicating liquor should be granted in or for any place or house of public entertainment."

To Abolish the bar

The following resolution was referred to the Legislative Committee:

"That we of the members of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, in convention assembled, representing, as we believe we do, the clearly defined and well established temperance sentiment of the people of this province, herewith call upon the great political parties represented in our Provincial Parliament, to make the abolition of the bar rooms a plank in their platforms for the next general elections.

"We also herewith demand that every temperance voter throughout this province, if one of the political parties accede to our request and the other refuse, do cast his or her vote and influence, irrespective of party ties, in favour of that party which offers the people the opportunity of voting out the bar room. And we herewith record our settled conviction that, in case both political parties do not agree hereto, the party so agreeing will be returned to power with a large majority."—Moved by Rev. W. J. Smith.

Pale, Anaemic, Sickly Girls

REGAIN COLOR, HEALTH, AND VIGOR WHEN THE BLOOD IS ENRICHED BY

Your mirror will tell you if you are anaemic, for the unnatural pallor of your gums, lips and eyelids will indicate the thinness and weakness of the blood.

Anaemia is most common among young women and is marked by pallor weakness, indigestion, irritability, spells of dizziness and fainting, heart palpitation, severe headaches and feelings of extreme exhaustion.

The blood is lacking in the elements which go to form energy, vigour and strength and demands such assistance as is best supplied by Dr Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure sharpens the appetite, invigorates the nerves which control the digestive fluids, strengthens the heart's action and naturally and gradually restores the sufferer from weak blood to health, strength and vigour.

The headaches and eyeaches of pale nervous school girls, of office girls, and of factory employees, are largely the result of thin, watery blood, and will disappear when the blood is enriched and the system built up by Dr Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. D. Hobbins, 420 Charlotte street, Peterborough, Ont., writes:—"My daughter was troubled with a weak fluttering heart. The least excitement seemed to aggravate her trouble, and at times she had severe racking headaches. She became so bad that it affected her nervous system and she felt miserable most of the time. Through the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food her condition is entirely changed. Her nerves are steady, the headaches are gone and the action of the heart is strong and regular. We have every reason to give the credit to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Put this great restorative to the test by noting your increase in weight while using it.

FOR PRESERVATION OF FORESTS

Plea by Dr. Fernow Before the Canadian Club of Toronto—Canada's Hope in Controlling Lumber Market.

WISE MEASURES NEEDED

To the statesman, who will grasp the infinite value of a comprehensive system of forestry, and conceive, and put in practice a policy founded upon this comprehension, and a policy of dealing in a wise way with the exploitation — the cutting, manufacture and export —of our pulp, pine and other forest resources, will come the acclaim and credit due to a national benefactor. — Examiner, Feb. 22, 1908.

"To protect the welfare of the unborn citizen—that is the mission of the forester, which makes him a world patriot," said Dr. Fernow in an address upon reforestation on Monday to the members of the Canadian Club, Toronto.

Dr. Fernow very convincingly showed the necessity there is for prompt action in order to conserve the forest wealth of Canada for future generations. "Are you aware," he asked, "that Canada is destined to have ten times her population in less time than it taken to grow a sawlog? Are you aware that our neighbours to the south have only thirty years' supply of timber in their forests, and that one result of the removal of the United States restrictions in regard to Canadian wood products will result in an enormous increase in activity in Canadian lumbering operations?"

Addressing himself to the means to be employed in dealing with the problem, he said: "One essential condition is to keep the fire out. The present method of fire ranging only looks to the protection of the existing sawlogs, and does not look to the preservation of the young growth, which is the more valuable timber to the nation. The present method is the way which kills the goose that lays the golden egg." The future of the timber wealth of Canada depends upon the policy adopted by the Eastern Provinces.

At present the cutting is done with the sole aim of making immediate profits, and very little attention is paid to the saving of the young trees.

Ontario is the Province most deeply concerned, for she has more virgin timber than any other Province.

He said usually a government's policy in regard to timber lands was "a waiting one, with a tendency to hang back," and not much success could be looked for until the moral sense of the community was educated to appreciate that it was a sin to destroy valuable property wantonly.

If present license-holders are to have their privileges curtailed or cancelled it is only right that Government should pay them compensation.

In the United States, where land-grabbing is a fine art, the nation had reserved one hundred and fifty million acres for reforestation, and is going to spend millions in the re-purchase of eastern lands for reforestation purposes.

"One great difference I observe between Canada and the United States," said the speaker, "is that, whereas there the people lead the Government, here the Government leads the people. There the people take the initiative, here it is the Government." This he did not think was entirely a wise and admirable state of public feeling in Canada. He urged the people to be more alive to the need of protecting the forests and enable Canada to dominate the timber markets of the world, and, in conclusion, suggested that the Government be urged to extend its reservation policy to include all undisposed-of limits; that it organize a reforestation department and substitute the ephemeral fire ranger for the permanent forester; that all Crown lands suitable for forestry purposes be segregated; and that all present license-holders be given notice, that after a certain date new regulations must be observed on the limits as a condition of the privileges enjoyed by them.

ST. ANDREW'S W.F.M.S. AT-HOME

Pleasant Afternoon Spent Yesterday at Home of Mrs. Carter.

A most delightful afternoon was spent at the residence of Mrs. William Carter, 530 Bolivar street, The "At Home" was given under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, and was well attended. The tea room was very prettily decorated and refreshments were served by the executive committee.

The musical programme was very pleasing. Miss Mildred Brightman and Miss E. Tully contributed a number of instrumental solos, and Miss Bella King sang very sweetly "The Lost Chord."

The afternoon was spent in a most sociable and friendly way and will tend to strengthen the association in their good work.

At the close a most interesting event took place, when the members of the hoop drill, whose services have been appreciated at several public entertainments, presented their leader Miss B. King, with an address and teacher's Bible. Miss King was altogether overcome by the surprise and expressed her appreciation in a few well-chosen words.

LEAP YEAR PSALM

(By a Toronto Dental Student.)

Tell me not in senseless jingle,
Marriage is a blissful dream;
For the man is wise that's single,
And the girls aren't what they seem.

Girls are shrewd and dead in earnest,
And to wed their only aim;
Miss, that is to Mrs.—turnest,
Anything to change their name.

Not coquetting or flirtation,
Is their destined end or way;
But to act that each to-morrow
Nearer brings the bridal day.

In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of life,
Be do not like dumb driven cattle—
Be not humbugged with a wife.

Lives of bachelors all remind us,
We can live our lives the same,
And, departing leave behind us
No cross kids to bear our name.

Kids, perhaps, to whom another,
Calling o'er life's solemn main;
A forlorn and hen-pecked brother,
Some day may step-father gain.

Let us then be not demented!
And lured in through Hymen's gate.

Let all marriage be prevented—
Let all damsels learn to wait.

IS RHEUMATISM A CURABLE NOW?

Science Proves it a Symptom of Kidney Trouble and Easily Relieved

GIVES THIS RECIPE TO YOU

Recent hospital records show that the dread disease, rheumatism, is steadily increasing throughout the country. All known means of relief are being suggested to save the great amount of suffering this winter, especially among those who are not in a position to pack up and visit the noted health resorts to be treated. Recent tests prove rheumatism not exactly a disease in itself, but a severe symptom of kidney trouble, a condition caused by clogged-up pores of the eliminative tissues in the kidneys, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, permitting these substances to remain in the veins and decompose, usually settling about the joints and muscles, causing the intense pain, swelling and stiffness of rheumatism.

There are numerous remedies known which many persons believe will relieve this suffering—salicilate of soda, colchicum, potash, etc.—but these rugs are terribly hard on the stomach, often ruining this most important organ, and they fail as often as they relieve.

A well-known specialist, who has probably treated more cases of rheumatism than anyone else, and who is also the most successful, gives the following simple treatment, which is harmless and inexpensive, and so simple that anybody can mix it at home.

The ingredients are: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Go to any good prescription pharmacy and get these three vegetable ingredients and mix them by shaking in a bottle, taking as a dose a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is nothing better in the world for backache, kidney and bladder trouble, too. Such symptoms as frequent and painful urination, soreness, weakness, general and nervous debility are caused by certain acids and poisonous waste matter, decayed tissue, etc., in the blood, which the kidneys will clear and purify after a few doses of this prescription. No. 13.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY QUESTION

Writer in Bracebridge Gazette Doubts The Value of Carnegie's Gift and Makes Some Comparisons.

VARIOUS PLANS SUGGESTED

A correspondent in the Bracebridge Gazette gives some interesting things in connection with the Carnegie library question. He doubts the value of the gift and gives some comparisons. In his letter he says:

Mr. Carnegie made the town a gift of the building at a cost of $10,000, but he stipulated that the town is to give a free site and pay $1,000 a year for maintenance.

At the time the library was first suggested it was very generally understood that the $1,000 was to be made up of all revenue, including government grants. Now we are told the town has to raise the whole thousand, independent of outside support. That is a matter to be looked into unless the town as a whole is anxious to pay out the entire amount.

The site selected is worth at least $600, which means $30 a year forever, assuming that the land still actually remains town property. If the library were private property it would be assessed at about $6,000. This at 28 mills would mean $168 a year. As the town exempts the property from taxation, it, in effect, gives the library this additional $168. The cost to the town is therefore made up of those three items: interest on value of site, $30; exemption from taxes, $168; and maintenance, $1,000, or a total cost of $1,198 a year. By adding the local improvement frontage tax the figures may be placed in round numbers at $1,200 a year.

What do the people get in return for their $1,200 a year?

They get, 1, the pleasure of being able to show their visiting friends "our library"; 2, the privilege of reading the leading Toronto and local papers, but as there is only one copy of each provided it is evident no rush is anticipated; 3, the privilege of borrowing such books and magazines as there are in stock, under certain conditions; 4, the privilege of spending quiet evenings there.

Let us take a glance at what $1,200 would do in other ways.

In the first place the great bulk of the books loaned by the library are novels; a few of them are new books that are not yet published in cheap form, but the great majority are books that can be bought in large quantities bound in cloth, new, at $10 a hundred. Deducting $200 for cost of distribution there could be ten thousand books bought and given away per year for the remaining $1,000. On a basis of 500 families that would mean that 20 books of just as good reading matter as the free library popular books could be given outright to every family in Bracebridge every year. In ten years each family could have a nice library of 200 books, perhaps not the same books as they would read from the library, but just as good. A good point in connection with this plan is that it would induce people to take care of the books.

Take another plan. If the $1,200 were used in connection with library work at school it would furnish every child with free books from the day he entered school until he graduated from the highest form of the High School, and leave more money to be invested in a permanent reference library for town use that can possibly so invested under the present plan.

Take another comparison. The new Fourth Ward School cost $5,000. A Fourth Ward School cost $3,000, at the same rate of interest that costs the town $250 a year. At the same rate as figured on for the library, the tax exemption is equivalent to $84 a year. The $1,200 will pay two teachers $800, a caretaker $100, interest $250 and leave $50 towards taxes, fuel and wear and tear. So that the building and maintenance of the long-discussed and much feared Fourth Ward School, where over a hundred little children are being educated, cost the town only a trifle more per year than Mr. Carnegie's "Gift."

Let us look at it in another way. It is a difficult matter so to select books as to eliminate all that are objectionable to those of various religious views. Books could be distributed by the various Sunday Schools at no cost to the town for labour. If, therefore, $1,200 a year were divided among the Sunday schools according to the number of families adhering to each, it would give an average of nearly $175 a year to each Sunday school. The books could be bought with a view to satisfying the desires of all ages. At 25c. per volume it would supply 700 volumes per year per school. Of course this might not suit two classes, namely, those who are too pious to select their books on Sunday and those who are not pious enough to adhere to an sect. For the former some provision for week days might be made; for the latter—well, those who do not adhere to any church could afford to buy their own books with what they save from church maintenance.

But why multiply comparisons; enough has been written to show that this gift is not all milk and honey. If Bracebridge were in a position to have other things in keeping with the library it would be lovely. Did you ever go into the room in which the town council and school board have to work hour after hour all the year through, and compare that cold, dingy, little ill-ventilated and ill-finished room with the gorgeous board room in which the library board meets? Yet the town council and school board transact business out of all comparison to that of the library board.

Comparisons are made with other towns. We are told the town of Lindsay has a $15,000 building and therefore must raise $1,500 a year. Granted. Lindsay has almost three times the population of Bracebridge so that on a similar scale our amount should not exceed $500. The town of Barrie makes a grant of $250 a year for library purposes. Aurora grants $153 a year. Those may be extreme cases but in comparison with us they get off pretty easy for libraries.

What good does it do to criticize after the deed is done? Probably no good. Still there are ways in which the new building may be managed extravagantly to the injury of the people. If anything I say might tend to cause library boards to consider more carefully the relative importance of supply and style to the advantage of the former it would be well. Then other places are considering the same question. Penetanguisheno has just decided to build on the same scale as ours. Maybe they have all worked out the problem as carefully as I have and know it is right to do as we have done.

TROUBLE EXPECTED BY RAILWAYS

Snow Drifted Again and Early Trains Reported in Trouble.

This morning the first evidences of a tie up were noticeable at the C. P. R. station, when the local steamed in a little late, afterwards drew onto a siding to await developments. The early trains passed through, but one was reported stalled between here and Toronto. The storm was not as violent as several others that have been experienced, but it was considered a bad one, owing to the heavy nature of the snow.

DOURO MAN SHOOTS LARGE BLACK BEAR NEAR THE INDIAN RIVER

News comes from Douro of a lively bear hunt which ended in Mr. Jas. Mahoney shooting the bear which was a large black one and a regular beauty. Mr. Mahoney was out one day last week when he sighted Mr. Bruin moving through the underbrush of a neighbouring woods. He hurriedly returned home and got his 44-40 rifle. It was loaded and in good condition and Mr. Mahoney returned to the trail which he took up to land Mr. Bruin. He followed it along until he again came up with it. The bear discovered his danger but before he could act one way or another Mr. Mahoney fired, and brought him down. Another shot was all that was needed. Mr. Mahoney has the bear's hide and intends to make a nice rug of it.

EIGHT HUNDRED TORONTO MEN WERE WILLING TO GO WEST

"To the unemployed men in Toronto:—If you are out of work and would go to British Columbia to work on a farm, or any other works, send me a post card with your full name and address, state age, married or single, use post cards only, addressed to secretary British Welcome League, 87 Front street west."

The foregoing paragraph was given one insertion as an advertisement in one Toronto paper on Saturday.

Yesterday Mr. Albert Chamberlain and Mr. Dickson, president and secretary of the British Welcome League, brought the results in. It took a good-sized valise to hold the answers from unemployed Toronto people, who said they wanted to go to British Columbia.

"There are over 800 post cards here in answer to that one ad." said Mr. Chamberlain, opening the valise.

Result of Controversy

The incident grew out of a discussion which took place at the meeting of charities held last Friday. At that meeting Mr. Chamberlain criticized the immigration work of the Salvation Army, and in particular the fact that they were at this moment bringing a load of several hundred men from England to British Columbia, while there were thousands of men in Toronto who could not get work.

Col. Howell said the Toronto unemployed would not go to British Columbia. Mr. Chamberlain said they would, and his advertisement, given above, was inserted on Saturday just to prove his contention. — Toronto Star.

In addition to the estimates general business will be taken up.

SHOULD LIVE 100 YEARS

Sir James Crichton Brown's Opinion.

Sir James Crichton Brown of England, at the Congress of the Royal Institute of Public Health in London, gave a lecture on old age. He states that if every person should live right and take the proper care, to live one hundred years would be a matter of course.

There is no excuse for feebleness at the age of fifty, sixty, or even seventy. In every person there is a constant change taking place in the system, and just so long as the supply equals or exceeds the waste, just so long will old age be warded off.

When one finds their energies flagging, the organs acting slowly and less effectually, the blood sluggish, and in fact "feels old," then there is nothing known to medicine that will restore elasticity to the step, brightness to the eyes, vigour to brain and muscle, and strength to every organ in the body so surely as our great cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol.

Vinol contains in a concentrated form all of the medicinal, body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated, and tonic iron added.

We ask every aged person in Peterborough to try Vinol on our offer to return money if not satisfied. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also the Market Drug Store, Peterborough.

OTHER MEANS BESIDES POISONING

The Travels of an Innocent Spaniel and Capture by a Woman.

Citizens are having troubles over dogs in more ways than one. A south end resident is one of the victims. purchased a spaniel some time ago for a five dollar bill and the self-contented former owner, he says, walked off with it yesterday while he was at work. The tale is a somewhat lengthy one. According to the last loser, he bought the dog from a man residing near Downer's Corners for $5. But there was a woman in the case, who claimed that she lost the dog. After a considerable time had elapsed she discovered where it was and was told that she might have the canine back again providing the then custodian received a compensation equal to his own disbursement.

This agreement was not mutual and yesterday while he was at work the woman, augumented by the presence of her husband called at his home. When the door was opened the dog ran out and was captured and triumphantly carried away despite the protestations of the mistress of the house.

This is the end of the story for the present but new developments are awaited.

These two cities produce the finest dress fabrics in the world, each manufacturing a distinct and separate style of cloth. The main pattern feature for Spring and Summer '08 is the beautiful stripe effect; never before has there been such pronounced tendency to any one pattern. There are also a great many plain cloths shown, such as Panamas, Voiles, Foliennes, Armures, Corde de Soie, etc., in shades of Brown, Tan, Blue, Green and Grey. We also show some very nice light Tweed effects for the Summer Costume. Our prices are as ever consistent with true value from the lowest to highest grade goods. Graceful Corseting

D and A—the embodiment of grace and beauty, with pliancy and comfort a strong feature.

The pose of the figure has a great deal to do with the appearance of a costume. With poorly fitted corsets there can be nothing but an unattractive deformed pose, and with the result that an otherwise elegant costume is oft times made an ill fitting excuse.

The D and A Corsets are the result of Art, Genius and Skill; they will embellish and beautify the wearer—give comfort and style alike. D and A Corsets are made in Canada, and are the celebrated corsets of excellence, made in all the latest models to suit any form. All prices from—

PLEASANT TIME AT THE BANKERS' DANCE

An Enjoyable Evening Arranged—Some Unique Features.

The bakers' "at home" took place at the Conservatory of Music Hall on Tuesday evening. The wives of the various bank managers received the guests and were most attentive in seeing that those present enjoyed themselves. The music was provided by Mr. Musgrave of Toronto, and was in attendance, most suitable. The hall was comfortably filled and what was a most pleasing and appreciative part was that there was about an equal number of gentlemen and ladies, and when all were dancing the floor was fully occupied and the seats were vacant. It was unique in this regard. Many of the guests attended the opera before appearing at the dance. The refreshments were served by Mr. Hooper. The hall was prettily decorated and the floor was all that was to be desired. The committee was entitled to all praise for the evening was very pleasantly spent. The bankers are to be congratulated upon the success of the event was the number of brides that were present. Several guests from neighbouring places were Remains of Peter Bouguard to be Buried With Forester Honours.

There was a large attendance of members at the regular meeting of Court Stanley, A.O.F., held last night in the S. O. E. Hall. Chief Ranger, Bro. P. Hendry, presided. One candidate was duly initiated and five applications were received for membership. After the usual business of the Court was concluded, Chief Ranger Bro. P. Hendry made reference to the sad death of Bro. P. Bouguard, who was an old and respected member of the A.O.F. in one of the Courts in England, and the sympathy of the members is extended to the widow in her bereavement. It was decided that the Court take charge of the funeral and attend the same in a body on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Bro. Jones of Toronto was present and delivered an address. He was pleased to see the action the Court had taken in regard to the late Bro. Bouguard, who was not a member in Peterborough.

Some Cities That Have Refused Carnegie Library

Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., With Another Reply To Mr. D. W. Dumble—Letter From Counsel For Prosecution.

EXPERIENCE IS WANTED

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—In your last Friday's issue Mr. Dumble's ready pen provided other "views," but, I fear, added little conviction for what he contends. Figures, additions, subtractions and balances are of little moment when not founded on known facts. He assumes things to have an existence and then asserts the conclusions to be so and so. May I not ask, is it not too much to expect people to take for granted we have a "free site" for a library where others can find none, unless our re-claimed river-front, or the Hilliard farm, will answer? No one would vote to give a part of the Central Park. It has more than enough buildings on it now; or, again, that the Nicholls endowment will be $1,125 yearly, with only $10,000 in hand, and the remainder an unconverted asset; or that the Nicholls endowment may be applied to the payment of the ten per cent. required on Mr. Carnegie's advance, for which he shows no warrant. I observe, however, that he has lopped $5,000 from his former figures, and finds $25,000 to be as great a burden as the city can comfortably bear. I am inclined to believe that citizens will not be averse to a repetition in paring down, if we must have Mr. Carnegie's assistance and are quite unable to help ourselves. I think we should give much weight to instances of other quarters where Mr. Carnegie's bounty has been taken. I have already pointed out that Detroit refused it. That city was in line for $750,000, but after long consideration decided against the money with the "usual conditions" added, as it is invariably expressed in his gifts. Nor would Chicago take it, but erected its own grand library furnished it, and pays the expense of its maintenance without asking help from anyone. I find that many other cities have shown like independence, and I believe that as people continue to reflect and gain experience, less of Mr. Carnegie's money will be asked for. In the considerable cities of Bath, Bradford, Great Harwood and other cities in Great Britain his kindness with the "usual conditions" attached has been declined.

It is said that we will not require to name our library "The Carnegie Library," yet all will agree that it would scarcely be decent to accept his benevolence and ignore the giver altogether. A Chicago paper thus refers to these circumstances, however, "Somewhere in the imperishable stone in most of most of these buildings is cut the name "Carnegie." Mn many is found the sculptured bust or a bronze medallion of the doner, who was the first to pronounce upon mankind the "shame of dying rich." His yearly income averages two and one-half million over his benefactions, and it seems hopeless to expect that he will ever be able to save himself from the disgrace he fears. We may add that many have found that instead of a benefit derived from his money, what they really got was a pretty sizeable gold brick"; and concludes with the remark that in his colossal scheme of gift giving perhaps no man had so many of his gift horses looked in the mouth as has Mr. Carnegie.

It is a characteristic of Mr. Carnegie that he always refuses to help existing libraries, even if crippled for lack of funds. The building being once on the ground he ceases to interest himself, and that libraries may stagnate or go to ruin appears to be no concern of his.

I have in the past dealt with a business aspect. There remains the sentimental. On this ground also I am opposed to Mr. Carnegie's money or to any other short cut to a library building. Let us exercise a spirit of independence, and not confess ourselves dependants. If this cynical giver of library buildings, who has on occasions expressed his contempt of British institutions, must distribute his hampering wealth which his "business capacity" has extracted from the people, let him donate it to the less fortunate. We would compromise our dignity by its acceptance. We would also condone his offensive references to the nation of which Canada is proud to form a part.

Your obedient servant,

W. H. MOORE.

NO FARMERS IN THE CITY TO-DAY

Market Did Not Materialize—Roads in Bad Condition.

The market was rather quiet this morning. The weather proved too much for the farmers and they consequently remained at home. There was no wood, hay or straw and only one sleigh of meat. The indoor market was also a blank.

Regarding the usual weekly sale of hogs there was very little business done to-day. One farmer named Tedford arrived in the city with a few hogs and reported that there was extreme difficulty in getting into the city from the north. On W street north the road was so narrow that two sleighs could not pass. Mr. Tedford managed to get past but would not like to try it again. Another man named Woods would not try to come in directly and drove west to the Communication Road by which he intended to reach the city. The cattle buyers were waiting through the afternoon for other opportunities but none came. Mr. Woods had not reached the city by 2.30 o'clock.

MANY MEN EMPLOYED TO-DAY

THE COURT OF REVISION MEETING

Heard More Complaints Against Sidewalk Measurements.

The Court of Revision held another meeting last night at which more complaints against sidewalk measurements were heard. No decisions in the appeals were given and the Court adjourned until Tuesday night of next week when it is expected that the sidewalk complaints will be finished. The appeals against sewer measurements will not be taken up for a few weeks yet.

WEDDING BELLS.

NORTHCOTT-COULTER

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. John Coulter, Pontypool, on Wednesday, Feb. 19th, the contracting parties being Miss E. H. Coulter, of Pontypool and Mr. W. H. Northcott, of Hamilton, the Rev. D. B. Marsh, F.R.A.S., officiating.

The bride has for a number of years enjoyed the distinction of being one of the most popular girls in Manvers, and very numerous indeed were the good wishes she received for a happy wedded life.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was dispensed, reflecting great credit on those who so competently took charge of the culinary department.

The bride wore a handsome princess costume of cream merveilleux silk, trimmed with Irish lace and pearls, and was assisted by Miss Margaret Fee, who wore a pretty creation of electric blue silk. The groom was supported by Mr. A. J. Coulter, brother of the bride.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Northcott, Mr. and Mrs. V. Cochrane, Miss A. Coulter, Mr. G. Coulter, Mr. S. Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coulter, Mrs. James Coulter, Mrs. Syer, Miss N. Syer, Mr. E. Syer, Miss Washington, Miss E. Williamson, Misses M. F. and V. Benson, Mrs. Dr. MacCollum, Mr. G. Gomm, Mr. J. C. Thomson, Mr. A. H. Boater and Mr. A. E. Dokereiner.

The happy couple will spend a short honeymoon in Buffalo and Niagara, after which they will reside at 86 Ashley street, Hamilton.

SMITH-HAIR

A quiet wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Evans Ingram Hair, in Otonabee, when his daughter, Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles George Irvine Smith, of Minden, Ont. Only the immediate relatives were present. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by little Miss Ruby Carr, who carried a dainty basket of roses. The groom was supported by Mr. Herbert Hair as best man. The bride was tastefully attired in a going-away dress of poplin, and the flower girl in cream nun's veiling. Miss Winnie Eason of Otonabee played the wedding march, while the Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple left for the West and will reside at Minden, Ont. They carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

PILES

8 Years Torture Ended by Zam-Buk

Mr. George Lee, 35 Steiner St., Toronto, says: "For 8 years I suffered torture from blind, itching piles. During that time I believe almost everything in the line of ointments and salves was used, but in vain. The very first application of Zam-Buk gave me relief from that terrible itching, and a little perseverance with the balm brought about a complete cure. I have not been troubled again and it is now over six months since Zam-Buk was used. If this statement can be used for the benefit of other sufferers from this trouble, you are at liberty to publish it."

PENSION QUESTION IN LIMELIGHT

Land Grants to Volunteers Discussed in Parliament.

WHAT SIR WILFRID SAYS

Veterans and Nurses May Share in the Distribution — House Passes Resolution — Premier Twits Col. Hughes — Latter Threatens a Hornet's Nest If Justice Is Not Done—Sir F. Borden Replies.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—It is not often that the Opposition in the Commons has to find fault with the Government on the score of parsimony, but that was the ground of complaint yesterday.

The resolution granting 320 acres of land to every volunteer from Manitoba and the Northwest who served in South Africa was taken up early in the afternoon and debated until late at night. The Opposition took the stand that the grant should be made general to South African volunteers from all parts of Canada. They pointed out that the limitation proposed in the resolution would create an invidious discrimination against volunteers from other parts of the country, but as the rules forbid an amendment the protest had to be confined to criticism and reproof. In the course of the debate the Prime Minister used words capable of the construction that a pension for South African volunteers was within the possibilities.

Veteran Land Grants.

The House took up consideration of the resolution awarding the land grants of 320 acres each to volunteers of Manitoba and the Territories who served in the South African war.

Mr. Bergeron made a stout plea to have the grant made to volunteers from all provinces.

Mr. Oliver said the resolution was founded upon a motion by Col. Hughes which the House passed last session.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed with Mr. Bergeron that there should be no discrimination. But inasmuch as the provinces of British Columbia and Ontario had already granted land to veterans resident in those provinces, it would be making a double grant in some cases.

Col. Sam Hughes pointed out that when he first introduced his resolution the Prime Minister declared the grant could not be made as it had not then been decided whether the lands in the Northwest could be given to the new provinces or retained by the Dominion. Finally it was decided that the Dominion should retain control. Then, however, the Prime Minister raised the objection to a general grant that two of the provinces had already provided their volunteers with land, and it was to meet this objection that he introduced his resolution of last year, confining the grant of Dominion lands to South African volunteers from Manitoba and the old territories.

"That resolution carried," said Col. Hughes, "but I knew then that the Prime Minister's sense of justice would correct that discrimination and lead to the grant being made general. Indeed, I can assure him that he'll have a veritable hornet's nest about his ears unless he does justice in this matter."

R. L. Borden pointed out that it was not at all incumbent upon the Government to regard itself bound by the resolution of last session in the matter of limiting the grant to volunteers from Manitoba and the new provinces. Three or four years ago, he pointed out, the House unanimously passed a resolution declaring that the manufacture and sale of cigarettes should be prohibited.

"Not unanimously," Sir Wilfrid corrected.

"Well, not exactly unanimous," replied Mr. Borden, "but the minority was very small, and the right hon. gentleman knows minorities have no rights in this House." (Laughter.)

However, the resolution passed and yet no bill had been introduced, said Mr. Borden, adding that a resolution had been passed unanimously declaring that only goods entering by Canadian ports should be entitled to the British preference, yet the Government announced that there would be no legislation on those lines for years to come. The proper course for the Government to pursue was to treat all men alike. The resolution before the House could not be amended by a private member, but certainly in its present form it was unjust and inequitable. Had the grant been made immediately after the war, as it should have been, there would have been no excuse to-day of provincial grants.

Sir Frederick Borden said that this was a question of rewarding men for their services. These lands were in the west and the Government was bound to recognize the opinions of the western Governments. The Ministers and Assemblies of the western provinces had asked that rewards of western lands be given to the western men. That was the mandate on which the Government had acted.

"Does the Minister of Militia not think that when the Government is rewarding South African volunteers it should reward all alike," asked Dr. Sproule.

"Yes, when, as far as possible," Sir Frederick replied. He went on to say that other provinces might follow the example of Ontario. Quebec and New Brunswick had plenty of land and could provide any reward they chose. It is a matter of fact that the volunteers had been well treated by Canada.

Invidious Discrimination.

R. L. Borden pointed out that the western lands were as much in the control of the Dominion as any dollar in the treasury. "When the new provinces were being formed I protested against it," said Mr. Borden, "but I protested in vain." But even the argument that the Government could not alienate those lands was no excuse for discrimination in this case. "The Government had other ways of compensating the veterans from other provinces, and so avoid this invidious discrimination."

Sir Wilfrid said he had thought Col. Hughes' resolution of last session was worded as it was meant, but that hon. member, it now appeared, had something in the back of his head at the time that he intended to bring out later. Mr. Lefurgey interrupted to observe that he himself had last session asked that the land grant be extended to veterans all over the Dominion.

"And couldn't persuade one member on his own side to join him," replied the Prime Minister. "He was like the last rose of summer, left blooming alone."

The Government, he went on to say, had acted on the recommendation of Col. Hughes, but no sooner had they done so than he wanted the whole Dominion included. The Government had accepted Col. Hughes' resolution because there was some sense in it, the principle of it being that the volunteers of the west were entitled to land grants, but the western provinces had no lands to give.

In the case of a pension, it might be given to all the South African veterans in the Dominion. "If we are to give a monetary compensation," said Sir Wilfrid, "that must be debated on its merits, but as to land grants, they must come from the provinces."

In the course of the further discussion, Mr. Monk suggested that the Fenian Raid veterans should be given land grants, and Mr. Gallihe proposed similar recognition for the Nile voyageurs with whom, by the way, he himself served in Egypt and Soudan.

Mr. Herron of Alberta urged that the grant to volunteers in the Northwest be given to the heirs of volunteers who had lost their lives in South Africa, or had died since their return. The resolution was finally reported, the bill founded upon it, and read a first time.

Attacked Public Ownership.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—In the Senate yesterday Hon. James McMullen moved a resolution declaring that public ownership would not be in the interest of the Dominion.

Senator Cloran opposed the resolution, pointing out that private ownership of public utilities resulted in monopoly and exorbitant charges. Senator Cloran predicted a popular rising against improperly accrued wealth in the United States, and asked that care be taken not to reproduce a similar condition in Canada.

Senator Cloran has given notice of a resolution deploring the recent increase of murderous crime in Montreal and other parts of Canada, caused by an undesirable foreign element.

Critical Stage in Entente.

London, Feb. 26.—Lord Fitzmaurice, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, was asked in the House of Lords yesterday for information regarding the Macedonian reforms and the effect of the Austrian project for the construction of a branch railroad line through Turkish territory, to connect Vienna with Saloniki.

In reply, Lord Fitzmaurice said he regretted that he had no cheerful news to impart.

A very critical stage had been reached, he said, in both the local affairs of Macedonia and in the diplomatic entente known as the concert of Europe.

"O! MY POOR HEAD"

Stop Those Headaches.

Headache and neuralgia are pronounced signs of blood poisoning. This poisoning of the blood comes from the waste matter of the body being left in the system, instead of being regularly carried off by the bowels, kidneys and skin.

When the bowels do not move regularly, the refuse is absorbed by the blood. Thus, the blood is loaded with foul poisons which irritate the nerves.

Poor skin action also causes headache and neuralgia. Impurities cannot escape through the skin, so the blood must take them up and deposit them on the nerves.

If the bowels and skin are not ridding the system of waste, the kidneys try to do so and are overworked.

There is just one way to cure headaches and neuralgia—to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin so that all the poisons of the body will be properly carried off.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep blood pure and rich—relieve the stomach and kidneys—regulate the bowels; and invigorate the skin to healthy action. "Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful discovery, being a combination of fruit juices and tonics. 50c a box—six for $2.50. At all dealers, or from "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa.

THE MAJORITY RULE IS WANTED

Attitude of Opposition Defined by Liberal Leader.

BETTER HELP THAN CRITICIZE

Mr. MacKay Makes Brilliant Speech in the Legislature—Would Repeal Three-Fifth's Clause — Is Backed by United Party—No Measure of Law Reform This Session," Says Premier Whitney.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—In the closing sentence of his speech in the Legislature yesterday Hon. A. G. MacKay defined what he considered to be the duties of a public man. Particularly he addressed himself to the position which he and his colleagues in Opposition occupied. The accusation had been made by supporters of the Government that Opposition speakers had failed to find anything to criticize in the administration of the Whitney regime. Mr. MacKay pointed out that the making of suggestions, the following of which led to the conferring of benefit upon the community, was of far greater importance than mere criticism of accomplished acts. Throughout his address the same high level was maintained by the leader of the Liberal party, who was making his first speech in the House in that capacity.

MacKay Was Subdued.

Hon. A. G. MacKay closed the debate for the Opposition in a very able speech, subdued in tone and almost diffident in manner, becoming to his position as the first official effort as leader of his party. Those who had not heard him previously might have left disappointed, but his followers took courage behind the quiet confidence and masterly grasp that Mr. MacKay exhibited in handling a situation which by common consent is one of the most difficult a public man was ever called upon to assume.

He noted the desire of the Opposition not to make political speeches, but, as Mr. Harcourt had done, suggestive speeches, taking up important topics like that of technical education. The speeches of the Government members had been on a pretty high level, but he resented the suggestion that he had not a united party behind him. That statement was not in accordance with the facts.

Holding His Own.

In reply to the taunt that his party was leaving him, Mr. MacKay first pointed out that the retiring members in West Kent, East Huron and South Brant had announced their intention before he was selected as leader, and not one was leaving on account of the present leadership. (Opposition applause.) In contrast to the narrow spirit of such a view, he owed it to the press of the province to say that they had treated him fairly and decently and handsomely as any public man could expect.

With respect to the expected surplus of $500,000, announced by Mr. Donovan, he pointed out that the estimated excess of receipts in last year's budget was $1,093,156. Moreover, when the historic channels were considered, through which the revenue flowed, and the debates remembered in which those channels were dug, the Liberal party might congratulate themselves upon any surplus that might accrue.

In the three acts passed by the Liberal party, the Succession Duties Act, the Supplemental Revenue Act and the Brewers' and Distillers' Act, they had the origin of $9,000,000 of revenue, and if scarcely a matter of congratulation from the party standpoint, the province would appreciate the fact that during the year $675,000 flowed in revenue as a result of the Liberal policy.

Mr. MacKay expressed regret that a comprehensive scheme of law reform would not be brough down this session, but Premier Whitney objected to the inference he drew from the clause in the Government resolutions respecting communications to be had with the Imperial and Dominion Governments.

For Model Schools.

Mr. MacKay attacked the policy of abolishing the model schools. Those pupils who went there first were better fit for attendance at the normal schools afterwards. He was in the judgment of the best professional opinion in saying that as good teachers would not be produced as under the old system. They did not want more subjects taught in the schools, but more accuracy, more thoroughness, and completeness of knowledge in those elementary subjects which were taught as far as the average child goes at school.

He knew that double time was given to algebra, geometry, chemistry, physics, because the certificate of the master was not accepted in these subjects as it was in the others. He pleaded for the incoming generation, and 90 per cent. of the pupils of the province, who would have more moral stamina and backbone with stricter training. The farmers' sons and daughters were not getting as full an education in their opinion as if they came and lived in town.

Against Three-Fifths Clause.

With regard to the three-fifths clause, the divisions in the House and the record of the yeas and nays would show where the parties stood. With the Liberals majority rule was a principle. It was absurd to say that on one day up to 5 o'clock 60 per cent. was necessary to carry a bylaw, and that next day 41 per cent. could sustain it.

With regard to the electric power policy, he observed that not a single municipality had completed the contract which had been voted for last January. This raised the question as to whether the bylaw would again have to be referred to the people with a new schedule of prices. He wondered where the hydro-electric commission was at with regard to carrying out the bylaws.

Premier in Reply.

Premier Whitney began by characterizing the debate as the most peculiar of all he had heard in the House. He devoted six minutes to the graceful amenities usual to such an occasion. He joined with cordial appreciation of the performances of hon. gentlemen opposite, and others in their references to those who had gone from among them and whose faces they would see no more.

The hon. member for Monck (Mr. Harcourt) who was the father of the House, with Hon. Dr. Willoughby and himself, were the only three members now left who had sat in the House when he first entered it. He was not finding fault with the Opposition, but in twenty years' experience he had never known such procedure in a debate. Hon. gentlemen opposite had dealt with a number of subjects after the manner of a public debate. But the only attitude of an Opposition should be one of criticism. It was very creditable to the Government, of course, but attacks were to be made on the Government.

Premier Whitney showed that the big gun resolution of the Liberal convention of 1904 spoke only of timber limits north of the height of land. When they had gone up near James Bay and found themselves up to the neck in water the old Government were willing to throw these limits open to competition. It was only a sub-target convention after all. The argument that a mill at Ottawa was less beneficial to the immigrants of Northern Ontario than one at Pembroke, in the County of Renfrew, was hardly worthy of Mr. MacKay's acuteness.

Premier Whitney quoted The Globe May 2, 1906, to show that on the minimum salary question for rural teachers the Opposition desired plain figures, and he confuted Mr. MacKay's argument as to the effect of high school certificates by reading the resolution of the Dominion Educational Association last July, approving the admission of students by certificate. If there was any one thing that should be stamped out without delay or mercy it was the system of examination after examination which had done an infinity of harm to scholars.

Not Closing the Schools.

No distinct charge had been made by Mr. MacKay regarding model schools. He said it was all wrong to close them.

"Well, we are not going to do it, and the hon. gentleman is merely beating the air," said the Premier. They had erected four new Normal schools and no objection had been made. The students were able there to obtain a permanent certificate lasting for life and without fee. They forgot the appropriation to be made for urban schools, which would bring the expenditure on education close to $2,000,000. They had not stolen any limits to do this. Hiwan all died out of honest rivalry, and there was more left than they found.

The increased grants for agricultural purposes were the subject of Mr. Whitney's next comment on the speech. The expenditure had risen from $415,000 in 1904 to $589,000 in 1907.

"What have we done?" enquired Mr. Whitney, in closing the debate in the Legislature yesterday with the air of a man reading with an emetic.

When he had occupied the office of Attorney-General for the first four months of the present Parliament he had acted as a policeman and closed the pool rooms. That was a milestone.

The Government had cut off from the statute book the act which authorized it and there would be no numbered ballot in future.

They had appropriated large sums and reorganized the university.

They had dealt with the public schools and the County Councils Act.

They had showed that the license law could be enforced, and what was of more importance, that it would be enforced as long as the Government was in office.

They had almost completed the T. & N. O. Railway.

They had, through the Provincial Treasurer, managed to sell $3,000,000 of railway bonds to the people of the province, bankers, farmers and business men, at par, without a dollar of expenditure, except $2,000 for advertising, and, if the hon. members would not take it amiss, without any $25,000 commission.

Law reform was the only question left which the Opposition of the late Government had indicated they wanted to legislate upon. Every other question had been disposed of. There would be no law reform bill this session, however, as it was not desirable to hurry in such a matter, and the resolutions would have to be thoroughly discussed.

Six-Day Man Takes Little Stock In Hoagland's Lead

Mr. Purton Tells The Examiner of A Similar Race in Which He Participated.

EARLY LEADER LEFT BEHIND

The fact that Davy Hartly is not mentioned in the despatches from Kansas City and that he is at least 15 miles behind Hoagland the leader, does not cause much consternation among his friends. To-day Mr. John T Purdon, of Port Hope, an one-time long distance walker, was at the Munro House and stated to the Examiner that in a six-day walk of that nature 15 miles was nothing to be behind at the end of the second day.

Mr. Purdon was on one occasion a competitor in a six-day tramp of a similar character with a number of others. In two days" time he was 16 miles behind the leader but the last beginner wasn't in the race much after that. The man who won was only 2 miles ahead of Mr. Purton at the end of the second day and 14 miles to the rear of the leader at that time. Mr. Purton, himself, finished fourth in the race.

He does not believe therefore that the standing of the walkers at the present time is much of a criterion as to the order in which they will finish.

The friends of Davy Hartley have reason to expect he will spring into the limelight before the finish and end well up with the leaders on Saturday night.

BOTH TEAMS HAVE STRONG LINE-UPS FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME

To-night's big game between Strathconas, city league champions, and Norwood, the runners up will be called sharp at 8.15 o'clock. Norwood will arrive here on the 4.48 train with their strongest line-up, a bunch of rooters and unlimited confidence in their ability to beat the Strathconas. They may do so, but in order to accomplish the feat they will have to let our several links faster then they have done this season, as the locals are travelling at an awful clip just now; steady practice, together since the last game has developed better team work and the practice last night was a speedy one. Norwood, on the other hand, have benefitted by their Trent Valley League games and will be in the best of shape. It will be about the last good game of the season (the press game excepted, of course), and will be a hard-fought, exciting contest from gong to gong, as the rivalry between the two teams is intense. The feeling in local hockeydom in regard to the result is pretty well decided, both teams being favoured to win by a large number of fans, which is increasing the interest in the contest. George Lynch will referee the game and the teams will face each other something like this:

Strathconas.	Norwood.
Goal
Wilson	J. Doherty
Point
Meagher	Huycke
Cover Point
Dusty	Nicholl
Rover
Ray	F. Doherty
Centre
Long	Kempt
Right Wing
McMillan	Scott
Left Wing
Weatherstone	R. Pearce

The admission will be gentlemen 15s., ladies 10c.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PRESS GAME

Everything in Readiness for the Greatest Battle in the History of Hockey—

BIG GAME TO-MORROW

The snowstorm to-day is a forecast of what is going to happen to the Review hockey team to-morrow night.

Remember: "The time, the place and the team." The time is eight o'clock on Thursday night, the place is Brock street rink and the team to cheer for is the Examiner.

The Children's Aid Society will benefit by your presence at the press game to-morrow night, as the proceeds will be given to them. The admission is only 10 cents, which entitles you to an hour's skating afterwards with the Peterborough band in attendance, the musicians have very kindly volunteered their services. Everybody and his wife will be there to-morrow night. If you miss it you will be sorry ever afterward.

The Examiner has selected the following line-up for to-morrow night:
Goal—Craig
Point—Burridge.
Cover—Clarke.
Rover—Theobald.
Centre—Huston.
Right wing—Robertson.
Left wing—Henry.
With the biggest defence in captivity and a forward line so fast that they have to wear asbestos uniforms to keep them from scatching on fire the Examiner has no doubt whatever of the result.

The city auditor has very kindly consented to be present and keep track of the Examiner score, after it gets up into double figures.

The Review misfits have their final workout to-night, and the management of the rink is having the walls of the building re-inforced to keep the players from charging clear through them.

Manager MacRae, of the Review team, is said to be cutting an awful swath at practice. This might be expected when it is known he looks like a pair of scissors when he is on the ice.

The City Council shows a surprising disregard for the fitness of things by calling a meeting of the Council to-morrow night. How the city fathers can discuss such important things as the estimates when the Review and Examiner players are doing their best to murder each other is more than the average mind can comprehend. But then, aldermen rarely have average minds.

"Dinnie" Dobbin, the old lacrosse goal-keeper, who will be in the nets for the Review, will find that the occupation is not so congenial as guarding the citadel for the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club used to be.

IS VERY HARD TO UNDERSTAND

Hartley's Showing So Far In Kansas City Is Very Much of a Disappointment.

CAN NOT BE IN FORM

The news from Kansas City in regard to the walking match is very disappointing and very hard to understand as well. That Hartley should be more than 15 miles behind at the end of two days is a big surprise, and the feeling here is that the little local walker must have met with an accident, as the pace at which the walkers are travelling is well within Hartley's limit. Hoagland of Auburn N. Y., the leader, has travelled 108 miles in 24 hours, or an average of 4 1-2 miles an hour. Hartley, in his match against Reynolds in Toronto covered 57 miles in 12 hours, an average of 4 3-4 miles an hour, or an average of a quarter of a mile an hour faster than Hoagland, at which rate he should have been six miles ahead of Hoagland last night, instead of at least 15 miles behind. The fifth man, Tuttle of Pittsburg, Kas., has travelled but 93 miles in the 24 hours, an average of 3 7-8 miles an hour, which is seven-eighths of a mile slower than Hartley's Toronto time. If Hartley was travelling at the speed he did in Toronto he should have been 21 miles ahead, instead of being behind him, as the figures in the despatch received this morning show. Hartley has either had to drop out or else is not in form. He should at least be among the first five. The despatch does not contain any intelligence of Hartley whatever.

TRIPS FOR THE LOCAL CURLERS

Lindsay and Cannington Will Likely Be Visited.

The curlers had their last game last night for the next few days. If the weather turns cold again and the ice remains good several rinks of the local curlers will go to Lindsay to play the remaining game for the district cup. The games for the Neil-Shepherd trophy will also be played with Orillia on the Lindsay rink.

Next week it is proposed that two rinks go to Cannington. It is very probable that the players will take this opportunity.

Velvet Skin, Soft and Clear
What one or two applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will do for rough, inflamed and irritated skin is almost as wonderful as is the complete cure of eczema by its persistent use. By its healing, soothing and antiseptic influence, Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly cures chafing and skin diseases and eruptions and leaves the skin clear, soft and velvety.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Cordage Hockey team challenges the Auburn team to a game of hockey to be played as soon as the rink can be secured.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—"If we win the Eastern Canada League championship we will be willing to play the Manitoba champions at any date after Saturday," said an officer of the Ottawa Hockey Club last night, regarding the acceptance of the Manitoba League challenge for the Stanley Cup, by Trustees Ross and Forsan.

The formal challenge on behalf of the champions of the Manitoba League was received by Messrs. Foran and Ross from Secretary W P. Fillmore. They replied that the challenge was accepted, and that they would order the holders of the trophy to be prepared to defend it next week or at the beginning of the following.

"We would welcome Stanley Cup games in the event of our landing the championship of the East," continued the Ottawa officer.

"Our team will be intact until March 20 or 25, and the players will be only too glad to try their skill against the Manitoba champions. They will want a few days' rest, but Portage of Maple Leafs, whichever win the Manitoba championship, will find us willing and ready for them. They cannot come East too soon for Ottawas providing we win from Wanderers."

The trustees expect to receive at any time now a challenge for the trophy from the champions of the Ontario pro. league, who will likely hail from Toronto.

The Toronto Eastern League Club will have the following players this season:

Catchers—Bailey and two others.
Pitchers—McGinley, Mitchell, Kilroy, Rudolph, Moffitt, Toren, Blachford, Applegate.
Infielders—Kelley, Schally, Frick, Phyle and another.
Outfielders — Grimshaw, Gettman, Weidensaul, Welch, Worell and two others.

Of these Toronto will get a catcher and outfielder from the Boston American Club, in connection with the Toney trade.

Before going to New York last night President McCaffery announced that Toronto had secured Southpaw Blachford from the Boston Club.

Local fans will remember Pebbles the negro who played for Parry Sound here two years ago. He is now playing for Collingwood and the Star has the following to say of his work in the game with Hamilton:—

The only redeeming feature of the burlesque were the earnest efforts of the beaten team, and the work of Pebbles, the coloured right wing of the Collingwood outfit. The chocolate youth has the reputation of being a dirty hockey player. Well, he may be, but he took a lot of abuse last night without displaying any ill-temper. He is a rough-and-ready style. He will exchange bumps with anybody, tears down the boards like a young Simoon, and when he is stopped elbows and milks around in no gentle way, but at that he is a good hockey player.

The Maple Leafs challenge the Canadian Canoe Company to a game of hockey to be played at the Knox rink.

• • • •

The Ottawa Journal strikes a true note in the following: "Half the dirty work in hockey to-day is due to individuals who urge their own team on by such gentle remarks as 'Chop his head off,' 'Cut him down,' 'Get after him,' and numerous other not fit to print. These alleged sports should be muzzled, and made behave themselves at games, or else made an example of. They annoy all decent people at the match with their loud bellowing, and if they acted in the same manner on the streets would be taken to the lockup for creating a disturbance. Why shouldn't the same law be enforced at hockey games."

MONARCHY APPARENTLY IN PERIL

Violent Political Struggle Predicted in Near Future For Portugal.

LEADERS ARE DISCREDITED

King is Being Led by His Late Father's Enemies—Republic May Be Set Up—Present Tranquility Prelude to Troublous Times — Series of Popular Uprisings Expected—Dictatorship Sponged Out.

Lisbon, Feb. 26.—Whether or not a republic is soon to supplant the monarchy in Portugal, it is practically the unanimous opinion here that the near future will witness a violent political struggle, in which the life of the monarchy may be at stake. The comparative tranquility since the assassination is simply a breathing spell. The masses of the people in the country are ignorant and have hitherto been entirely indifferent to the political battles which have convulsed the capital. Lisbon, for political purposes, is Portugal, and the Republicans are confident that the influence of the capital, which they assert is most unanimously Republican, will sound the knell of the monarchy.

Disinterested opinion, however, does not consider Portugal ripe for a republic. It believes, in fact, that the country under a popular regime in the present backward state of the masses would become a prey to the ambitions of politicians, and, like the Central American republics, would be without stability, and probably witness a series of popular uprisings and dictatorships Nevertheless the fear exists in these quarters that the monarchy is doomed.

The young King, Manuel, has yielded to the enemies of his father and Franco. They have persuaded him to sponge out the dictatorship and to begin as a strictly legislative sovereign, but above all to place himself in their hands. Under the present circumstances the course of the King is most dangerous, as he had turned the throne over to the leaders of the two discredited old parties — men whose past prevents them from meeting their adversaries in the open field of political discussion, and who the people will insist must be disciplined.

JUDGE MULCTED JURY.

They Tossed Coin In Order to Arrive at Verdict.

New York, Feb. 26.—Justice Guy in the New York Supreme Court set aside the verdict of a jury yesterday and fined twelve jurymen $50 each for deciding the verdict by the flip of a coin. The case was a suit brought against the New York City Railway Co. for damages in causing the death of a child.

The jury brought in a verdict in favor of the railway company. The evidence in the case seemed to Justice Guy to be so much apart from the verdict that he asked the foreman of the jury how such a verdict had been arrived at. The foreman told the justice that they had agreed on their finding by the toss of a coin. The justice then said to the jurors that they had violated their oaths and committed contempt of court. He imposed the fine and ordered their names stricken from the jury list.

One of the jurymen, explaining the verdict, said that the jury was hopelessly divided, and that one of its members had $6,000 in his pocket to close a business deal and was anxious to attend to his business.

A News Agent's Protest.

London, Feb. 26.—The Times, replying to the editor of The Canadian Bookseller, who commented on a letter from a news agent, who complained because British publishers send their publications to Canadian subscribers direct, says that every measure for cheapening production and delivery must create hardship for some one, and that the news agent's argument is akin to that of operators who protested against the introduction of machinery.

Is 105 Years Old.

Quebec, Feb. 26.—One hundred and five years old and still enjoying good health, Mme. Emilie Voisine, widow of the late Antoine Tremblay, one of the pioneers of the parish of Hebertville, Lake St. John district, may with all likelihood lay claim to being the oldest woman in the Province of Quebec. She was born at St. Denis, County of Kamouraska, in June, 1803.

Three Perished In Flames.

Brainard, Minn., Feb. 26.—Despatches to the Minneapolis and International Railroad offices bring news that three persons, a servant girl, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Owens, and a brother of Mrs. Owens, perished Monday night in a fire in a store building at Briers, a town near here. Mr. and Mrs. Owens were badly burned.

Marconi Hopeful.

London, Feb. 26.—Signor Marconi, in the course of a lengthy address to the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce on "Telegraphy Through Space and Some of Its Commercial Applications," said in about four months, when the latest apparatus was installed, they would be able to deal with at least 20,000 words a day.

Rush to Siberia.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—The transmigration to Siberia this year is expected to assume unprecedented proportions. The colonization department are preparing to cope with a rush of 180,000 home-seekers.

OBITUARY

JOHN ANDERSON

There passed away in East City at 9.30 to-day in the person of Mr. John Anderson one of the oldest residents of Peterborough in his eightieth year. The deceased gentleman was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1828 and removed to Canada when a boy, in 1836, settling with his parents in the township of Seymour in the County of Northumberland. He removed to Peterborough about fifty years ago where he has resided ever since. His wife and ten children survive. They are John C., Chas. E., Miss Lucy, Miss Susie, and Mrs. W G. Robertson, Peterborough; Bruce, and Mrs. Decker, Oxbow, Sask.; Mrs. Davidson, Aismeda, Sask.; Wm. H. and Jane, of Bobcaygeon.

In religion the deceased was a member of St. Andrew's church and in politics was a Liberal. Mr. Anderson was one of Peterborough's most respected citizens and was highly esteemed by those who knew him intimately for his sterling qualities and uprightness of character. During his whole residence here Mr. Anderson was connected with the Dickson Company, which regarded him as deserving of the most implicit confidence.

For some years Mr. Anderson represented the then village of Ashburnham in the municipal council.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 522 Rogers street, on Friday, Feb. 28th at 2.30 p.m. to Little Lake Cemetery.

ZENAS HENRY WARD

At Nicholls Hospital yesterday afternoon Zenas Henry Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ward, of Otonabee, passed away after a short illness. He came to the city from Otonabee, but was not feeling very well and on the 14th of Feb. he was ordered to the hospital by the doctor. He was suffering from dropsy and his condition never improved and he passed away quietly yesterday afternoon.

The deceased gentleman was 20 years and two months of age. He was born and brought up in Clark township and went to Otonabee some time ago with his parents. He leaves behind him, besides his mother and father, two sisters Bertha and Mabel and two brothers, Edwin and George.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence in Otonabee to Little Lake Cemetery.

The funeral will be held from the residence of her brother, William street, Lindsay.

THE GAME SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

"Caritas" Urges a Large Attendance at Press Contest.

Dear Sir,—I appeal for a large attendance at the Examiner-Review, alleged hockey match to-morrow night. There is a chance for a double exercise of charity, first, in contributing to the funds of the Children's Aid Society. Secondly, it will require the exercise of the most supreme charity to regard the grotesque gambols of the two teams as the article called hockey.

THE HEINTZMAN CO'S PETERBORO' WAREROOMS

The New Showrooms Already Well Stocked With Pianos and Organs—With Mr. Fred Bannister As Manager.

The (Old) Heintzman Piano Company, of Toronto, have opened up handsome warerooms in the new Lendrum block, No. 174 Charlotte street. The new premises are admirably adapted for piano show rooms — the prism lights in the front windows lighting up the interior with a bright, soft light, and the rich metallics ceiling and oak-grained wood work enhancing the effect. Already the company have shipped in eleven of their high-grade pianos and organs, some having already been disposed of. Mr. Fred Bannister, from the Toronto staff, is the Peterborough manager.

TRAINS DELAYED TO-DAY BY BIG SNOWSTORM

The C.P.R. midnight express passed through the city this morning at 15 minutes to 5.

Belleville Train Stuck

The G.T.R. Belleville train arrived in the city at 10.30 this morning with two engines. They were packed with snow and had every appearance of a hard fight in the snow. It was learned that at Corbeyville on the way from Peterborough this train was delayed several hours, having become fast in a drift. Another engine from Belleville had to be sent to draw it out again. The train started about 11 o'clock for Lakefield.

The train from Lindsay arrived at the station almost on time, but the train from Port Hope was reported very late.

The C.P.R. line was cleared about ten o'clock without much difficulty. The local which was stalled here followed a snowplough going west shortly after ten o'clock. The early trains which were reported blocked between here and Toronto could them proceed on their way. The noon train was only about an hour late.

Trouble on G. T.R.

The noon train from Lindsay was also an hour late but there was a blockade reported on the Port Hope division near Garden Hill. The morning train had not arrived in the city at two o'clock this afternoon, the snow that drifted the line not being removed.

JUSTICE CLEMENT IS SEVERE.

Takes British Columbia Sharply to Task About Natal Act.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 26.—Something of a sensation was occasioned yesterday by the outspoken manner in which Justice Clement arraigned the Provincial Government for disloyalty, treason and unCanadianism in connection with the recently enacted Natal Act, directed at the exclusion of Japanese.

The unusual comment was embodied in his lordship's judgment in the full court, dismissing an appeal from the chief justice's decision that the act is ultra vires of the Legislature. Justices Irving and Morrison concurring with Justice Clement. After sketching the relative jurisdictions of Dominion and provinces, Justice Clement said:

"No doubt honest differences may exist as to where the line is drawn by the B.N.A. Act, or as to which side of the line a particular matter may fall upon, but to suggest doubt where no real doubt exists, and particularly as to matters apt to inflame, is not to be commended. Such a matter we have here. This matter of Japanese immigration has been dealt with properly, that is to say, constitutionally, by the Parliament of Canada, and I must say it smacks strongly of disloyalty to our settled form of Government, when the authorities of one province undertake to override and render abortive the will of the people of Canada."

Priest Was a "Marked Man."

Denver, Col., Feb. 26.—Most of the priests believe that Father Leo Heinrichs, who was murdered by an Italian anarchist while giving communion in St. Elizabeth's Church here, on Sunday last, was a marked man from the time he arrived in town last August, or even before. The dead priest was stabbed previously in Paterson, N.J., and it is believed that he may have incurred the enmity of the anarchists there.

Seeding in Alberta.

MacLeod, Alta., Feb. 26.—Several farmers have been discing for several days and have a portion of their land ready for the seed.

J. K. Lee, residing four miles south of the town, has seeded about 20 acres with wheat. Should the present weather continue there will be a lot of seed in the ground by March 1.

Health and Vitality for old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lessened. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy, which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

MORE ASSASSINATIONS EXPECTED

"I Am Next For Death," Says Father Dunne of Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—"A murder will be committed in Chicago within a month similar to the Denver assassination, where the Rev. Father Leo Heinrichs was shot down while administering holy communion in St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic Church," asserted Chancellor Dunne, of the Chicago archdiocese, last night. "I am positive that anarchists, anti-clericals, or whatever they call themselves, have prepared lists of priests and clergy to be killed, and am certain that some Chicago man has been marked," he said. "I am the most logical man for assassination, and although I have thousands of friends in the Italian colony, I also have many bitter enemies."

Father Dunne said if he was not chosen to be murdered the other candidates would be either Archbishop Quigle, the Very Rev. F. S. Angelhaed, of the Church of the Assumption, or the Rev. Father Francis Gordon, Provincial of the Church of Resurrectionists.

Detectives Bernacchi and Longobardi reported to Chancellor Dunne at the chancellery office and told him they were instructed to serve as his personal body-guard.

THE PAST CHANCELLOR'S JEWEL

Mr. C. M. Blewett the Recipient From Marathon Lodge, K. of P.

The regular meeting of the Marathon Lodge, Knights of Pythias last night was featured by a presentation to Bro. C. M. Blewett the Past Chancellor of the Lodge. Mr. Blewett was presented with a Past Chancellor's jewel, suitably inscribed, while a message was read from the Grand Lodge expressing appreciation of Mr. Blewett's services on behalf of the lodge, during his connection with Pythianism. Chancellor Commander Dr. Middleton made the presentation and Bro. G K Martin read the statement from the Grand Lodge. Bro. Blewett made a suitable reply.

At last night's meeting several new members were initiated. The membership of the lodge is steadily on the increase and the outlook for Pythianism in Peterborough is said to be very encouraging.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH MINISTER DEAD

The Rev. Edward Roberts Passes Away in Cobourg Yesterday

Cobourg, Feb. 26.—(Special.) — Rev. Edward Roberts, a prominent minister of the Methodist Church, died suddenly at his residence here to-day. Mr. Roberts entered the ministry in 1858 and was superannuated in 1900. He occupied many important charges, including Belleville, Peterborough, and Cobourg, his last pastorate being Osgoode. He took an active part in the union of the Methodist bodies in 1883 and 1884. He was elected president of the Bay of Quinte Conference in 1892. He is survived by his widow and two sons, one at Toronto, and Thomas of Welcome, and four daughters.

The Rev. Mr. Roberts was pastor of the old Bible Christian Church, now occupied in renewed form by the Murray Street Baptists. He came to Peterborough in 1858 and spent about three years here at that time. He came to Peterborough later and spent a couple of years in the same church. The funeral will be held to-morrow at 2 o'clock in Cobourg.

ALLIANCE STANDS FIRM FOR REPEAL

The Ballot Box Will Tell, They Declare, and Reaffirm Their Position

Toronto, Feb. 27—(Special) — The Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance yesterday afternoon, after having waited upon the Premier and the Provincial Secretary in the morning, and having discussed the interview with impressions varying considerably between hope and despair of obtaining from the Government what was desired, reaffirmed by unanimous standing vote, its position demanding repeal of the three-fifths clause as unfair and promising that the results would be found in the ballot box.

Quebec Bridge Collapse Found To Be Caused By A Defect In The Design

Examiner Special:

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—It is understood that the findings of the Royal Commission on the Quebec bridge collapse show, that the collapse was not due to any defect in material or construction, but to a defect in the design. It will be before Parliament next week. General details of the construction were worked out with the greatest of care, but in the mass of design, the great basic point, namely, the making of proper provision for the maximum strain upon the great trial span across the river was omitted, in an undertaking greater than ever before attempted in bridge construction, and it appears the engineers failed to recognize that usual working formulas as to weight and strain were not applicable without considerable modification in this instance. No flaw was found in any of the material or in the individual members supplied by the Phoenix Company.

Engineers believe that defects of present design can be remedied and the bridge finally constructed. The Commission makes no judicial finding re responsibility of Phoenix Bridge Company for the collapse beyond the statements outlined above. The responsibility as to financial loss will have to be settled.

A Peculiar Threat Made Against A Local Woman

Signed "Chief Police," But Chief Roszel Didn't Write It—Hand-Writing Looks Familiar.

TO BE AN INVESTIGATION

There is something of a mystery to be unravelled by the Chief of Police in the tracing of the writer of an anonymous letter received by a local woman. The letter was signed "Chief Police," but, of course, Chief Roszel did not do the writing as the character of the epistle will easily indicate. It was brought into the station yesterday about noon by a woman named Mrs. Jas. Jellings, and it had evidently given her considerable trouble. The letter reads as follows:

[Miss Mary Young, — Three complaints has reached me of your staying at 861 Water street, and seen you and a girl driving Sunday last with Mr. Loacy, a married man of bad reputation. I give you three days to leave 861 Water street, and I am hunting the other girl Remember your oath against your faith. It's standing against you yet. Leave the house 861 Water street, and Mr. Loacy and I will leave you alone.

CHIEF POLICE.

It might be stated that the Mr. "Loacy" referred to in the above is a brother of Mrs. Jellings. The Miss Young, to whom the letter was written, is a respectable lady, and Mrs. Jellings, to use her own words, is "a decent woman who works for her living and no disgrace in that." She said that no conveyance had stopped at her house in fourteen years.

Chief Roszel, after reading the letter, said that of course he did not write any such letter and will try to find out who has taken the unwarrantable liberty of sending such an epistle signed "Chief of Police." Mrs. Jellings claimed to know the handwriting of the letter and will procure another sample of the writing of the man she suspects.

Stranger Ran Away When Wm. Kennedy Was Injured

Saw Him Meet With Injury but He Took to His Heels—Mr. Kennedy Taken to Hospital

DRIVING ON LOAD OF HAY

Mr. Wm. Kennedy, who is employed by Mr. J H Garbutt, of Smith, has returned to his work after a short confinement in the Nicholls Hospital due to injuries received last week. Mr. Kennedy was driving a load of hay on Charlotte street when a stranger got on for a ride. Shortly afterwards Mr. Kennedy began to slip off the hay and in falling, struck a sharp upright stake. His stomach came in contact with the sharp end and Mr. Kennedy's escape from perhaps fatal injury was a very narrow one. As it was he suffered injuries which at the time were considered serious.

The man who was with Mr. Kennedy on the hay slipped to the ground and ran away for some unaccountable reason. Mr. Kennedy was given other assistance and was taken to the hospital where he remained for four days.

Crouter Case Aired In The Police Court This Morning

Many Witnesses Testify to Nature of House—Much Drinking and Fighting—P.C. Newhall Testifies

ALL THREE FOUND GUILTY

The case of Mr. and Mrs. Crowter of Carlyle street, East City, charged with keeping a house of ill-repute, was aired in the police court this morning. The keenest interest prevailed amongst a certain element of the city, and fifteen minutes before the court opened the street was lined with men eagerly waiting for the doors to open. At 10 o'clock P. C. Newhall opened the door and there was a big scramble upstairs to the court-room to secure front seats. Mr. and Mrs. Crouter and Queenie Grant occupied the prisoner's box and did not look any the worse for their week in jail. Elton Yorke was also in court. Mr. G. Gordon of O'Connell and Gordon appeared for the prisoners. The first charge was brought against Mr. and Mrs Crouter for keeping a house of ill-fame.

The Witnesses

Wesley Howell was first called and said he knew the Crouters. His Worship asked him what sort of a house he had heard it to be, and the witness apparently tried to evade the question.

"I will send you down to the lock-up if you don't answer," said His Worship.

"Well, I have heard about them since they moved to Ashburnham," said the witness

He said he had visited the house in East City two or three times, and told of several men and women he met at that house. He had seen Italians there, but did not know their names. One Sunday he was there and had taken some liquor with him and they all had a drink. On a Friday night his wife had a fight with one of the inmates of the house in front of the postoffice about him going to that house.

Emmett Cain then went into the box. Mr. Gordon said he did not think the man should give evidence.

"I think he ought to be sent downstairs till this afternoon to sober up," said the Chief.

"Well, I will let him give evidence," said the magistrate.

Witness said he knew the Crouters and their general reputation was respectable so far as he knew. He had known them for some years and had visited them about two dozen times. He had visited the Ashburnham house twice and had only seen Mr. and Mrs. Crouter. He then stated that he had seen another man there.

The Chief though, from the manner of the witness, that the witness should be taken to the cells, and it took three policemen to eject him from the court. Cain kicked around and tried hard to stay in court, but was taken below.

An Italian witness said he had stayed there all night twice and knew the house to be of ill-repute.

Another Italian witness, Antonio Lowasso, said he knew the prisoners and stated he used to board there, but had never heard anything bad about the house. One morning while he was going away Crouter and his wife had a fight.

Chas. Stevens said he lived in East City and knew the Crouters. He said he had heard nothing about the house except that drinking went on there. He had visited the Crouter home, but had seen nothing wrong.

Milton Chambers said he was acquainted with the Crouters and had called on them several times with the the young lady he kept company with During his visits he had never seen anything wrong occur, and had never heard anything bad about the house.

Officer's Evidence

The evidence of P. C. Newhall was then taken. He stated that he knew the Crouters and that they have lived at 219 Carlyle street since January 4. He had watched the place and had frequently seen girls of ill-repute, accompanied by several of the witnesses, go into the house. He claimed that drinking and fighting went on in all parts of the house. He had seen girls smoking cigarettes, with their feet up on the table, and men sitting around drinking. He told of having followed Queenie Grant, and hearing the bad language she used. One evening he heard a disturbance going on between Mrs. Crouter and Yorke. He telephoned for assistance and guided the house. He found Crouter and the son drunk, and the place was in general disorder.

In cross-questioning P. C. Newhall, Mr. Gordon tried to prove that the officer had used "sweat box" methods to extract evidence from Wesley Crouter when he went back to the house after the arrest.

The case was adjourned until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Found Guilty

At this afternoon's session of the police court no evidence was taken. His Worship allowed Elton Yorke to go and asked him to discontinue his bad habits. Mr. and Mrs. Crouter and Queenie Grant were found guilty and the case was left over until Saturday for judgment.

The crowd at this afternoon's court was larger than that of this morning. At 2 o'clock the door was opened and the crowd outside became a struggling mass of humanity, pushing and shouting, trying to squeeze in the door. Some of the men tried to tear away the other door but their efforts were in vain. When the Magistrate gave his decision he said he was sorry to disappoint such an intelligent audience. The prisoner did not seem at all moved by the decision.

His Worship allowed Cain, the intoxicated witness who was confined to the cells, to go free as soon as he was sober.

We teach everything from measuring to finish in the correct making of ladies and childrens garments and guarantee perfect satisfaction. Why spend your time at a dress makers shop, where you do nothing but hem, sew on hooks and eyes, overcast and then after you have served months there what do you know about cutting. You can come and try for a few days and if course is not what we have advertised it to be you have the privilage to stop, as there is no pay in advance you certainly would not lose any time by trying. ABORTIVE AUDITING.

The chairman, at a great Conservative rally in Massey Hall a few years ago, declared that Toronto was the centre of intelligence of the Province because it was the centre of Conservatism. For the same reason, possibly, it is so badly governed and always in some sort of "scrape." The centre of intelligence seems to be badly in need of reorganizing. The investigation of its Park affairs reveals a condition of things indicating that the auditing of the accounts of the Park Commission has been ineffective and perfunctory. The condition revealed in the accounts of the bad way things were, should not have escaped the eye of any auditor who was not more anxious to please his employers than to do his duty strictly. Auditors would, of course, deny that they are influenced by such considerations, but it very oten happens that the force of such a denial is weakened by the fact that investigations reveal wrongs which the auditors failed to discover. There are, however, auditors and auditors, and while some may on occasion be blind, there are others whom nothing crooked or irregular escapes. It seems to be remarkable that while the auditors of financial corporations seldom fail to make effective audits, the auditing of civic or semi-civic accounts seems to be very often perfunctorily and imperfectly done.

THE SAME HERE.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster has blossomed out as a censor of political morals. In the House he complained eloquently and bitterly—George Eulas is always bitter in speech, as if he chewed quassia wood — of the interference of two employees of the Intercolonial Railway in the Nova Scotia elections. He was not satisfied that Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, had wired "instructions to Government employees to limit their interest in politics to voting as they choose to do," but he kept up his wail—he had, of course, a duty to the higher political morality, and must, perforce, discharge it. Mr. Foster did not go beyond his duty in calling attention to the matter, but does he go to the full extent of his duty? He might, in his desire to purify public life, have gone on to point out the evil of a trustee speculating, a la wildcat, with the funds of widows and orphans, and incurring the risk of putting them to loss. If, according to Mr. Foster's high ideals, it is a capital offence for Government officials to take part in political campaigns, he needn't confine himself to the Intercolonial Railway for objects of animadversion. He might give some attention to West Peterborough. He might found an improving homily upon the action of a Provincial Government official, who, upon the authority of his local fellow-Conservatives, took a most active part in the dark events which played their part in the summoning of the country delegates to the celebrated Conservative Convention, which resulted in a nomination which has made a gaping rift in the local Conservative lute. A man of Mr. Foster's inflexible political integrity could not admit the excuse that the official was the only man that could be trusted with the dark work of the disbursement of a fund of $160 for the payment of the expenses of delegates could only be intrusted to a safe man, for whose fidelity a Government office stood sponsor—could not, as was at first proposed, be entrusted to a man who was disloyal enough to accept a loan of five dollars from a Grit neighbour. The technical point, however, may be raised that the official mentioned is innocent because his work in summoning delegates that were not regularly appointed by their peers, and the resulting unconstitutional convention, were not politics, merely a political rehearsal. It certainly may be admitted that it wasn't legitimate politics, even from a party point of view, but, with a sensitive soul like Mr. Foster, the very appearance of evil must be avoided, and the action of the official mentioned no doubt comes within the ex-minister's censure. Let us hear from him.

PREVENTION OF FIRES.

We are apt to regard the terrible waste of property by fires with, if not complacence, yet with a certain degree of indifference, because, perhaps, the loss falls largely upon insurance companies, popularly regarded as entities without souls and well able to stand the draw upon their resources. But a little reflection shows that it is the people who actually pay the shot; the money of insurance companies represents the contributions of the insured public. It is a fact of tremendous import that upon the North American Continent one hundred and fifty million dollars a year, three millions a week, have for twenty years gone up in smoke. And this rate is increasing, the January burnings for the past year amounting to $29,582,609, or at the rate of seven million dollars a week, as against the fires of January, 1906, amounting to $24,064,900, or an average of six millions a week. In view of this terrible waste, the Insurance Chronicle shows what excellent results have come from the efforts of Fire Bureaus in lessening the number of fires in the United States. Laws regulating to these organizations are operative in thirteen states and due to their exertions the number of fires of incendiary or otherwise mysterious origin has been greatly lessened. The Chronicle also points out that fires not of incendiary origin are unnecessarily frequent. It says—:

"There are fires every day in the year, most of which might have been prevented, if we were not so careless about the causes. We build carelessly. We neglect things that tend to cause fires. We ignore the conflagration hazard. Everyone thinks that our neighbours house may burn, that our neighbour is negligent. But we, ourselves do not often consider that our dwelling may burn—our factory be destroyed. Nor do we recognize the duty we owe the community or ourselves in looking after chimneys, stoves and furnaces, the disposition of our ashes and other refuse. Indeed, we are a reckless people with regard to the ever-present danger of fire."

This condition combined with the result of United States efforts to minimise incendiary and other causes seems to justify the suggestion of the Chronicle, that those in authority in Canada should make effort in the same direction.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Our good Conservative friends are so true to principle that they are willing to go to jail for it. There is a rush for the position of Governor of Oxford County Jail, vacated by the death of the veteran John Cameron.

We have all along suspected that there were great qualities in Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and have noticed that there are many eminent Conservatives who share the opinion; but it is pleasant to find a critic of Mr. Bryce's distinction speaking of "a mind so active, so powerful, so flexible, an intelligence which is capable of so quickly taking a point and covering the whole horizon it is necessary to survey, as that of your Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier."—Montreal Herald.

CONGREGATION HOLDS A MEETING

A congregational meeting took place at St. John's Church Sunday school last night to discuss several matters of importance. There was a large attendance of the members, and the meeting was very enthusiastic. The chair was occupied by Rev. Canon Davidson. Arrangements for the coming mission, to be held between the eighth and tenth of March were made and reports from the different departments of the work. A programme for the coming mission was arranged and laid before the meeting. The programme embraces several distinguished clergy and laity and the names will be published in a few days. The congregation was very enthusiastic over the coming mission and in all probability it will be successful.

The "Fellowship Tea" which is to take place in the school house on Sunday next was also discussed and arrangements made. At this tea all members of the church are earnestly requested to be present and any strangers in the city will also be welcomed.

THE WITNESS HAD TO BE LOCKED UP

Came to Court in Intoxicated Condition — Three Policemen Needed

In the Crowter case this morning one of the witnesses, Ernest Cain, appeared in court in an intoxicated condition. Mr. Gordon asked the magistrate not to accept the evidence of the witness. The chief was also in favour of the counsel and asked to have Cain committed to the cells until this afternoon. Cain said he was all right and would be able to give evidence. The magistrate allowed him to go one. After a short examination he showed signs of unfitness as a witness and the chief asked to have the man sent down stairs. Mr. Gordon thought the witness was doing admirably well, but the magistrate told the witness to go down stairs and have a sleep.

The witness, however, did not care for this and when P. C. Newhill tried to put him out of court a row began. P. C's Meharry and McGinty came to Newhill's assistance and when they got to the stairs all four fell down. Nobody was hurt and Cain was locked in the cell.

FOWLER-ROBSON CASE IN TORONTO

Judgment Given Plaintiff for $700 in the Appeal Case

Judgment was yesterday given at Osgoode Hall Toronto., in the appeal case of Fowler vs. Robson, in which judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $700, with $100 costs. The Toronto Globe says:

Fowler vs. Robson.—Judgment (B) on appeal by plaintiff from judgment of Mabee, J., at the trial at Peterborough, in so far as unfavourable to the plaintiff, in an action against the executors of May Robson, deceased, to recover the sum of $700 upon an alleged contract between the plaintiff, Margaret Fowler, the niece by marriage of the deceased, and the deceased, for the payment of that sum, in addition to a weekly payment made for board and lodging, nursing and services provided and rendered by the payment to the deceased for about two years before her decease at an advanced age. Mabee, J., held that the bargain was void for improvidence and lack of independent advice but gave judgment for plaintiff for $30, without costs, upon a quantum meruit. Plaintiff contended that the bargain was not an improvident one, and that to upset such a bargain, fraud or undue influence, or dominion exercised over the deceased, must be shown. Held that there was no evidence of any undue influence whatever, and the course that the testatrix took in making the arrangement was one which she, who was best able to judge, thought would most contribute to her comfort. The plaintiff's husband was as near to her by blood as her nieces. She did what she thought right with her own when she was in a position and had the mind to judge. She received the benefit of the transaction during her life, and there is no indication whatever that she desired to avoid it. Her executors ought not now to do in her name that which in her lifetime she would not have done.

Appeal allowed and judgment to be entered for plaintiff for $700, with $100 in full of all costs here and below. F. D. Kerr, Peterborough, for plaintiff; R. E. Wood, Peterborough, for defendants.

Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

The display consists of the following: Builder's hardware from the Peterborough Lock Company's plant; auger bits from the Rapid Tool Co.; binder twine from the Canadian Cordage Co.; shovels from the Peterborough Shovel and Tool Co., flags from Messrs. LARGELY DUE TO DERANGEMENTS OF THE LIVER, KIDNEYS AND BOWELS, WHICH ARE OVERCOME BY AGE

You do not feel so young as you used to. The joints are a bit stiff. And you have dull, heavy pains in the back and limbs, with attacks of rheumatism, it may be.

It is possible you have found out that the cause of trouble rests with the sluggish action of the kidneys, liver and bowels, but if you have not used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you have not tested the effective treatment for these conditions.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a comfort to the aged largely because of their unique combined action on the whole excretory system.

Constipation and biliousness can no longer exist when the liver is enlivened to action by the use of the great medicine.

Kidney derangements and backache likewise disappear when the kidneys are invigorated, and an occasional dose of these pills ensures the elimination of uric acid from the system.

Almost daily we hear of aged people whose pains and aches have been overcome and whose lives have been made more comfortable and more happy by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. James Simpson, Newcomb Mills, Northumberland County, Ont., writes: "This is to certify that I was sick in bed the most of the time for three years with kidney disease. I took several boxes of pills—different kinds—and a great many other kinds of patent medicines; besides that I was under treatment by four different doctors during the time, and not able to work. I began to take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and since that time have been working every day, although a man nearly 70 years of age. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me."

In every family there is need of just such a medicine as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to cure constipation, backache, biliousness, indigestion, and prevent dangerous and fatal diseases of the kidneys and bowels. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FAMOUS EXPERT TELLS

How Fat May be Removed Rapidly by a Simple Home Made Remedy Without Causing Wrinkles, Disturbing the Diet or Necessity for Exercise.

"Fat is nothing but unused energy," says a prominent physician, and the man or woman who is burdened with it can easily get rid of it if they wish. All they need is 1-2 ounce of Marmola, 3-4 ounce of Fluid Extract of Cascara Aromatic, and 3-4 ounces of Syrup Simplex; all of which they can get at any good drug store for a few cents. Then let them take one spoonful after meals and at bedtime until they are down to the weight they want to be.

This simple home receipt is far and away better than any of the patent or secret medicines, for it reduces the fat safely and harmlessly. The ingredients are, in fact, beneficial to the system, having both and purifying qualities and so help rather than distress the stomach. The remedy does not cause wrinkles, for it reduces one gradually and naturally, preserving a good outline, and, best of all, needs neither physical exercise to help it do the work, nor does it require any change in diet—one can get results and still take things easy—eating meanwhile just what, when and how he or she pleases. Be sure and get the Marmola in a sealed package, so that you get Marmola and not a substitute.

REPEAL OF THREE-FIFTHS.

Premier Whitney Offers Little Hope to Temperance Alliance.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Replying to the request of a deputation of about a thousand delegates of the Ontario Alliance, that the three-fifths clause in local option voting be repealed, Premier Whitney yesterday declined to make any promise. It was really a challenge on the part of the Alliance, a resolution having been adopted "that the delegates to this convention use the franchise for the repeal of the three-fifths clause in reference to local option contests."

The Premier, after listening to addresses, said: "It is altogether possible that we may fail in many respects because we are mortal, but it is our duty to carefully consider a public matter. But, when we have considered it, is it not our duty to stand by it? Is it our duty to be moved by threats? Is it our duty to be moved by cajolment? Whatever else we may be, let me tell you this: As long as this present Government exists, as long as it has the breath of life in it, it will act upon its honest convictions, and we are prepared to take the consequences which our fellow-citizens may visit upon us."

POLICE SEIZE WEAPONS.

Italians Are Being Taken In Hand at Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The latest news concerning the recent Italian tragedies is as follows: Vitto Miccoli, the alleged murderer of Antonio Di Luca, has not yet been arrested, and detectives are searching for him in the United States. Pasquale Pelegrine admits that he gave Miccoli $5 to enable him to leave town, and Chief Carpenter yesterday took out a warrent against him for assisting the escape.

Michael Totoro, who shot his wife, has been liberated on personal bail of $2,000, and two bonds of $1,000 each. He attended his wife's funeral.

Chief Carpenter and Chief McCaskill have approached the judges with a view to obtaining power to search on the street any Italian suspected of having weapons, and the matter is to be brought under the notice of the Government. Pending the Government's decision, Chief McCaskill searched a number of Italians and got revolvers, stilettos, razors and dirks.

Who Is Baby John?

Oakland, Cal., Feb. 27.—"Baby John" Martin, whose confession has implicated his mother, Mrs. Isabella Martin, in the alleged dynamiting of the home of Judge Ogden, in Oakland, and arson in Weaverville, where she is confined to jail, was brought to Oakland yesterday and placed in charge of the matron at the city prison. The police hope to prove that "Baby John" is not a son of either Mrs. Martin or of the Princess de Chimay, (formerly Clara Ward, of Detroit), and they will try to discover the true parentage of the child.

George Street Methodist Church Hold Annual Meeting

Reports Show The Excellent Financial Condition Of The Church And The Flourishing State Of All The Societies----Large Number Was Present---Splendid Programme Rendered And Refreshments Served.

The annual meeting of the congregation of the George Street Methodist Church took place last night in the Sunday school. The room was crowded with the members of the church, and a spirit of enthusiasm reigned throughout the entire evening.

The pastor, Rev. E. A. Pearson, occupied the chair and after opening the meeting, delivered a short but encouraging address. He was pleased to see the kind, brotherly feeling which existed among the members of that church. He had noticed since his arrival the charitable manner in which the members had given up their pews to strangers. In closing he asked the members of the church to help in every possible way to encourage the noble work being achieved by the choir.

These two cities produce the finest dress fabrics in the world, each manufacturing a distinct and separate style of cloth. The main pattern feature for Spring and Summer '08 is the beautiful stripe effect ; never before has there been such pronounced tendency to any one pattern. There are also a great many plain cloths shown, such as Panamas, Voiles, Eoliennes, Armures, Corde de Soie, etc., in shades of Brown, Tan, Blue, Green and Grey. We also show some very nice light Tweed effects for the Summer Costume. Our prices are as ever consistent with true value from the lowest to highest grade goods. The suits this season are of a distinctively catchy style, made in tight-fitting 22 and 24 inch coats, also the new butterfly effect, and the smart mannish Prince chap style. In colors the Grey, Navy, Brown, Green and Leather shades are most prominent, and are shown in the pretty stripe effect so popular this spring. Suits range in price from—

Graceful Corseting

D and A—the embodiment of grace and beauty, with pliancy and comfort a strong feature.

The pose of the figure has a great deal to do with the appearance of a costume. With poorly fitted corsets there can be nothing but an unattractive deformed pose, and with the result that an otherwise elegant costume is oft times made an ill fitting excuse.

The D and A Corsets are the result of Art, Genius and Skill ; they will embellish and beautify the wearer—give comfort and style alike. D and A Corsets are made in Canada, and are the celebrated corsets of excellence, made in all the latest models to suit any form. All prices from—

50c to $4.00

ESPECIALLY NOTE the New Form Training Corset for Stout Women. This corset gives grace and style to all stout figures without sacrificing ease and comfort. A perfectly hygiene garment, filling all the requirements of a Form Training Corset—a Corset without a Rival.

Handsome Skirts

The Favored Dress Skirt

The much favored Dress Skirt has gained a prominent place in the women's wardrobe, and is not a minor part of it either. Our usual elegant range this season far surpasses any previous year, both in style and finish. Among the more pronounced styles are the gore and circular effects—17, 20 and 22 gore — also pleated effects. They are made with folds, designs and silk trimmings in Chiffon, Panamas, Voiles, fine Serges and Venetians. All the newest styles of cut and trim are found here at prices from

$8.00 to $17.00

DOGS THAT SHOULD BE POISONED

Driver Says That The Poison Is Not Given To The Right Dogs.

While almost daily reports are received of the poisoning of dogs and the regret of the owners on losing their pets, there is the other side of the story which is seldom mentioned. Perhaps the inoffensive dogs are those which get the poison, but there are so many mongrel curs which are worse than a nuisance that their destruction would be a public benefit. A gentleman this morning said he was driving on George street, near Perry street, when a large dog ran out at his cutter and jumped at him, catching p.m. His daughter, who sat on his knee, had to move from side to side as the big brute tried to snap at her. This is only one story, but there are new ones every day, only proving that many of the dogs in the city are a menace to pedestrians and drivers.

PEDESTRIANS RIGHTS ON CROSSINGS

The By-Law Governing Drivers in This Respect—About Smoking in Stables

In 16 the Examiner there has been from time to time references made to fast and reckless driving on Peterborough streets which has endangered the lives of pedestrians on the crossings. There is a bylaw on the statutes which expressly says that drivers must draw up on the crossings. The bylaw is No. 395, passed July 22nd, 1859.

Section 5 of the bylaw says, in part, "Every person riding or driving along any public street or thoroughfare in the town of Peterborough shall slacken his speed in approaching any crossing for foot passengers, upon which any person may be crossing such public street or thoroughfare."

This bylaw also contains a few points that might well be known to citizens and concerning which, probably many persons are ignorant. For instance the bylaw says, "No horse shall be trained on any of the streets of Peterborough. This section of the bylaw is often broken, possibly through ignorance. Again, as regards the use of sleighs drawn by horses, the bylaw says that "At least two bells must be attached to the horse or sleigh. Another section. No. 34, says, "No person shall make or have in possession any lighted pipe or cigar in any stable, cabinet maker's shop, carpenter's shop or other shop or building where straw, shavings or other combustible material may be,"

Burke Plays His Last Card And Sentence Is Postponed

Pronounced Guilty By His Honour Judge Weller---By a Clever Stroke He Gains Time And Offers New Evidence, Which Will Be Investigated---Says He Was At Norwood.

Charles Burke played his last card yesterday afternoon and although pronounced guilty he did not receive sentence. His last stand, whether the manufacture of his imagination or a real fact, was made after His Honour Judge Weller had thoroughly reviewed the case and pronounced the prisoner guilty. Of all the large crowd that filled the County Council Chamber to its utmost and gathered in the doorways, Burke was probably the only one who was not in sympathy with His Honour's decision. Before sentence was to be passed Burke was asked if he had anything to say.

His Alibi

The prisoner apparently had been preparing for this opportunity for he immediately began to try to clear himself.

"This lady, (Mrs. Kidd) says that I was at her house at ten o'clock that morning. It you will look at the register in King's Hotel, Norwood you will find that I was there that morning. Between half past nine and ten o'clock I caught a train and went right through to Toronto."

Prisoner was quite voluble in explaining his presence at Norwood. His Honour wanted to know why Burke had not made these statements at his trial on Saturday morning instead of waiting until the very last moment.

"You heard Mrs. Kidd and her daughter give their evidence and yet when you were giving your own testimony you never mentioned Norwood."

"Well, Judge," the prisoner replied, "when a man is questioned and badgered the way I was he cannot think of everything."

"A man of your experience ought to know better," His Honour said. "I noticed that by the careful selection of words in the letter you wrote me. It showed that you had received considerable education and this appears to be a rather clever stroke."

Appears to Sympathy

Burke knowing that he had played his last card at the psychological moment changed his tactics for a reinforcement. He acted the innocent man wrongly accused.

"When you've sentenced me Judge, you can find out afterwards for curiosity's sake that I was at the King's Hotel on that morning. I registered as Charles Bancroft."

"I never do anything for curiosity in a case like this," answered His Honour. "If I can find you innocent it is my duty to do so. In any case, how would I know that you were the man? You did not sign your own name."

"Get the clerk he would know. I'm sure. He would swear that I was the man."

His Honour explained that the law does not recognize the testimony of a man like Burke, particularly when he is trying to clear himself.

Unmoved by this Burke continued. "When I was at the Norwood station, I was walking along the platform when I overheard a man say to the operator, "I wonder who that fellow is and what he wants around here?" and I think that man at the station would recognize me."

His Honour paid no heed to this, instead he said slowly : "I cannot understand why you have delayed telling this story until this late hour. You heard all the evidence against you and yet you said not a word about being in Norwood."

Judgment Unaltered

Burke went on to tell how he was in Maberly the night before, "a place a stranger never visits on Sunday once in five years," but his words did not apparently change the court's judgment.

"I cannot alter my finding," was the simple reply His Honour made.

Burke tried to explain that he did no tknow about Mrs. Kidd's evidence when he was in the box, but the Judge quickly reminded him that he had heard everything that had been said concerning his case.

Would pay Their Fares

Burke was not going to back down from the stand he had taken.

"The Crown has my money or I would have paid the fares of those Toronto people and brought them here, but Mr. Cochrane has my money."

The money he spoke of was evidently that which he stole from Purser's store. His Honour was slightly surprised at the prisoner's remembrance of his duty to the railway companies. He reminded Burke that he had been stealing rides during the past decade and it was strange that his sense of honour had so suddenly awakened.

Burke caused a laugh among the spectators when he said that he had paid his way ALL last September and whenever he had the money. He then returned to the Norwood story and said the proprietor of the livery stable would know him as he had been there about 8 o'clock.

Prisoner Affects Memory

His Honour still could not discover a reason for the prisoner delaying this twelfth hour tale.

"Judge, if you had done as much time in prison as I have," Burke explained, "you would know how it affects your memory. My memory often slips and I forget things and that is the reason for my forgetting this part."

"If I had spent your years in prison I would not be living to-day." His Honour laconically replied.

Burke had reached the end of his tether and had nothing more to say. He talked of what would be found out after he was sentenced and played to the gallery as the martyr. His coup was carried out in a skilful manner, his cleverness being worthier of a better cause. Of course every point was designed for effect but unless his story is substantiated the letter he will certainly have gained nothing. He might have added in his evidence that his writing could be compared with that of Charles Bancroft in the register.

Inquiries to be Made

His Honour stated that he would have inquiries made to ascertain the truth of the prisoner's statements and to give him the benefit of every doubt. In the meantime no sentence would be given but the Judge reminded Burke that the penalty for his offence was a heavy one and the prisoner agreed saying that it was deserving of the limit of the law.

Mr. R. E. Wood was present for the prosecution and Mr. G. N. Gorman for the prisoner.

The Judge's Summary

After the court opened His Honour carefully reviewed the case from both sides and in every detail. He believed the testimony of Mrs. Kidd and her daughter, Miss Northey, George Taylor, Miss Huggins and Miss Purser.

For the defence the evidence of Burke was not accepted owing to his notoriously bad record. The story told by Wm. Kimball, the blind man, who came from Toronto to attend the trial last Saturday, was also shown to be false and His Honour considered that the story was simply a manufacture and Kimball had been sent for the purpose of exciting sympathy by his affliction.

Jack Carey, a friend of Burke's wrote a letter which the Judge received on the morning of the trial last Saturday. He did not mention Kimball at all and a statement in the letter in contradictory to one which Kimball made in his evidence. Carey offers no testimonials as to his character and also delays writing until the last moment.

After he had been pronounced guilty Burke was given the opportunity to speak in his own behalf.

What shall we do to be saved? was the title of one of Robert Ingersoll's lectures. People of faith and people of no faith flocked to hear it. RAILWAY TAXATION IS TALKED OF Mr. Bowyer Wishes to See Higher Tax Imposed.

HON. MR. MATHESON REPLIES

Discussion on Bill to Supplement Crown Revenues — Ontario Should Follow Example of the United States — Railways Treated Too Lightly Here, Says Bowyer—Several Bills Advanced.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—The ready response of Hon. A. J. Matheson to an urgent appeal to consider the question of railway taxation demonstrated in the Legislature yesterday the willingness of the Provincial Government to examine both sides of every question. While the Minister held to his view that it would be unwise to take any radical step suddenly at the present time he invited Mr. P. H. Bowyer (East Kent), who brought forward the question in a vigorous address, to confer with him and gave assurance of the fullest Government consideration.

In these days of subservient partyism in public life a member who has the stamina to differ frankly and openly with his leaders always creates a stir. Consequently the House, which had been more or less sleepily plodding through the order paper, suddenly sat up and began to take notice when Mr. Bowyer unexpectedly proceeded to stir the Government up on the question. The member for East Kent holds advanced views upon this, as upon other questions and he told his leaders he expected from them an increasing of the municipal tax from railways. Mr. Bowyer's remarks were punctuated by repeated applause, and the Provincial Treasurer congratulated him at the close.

It was during the discussion on the Government measure to amend the Supplementary Revenues Act that Mr. Bowyer created his mild sensation.

"I would like to learn," said he, "the Government's intentions on the question of railway taxation, and to urge upon it the advisability of increasing it to a sum more adequate and commensurate with the assessment of the farmers. I am ready," he continued, "to give the Government every credit for what it has done. It was a material advance in the right direction. But last year I was given reason to hope that it would go further. Is this hope to be realized?

"The Dominion Government has already paid to the railways in subsidies something like $181,000,000, besides some 40,000,000 acres of the public domain. Of this sum Ontario's share will reach $14,000,000. This province has done much for the railways. What has it secured in return?

"The present Provincial Government has done something—something material—and I give them credit therefor. But I was given to understand that what had been done was not a finality and I hope for additional good works. (Applause.)

"In Ontario to-day the railways do not pay their just share of taxation. I know they claim that this is a hard year, but the farmers had a hard summer, yet they do not escape their just share of taxation on that account.

"Throughout this province the railways only pay, in both municipal and provincial taxes, $100 per mile. In Michigan they pay $400; in Ohio, $478; in New Jersey, $1,000 and in Massachusetts, $1,500. What is the return? In Ontario we pay a three cent passenger rate; in the States they only pay two. Besides the railways give the farmers a better freight rate on the other side than they do here.

"Let us take action," concluded Mr. Bowyer warmly, "and I urge the Government to demand and see to it that the railways pay their fair share of the taxes of this province." (Applause.)

Hon. Col. Matheson expressed his appreciation of the earnestness and conciseness with which Mr. Bowyer had made his appeal. It would bear fruit in time. The Government would give the fullest consideration to all he had so ably urged. At the present time, however, and with conditions as they were, coupled with the desire to secure additional railways, he did not think it would be wise to take further action. He commended Mr. Bowyer for the progressive and forceful attitude he had taken on the question, and said the Government would consult with him further.

Mr. Preston (Brant) complimented Mr. Bowyer on holding his party to its pledges. He recalled the enthusiasm of the present Government for the Pettypiece bill, and the manner in which they had instanced the Michigan system in the bye-gone days. In view of it all when they attained power big things were expected, but they had merely doubled the railway taxation.

Mr. Preston said he had no fault to find with what the Government had done, but that instead of carrying out all they had promised, they had all only gone a portion of the way. They, too, now regarded the Michigan system as a species of robbery.

Mr. A. B. McCoig (West Kent) introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act under which clerks of municipalities are authorized to place the names of non-resident municipal voters on the lists at the polling place nearest where they reside. The bill is designed to avoid the necessity for the issue of an illegal number of certificates, an action which caused the recent annulment of the Raleigh Township elections. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. R. H. McIlroy (Carleton) secured the first reading of a bill to incorporate the Ottawa Hunt Club.

In response to a question from Mr. C. N. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie), Hon. Dr. Reaume stated that ten fishing licenses were granted on Lake Nipissing during 1907. They were granted to J. J. Martin, F. J. Weese, Mullin and Terrance, D. Laug & Son, A. L. Hatch, W. A. Cockburn, John Sullivan, J. R. O'Neil and J. J. Sullivan. Two nets were granted for each license. One licensee had two licenses and the others one and $300 was paid for each license.

Hon. Richard Harcourt desired to know what was the average salary paid to rural teachers in the past three years. The Minister of Education said he would supply the information, adding thereto the average salary in the three years previous.

Mr. P. H. Bowyer (East Kent) moved the second reading of his bill, asked for by the Kent County Council extending the powers of municipal councils in drainage matters, and providing that farmers and land owners must be consulted by engineers who are building drains through their property. Mr. Bowyer warmly championed the matter.

Mr. McDougal (Ottawa) took exception to the bill. It would make drainage work more long-drawn-out and expensive. "If the engineer has to stop and consult with every farmer through whose property the drain runs and listen to complaints," Mr. McDougal said, "he will never get through. I don't see the necessity of it. The engineer is best able to judge."

"Clause two should carry if nothing else," observed Hon. Mr. Hanna, and the bill was passed.

Mr. McMillan (Glengarry) wanted to know how many cases had been tried by Drainage Referee Henderson and what expense had been incurred over and above his salary.

Hon. Mr. Foy said there were two drainage referees, the senior being Col. J. B. Rankin, K.C., of Chatham. He would make the returns for both.

The presentation of bills to amend the Assessment Act by Messrs. Mahaffy (Muskoka) and Ferguson (Grenville) for second readings, prompted a statement from the Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Whitney, that it was not desired, unless found absolutely necessary, to tamper with the Assessment Act at the present session.

Mr. Hoyle's bill to amend the Landlord and Tenant Act went to the legal committee, Mr. Auld's bill to amend the Drainage Act to the municipal committee, and Mr. Hoyle's bill to amend the Line Fences Act to the agricultural committee.

One Government bill was introduced by Hon. Dr. Reaume to amend the Game and Fisheries Act. The amendment permits the keeping of game, under ordinary conditions, for fifteen days after the close of the open season, and makes the keeping of game in cold storage for an indefinite period, legal.

Charged With Swindling Mother.

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—Joseph Scanlon, whose home is near Guelph, was summoned to the Police Court yesterday as a witness in an assault case, and was placed under arrest in court by High Constable Merrewether on the charge of obtaining $500 from his mother, who is 91 years of age, by false pretences. It is alleged that he brought his mother to Hamilton and induced her to sign a check for $500 in his favor by telling her that she had diphtheria and could not get home unless she signed a document, which afterwards turned out to be a check. The prisoner claims that his mother knew what she was signing, and that she was perfectly willing to give him the money.

Country's Greatest Need.

Washington, Feb. 27. President Roosevelt transmitted to Congress to-day a preliminary report of the Inland Waterways Commission. Accompanying the report was a message from the President, which said:

"The development of our waterways and the conservation of our forests are the two most pressing physical needs of the country."

A COUGH COLD IS DANGEROUS.

There are different kinds of colds, and various ways in which they affect different people. Some constitutions will throw off a light cold, while to others it will stick tenaciously. There is one kind—the kind accompanied by a cough, the kind that turns to bronchitis, the kind that ends in consumption — that should never be neglected.

Many a life history would read different if, on the first appearance of a cough, it had been remedied with

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

This syrup contains all the virtues of the "Norway Pine Tree," combined with Wild Cherry Bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mrs. E. S. Akerly, Akerly, N.B., writes: "My little boy had such a bad cough he could not sleep at nights. I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to relieve him until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. From the first few doses he commenced to improve, and when he had taken one bottle he was completely cured."

Be careful in purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark. Price 35 cts.

GET STARVATION WAGES

Pawn Material Given Them For Shirt-making In Order to Get Food—Live Principally on Weak Tea—Work Night and Day For Mere Pittance—Another Tom Hood Wanted in the Metropolis.

New York, Feb. 27—The Herald has received the following cable despatch from London: In an interview yesterday Mr. J. J. Mallon, secretary of the National Anti-Sweating League, cited a number of instances of sweating which had recently come to his notice. Appalling cases, he says, are continually occurring in factories and in homes, particularly in the cheap tailoring trade.

"A terrible story has just been told to a coroner in the East End. A trousers finisher created a sensation in court by saying that she got two pence a pair. She had often worked until 4 o'clock in the morning to get a crust of bread. She had to fetch her work and take it back again.

"An officer of the Anti-sweating League had found that a trouser worker labored very often from daybreak until she no longer was able to see the garment upon which she was engaged and she earned five shillings a week. When food was lacking she sustained herself entirely upon weak tea, which she sometimes drank to the extent of fourteen cups a day. At night her covering was the trousers which were being finished. With much plying of the needle the worker's hands had become misshapen.

"Shirt-making is equally as bad in some of its branches, and in Woolwich cheap shirts are made for as little as sixpence a dozen. Again and again one hears of poor seamstresses who have pawned the material given them for shirt-making to get food.

"In homes in East London there are a number of comparatively small trades in respect to which there is much sweating. The brushworker for filling a thousand holes with bristles, which she has first to pack into appropriate bundles and then secure with wire, gets sixpence halfpenny.

The bill against sweating which the league has been promoting has passed its second reading in the Commons and will probably become law this year.

WAS REPUBLICAN PLOT.

Intended to Seize Government After Murder of King Carlos.

Lisbon, Feb. 27.—The mystery behind the murder of King Carlos and Prince Luiz is not likely ever to be completely lifted. The new Portuguese Government prefers that the crime should be regarded both at home and abroad as the deed of individuals carried away by the political passions of the moment.

The connection between the Republicans and the regicides is difficult to establish. The disclaimers of leaders like Bernardino Machado must be accepted so far as the "peaceful wing" is concerned, but this cannot be said of the advanced or Radical wing, as there is plenty of evidence that they had planned a rising on the night of the crime.

Signals to the ships in the harbor and the barracks on the slope of St. George's Hill were shown toward midnight from the roof of the national library, and bands of men went to the barracks of an artillery and infantry regiment, which were to join in the proclamation of a republic. The signals brought no responses, and the doors of the barracks were found locked.

The entire conspiracy fell through, it is related, because of the treason of a young lieutenant, who, after the assassination of the King, confessed to his father, an officer, the role he was to play. The young man claimed that he had been deceived, as he did not know regicide was contemplated, having been led to suppose that only the life of the dictator was to be taken.

RESOLUTION IN THE HOUSE

Minister of Revenue Says Farmers Must Grow More Potatoes — Immigration Figures—Hon. Mr. Lemieux Explains the New Postal Arrangements—Keep Out Undesirable U.S. Newspapers.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The order paper was cleared of several pages of questions at yesterday's sitting of the Commons, most of them relating to land transactions in the west and contracts in the east.

There was also a talk on alcohol precipitated by Mr. Bole of Winnipeg, president of the drug trust, who moved for a commission to look into the question of cheapening alcohol for the manufacture of drugs. Incidentally, the subject of pure alcohol for industrial purposes was introduced into the debate, and the Minister of Inland Revenue made the statement that until Canadian farmers can produce potatoes for eight to ten cents a bushel, they cannot expect to get pure alcohol for 20 cents a gallon.

Mr. Miller of South Grey renewed his plea of last session in favor of the cheapening of denatured alcohol, and advocated the establishment of a denaturing plant in Toronto.

Mr. Robitaille contended that the present protection on alcohol amounted to about 10 per cent. Owing to the high price of grain alcohol, methylated spirits was being used, unfortunately, in the preparation of drugs and essences.

The Minister of Inland Revenue said the motion called for practically alcohol for pharmaceutical and medicinal purposes. This was an entirely distinct proposition from that of denatured alcohol. The real difficulty in regard to the former was that after the medicinal preparations were put up from alcohol, they went out into general use beyond the jurisdiction of the department. The use of duty free alcohol was not permitted in England, Germany or in the United States. It was impossible to permit the several thousand druggists in Canada to use alcohol free in the preparation of their productions.

Certainly, Mr. Templeman declared, the Government could not consent to the appointment of a commission.

Mr. Perley congratulated the Minister upon resisting the demand of his followers, from Winnipeg, for pure alcohol for patent medicine purposes. Some of these men, so strong on alcohol that they were used by some people in lieu of spirits, for drinking. The question of denatured alcohol for industrial and other uses, was so important, he regretted it had been mixed up with the subject of the resolution. It was important that the farmers of the country should get cheap alcohol for machine fuel.

Mr. Templeman feared that it would be long before alcohol could be produced in Canada cheaply enough to compete with petroleum. In Germany there was a duty on petroleum and potatoes for distillation were produced for eight to ten cents per bushel. Until Canadian farmers could raise potatoes at that price, we could not expect to get alcohol for 20 cents a gallon.

The resolution was passed as amended by the Minister, an investigation to be made by the Department.

Mr. Monk was informed that during the period ended June 30, 1907, there entered Canada 105,512 immigrants via ocean ports, and 211,859 from the United States. Of the former 211 were refused admission and 126 deported. Of those from the United States three were refused admission and one deported.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that no Ross rifles had been reported unfit or unserviceable through the case of accident, which was the result of its being tampered with. Last year the rifle had been suspended by the Northwest Mounted Police, so the police could be armed with the improved pattern. At present the force was armed with 804 Winchester carbines, 90 Lee-Enfields and 204 Lee-Metfords. The force would yet be armed with the Ross rifle.

Mr. Armstrong of Lambton, on a motion for correspondence respecting the recent changes in newspaper postage, censured the Postmaster-General for having maintained the high postal rates on weekly papers while arranging to have dailies carried to addresses in the United States at the former low rate of postage. He argued that no better immigration literature could be sent into the United States than the Canadian weekly papers.

Mr. Lemieux explained at length the present arrangement, declaring that unless Canada would consent to allow into the country a class of publications that was undesirable it would be impossible to give for Canadian weeklies going into the United States the benefits of the old rates of low postage.

Mr. Lefurgey and Mr. Martin (Prince Edward Island) criticised the arrangement as unreasonable, and a reflection upon the business methods of the Department. Finally the motion for the correspondence was adopted.

Queen's Narrow Escape.

The Hague, Feb. 27.—Queen Wilhelmina and Prince Henry, her husband, had a miraculous escape from serious injury in a carriage accident near the palace yesterday. The prince was driving the carriage in which Her Majesty was also seated. In a narrow part of the road an electric street car, coming at full speed, suddenly collided with the vehicle before the prince could turn out. The carriage was badly wrecked, three wheels being torn off, but neither the Queen nor the prince was hurt.

Bucket Brigade Saved Town.

Toulon, Man., Feb. 27.—Fire broke out at midnight in the Pioneer Hotel, which was burned with a loss of $10,000. A bucket brigade of fifty men saved the business portion of the town.

Strathconas Beat Norwood's Trent Valley Hockey Team

A Splendid Exhibition Seen at The Brock Street Rink Last Night—Homesters Won by 7 Goals to 4, Leading at Half by 5-2

RAY AND DOHERTY STARS

Four hundred and fifty fans saw the Strathcona's City League team defeat the Norwood Trent Valley team by 7 goals to 4 at the Brock street rink last night in an exhibition game that was about as fast and interesting a contest as has been seen there this season. Straths led by 5-2 at half-time, but Norwood played a most stubborn defence game and succeeded in holding the score down in the second half. It was good, fast, hard hockey all the way, with the Straths the better team so far as system was concerned, but with Norwood holding them out in great fashion and occasionally breaking loose in a rush that meant doings at the other end of the rink. The winners should have won by a bigger margin on the play, as in the second half they bombarded the Norwood goal continuously for long periods, but Joe Doherty and Huycke who was a second edition of the goal-keeper needed them out on many occasions, and scores were few and far between. The teams went at a great clip all the way, and at intervals there would be rushes and counter rushes that brought the crowd to its feet. The winners had the better combination and it told in the result. Norwood on the other hand depended upon Fred Doherty's individual dashes, and although the elusive rover was always dangerous he was pretty closely checked all the way. Neither team let up any and they hammered along for the whole sixty minutes in speedy fashion. The hockey, if not invariably brilliant, was always fast, and the fans thoroughly enjoyed the contest.

The Strathconas as a team were better than the visitors. The forward line got away well together and handled the puck around in a manner that enabled them to get in close on the nets. Their shooting was not as accurate as it might have been and when they did heave them straight there was generally a green sweater in the way. The defence was strong and well balanced and assisted as they were by the fast back-checking of the forward line, they held Norwood out pretty well all evening, although there were times when Doherty circled his way through. There was generally no one to take his pass and the effort was lost.

Ray was the star of the bunch last night, playing his prettiest hockey of the season. He stick-handled beautifully, at times circulating through the Norwood line like sand through a sieve. He was at it all the time, his checking back being a feature. Weatherston also played fine hockey on left wing and Long and McMillan put up their usual effective and aggressive game. Dusty checked splendidly at cover and got away for some telling rushes, several of which resulted in scores. There were few got inside Meagher all night, the point man playing an excellent blocking and checking game, while he occasionally took a jaunt down to where Doherty and Huycke hung their hats. Wilson picked off some difficult chances at close range and Norwood were entitled to a score on all that beat him.

Norwood played fine hockey all the way and the crowd recognized the fact, applauding them continuously. They had little combination and shot inaccurately, but they were doughty opponents and look good enough to win the Trent Valley League. Fred Doherty was, of course, the star, giving the crowd a grand exhibition of stick-handling. His dazzling rushes were one of the features of the contest. He is as fast as lightning and when he breaks away from the forward line the rear guard begins to hang out distress signals right away. Morrow also put up fine hockey all night. Joe Doherty in goal and Huycke at point stopped scores of shots, picking them off when the red and white team were right in on top of them. The Straths would come down together and bang away at the nets, but either one would pick off the shots. Doherty cleared several times when the shot came from a foot outside, although he was beaten by one easy one which he should have had. Geo. Lynch refereed the game satisfactorily.

The teams were as follows:

NORWOOD	STRATHCONAS
Goal
J. Doherty	Wilson
Point
Huycke	Meagher
Cover Point
Cummings	Dusty
Rover
F. Doherty	Ray
Centre
Hendren	Long
Right Wing
Morrow	McMillan
Left Wing
Rogers	Weatherston

The Play

The pace was fast from the start and neither team had much advantage in the first few minutes' play. Both goals were assaulted in turn and the Straths had several good chances, only to have Joe Doherty block the shots. Huycke was penalized for tripping. Just after he got back on the ice Dusty, securing the puck at centre, carried it up along the boards in a pretty rush and centred nicely to Long, who bulged the nets on a shot from close in. Strathconas 1, Norwood 0.

McMillan and Roger had a slashing duel in the corner and were given the hook by the referee. It didn't take Norwood long to score Morrow doing the trick on a pass from Hendren. Strathconas 1, Norwood 1.

A few minutes afterwards the tie was broken. Dusty passed to Ray at centre, and the little rover galloped through the whole Norwood team, scoring on a pretty shot. Strathconas 2, Norwood 1.

From the face-off the Straths carried the rubber up the rink for a score. Weatherston secured the puck at the face and, bringing it up nicely, transferred to Long in front of the nets, and the latter did the trick in 30 seconds. Score, Strathconas 3, Norwood 1.

The next came after five minutes' hard playing, in which both Doherty and Wilson distinguished themselves by clever stops. Finally there was a face-off ten feet out from Norwood face-off ten feet out from Norwood's goal and Long swiped the rubber into the nets as it was dropped. Strathconas 4, Norwood 1.

Norwood took a hand in the scoring and on a rush by Hendren and Morrow the former scored. Meagher partially stopped the shot, but it rolled into the net. Strathconas 1, Norwood 2.

Strathconas increased their lead before half-time. Dusty made a nice rush, and although his first shot was blocked, he secured the puck at the side and scored on a lift shot. Strathconas 5, Norwood 2.

Strathconas pressed hard and for ten minutes bombarded the Norwood goal without avail, the visitors putting up a surprisingly strong defence. Hendren, Weatherston and Rogers were penalized during this period, the first pair for tripping and the latter for slashing. Finally Ray got going and passed out to the side to McMillan, who scored on a neat shot. Strathconas 6, Norwood 3.

Then followed the prettiest play of the night. F. Doherty secured the puck from the face-off and on a grand individual rush scored in 30 seconds. Score, Strathconas 6, Norwood 4.

The Straths got it back in less time than it took to make it. The puck went from the face-off to McMillan, who carried it down for an easy goal in 20 seconds, ending the scoring. Dusty got another sentence for tripping before time was up.

Final score — Strathconas 7, Norwood 4.

Review Versus Examiner At Brock Street Rink To-night

Greatest Game in the History of Hockey and Admission is but 10 Cents—Biggest Crowd of the Season Will be on Hand to Cheer the Teams

BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT

The eventful evening has arrived at last, and at 8 o'clock to-night the Review and Examiner teams will start out on the annual press game, the event which has been looked forward to ever since Jack Frost came down from the north to claim his own. It will be the fastest, most exciting, most scientific and funniest game of the season, and indications point to the S. R. O. sign being hung out early. You will be a social pariah if you do not attend to-night's gigantic struggle between two of the greatest teams that were ever got together and shoved out on the ice at the mercy of the elements and other things.

The proceeds will be handed over to the Children's Aid Society, and Mr. E. L. Goodwill, the popular secretary of that society will face the puck at 8 o'clock sharp. Remember the admission is only ten cents, cheaper than staying home and burning that much light, and your presence will help a worthy organization, as well as chase away any attack of the "blues" that may be hovering over you. The Peterborough Band will be present and render a choice programme. For those who skate there will be plenty of time afterwards for that diversion.

When the teams are sorted out to-night they will be found to line up something like this:

Review	Examiner
Goal
D. Tecumseh Dobbin	Josiah Craig
Point
Anti-Ferry Thompson	H. Bradball Burridge
Cover Point
Corned Beef Burns	John Dough Clarke
Forwards
D.U.B. MacRae	Beef Tea Huston
A. Chopin Yekome	Harry K. Thawobald
Strathcona Wilson	Long Primer Robinson
Orangemeat McGuire, or
Kid Kilgour	L. Buller Henry

The Review hand-picking department had a special session last night and after 23 ballots selected the above line-up. They were unable to decide upon the personnel of the forward line, and two of the men will match to-night, the loser to play.

It is learned on the best of authority that A. Chopin Yokome of the Review team has taken the long end of a 2 to 1 bet on the Examiner team. Mr. Yokome bet 5 cents to 10 that the Review would win. The thin wedge of speculation and gambling is being forced into the press game.

Word comes from Maxville, Ont., that two hundred Glengarrians are coming here by special train to watch D.U.B. MacRae tonight. Mr. MacRae at one time, with the exception of travelling medicine shows, was the chief amusement of the village, and the "rude four-flushers of the hamlet" have not forgotten.

They are writing breakfast food ads. about the Review team now. They run something like this:

"Down the ice goes Tiny Tim.
Guff's the stuff that gives him vim."

Remember, the expenditure of 10 cents gives you an opportunity of assisting the Children's Aid Society, of seeing the funniest game of the season, and of enjoying a skate afterwards.

The one-price hockey game.

SEE D.U.B. MacRae, the pride of the east, the most unconsciously funny comedian that ever donned skates and imagined he looked like a hockey player.

SEE "Dinnie" Dobbin, who, like the British flag, has "braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze," and who played lacrosse at Detroit at the time of Pontiac's conspiracy.

SEE A. Chopin Yokome, the boy wonder, who falls flat as often as does his musical parodies, and who has to keep away from the side of the rink for fear of being caught in a crack.

SEE Corned Beef Burns' ground and lofty tumbler, who will do some of the most astounding acrobatic feats and who can distribute himself over more parts of the rink than any man who has ever performed on the local ice-box.

SEE Strathcona Wilson, who will show how a good goal-keeper makes a fifth-rate forward, and who will wear a collection of City League medals and other tinware.

SEE Kid Gilgour, the only real hockey player on the Review team, who will do his best not to show up his team mates.

Reports from the Review training quarters say there is little haze being entertained for the team's recovery. A crisis is looked for to-night and it is feared the seven will never rally.

A Basket of Bad Lemons They Say—Go to Pieces Against the Fence

Havelock, Feb. 27. — Considerable interest is being taken in the press game in Peterborough here, especially on account of the interesting items in the newspapers on it.

But the citizens all know what becomes of bad lemons. They are thrown forcibly up against the fence and then go to pieces. That is what the citizens of town think will become of the bad lemons composing the Review team when they appear on the ice. They will be thrown forcibly up against the fence by the Examiner team and then they will go to pieces.

The result of the game will be eagerly awaited.

Invalid Ladies

This Is For You.

There are thousands of females who suffer untold miseries common to their sex.

This is largely due to the peculiar habits of life and fashion, and the improper training of girlhood. Then, too, the physical changes that mark the three eras of womanhood (the maiden, the wife, and the mother) have much to do with her sufferings, most of which are endured in silence, unknown by even the family physician and most intimate friends.

To all such whose hollow cheeks, pale faces, sunken eyes and feeble footsteps, indicate nervousness, palpitation of the heart, weak, faint and dizzy spells, we would earnestly recommend a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Jos. Sharp, Brighton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, weak spells and nervous trouble, and found no relief until advised to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got one box and that helped me so much I sent and got five more. I am now cured completely."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If you had $15,000 worth of Furs and required $7,000 in a hurry, what would you do?

Just what we are doing! Cut the Price of your Furs and it's surprising how quickly we are getting the amount we require. In other words our Re-Organizing Sale is a grand success, because every man and woman is going away satisfied.

CRESSMAN'S TIED AT LAKEFIELD

Score at the Finish of a Good Game Was Five All

Cressman's hockey team journeyed to Lakefield last night and succeeded in getting an even break with the Cementville intermediates. The score o' the finish was 5—5, and Cressman's led at the half by 3—2. The dry-goods seven had a little the better of the play but luck was against them and scores were missed on many occasions. It was fast, hard hockey, not too clean in spots and the spectators enojyed the fray. Tony Sabatino of the Lakefield City League team refereed the contest and the teams were as follows:—

Lakefield.	Cressman's.
	Goal.
Sabatino	Titterson
	Point.
Thompson	Little
	Cover.
Roe	Scott
	Rover.
Graham	Darling
	Centre.
Evart	Tisdale
	Right wing.
Blewett	Patterson
	Left wing.
Short	Harrison

Goal Umpires.

After the game the visitors were entertained at a supper and a most enjoyable time was spent. The hospitality of the Lakefield club was thoroughly appreciated and the dry-goods men will endeavor to reciprocate when the Cementville team visits here, probably next week if the rink can be secured.

SWITZER BADLY INJURED IN GAME

Midland are to Take Legal Proceedings Against Randall of Lindsay

Switzer, the brilliant centre player of the Midland intermediate O.H.A. team, was seriously injured in the game at Lindsay last Friday night. In a telephone conversation with Captain Eddie Gould, of the Midland team, the sporting editor of the Examiner learned that Switzer is very likely to lose the sight of one of his eyes as the result of a blow which is said to have been deliberately inflicted by Randall, the right wing man of the Lindsay team. The Midland club intends to institute legal proceedings against Randall, and several local people who saw the game have been asked to take statutory declarations in the matter.

Music and Drama

ALLEN DOONE

Ireland's Sweet Singing Comedian

The charm of romance and the atmosphere of the Seventeenth Century will pervade the Grand Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night, when the favourite young Irish minstrel, Allen Doone, will return in his new and successful comedy-drama, "A Romance in Ireland." The laces and graces of the old-time customs and the quaint garb of a most picturesque era of Irish history are woven into a story of intense interest, whose hero, "Larry O'Daly," is a birthsome, adventurous young fellow, equally apt at a bit of courting, on a bit of shindy, and whose bright, witty sayings are a source of delight to the entire county. In the part of "Larry" Mr. Doone is said to have a character which fits him like the proverbial glove, and in which his varied talents find full scope. Manager George W. Kenney promises an excellent supporting cast and an elaborate scenic production. Mr. Doone will sing several songs. The plan opened at the box-office this morning and there was a brisk demand for seats.

Hubbard, Ivy Evelyn Lyons, Ralph Wordley, Charlotte Stanley, Roselyn and Glory Macham, the clever children, George Ormesbee, Joe Machan and others.

The opening bill will be "The Bondman, or the Land of the Midnight Sun," Hall Caine's great play; other bills presented will be "Our Scotch Lassie Jessie Brown," a historical play on the relief of Lucknow; "As Told in the Hills," "For Her Children's Sake," "Wife for Wife," and other new productions. On Monday night ladies admitted free, under usual conditions if tickets purchased before 6 p.m. Monday, limited to 300. Special ladies' and children's matinee Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Saturday 2.30. Popular prices will prevail—nights 10, 20, 30; matinee, 10 and 20 cents. Seats now on sale

So he learned seven Hungarian words: "I love you; will you marry me?" and popped the question. He was accepted—in sign language. The wedding was conducted through an interpreter.

Caught Hold Of Fender And Was Dragged A Block

Narrow Escape of a Smith Street Youth—Car Was Stopped In Time.

WAS BADLY FRIGHTENED

Dragged along by the fender of a street car for a block was the precarious position a youth named McCollum was placed in on Wednesday afternoon. About 4 o'clock he, with a number of his companions were playing at the corner of Argyle and Water streets, when a street car happened along.

The youth caught hold of the fender at the rear, and before he could release himself the car had started. Young McCollum was dragged along until the next stop was made, being unseen by the conductor.

Although the experience did not result seriously, the boy was badly frightened and might have been severely injured had not the car stopped when it did.

Objections From Mr. Green—By-law to Provide for Loan of $30,000

AND FIXED ASSESSMENT

The question of the legality of bonusing the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company came up last night before the City Council.

Mr. F. D. Kerr addressed the Council on behalf of Mr. G. Walter Green, who protests against this municipal body applying to the Legislature for permission to bonus to the extent of $30,000 the company which shall resurrect and operate the William Hamilton Company. Mr. Kerr pointed out that in the Municipal Act it is recognized that bonusing any institution is unlawful, and unfair to the other industries, unless with the consent of any person or persons who have by their own industry and capital built and worked up a similar business to that proposed to be bonused. Mr. Kerr said he had been advised by Mr. Green that his business is of the same nature to that to be conducted by the proposed new Wm. Hamilton Company, and on behalf of his client he made public protest, according to law, against the Council petitioning the Legislature for power to bonus the proposed new company.

To Seek Legislation

The Council later decided to seek legislation empowering them to advance $30,000 to any company resurrecting and operating the dormant Wm. Hamilton Co. Should the Legislature confirm the Council's proposition, a bylaw to provide for a loan of $30,000 and fixed assessment to and for any company operating the old concern will go to the people.

NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE HAD TROUBLE

Would Not Show License—Were Ejected From Boarding House.

A young newly married couple were ejected from their boarding house this morning because they would not show their marriage license. The landlady had her suspicions aroused about the pair from some remarks that were passed, and she started an investigation. She asked the husband to produce his marriage license, but he did not think it was necessary and refused. He was thereupon ordered to leave the house with his wife and her clothing was kept to pay for the arrears in rent. The trouble then commenced. The landlady 'phoned for the police and they took the husband over to the station. The minister who married the couple was communicated with and he told the police that all was right. The couple are now looking for a new boarding house.

REAPING WHERE THEY HAVE NOT SOWN

Members of the Ontario Government on all side of the House, in speaking to the address, claimed that Provincial Treasurer Matheson would be able to announce a surplus this year. Hon. A. G. McKay, leader of the Liberal Opposition, in closing the debate on the address, said it would be a strange thing if the Province did not have a surplus. He went on to show that the Provincial Treasurer hadn't much ground to congratulate himself on that score, since the channels through which the increased revenue of the Province flows were chiefly dug by the preceding Liberal Government. Several revenue-producing acts were opposed by the Conservatives in opposition, and they are now taking credit for the results of Liberal foresight. The Succession Duties Act, the Supplementary Revenue Act, the Brewers' and Distillers' Act, had all been met by Conservative opposition when introduced, but, combined, they had produced an aggregate of Provincial revenue of $9,163,304. This immense sum would have been lost to the Province if the Liberal Government, when sowing the seed which yielded such a crop, had been deterred by the opposition of the then Conservative party in the House. Then the building of the Temiscamingue and Northern Railway is to be placed to the credit of the Ross Government, and the present Government is getting the glory. If the project of building this line, which, if not actually obstructed by the Conservative party, was damned with faint applause by them, had not been conceived and carried out, we should not have the results we have. In 1902 the receipts of the Provincial treasury from mines amounted to only $27,000. Last year this source of revenue aggregated $1,600,000. This increase of nearly sixty-fold was due to the discovery and operation of the mines in the Cobalt district. These would not have been discovered, perhaps, for a century, if the Liberal Government had not explored New Ontario and decided to develop it by building the Provincial railway, whose construction led to the discovery of the mines, and its operation to their development with such splendid results. This revenue of over a million and a half the Province owes to Liberal statesmanship, foresight and courage. Speaking of the financial position of the Province now, and the time when the Liberal Government sowed the seeds that produced this revenue crop of $1,600,000, and when we add the increased Dominion subsidy of $400,000, we see that the Whitney Government has the benefit of a revenue of $2,000,000, which was not available when the Ross Government was in power. Hon. Mr. Matheson may gloat over a surplus, but he owes the power of gloating to the wisdom and foresight of a Liberal Government. He has the help of nearly four millions of revenue a year, which he would not have were it not for the sources of revenue, direct and indirect, furnished by his Liberal predecessors in office.

TWO OF A KIND.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster, the brood hen of the "nest of traitors," as described by the venerable Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, was chosen as one of the chief speakers to address the East Riding Conservative convention at Norwood. From Senator Bowell's point of estimation of Mr. Foster's character, the selection was a most happy one. The spirit of the nest of traitors incident seems to have preceded the distinguished gentlemen. According to the letter published in another column, from a vice-president of the East Peterborough Conservative Association, nest-of-traitors methods seem to have prevailed at the nomination. It is also evident that the same knifing spirit that influenced the nominations in West Peterborough, obtained in the East, and that the party of gentlemen, the possessors of all the British loyalty going, deemed some of the townships as the vice-president charges, "British fair play." Isn't it funny? The Conservatives have run their course in two sessions of Parliament on unsupported charges of crookedness against the Liberal government and party, and here we find two nominations in two adjoining ridings, brought about by crookedness, which disgusts, and induces revolt in, even members of the Conservative party. Only a day or two ago, Hon. George E. Foster, the arch political traitor of Canadian history, lashed himself into a frenzy of indignation over two officials of the Intercolonial Railway taking part in New Brunswick elections, and now we find him absenting himself from his parliamentary duties to take part in an Ontario convention and by his presence condone the treachery of the officials of a Conservative Association against their own political brethren. For a convention conducted, as a vice-president says it was conducted, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, the brood hen of the "Nest of Traitors" was a most happily appropriate selection as chief speaker. In respect of both West and East Peterborough, crooked beginnings, point to crooked continuations and corresponding results. In regard to the East Riding nomination, the close run between the successful and unsuccessful candidates—only four ballots—should be read in connection with the letter of a vice-president printed in another column. The East and West Riding Conservative nominating conventions can well be pronounced two of a kind.

EDITORIAL NOTES

This is Leap year, but bachelors don't seem to be breaking any bones jumping at matrimonial chances.

Winnipeg's credit seems to be gilt-edged. It is reported that the banks have decided to advance the city two millions of dollars.

Rudyard Kipling, a moment, please. Wild flowers are in bloom in Manitoba—in the blizzard belt. Aren't you properly ashamed of yourself?

In the Legislature on Monday Hon. Mr. Matheson expressed the opinion that railways in Ontario now pay high enough taxes. He may be right, but if a Liberal provincial treasurer had made such a statement he would be assailed as being a creature of corporations.

Speaking before the Canadian Club, Montreal, Right Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador, said this, and it should be worn in every Canadian's heart: "Every Canadian can help Canada by maintaining a high standard of citizenship — no good work done is ever lost or wasted."

How is this for our Lady of the Snows? A despatch from MacLeod, Alberta, states that a farmer near that town has twenty acres already seeded, and if the soft weather holds, seeding will be general in a few days. Ranch cattle are in prime condition. The enemies of the Canadian Northwest quoted last winter's and last season's conditions as a proof of the undesirability of that section of Canada as a place of residence, and field for farming operations. But with a start like that mentioned, the rehabilitation of the reputation of the West is in sight. One swallow doesn't make a summer any more than one season's untimely frost can give a black eye to the Canadian West.

THE MAGISTRATE'S KIND OFFER

Gives a Vagrant the Chance of a Job And a Good Dinner.

A young man, about twenty-two years of age, who has just been in Canada a short time, has been sleeping at the police station the last three nights. He claims he cannot find anything to do and snow-shovelling is not in his line. He thinks that if he ever went up to a house to apply for a position shovelling snow, the people would shoot him. He will have to get rid of those absurd ideas if he wants to get along in this country. He was taken before the magistrate this morning and his Worship told the man he would give him a chance. If he would come up to his house at one o'clock he would be given a job shovelling snow and would also be given a good dinner. The magistrate also warned the young fellow that if he came back again he would get six months in the Central Prison.

THE SPECULATIONS OF MERCENARY WILLIE

He Promised Twenty Kisses For The Apple.

Craig Wadsworth, the best cotillon leader in America, admitted at a dinner in New York, that men were colder and more mercenary than women.

"It's born in us," said Mr. Wadsworth sadly. "Even as children—"

He smiled.

"When I was a boy," he said, "I ha a little friend named Willie. Willie appeared one day with a fine apple.

"'I'll give you this apple,' he said to a little girl, 'for twenty kisses.'

"The little girl was amused. That was not at all like Willie. Nevertheless she consented.

"'Shut your eyes,' said Willie. 'Sit down here and shut your eyes. And mind, if you open them, the bargain is off.'

"The little girl obeyed, and slowly, very slowly, kisses began to fall upon her lips. One, two, three, four—a long pause—five, six—another long pause—seven—pause—eight, nine, ten—intolerable pause.

"'Oh, Willie, hurry!'

"'I'm not Willie!'

"The little girl opened her eyes in astonishment, and drew back her pretty mouth from the advancing lips of a strange boy, a very common, shabby sort of boy, whom she had never seen before.

"'Why, where's Willie?' she cried.

"'He's down the street,' was the reply, 'sellin' yer kisses for two apples apiece. Better shet yer eyes agin. The next three boys is terrible ugly.'"—Schnectady Gazette.

"Indigestion" Thinks Wives Unfair To Bake Their Bread

He Has More Reasons Than One—Prefers Bakers' Bread—Has a Bad Stomach.

WOULDN'T INSTAL FURNACE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In you issue of Wednesday I noticed an article on making bread which was of an interesting character. The question was asked, "If a Union man's wife bakes bread is she unfair?" This is a problem not easily answered if it is looked at in its various lights. But one thing is plain—the fact that my wife bakes bread is very unfair to me who have to eat it.

And it all has happened since the recent raise in the price of the staff of life. Any man who has a wife who cannot bake bread will sympathize with me in this respect and will say that it is unfair for a union man's wife to make bread.

Just as you stated in your article my wife succeeded fairly well in her first undertaking, but after that the bread, in my opinion, was scarcely fit to eat. She blamed it on the flour and I got another and dearer brand but the results were all the same.

The lack of heat to make the dough rise was next put forward as the cause but I didn't feel inclined to buy a fournace on $12 per week. I therefore think that union men's wives are working against the cause of unionism when they bake their own bread. The Bakers' Union is certainly injured by this but not as much in my opinion as mans stomachs.

I'm for patronising the bakers every time, but I hope, Mr. Editor, you will withould my name as there might be trouble in our household should my wife make the discovery.

Yours truly,
"INDIGESTION."

ANNIVERSARY WAS A SUCCESS

Enjoyable Function Under the Auspices of Court Chemong No. 29, C.O.F., Last Night.

THE PROGRAMME RENDERED

The twenty-ninth anniversary of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, held last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, was a most enjoyable and successful event. Some three hundred people were present, and the programme was one of thorough enjoyment to every one, those in attendance being loud in their praises of the arrangements made by the different committees in charge.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock an enjoyable supper was served, and afterwards the following programme was rendered, every number being well received. Bro. H. Nesbitt was an acceptable chairman—

Address—The Chairman.
Solo—Mr. E V Morphet.
Recitation—Miss Lebar.
Solo—Mr. Wm. Mellroy.
Reading—Mr. John Nugent.
Solo—Mr. Chandler.
Reading—Mr. D Moore.
Solo—Mr. E V Morphet.
Recitation—Miss Lebar.
Solo—Mr. Wm. Mellroy.
Reading—Mr. D Moore.

At the conclusion of the programme a few hours were pleasantly spent in dancing, enjoyable music being supplied by Miss McCabe. The gathering broke up at 12.30 o'clock.

The different committees are to be congratulated upon the result of the efforts and they succeeded in making the occasion one long to be remembered.

MR. J. W. FITZGERALD IS ON THE EXECUTIVE

Elected at Annual Meeting of Ontario Land Surveyors in Toronto.

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald of Peterborough was elected on the executive committee of the Ontario Land Surveyors at their recent annual meeting. A Toronto despatch says: The Ontario Land Surveyors, at their meeting at the Parliament Buildings this morning elected the following officers:

President—A. J. Van Nostrand, Toronto.
Vice-president — Lewis Bolton, Listowel.
Sec.—E. Gamble, Toronto.

For the executive committee the following were nominated: Messrs. Kirkpatrick, Hutcheson, Wilkie, Selby, Whalen and J. W. Fitzgerald.

Stops Itching, Heals the Skin
AND FOR THIS REASON THERE IS NO CURE FOR ECZEMA SO SATISFACTORY AS

There is always a certain amount of mystery about all medicines that are taken internally, but not so when Dr. Chase's Ointment is applied to raw or inflamed skin, for the benefits are self-evident.

It is because Dr. Chase's Ointment possesses in a remarkable degree the ability to stop itching and heal raw skin that it has become known the world over as the most successful treatment for such disease of the skin as eczema, salt rheum and psoriasis.

By all means tone up the system by the use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but also cure the eczema by the local application of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The wretched stinging, itching sensations will soon disappear under this treatment and gradually and naturally the raw sores will become smaller and smaller until they entirely disappear.

But there are scores of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful in every home, and especially so where there are children who suffer from teething eczema, chafing, insect bites, hives, poisoned skin or any form of skin irritation or eruption.

Mr. O Wiley, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Company, Lindsay, Ont., states: "I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for eczema on my little girl some few years ago, and soon brought about a thorough and permanent cure. She had suffered for considerable time, and though we tried a great many remedies, Dr. Chase's Ointment was the only preparation to prove effective. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Chase's Ointment, as it certainly effected a prompt and permanent cure in this case."

Test Dr. Chase's Ointment in any case of itching skin or one sore that refuses to heal, and you will be surprised at the results.

Mothers use Dr. Chase's Ointment for the chafing and skin troubles of their babies in preference to unsanitary pore-clogging powders; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

LEAVING FOR ST. JOHN'S MICHIGAN

Has Accepted a Commission—Will Tell Life's Story To-morrow Night.

On Saturday evening a special meeting will be held in the Salvation Army barracks, when Mr. Blake, who has received his orders this week to go to St. Johns, Michigan, to take charge of the work there, will give an address. Some time ago Mr. Blake applied to headquarters for a commission in the American field and has received his appointment this week.

Mr. Blake is a sailor of wide experience and has been before the mast the greater portion of his life. His address on Saturday evening will be a vivid description of his life and experiences, and this should prove a very interest subject. The speaker is not unknown to the Peterborough public, having on several former occasions spoken at different entertainments. He has always been an energetic and faithful soldier of the Army and will be greatly missed from the local ranks. The kind wishes of the Peterborough corps go with him wherever he may go.

THE OPEN AIR CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT

Rink in Excellent Condition—Full Band Will be Present.

The Peterborough Street Railway Company will hold their second carnival this evening at the open air rink, Jackson Park. The carnival promises to be a great success and the company has done everything in its power to make it so. At the last carnival there were over 200 people in costume and it is hoped that a larger number will be present tonight. The toboggan slide and the rink are in excellent condition and the 57th Band will be present to supply the music.

SLEPT LAST NIGHT WITH A COW

Drunken Man Found in Hotel Stables Huddled Against a Cow.

Many men, young and old, have experienced the condition of the man referred to in the song from "The Royal Chef, "In the Morning." After a night's carousal in which his senses and emotion pdass through several different stages Nature finally asserts itself and the caried body, robbed of its energy and weakened by the effect of the spirits finally becomes numb and sleep brings oblivion.

This was probably the case of a man who was found this morning in a hotel stable sleeping beside a cow on the floor of the stall. At nine o'clock the owner of the cow who left it in the stable temporarily, found the man huddled up against the cow, degraded to a level below that of the dumb animal. His jag was by no means spent when he was awakened and a brazer would probably have been necessary.

POLE WENT THROUGH CAR WINDOW

Was Projecting From a Load of Hay—No One Hurt.

About noon to-day a southward bound street car had one of its windows broken near Lock street. The car was against a farmer's wagon loaded with hay, at the time of the accident. A pole was projecting from the hay wagon and went through the window badly smashing it. The car was well filled with passengers at the time, who were startled by the crash.

AROUND THE FESTIVE BOARD

Press Teams Fraternized After The Game.

At the conclusion of the press game last night the members of the two teams fraternized at a jolly little banquet in Hooper's grill room. The result of the hour's work on the steel blades was shown by the way in which the gladiators handled the articles that made Sheffield famous, and the repast was much enjoyed. Afterwards the toasts of the Review and Examiner teams and of Referee Geo. Lynch were heartily honoured, short speeches were given by the majority of those present and the game was refought around the table.

The East Matches The West In Convention Crookedness

Serious Charge of a Vice-President of East Riding Conservative Association—Disqualified Delegates Allowed to Vote and Other Delegates Refused.

NOT BRITISH FAIR PLAY

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me to state the facts of the recent Conservative convention in Norwood.

Regarding the substitution of delegates, a motion was made in accordance with the ruling at the executive meeting some time before that substitutes be allowed the day of the convention. This motion was carried by a large majority at the convention of delegates, and by the ruling of a certain clique the motion was disallowed and the ballot proceeded with.

The day of the convention the vice-presidents of Belmont was allowed to place substitutes who were not legally appointed, whereas the vice-presidents of Asphodel, Dummer, Douro and Otonabee were refused the same privilege.

Now, sir, I would ask the electors of East Peterborough if there is any British fair play if ten substitutes from Dummer and Asphodel, standing by ready to vote, were refused, while others were allowed to vote who were no more qualified?

Yours,

A VICE-PRESIDENT.

Norwood, Feb. 27, 1908.

City To Take Charge Of Market Tolls On April 1st

Mr. Geo. Ball, Sanitary Inspector, Will Look After Tolls at Salary of $750—No Special Sanitary Inspector.

BUSINESS OF CITY COUNCIL

The City Council met last night in special session and attended to a number of important matters, among them being the discontinuing of the annual sale of the market tolls and the proposal to seek legislation for the revival of the Wm. Hamilton manufacturing establishment. There were present Mayor Harry Rush and Ald. McIntyre, Morgan, Johnston, Gillespie, Fuller, Morrow, Turner, Bradburn, Tovey, Phelan and Elliott.

Ald. Bradburn was added to the committee appointed to attend the Toronto Legislature in the interests of the city's application for special legislation.

Finances Report

Ald. Morrow submitted the following report:

Gentlemen.—Your Finance Committee begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1—That the property in arrears for taxes the length of time required by law be put up for sale.

2—That the salary of the City Treasurer be fixed at $1,250 from 1st January, 1908.

3—That Mr. D. W. Dumble be paid $500 in accordance with the settlement made by the mayor for his land taken for the extension of George street, south of Romaine street, and that a cheque for that sum be issued to the City Solicitor.

4—That 200 printed copies of the auditors' report be procured as usual.

5—That the mayor be appointed to attend the conference regarding tuberculosis in Toronto on March 4, and that his expenses be paid.

6—That a bylaw be submitted to the electors to issue debentures for $14,500 for expenses in connection with street extensions, and for $5,500 for expenses in connection with filling in the city's water lots, the debentures to bear 4 3-4 per cents interest.

7—That a cheque for $6 be issued to John McMahon on account of taxes on property purchased from him for the extension of Aylmer street, and a cheque for $5.52 to the tax collector for a portion of the taxes on 59 W. scott street, purchased for the same purpose.

8—That a number of accounts be paid.

The report was adopted as read.

Property Report

The Property Committee reported and recommended the following:

1—That the market tolls and charges be not sold for the coming year, but that the city appoint a market clerk to take charge of the market and collect the tolls.

2—That Geo. Ball be appointed market clerk and given charge of the collection of tolls, etc., for the year beginning April 1 next.

3—That the chairman be authorized to have the plate glass in the Public Library building insured against accident.

4—That the chairman be authorized to have the room adjoining the Council Chamber fitted up for the assessors.

The report was adopted as read.

Now that the garbage bylaw has been turned down by the electorate, Mr. Geo. Ball will conduct the market tolls at a salary of $750 a year. He will have the aid of an assistant two days a week, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Ald. McIntyre hoped that the inspection of milk would not suffer by this change, as it had been productive of good results since the milk bylaw had been passed.

Ald. Elliott agreed with Ald. McIntyre, and he agreed that Inspector Ball's salary had been well earned if only for the improvement in the quality of milk assured by milk testing.

Ald. Gillespie said the people were now being educated up to keeping their milk stirred up until after the tests were made, and this went a long way towards securing tests fair to all milk vendors.

Ald. Buller, talking of the change in Mr. Ball's duties, contended that the caretaker of the City Hall and even the plumbing inspector could assist Mr. Ball on Wednesday and Saturday market days, and at other times found necessary. He thought the change in not selling the market tolls was a move in the right direction.

The Property Committee will subsequently take up the question of who shall assist Mr. Ball.

The sanitary inspection will be conducted by the police, as was the case before last year, and the milk will be tested by Mr. Geo. Ball as heretofore.

Charity Distribution

Mr. E. F. Mason was appointed to distribute the funds available for charitable purposes under the will of the late Elmira Foley.

Better Financial Outlook

Ald. Morrow, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that such financial arrangements had been entered into that in a few days the city will only owe the bank $7,000. This news was received by the aldermen with much satisfaction.

Street Watering

A bylaw providing for street watering next summer passed its several readings.

Firemen's Salaries

The firemen applied for an increase of salary.

Ald. Johnston here objected to the Fire, Water and Light Committee's estimate having been reduced from $7,500 to $7,000, which estimate he contended to be too low for all requirements, to say nothing of an increase to the brigade.

Ald. Morgan concurred in Ald. Johnston's views.

Moved by Ald. Phelan, seconded by Ald. Buller, that the matter of an increase in the firemen's salaries be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Lights Wanted

Ald. Morgan wanted to knew why the Light and Power Company had not put incandescent lamps on James and Mark streets, as ordered some time ago.

Ald. Johnston replied that the company claims that it had not arms on which to hang these lamps, but that it has ordered the goods.

Ald. Morgan thought that as it took the company so long to get the goods, the Fire, Water and Light Committee might hang up a couple of gas lamps as a gentle reminder.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the clerk write the Peterborough Light and Power Company and inquire the reason for its delay in hanging these lamps.

The Pogue Drain

Ald. Buller, Johnston and Phelan were instructed to interview Mr. V. Eastwood and demand that the understanding arrived at between him, the city and Mr. Pogue for re-opening the Aylmer street drain through Mr. Pogue's property be carried out without further delay. Otherwise the city will act on its own responsibility.

THE CITY TEMPERANCE LEAGUE

Constitution Was Drawn Up and Adopted —Committees Selected.

There was a large meeting of the City Temperance League last night to consider the clauses of the constitution which had been prepared. The executive had drawn up the constitution, which, after a slight amendment, was adopted.

Afterwards several standing committees were appointed. The Committee of Law and Enforcement was the principal one chosen. Its purpose is to assist the officials in carrying out the law and to prevent any miscarriage of justice and to do general work. The members of this committee are the officers of the league, Messrs. H F Ackerman, G M Roger, R Neill, R Lees, G A Gillespie, J J Howden, D W Dumble, T F Matthews, Wm. Madill and Ig. Scott.

A finance and literature committee were also appointed. The duty of the latter is to distributel literature from time to time dealing with the temperance question. There will likely be more names added to the Law and Enforcement Committee.

The next meeting of the league will be held at the Y.M.C.A. next Thursday. It will be a public meeting and all are invited.

The report of the Dominion Alliance Convention will be presented by Rev. A. H. Brace, who went to Toronto instead of Rev. J. G. Potter, who was unable to go. A good musical programme will also be given.

AN ENROLLMENT AT THE BARRACKS

Mr. J. Carr Presented With a Portrait of Gen. Booth—Excellent Programme Rendered.

The enrollment of new members into the rank and file of the Salvation Army took place in the Barracks last night. The event created considerable interest in the local corps and the seating capacity of the Army hall was taxed to its utmost. Staff-Captain Goodwin occupied the chair and performed her duty in her usual able manner.

After the meeting had been opened with prayer by the chairman the following excellent programme was splendidly rendered by the members of the corps:

Song—Staff-Capt. Goodwin.
Song—Captain Massey.
Recitation—Miss Nellie Leader.
Chorus — Salvation Army Soldiers.
Recitation—Miss Emma Blake.
Selection—The Band.
Drill—Four Girls.
Quartette—Messrs. Ashton, Boorman, Gray and Sandy.

During the programme, Mr. J. Carr who sold the largest number of Christmas War Crys in the Province of Ontario, was presented with a handsome enlarged portrait, beautifully framed, of General Booth. This is an honour to the Peterborough corps and reflects great credit upon the ambitious soldier.

At the conclusion of the entertainment nine new members were enrolled under the Salvation Army flag into the rank and file. This makes a total of 28 new members enrolled during the past four months.

The evening was closed with the singing of the Doxology.

REFUSED TO PAY FOR HIS MEAL

Was Thrown Out of the Hotel by the Bartender.

A suspicious character entered one of the prominent hotels this morning about eight o'clock. The bartender noticed him and followed the stranger around and saw him enter the dining room. About half an hour later the man came out, his hunger appased, but he had not the wherewith to pay for the meal. He spied the bartender standing outside the door, so he turned into the washroom to avoid being accosted for the price of the breakfast. He remained inside for about fifteen minutes, and then came out. The bartender approached him for the money, but the stranger denied having had the breakfast. The hotelman insisted on having the price, but seeing that it was not forthcoming he gave the man an experience of pounding that he will never will forget.

MANY INQUIRIES FOR LUMBER

Mr. Nealon in the City—Says It Will be a Prosperous Spring.

Mr. Nealon, a well known lumberman returned from the woods this morning to look after some business interests in the city. He stated that the roads from Peterborough to his camp were in an awful condition and lumbering operations were greatly hindered. Mr. Nealon deals exclusively with tins and pails and his stock is drawn to the city and placed in his lumber yards on Aylmer street.

Speaking about the lumber situation this year he said that the cut was greatly curtailed, but he believed that the demand this year would be larger. So far he had received several inquiries which spoke well for a prosperous spring. Most of the inquiries had been received from the Niagara Peninsula from which source he depended on for the largest amount of his business.

COPPER IN SEABROOK MINE

So Says Despatch From Havelock—Prospects For Opening.

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Feb. 28.—The Seabrooks mine which was supposed to be a very valuable gold proposition, has turned out to be very rich in copper and it is likely that it will be opened up in earnest in the spring by the Spear's Canadian Mining Syndicate of Toronto. These mines which were worked some years ago for gold are situated about three miles east of here on the Marmora Road, and and cover a considerable amount of ground. They are owned by Messrs. John and Sam Seabrooks, but it is reported that one of these men have sold out his interest in the mine. The Spears Mining Syndicate have an option on the mine, and have been making extensive examinations of the mine, and as the report is most favorable, it is likely that a deal will go through. It is reported that the amount named in the option will put the Seabrooks Bros. on "easy street," as the mine is said to be very valuable in copper.

CANADA AND THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Resentful View of British Diplomacy in House of Commons.

DOMINION MUST HAVE NAVY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Says We Have No Grievance — Dr. Thompson Complains That Canada is Sacrificed to the United States Interests —Question of Protection to Seals—New Railway Board.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Enlargement of the powers of the board of railway commissioners to enable it to deal with pressing problems of public interest was urged upon the Minister of Railways in the Commons yesterday and with evident success. Mr. Graham, to his credit be it said, evinced a readiness to profit by the suggestions which were given him by members of the Opposition.

The discussion arose in committee on the resolution increasing the membership of the commission. Mr. Graham explaining that it was proposed to add three members to the board, one, he said, is to be assistant chief commissioner whose qualifications must be that of a superior court judge or barrister of ten years' standing, his salary to be $9,000 a year. The salaries of the other two will be $8,000 a year. It is proposed that the board shall have power to hold more than one sitting at the same time, but each section to sit as a whole board. The bill also requires that each railway company shall have a representative at Ottawa, upon whom notice may be served when required.

W. F. Maclean observed that not only was the Minister increasing the membership of the board, but he was probably also going to increase its powers. The Government ought to take the House into its confidence and say what these enhanced powers are to be. Everybody in the country favored enlarging the scope of the commission. It was said the Government proposed to place under the jurisdiction of the board telephone and telegraphs, as well as sleeping car service. Should not the commission also have control of the rates charged by cartage companies which form in many instances a large proportion of railway freight charges? Mr. Maclean suggested further that news companies as well as express companies should also be brought under jurisdiction of the board. The question of demurrage might be included, too.

The Minister of Railways replied that he had hoped to introduce the two bills concurrently, but had been disappointed. However, the bill widening the jurisdiction of the board would be introduced before the present bill had proceeded much further.

Mr. Lennox suggested that the board should be given power to "decide" in the matter of connections between Dominion and provincially chartered railways.

George Taylor trusted that the board would be empowered to compel railways to deliver freight at the rate agreed upon with the railway which first handled it. He gave concrete instances of injustices done in this matter.

Mr. Kemp asked what were to be the qualifications of the other two commissioners.

Mr. Graham trusted they would be such as would appeal to all classes. Manufacturers, commercial travelers, farmers and other classes were claiming for the appointment of a special representative, but the Government would appoint good all-round men.

Claude Macdonnell advocated the appointment of a commissioner in sympathy with employes, and Mr. Owen (E. Northumberland) expressed preference for a man of business and one having the interests of the farmer at heart.

Mr. Clement (Kent) impressed upon the Government the necessity of making provision of giving fair play to farmers and shippers generally.

Mr. Graham said in answer to Mr. Christie that Dr. Mills was appointed on the Railway Commission at the request of many farmers in the country.

Mr. Henderson remarked that he did not think Dr. Mills, a professor in a college, was the man to fill the bill. Of course, it was said, too, that Dr. Bernier was a farmer, but he supposed he was like the Minister of Agriculture—a theoretical farmer.

The resolution was reported and the

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS ON HIS BACK AT ONE TIME.
TWO BOTTLES OF BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURED HIM.

Boils are simply evidence of the bad blood within coming to the surface.

Just when you think your are cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

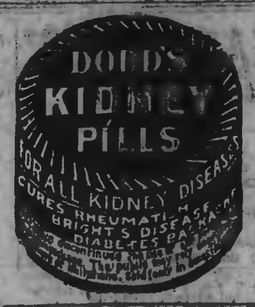
The only way to rid yourself of boils, pimples, and all skin blotches and blemishes, so that they will never return to bother you again, is to have the blood thoroughly cleansed of all of its impurities.

For this purpose there is no other blood medicine to equal Burdock Blood Bitters.

It has been on the market for over thirty years, and in that time we have received thousands of testimonials stating positively that it will cure the worst known cases of boils.

Mr. James Combs, Eden, Ont., writes: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly.

For sale at all Druggists and Dealers.



Mr. Monk (Jacques Cartier) moved that the bill be read a third time.

Mr. Sloan (Comox-Atlin) brought up the matter of the seizure of the Canadian schooner Charlotte G. Cox by a United States revenue cutter on May 29, 1907, and other matters concerning the Canadian pelagic sealing operations in the North Pacific Ocean. When the seizure was made no less than five Japanese schooners were plying their trade unmolested, he said. He thought The Hague tribunal should interfere.

Dr. Thompson followed with an attack upon British diplomacy in the matter of sacrificing Canada's interests for the sake of securing the friendship of the United States. Canada should have a navy, which, in time would be large enough to protect her own interests. We should have an arrangement by which Canadians would get rid of the name "colonials" and be received in London as the equals of Americans.

The treaty-making power, said Sir Wilfrid in reply, must remain with the British crown; Canada was not a sovereign power.

He commented that portion of Dr. Thompson's speech which dealt with the new condition of things which had arisen on the Pacific Ocean. The complications which existed then could not escape the notice of any serious or patriotic man. But it should be remembered in this connection that the policy of Great Britain is far-seeing, and we might depend upon it for a solution.

It had been suggested that Canada should approach the United States with a proposition to restrict the killing of seals on land. That, however, was a subject for negotiation.

Mr Monk said no matter how much one might be attached to the Empire, the unsatisfactory treatment of questions arising between Canada and the United States must be apparent to every observer of the political events of the past few years.

Mr. Fielding rather regretted the tone of Dr. Thompson's speech, fearing that it might be interpreted abroad to mean that there was a section in Canada favorable to a change in our constitutional status as a member of the British Empire.

In this view Dr. Sproule quite concurred.

Ross Rifle "Secret."

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Replying to a question by Col. Worthington in the House yesterday, Sir Frederick Borden said that there was in the Department of Militia a "secret" communication from the War Office, sent through the Colonial Office, in May, 1902, in regard to the interchangeable nature of the different parts of the Ross rifle with those of the Lee-Enfield rifle.

No one ever pretended that there could be an exchange of parts of rifles built on different patterns. The Minister of Militia was aware that there was "an alleged" trial at Blythe, England, between what was stated to be a Ross rifle and the Lee-Enfield, but subsequent investigations proved that the Ross rifle was used either with the knowledge of or by the authority of Sir Charles Ross.

MANY TRIBESMEN KILLED.

British Troops In India Are Fighting on Jap Plan.

London, Feb. 28.—Lord Kitchener's little frontier war in the Bazar Valley against the Zakkakhels tribesmen is making rapid and successful progress.

The purpose of the expedition is to punish the tribesmen for numerous raids into Indian territory, and in a remarkably short space of time they have been scattered and broken and many of them have been killed.

The expedition is thought here to reflect credit upon the organizations of the Indian army, and especially upon Lord Kitchener. Tommy Atkins is profiting by the lessons learned from the Russo-Japanese war and he is being taught to follow the tactics used by the American army in its Indian campaigns and in fighting in the Philippines.

The British troops advanced on the enemy in open order, with wide intervals between them. The men took advantage of all available cover.

This method of procedure surprised and disheartened the natives, who were accustomed for their sniping tactics to the targets made by the more or less compact column formation employed by previous expeditions.

CRIME IN MONTREAL.

Senators Discuss Frequency of the Italian Outbreaks.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—At the evening sitting of the Senate, Senator Cloran called attention to the deplorable condition of things which attained in Montreal and other cities owing to the lawlessness of undesirable immigrants, and quoted from Montreal papers in condemnation of the frequent murderous crimes of Italians there.

Hon. R. W. Scott said the deplorable was that Montreal abounded in drinking places to such an extent that the police made no attempt to suppress this illegal traffic. Fifty hotelkeepers were recently hauled up for illegal liquor selling, but was dismissed on payment of $5 each. If the Montreal police had arrested Italians at the outset for carrying dangerous weapons, crime would not have been so conspicuous.

Average Salaries of Rural School Teachers—Premier to Consult With the Opposition Leader About Redistribution Bill — Mr. Studholme Keeps Tab on Absentees —Mr. Whitney Explains.

Toronto, Feb. 28.—Hon. J. P. Whitney, the Prime Minister, announced at the close of yesterday's Legislative session that on Monday he hoped to consult with the Opposition leader in reference to the Redistribution Bill, which he expected soon to bring down, while in response to a question from Mr. Harcourt, Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, submitted figures showing that during the last five years the salaries of rural school teachers had increased from an average of $436 for males to $547, and for females from $315 to $369.

While the measure relating to the Legislative Assembly was under discussion, Mr. Allan Studholme, the Labor member for East Hamilton, announced that he was keeping tab upon the attendance of members with a view to having deduction made under the absents clause.

The clause provides that a deduction of $4 per day shall be made from a member's $1,000 sessional indemnity for every day upon which he does not attend the sittings, unless in case of sickness.

Hon. Mr. Foy moved its adoption.

"How are you going to deduct it?" asked Mr. Studholme.

"The clause is not changed," replied the Attorney-General, "and the regulation process will be followed."

"But I want to know," persisted the Labor man, "how you are going to keep tab. I've seen members away for days and I've never heard of the deduction being enforced. It looks like a farce."

"The provisions of the act govern this matter," replied Hon. Mr. Whitney. "The member goes to the Accounting Officer under the provisions of the statute and presumably gives a truthful accounting."

"But," persisted the member for East Hamilton, "there are members who are not here half the time, and who draw $1,000 just the same as though they had been working."

"I presume," observed the Premier, smiling, "that hon. members would not do anything like that."

"But they do," persisted Mr. Studholme. "In the Dominion they have a roll call and have them regular. It's a shame how it goes on here. If I can get hold of a good lawyer I won't mind paying a little to get the information as to how to proceed, and then I'll act on it."

And with the warning the Labor man sat down.

Mr. McElroy (Carleton) has given notice of an automobile bill under which he will empower the magistrates in various localities, at their discretion to impound machines at the cost of the owner, for all infractions of the speed or other laws, for a term not less than 15 days.

This is the fifth message in the way upon autos that has come before the House.

Another comes from Mr. Devitt (West Durham). He proposes to prohibit the roads to motors in towns, townships and villages on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and on Sundays between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

At the opening of the sittings the Prime Minister drew attention to an error which had occurred in reporting his remarks to the Temperance Alliance in a morning paper. Speaking to the issue one of the clergymen who spoke had said that they were in politics in this matter, and Mr. Whitney, speaking later, had said the Government was in politics, too. The word "too" had been omitted in the Globe's report, "conveying the wrongful impression," said the Prime Minister, "that politics was the sole consideration which influenced our action in the matter."

Mr. Kohler (Haldimand) introduced a bill entitled an act respecting county Houses of Refuge, under which the time for the completion of these institutions is extended from 1906 to 1910.

With Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario) in the chair the Government bills of Hon. Mr. Foy respecting the Legislative Assembly and respecting controverted elections of members, were advanced in their committee stage. During their consideration the Liberal leader several times conferred with the Premier and the Attorney-General and at his suggestion a number of the clauses stood over.

British License Bill Proposes Wholesale Reduction.

30,000 WILL BE CLOSED

Gradual Elimination During Period of Twenty Years—Majority of Electors to Carry Prohibition—Sunday Hours Curtailed—Place License System Under the Unfettered Control of the State.

London, Feb. 28.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Asquith introduced the Licensing Bill in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. This is the principal Government measure for the present session of Parliament. The capital invested in licensed property in this country is about $1,200,000,000, while over 2,000,000 people are employed in the traffic.

Briefly the bill provides for the compulsory reduction within a specified period and on a uniform scale of the number of saloons licensed throughout the country. In cities it is proposed to allow one saloon for every 750 persons and in the country districts one saloon for every 400 people. This regulation, it is estimated, will wipe out in the neighborhood of 30,000 licenses, about one-third of the present total.

The bill proposes that this reduction be effected within 20 years. Local option is to govern the issuance of new licenses and a majority of the parochial electors is sufficient to prohibit the granting of a license.

Chancellor of Exchequer Asquith expressed the opinion that England was not yet ripe for compulsory Sunday closing, but he said that outside the metropolis no saloon would be allowed to keep open on Sunday for more than one hour at midday or more than two hours in the evening. In conclusion the Chancellor declared that if this bill was adopted the state in 20 years would obtain unfettered control of the license system.

The system of compensating those entirely deprived of their licenses is to lapse after a period of 14 years from the commencement of the act, and an end thus will be put to the vested interests in all licenses.

BRITISH OFFICER STONED.

Naval Commander Struck While Driving at Port au Prince.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Feb. 28.—The British Minister to Hayti has presented to President Nord Alexis a statement from the commander of the British cruiser Indefatigable, now in these waters, setting forth that on returning from the palace on Wednesday a large stone was thrown at his carriage while passing the Rue Bonne, hitting the captain's side on the leg. For this insult to His British Majesty the commander of the warship demanded an immediate apology.

The chief of police declared that two men were fighting in the street when the captain's carriage was passing, and a stone may have been thrown. The affair, the official added, should properly be referred to the correctional court.

President Alexis, however, sent two officers of his staff to the Indefatigable with instructions to express to her commander his regret at what happened, especially as the incident occurred just after the British commander had left the palace, after paying the President a cordial visit.

The apology of the President was coldly received by the warship's commander, but the Haytian Government regards the incident as being closed.

Scandal In Russian League.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—Dissensions, which have existed in the League of Russian People for some time past, have broken out in the last day or two into an open scandal. The league is a reactionary organization, and a most bitter foe of the Parliamentary system. It is charged of responsibility for the anti-Semitic outrages at Odessa and elsewhere. The league is now holding a congress in this city.

Financial irregularities were estimated, and an investigation of the large stipends drawn by the leaders was demanded. This was followed by a stormy session, at the end of which Dr. Dubrovin and several other leaders were expelled.

A Vagrant Who Vanished.

Woodstock, Feb. 28.—John Henry Marshall Thomas, a man of questionable intelligence, who has been a prisoner at the jail for nearly six months, on the charge of vagrancy, is missing. Thomas was sentenced from Ingersoll, and was a "trusty" about the jail buildings. He was helping William Toull, janitor of the courthouse, together with a fellow prisoner. His comrade teased him and told him that he would be sent to the asylum.

Wednesday evening Thomas was gone. He left his jail garb, and is at present probably wandering about the country in his overalls.

Turk's Island, N.S., Feb. 28.—The British schooner Marjorie J. Sumner, from Weymouth, N.S., Jan. 30 for Sagua, Cuba, was wrecked and became a total loss on North Caicos Island four days ago. She was laden with lumber and her cargo probably will be saved.

"THE VICTORY IS OURS AGAIN"

Examiner Team Hopelessly Outclassed The Review Seven In The Annual Press Game At Brock Street Rink Last Night—The Score At The Finish Was 14-3 In Favour Of US And The Review Goals Were All Charities.

REVIEW TEAM HAD NO CHANCE AT ANY TIME TO WIN

"Let the bells be tolled."

The Brock street rink was the scene of a horrible tragedy last night, when the Review hockey team (save the mark), were ruthlessly slaughtered by the Examiner specials in a game that fairly bristled with scientific hockey. The Examiner seven won hands down by a score of 14—3, leaders at half time by 5 to 0. The Review were never in it unless by it is meant the soup and never was a team so hopelessly outclassed as were the seven misfits

The Review wanted a draw game; something like the above, it is supposed that were sent out to do battle for the Tory rag. The Examiner team is ashamed of itself for running up such a large score and tried hard to keep from netting the puck whenever it was possible to refrain from doing so. The Review seven, from goal keeper to centre and from right wing across to left, was a joke and if it had not been for the generosity and forbearance of their opponents would have been beaten at least by 54—3. Goal keeper Craig did his best to help the losers, wandering out of his nets to allow them to score two goals, and then banging one in himself when he saw that the Review were incapable of scoring for themselves.

The Dope Went Wrong

One competent critic in the audience pronounced the Review

The Review were shut out in the first half.

team "the most erratic, the slowest and the most unskillful bunch that he ever saw in one place," and he was not exaggerating at all. Of course the result was not a surprise for the Examiner always wins the contest, but such a score was not looked for, even by the most sanguine supporter of the Examiner. From the Review camp came stories of imports that were the fastest things on skates, of mysterious midnight sessions, at which the efate of the Examiner team was settled time after time, and of basement practices and chalk talks that were turning the Review team into the most powerful hockey organization in the history of the game in Peterborough.

Miss Crane looked happy before the game.

The dope that issued from the Review hot air plant was enough to scare off bettors, but many friends of the Examiner had confidence enough in them to bet heavily on the result, and to-day they are ordering automobiles and gasoline launches and buying summer cottages. All bets must be doffed to the press agent of the Review, who certainly gave the impression before the game that his seven were the real hot stuff, a combination of ginger, cayenne pepper and tobacco. Somebody blew out his pipe last night and when he came down from his flight into the realms of fancy and reached the sordid realities of life, he found that it was a case of another good thing gone wrong. The public quickly sized up the difference between the two teams when the gladiators appeared on the ice, and there were cries of "Back to the stable," "Has Glengarry any more at homed like you?" "Get the hook," "A lemon for you," and other classical expressions that kept Manager MacRae and his pirate crew doffing their bonnets. To the credit of the Review team, however, it must be said that they did not quit, but then how could they since they never started?

Manager McRae's Glengarry visitors were disgusted with his showing.

The Examiner, on the other hand, played hockey as it has never been played on Brock street rink before. It is safe to say that if the Strathconas O. H. A. team had hit such a pace this season they would now be waiting for a crack at London or Collingwood. While Eddie Gould's bunch would be explaining how they lost. Every man on the team was in his place, or else in the place of somebody else, but they were all there some places and their speed was terrific at all times. Never has a more scientific exhibition of team play been seen here and the work of the Review was as slow as a cablogram checker match in comparison. There would be a series of lightning fast passes and then a shot, and the result was that the goal umpire's arm was working like the walking beam of a steamer. It was a slaughter, a massacre, a murder, with the Review team so hopelessly outclassed that they looked like a bunch of rubes on Broadway. They were so bad that the large and cultured audience had no sympathy for them, and after the first few minutes their efforts were greeted with groans.

The Examiner's Great Team

Everybody on the Examiner team took a hand in the scoring, except Robinson and Clark, two gentlemen who are noted for their kindness of heart, and who refrained from scoring for the sake of the Review. It would be hard to pick out the stars of the winners, as every man on the team was a meteor. Josiah Craig had an easy time in the nets when he was there, which wasn't often. In the first half he tried to amuse himself by reading a newspaper, but finding that pastime too slow, went out on the forward line and mixed things up generally. In the last ten minutes he allied himself with the cause of the Review, and after superhuman efforts succeeded in scoring on his own goal. John Dough Clarke, who looked like May Irwin, was immense at point, and when he got under way the Review players were swept away like snow before a rotary plough. H. Baseball Burridge was at cover point, and introduced a reminiscence of the good old summer time by hurling his stick at an opponent, like Muggsy McGraw used to do in the National League. Incidentally Mr. Burridge played good hockey. Mr. Harry Thawobald was very much there at all times, making the Review forwards look like four bad quarters. Beef Tea Huston way he walled Manager D.U.B. MacRae was immense.

The Misfits

The Review team, on the other hand, had nothing but their sticks, and the supply of them was running short before the game was over. Manager MacRae appeared in a night cap and a flute new sweater but some one had evidently administered a sleeping draught to the High Chief Dub, whose playing throughout was of a disgraceful variety. A Chopping Yokome earned his name last night, and he was signed by Street Commissioner Evans immediately after the game as instructor for the stone breaking gang. He was there with the hickory at all stages but had little else. "City League is not enough for me," was Strathcona Wilson's only comment on the game, and the High Commissioner was certainly outclassed at all stages, finding the Examiner pace much too warm for him.

Orangemeat McGuire, from Orangeville, had lots of speed, but knew enough not to carry things too far in among the aforesaid things was the puck, which unfortunately neglected to accompany him on some of his rambles.

Corned Beef Burns was at cover point for the losers. This fact is mentioned for fear that the crowd might not have noticed him on the ice. Mr. Burns was not at home in the surroundings and had to sit down and think it over once in a while. Mr. Dooley's treatise on hockey remarks that "it is the duty of a pint player to do his level best to assassinate everybody that comes near him," and Anti-Berry Thompson did his best to fulfill that duty, his club swinging being beyond reproach. Dinnie Dobbin, in goal for the losers, would have done better with a herose stick, but at that he stopped by actual count 425 shots, so that those who were not there can form some idea of his great work.
